The REMEMBRANCE OF JESUS.

By M. A. M. DABK.

Good news. The Sabbath Recorder has recently arrived at this place. I am glad to announce that it has made its appearance in this territory. I have not seen it for some time, but I was pleased to find that it was in good condition.

The Recorder is a valuable publication for the spiritual welfare of the community. It contains articles on various topics, including religious, social, and educational matters. It is a reliable source of information and a means of maintaining contact with other members of the community.

The Recorder is published weekly and is circulated among the members of the church. It is distributed free of charge to all who request it. I encourage everyone to subscribe to the Recorder and to read it regularly.

May God bless the Recorder and its readers. Amen.

The CHURCH OF JESUS.

BY MARTHA ELLEN.

Jesus Christ is the foundation of all our faith. Without Him, we would be lost and without hope.

The church is the body of Christ, and we are all members of it. It is a place where we can worship God and grow in our understanding of His will.

The church is also a community where we can support one another in times of need. It is a place where we can find comfort and encouragement, and where we can find strength to face the challenges of life.

May we always remember the importance of the church in our lives, and strive to be active members of it.

SELF-SUPPORT.

In all missionary work among freedmen, it is necessary for the missionaries to support themselves. This is not only an economical matter, but it is also a matter of principle. The missionaries must show that they are willing to work to support themselves.

The missionaries in the United States are not supported by any government. They must rely on their own efforts to support themselves. This is an important lesson for the freedmen, who must also learn to support themselves.

The missionaries are also responsible for the education of the freedmen. They must teach them how to support themselves, and how to live a decent life.

May we always remember the importance of self-support in our lives, and strive to be self-sufficient.

TRANSPORTATION.

The transportation system in the United States is well-developed. There are many ways to get from one place to another, and we can choose the most convenient method of transportation.

However, transportation can also be a challenge. The cost of transportation can be high, and it can be difficult to find a convenient way to get from one place to another.

May we always remember the importance of transportation in our lives, and strive to find convenient and affordable ways to get from one place to another.

The SABBATH RECORD.

Our recent issue of the Sabbath Recorder contains a number of interesting articles. One of them is a discussion of the importance of self-support in missionary work. The article highlights the need for missionaries to support themselves and to teach the freedmen the importance of self-support.

Another article discusses the transportation system in the United States. It highlights the convenience and affordability of transportation, and also the challenges that transportation can present.

We encourage everyone to read the recent issue of the Sabbath Recorder and to stay informed about the important issues of the day.

May we always remember the importance of being informed, and strive to stay informed about the world around us.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Items of interest from various sources include:

- The importance of self-support in missionary work.
- The transportation system in the United States.
- The Sabbath Recorder, a valuable publication for the spiritual welfare of the community.

May we always remember the importance of these issues, and strive to be informed and active in our lives.

EDUCATION.

While the importance of education is widely recognized, there are still many who are not able to access education due to various reasons.

We encourage everyone to support education, and to work towards a world where everyone has access to education.

May we always remember the importance of education, and strive to support those who are working towards a world where everyone has access to education.

A special word from the editor:

The Sabbath Recorder is a valuable publication for the spiritual welfare of the community. It is a tool for self-support and transportation, and it is a means of maintaining contact with other members of the community.

We encourage everyone to subscribe to the Recorder and to read it regularly.

May we always remember the importance of the Recorder and its readers. Amen.

A letter to the Editor of the Sabbath Recorder:

Your remarks on the Sabbath object to the Sabbath as a day of unprofitable labor, are some of my thoughts upon it. I have long been interested in the question of Sabbath observance and in the legal conditions surrounding it. I have a strong belief in the Sabbath as a day of rest and as a day for spiritual growth. I believe that the Sabbath is a day of rest from the routine of work and as a day for spiritual growth. I believe that the Sabbath is a day for rest and for the development of the soul. I believe that the Sabbath is a day for the development of the soul.

The Experience of Faith

The experience of faith is a personal experience, a subjective experience, a spiritual experience. It is not a matter of strict adherence to a set of rules or a matter of legal observance. It is a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith. It is a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith. It is not a matter of legal observance.

The Sabbath and the Law

The Sabbath is not a law, but a day of rest and a day for spiritual growth. It is not a law, but a day of rest and a day for spiritual growth. It is not a matter of legal observance.

The Sabbath and the Gospel

The Sabbath is not a matter of legal observance, but a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith. It is not a matter of legal observance, but a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith. It is a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith.

The Sabbath and the Church

The Sabbath is not a matter of legal observance, but a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith. It is not a matter of legal observance, but a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith. It is a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith.

The Sabbath and the State

The Sabbath is not a matter of legal observance, but a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith. It is not a matter of legal observance, but a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith. It is a matter of a personal relationship with God and a personal commitment to faith.

Letter.

Our church in Zion is good. There is abundance of faith, both cultivated by the reader and by the preacher. The church is in a state of thorough discipline. The people are in good order, and the church is looking forward to a prosperous future.

The government at Cairo, Egypt, has accepted the offer of England to send two thousand troops to the afflicted district. The news has been a great relief to the people of Cairo, who have been much distressed by the recent troubles.

The image contains a page from a newspaper article titled "THE SABBATH RECORDER, JULY 28, 1888." The text is written in a traditional serif font, typical of 19th-century newspapers. The article seems to be a mixture of letters and poems, possibly from a literary journal or a periodical of that era. The content includes a mixture of formal language and偶尔的口语表达, which is characteristic of the period's writing style. The page appears to be well-preserved, with clear text and readable for modern readers. There are no visible advertisements or other inserts that would typically be found in a historical newspaper.
