A good man's character sometimes looks forth through the neglect of certain principles.

One of those neglected helps to Christians in life, and we miss the religion of our life. We're missing the religion of our life. We're missing the religion of our life.

BY PROF. AUSTIN H. PHELPS, E. N. B. LIVING.

Of all the thousands of years of his life, there is not one of them that he was not a man of the world. It is quite possible that he is a man of the world. It is quite possible that he is a man of the world.

In the days of the Republic, there were few men, it is true, who were not a man of the world. It is quite possible that he is a man of the world.

And in the days of the Republic, there were few men, it is true, who were not a man of the world. It is quite possible that he is a man of the world.

The ways of the Republic, as it were, in the days of the Republic, are as full of the Republic as the Republic is full of the Republic. The ways of the Republic, as it were, in the days of the Republic, are as full of the Republic as the Republic is full of the Republic.

In the days of the Republic, there were few men, it is true, who were not a man of the world. It is quite possible that he is a man of the world. It is quite possible that he is a man of the world.

I have heard it said that a man has only to look at the Republic to see that it is full of the Republic. The ways of the Republic, as it were, in the days of the Republic, are as full of the Republic as the Republic is full of the Republic.

The Sixth Annual Report opens with a few words expressing its friendliness to all who are seeking to be united with the Baptist Missionary Board, and it is not at all inappropriate to make this remark at the outset; for all are friends of the mission, and this feeling is reflected in the entire fabric of the work. Reference was also made to the General Board of the Baptist Missionary Society, which is charged with the same work as the Baptist Missionary Board, and it is hoped that the Association will be enabled to secure a larger interest in the missionary cause by the publication of this report.

The report recommended for serious consideration the question of employing a missionary to the United States and territories beyond the bounds of the American Union, as well as the question of employing missionaries to the lands beyond the Mississippi River. The report also recommended the adoption of a plan for the support of the Baptist Missionary Board, which has been proposed by the General Board, and which is designed to provide a more adequate support for the work of the Board.

Sabbath Reform.

"Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God. In it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is therein, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and圣人了日.

Sabbath Laws.

THE SABBATH RECORDER, SEPTEMBER 9, 1866.

MISCELLANY.

The Spirit of the Night.

By A. S. PEELE.

The air is cold and damp, and the wind is howling through the trees, but the spirit of the night is serene and peaceful. The stars are shining brightly, and the moon is casting its pale light upon the distant hills. The world is wrapped in a mantle of darkness, and the only sounds are the lowing of the sheep and the rustling of the leaves in the wind. The night is a time for reflection and contemplation, and the mind is free from the cares and worries of the day.

The College View.

By J. B. SMITH.

The college town is a place of great beauty and interest. The buildings are well designed, and the scenery is lovely. The streets are broad and open, and the air is fresh and invigorating. The college is a place of learning and culture, and the students are a select and intelligent body. The college town is a place of enjoyment and delight, and the spirit of the night is especially pleasant and agreeable.
Popular Science.

A man's soul is like a sponge. If he is good, it absorbs good ideas; if he is bad, it absorbs bad ideas. Now, if we want to have good ideas in our soul, we must fill it with good ideas from the outside. That is why reading is so important. It helps us to fill our soul with good ideas.

To be a good reader, we need to read books that are well written and that can inspire us. We should read books about science, history, philosophy, and literature. These books will help us to understand the world around us and to think critically about its various aspects.

In conclusion, reading is a fundamental part of our education and personal growth. Let us make it a priority in our lives and fill our souls with good ideas.
I. These words that I said unto thee are spirit, and they are life; the words of the Father; and the words which I spoke were not mine, but the Father's which sent me. These words I spake not mine, but the Father that sent me gave me commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak. And I know that his commandment is life everlasting; and the words that I speak will give life unto the world. For the Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand. And he that believeth on the Son liveth forever; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life: but the wrath of God abideth on him.
