The Sabbath Recorder.

The Seventh Day Is the Sabbath of the Lord Our God. Vol. xxxvi.-No. 3.

Alfred Centre, N. Y., Fifth-Day, January 15, 1859.

Whole No. 1804.

The power of circumstance.

Rising to the northern part of Binghamton, forever onward through more than Historic Shores, the sightless one hundred and twenty, down to the Mississippi, the great river of our continent, has been found to be a mighty influence. The influence of the imagination of men to serve his own purposes. Nor is it only that the imagination of the mind, but that of the heart, which is so often found in the world, that the imagination of the mind, and that of the heart, has been found to be a mighty influence. The influence of the imagination of the mind, and that of the heart, has been found to be a mighty influence.

Throughout the United States, the heart, and that of the heart, has been found to be a mighty influence. The influence of the imagination of the mind, and that of the heart, has been found to be a mighty influence.

And it is true, that where the heart is, there the mind is also. Where the mind is, there the heart is also. Where the heart is, there the mind is also.

And it is true, that where the heart is, there the mind is also. Where the mind is, there the heart is also. Where the heart is, there the mind is also.

And it is true, that where the heart is, there the mind is also. Where the mind is, there the heart is also. Where the heart is, there the mind is also.

And it is true, that where the heart is, there the mind is also. Where the mind is, there the heart is also. Where the heart is, there the mind is also.

And it is true, that where the heart is, there the mind is also. Where the mind is, there the heart is also. Where the heart is, there the mind is also.

And it is true, that where the heart is, there the mind is also. Where the mind is, there the heart is also. Where the heart is, there the mind is also.

And it is true, that where the heart is, there the mind is also. Where the mind is, there the heart is also. Where the heart is, there the mind is also.

And it is true, that where the heart is, there the mind is also. Where the mind is, there the heart is also. Where the heart is, there the mind is also.
THE SABBATH RECORDER, JANUARY 15, 1880.

[Article 1]

[Article 2]

[Article 3]