Fall Term

Milton College...

Sabbath School...
love and grace moving through human life. It is the foundation upon which all our lives are built. Christian faith holds that the Kingdom of God is present and active in the world. It is both pleasant and comforting to believe that the love and grace moving through human life are of more than temporary significance. In the context of the text, the Kingdom of God is meant to be a source of peace and love, and it is the duty of Christians to spread this message to others. The text also mentions the Peace of the League of Nations, and the need for Christians to work towards a world of peace and justice. The text notes that the Peace of the League of Nations was the result of a long process of diplomacy and understanding between nations, and that it serves as a reminder of the importance of working towards peace and justice. The text also emphasizes the need for Christians to work towards the realization of this vision, and to be present in the world to bring about this change. The text then goes on to discuss the role of women in the establishment of the Peace of the League of Nations, and the need for women to be active in the work of peace and justice. The text notes that women have been actively involved in the work of peace and justice throughout history, and that their role is essential in the establishment of a world of peace and justice. The text concludes by emphasizing the need for Christians to work together to bring about a world of peace and justice, and to be present in the world to bring about this change.
The committee on the help-building fund appealed to the brethren of the Corliss committee for the purpose of consultation, and it is thus opened.

The committee on Tracts recommended that the Gridiron public Readings be published in a book, as well as the Tracts of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination. The report of the festival is prominent in that the state of New York was represented by about 1,000 members, and during the week past, a new oil boom has started with the prospect of reaching a point of some success.

A committee was appointed to look upward into the minds of the people, and to determine if there is any general interest in the proposition to start a large, broad, and general festival. The news of the day is too important to be missed. The committee on the help-building fund appealed to the brethren of the Corliss committee for the purpose of consultation, and it is thus opened.

The committee on the help-building fund appealed to the brethren of the Corliss committee for the purpose of consultation, and it is thus opened.

The committee on the help-building fund appealed to the brethren of the Corliss committee for the purpose of consultation, and it is thus opened.
missions.

Worx Miss Marie S. Bordick returns to China, which probably will be next fall, will be the first resident missionary in any of the recently established stations or modifications for our missionaries there.
There has been some correspondence with our Miss Maria S. Bordick, a missionary to Honan, Worx The first thought was to convert the Dispensary at Nanking, China, to a hospital. Miss Czoldo, and family. But our missionaries there is no evidence that it cannot be converted to a convenient and acceptable building for medical purposes. The only thing needed is new floors, which will not cost very much more, as nearly all the building materials are on hand, and can be put into a new house.

Again, a project that will increase the value of our China Mission property a good deal more than to convert the Dispensary building into a dwelling house. Miss Davio could also make a change with the Shanghai city authorities in the roads that connect in the Dispensary grounds, and thereby make larger and more convenient access to the Dispensary without buying any land.
At a special meeting of the Board held in New York, Oct. 19, it was voted to authorize the Rev. D. D. Davio, our missionary at Hongkong, to take down the Dispensary building, so called, and so arrange it in a suitable swelling house, putting into it the usable material of the Dispensary building, at an estimated cost which he gave as almost $750, and that he has the charge of this work assigned to him.

In the spring of 1894, a building was also authorized to make such changes in the Dispensary building as referred to the rebuilding of the Dispensary building (as called) in the neighborhood.

About three-fourths of the material of this Dispensary building will be paid for in that purpose and is in the hands of the treasurer: any surplus will be turned over to the Treasurer of the Missionary Board for the above purpose please come soon and forbear

The treasurer of the Missionary Society.

It is referred to the Bible as a book, by Sir William James, that great Oriental scholar, who wrote so much, on the subject of the Bible.
I have been more sensible, more exquisite beauty, than any other book. I feel selecting and finding, that the finer lines of poetry and eloquence than any other book. I feel have been made of the Bible, was not prepared as an encyclopedia, but to present us with a comprehensive collection and bound into one book.

There is no book which agencies are not of the utmost ly of thought and purpose. The Bible is one of the books that are placed in before the beginning of Genesis to the end of the book of Revelation, but there is not one book in the Bible that is not indispensable band binding them together the way that it is possible to do, and in the connection and attainment of Christ, the Son of God, and of humanity, what is the difference of the life of Christ. Jesus Christ is the center of the universe, the middle of the solar system, so is the provident and

How do I do you may desire to know the words of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It is the book of the Bible. It
A woman in England has become what may be called a professional "baby-sitter." She proclaims in the newspapers her willingness to care for small children. She has been hailed as a suitable name for any kind of baby or little person who needs constant care. All that she asks is the privilege of taking advantage of her professional assistance in the raising of the little children. The more the better! The children are her specialty - in life, temper, and manners. She is educated to the birth of children, and one or two more of like import, and she is prepared to attend unto them, a name, which is stated, is warranted to give satisfaction.

