

Elastic Minds: What are you thinking?
by Dr. Dave Cornelius

Elastic minds are creatives that reimagine ways to create businesses, define how people engage in learning, and create tools to change markets. People who possess the ability to think elastically produce game changing outcomes that are available globally. Each chapter includes the stories of several small business owners and leaders thriving to achieve goals and sustain the American dream, which is to be self-deterministic.

- In the chapter titled “The Power of Observation”, Tracy Treacy leadership profile describe her journey as a private practice Therapist.
- Dr. Dave Martinez leadership profile highlights his journey as a high school principal in the “Continual Learning” chapter.
- Kevin Castle, the Managing Director of a technology consulting business is profiled in the “Climbing the Mountains – Clearing the Hurdles” chapter.
- In the chapter “The Story of Getting There”, Tammy Hawkins, Managing Director at Experis tells her story.
- Richard Dolman, Vice President at Agile42, gives insights into his leadership experience in the “Smaller and More Frequent Delivery” chapter.
- Alicia McLain, Business owner of Operational Innovations highlight her growth as a leader in the “Learn fast – Inspect and Adapt” chapter.
- In the chapter “You don't know it until you do it”, Jill Freeman Stack, Principle at Jill Stack PR gives her testimony of her career growth into business ownership.
- James Wright, Agile Marketing Coach, tells his story of triumph in the “Check the Rearview Mirror” chapter.
- In the chapter “Pay it Forward for Those Who Follow”, Wes Kliever Director of Learning at Project Insights, tell his story.

Elastic Minds: What are you thinking?
by Dr. Dave Cornelius

- Bobby Cooper Jr. Owner of El Cheapo Lift share his powerful moments of courage in the “When You Fall Stand Again” chapter.

My hope is for you to exercise your elastic mind and find what is your motivation and purpose in life.