The True Eaters

I always hate going to the park. It's not because I don't like nature or anything like that. It's because I can't stand the sight of people playing with their pets. It just makes me want to throw up. Now I know you might be asking, why would anyone not like the sight of cute dogs and cats? But after hearing this morbid experience, you too will never look at animals the same.

My name is Taylor. I was 21 and had just finished college when this horrific experience happened to me. It was on a Thursday. I had gone to the supermarket across from my apartment to buy some groceries. I barely had up to $10. So, I bought very few things. As I walked up to the counter, I saw the cashier, Jake, staring at me. We weren't friends, but we knew each other as I lived close by.

As I dropped the few things I bought, he looked at me and said, "I don't mean to pry Taylor, but are you low on cash?"

I didn't reply as I was embarrassed. He then looked at me with kind eyes and said, "It's nothing to be ashamed about Taylor, but if you're up for it,

I may have a job for you.”

Hearing being offered a job peaked my interest and I asked,

“What am I going to be doing? How much is the pay?”

He then told me,

“We can talk about what you're going to be doing later. And regarding the pay...”

He then brought out a thousand dollars and handed it to me. I was stunned as I hadn't seen money like that in a while. He then continued.

“Think of it as an advance. But remember, with pay like this, the job is pretty something. He then asked for my number so that he could get back to me with more details regarding the job.

A week passed before I heard from Jake, I had already spent $700 of the one grand. So, I knew I had to do the job now as I had already spent my pay. But I just assumed it was going to be something like cleaning the supermarket.

That night around 3 AM, I got a message from Jake saying, “Ready to know what the job is about?” I remember telling him, “It’s pretty late, but sure!”

That's when he told me to download something called Tor browser. I was confused, but I did exactly what he said. After that, he sent me a link and he told me,

“I don't know if you've heard of the dark web Taylor, but this is a link to the dark web.” He then continued with,

“This link is going to take you to a website where you'll see videos of women eating. Think of it as ASMR, but with a more serious take on it.”

He then sent the last message saying, “This is just to prepare you for what you're going to be doing. And remember, that much money doesn't come easy. You start next week.” With that, he went offline.

Now a little feeling of dread begins to creep up as he was acting so weird. As I clicked the link, I finally understood what he meant as horrific realization dawned on me. The link took me to a site called “All Natural”. The first thing I saw was a slogan that read, “Welcome fellow true eater.”

I was asked to pay $20 to see the content, which I did. When the page finally loaded, it showed videos of women eating raw animals. The first video I played showed a huge man holding a cage that seemed to be filled with kittens.

I could hear the animals whimpering like they were scared. Beside the huge man was a woman sitting on a chair with a sick devilish grin on her face – a face which displayed her blood-stained rotten teeth. She looked like she was terribly ill, as she looked pale and feverish.

The man then took one of the kittens, and what he did next made me throw up on myself. With his huge hands I watched him tear the kitten apart! It happened so fast that I couldn't hear the kitten squeal.

He then tossed the carcass of the dead kitten towards the woman. Without hesitation, she began eating it raw. I felt very irritated as I watched her eat it whole. I could see the little organs of the kitten spilling out of her bloody mouth as she ate it. It didn't take long before there was nothing left, and the video ended.

I screamed and threw my phone away. By the time the video was done, the noise had garnered the attention of my neighbor who knocked on my door asking, “Taylor, are you all right?”