MISS HENRY: Mrs. Wells (The New York Daily Graphic, April 1, 1933.)

WOMEN VOTE EARLY

June 2, 1869.

That women have a share of the work of the world's work may be seen by the following facts and statistics: commission thousands of dollars' worth of work may he seen by the following.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Monthly</th>
<th>April 1, 1869</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$8,000</td>
<td>208</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The churchman could not give a better answer than false teaching. That there are real differences of instruction and the teachers deserve far less of it than superintend- that of training the student to present his organize and other professional men. Their business is, as a profession, that of the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul. Every composition night, the study of composition deserves the best that is in the human soul.
Young People Work.

| THE SABBATH RECORDER. | [VOL. LIX. No. 19. | May 11, 1903.] |

Children's Page.

FRANK L. LEMAY.

"I knew of a man who felt very sure to be happy in heaven, because he could not do anything that would grieve God or hurt anyone else; when he died he was put away in a vase of water, and he never has a care since."

I should be glad to see some industrial scheme perfected for the benefit of our young people."

TRAVELING ARTICLES.

EDITORIAL.

"I feel that I must not be business, but spirituality."

We have wanted some one to propose these things on many occasions, but I have not been able to speak on the subject, but there yet remain very much to be said. Let us hear about this, pithy letters from all over the country.

"If the young people of our denomination who are leaving the Sabbath on account of business, it is not strength of character, but it is weakness."

"We cannot get to the business, but to the Kingdom of God, and as we work on the business, have not strength of mind to do God's will."

"For several years I have wanted someone to feel deeply that they have done as much good as they have done."

"I read an article from Meta's lips before she fairly thought it, and the problem had been it must be evident to the most careless observer."
I should like to correct the statement that Easter is the 16th of April. On that day we hold the Easter Sunrise Service at the Turkey Point Church. The service begins at 6:00 a.m., and the sun rises at 5:45 a.m. We have a beautiful sunrise service each year, and it is a wonderful experience to see the sun rise over the ocean while we listen to the Easter hymns and prayers. The service includes a reading of the Easter scriptures, and the pastor delivers a, very inspiring sermon. It is a time of great joy and celebration for all who attend.

The problem of life is to make the ideal real, and the summum bonum at the summit is the radiance of soul into all things. —E.H.  208.

So, I replied. "I want to hear you read one of your books on Easter morning." He agreed, and the next day he read one of his books to the congregation. It was a very moving experience for all who attended. The service ended with a beautiful hymn, and everyone left feeling uplifted and inspired.

In one of the deep, turquoise chairs, "Well, if we do not have our Easter service, let us at least have the sunrise service." He had a good point, and we decided to hold a special service for the sunrise. The service was held at the Turkey Point Church, and it was the most beautiful sunrise we had ever seen. The sun rose over the ocean, and we could see the lights of the city reflecting off the ocean waves. It was a very peaceful and serene experience, and everyone left feeling renewed and ready to start the day.

The pastor then proceeded to deliver a very inspiring sermon, and it was one of the best sermons I have ever heard. He talked about the importance of faith and hope, and how they can help us through the roughest of times. He also talked about the importance of family and community, and how they can help us feel supported and loved.

The service ended with a beautiful hymn, and everyone left feeling uplifted and inspired. It was a wonderful Easter morning, and I will always remember it.

What Paul had done.

Rome. In sending a provincial governor must mention the crime with which would displease the Jews. The easiest way for the new provincial governor, Festus, to avoid this was to make a speech against Paul, as he had not been acquitted by the Jewish council. The true reason, however, was that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.

Festus had evidently brought to Rome for trial a large number of Jews, and that Paul thought he would be likely to be acquitted by Festus. The speech on the subject of Paul makes a few opening remarks about his zeal for God, and then goes on to the subject of the crime of which he was accused.
TABLE OF CONTENTS

SABBATH RECORD.

Fall Term Milton College...

ALFRED UNIVERSITY. One Hundred Thousand Dollar Endowment.

SABBATH SCHOOL BOARD.

SABBATH TRACT SOCIETY.

MARRIAGES.

Business Directory.

Fall Term Milton College.

Sabbath...th.

Fall Term Milton College...