VOLUNTARY AND SUBSCRIBED.

We believe there are few things which we cannot enjoy requiring the exertion of our powers in a just cause in a good cause, in a great cause. Let it be in their hearts to give as they are able, and to give according to their means. Let all who are anxious to give a portion of their means toward the support of the church, and the advancement of the cause, be encouraged to do so. Let all who are capable of giving be urged to do so. Let all who are willing to give be encouraged to give. Let all who are able to give be urged to give. Let all who are willing and able to give be encouraged to give.

Edwards, C. J.

In the matter of the owing to the many on the part of the subscribers, we have been greatly concerned, and it has been found that we have been unable to raise the necessary amount of money. We have, therefore, decided to abandon the project and to return the money to those who have contributed.

The company is now in the process of winding up its affairs, and we trust that it will be able to pay its debts in full.

The subscribers are requested to return the money to us as soon as possible, and we will endeavor to do so.

Sincerely yours,

Edwardson, C. J.
