Chapter 1: The Beginning	1
------------------------------------	---

CONTENTS

There is a girl who goes by the name Maddy Raye. She was put in a group home for girls when she was a baby. She was born from a human and a non human. Her mom last anyone heard was dead, and her father was taken away by his kind, The Arkturians. She ran away from the group home, when she was twelve after finding her best friend Lyla, dead. Before that, she always got in trouble, and in fights with the other girls. And she always found herself in trouble with the law. Deep down behind all the pain, is just a girl looking for answers. She's beautiful with blue eyes and brown hair. She's been put down by the other girls in the home, but she's never let them see how worthless they made her feel. But deep down she knows she's different then them. She ran away when she was twelve. She was feeling depressed, not coming out of her room. Not eating. Just laying in bed everyday, doing nothing else. When she found Lyla it hurt her so much. She tried not to let it show. But then some of the girls at the group home started a rumor saying Maddy, killed Lyla. After a few days of getting investigated, she waited until everyone was asleep to pack a back, and run away to the woods behind the house. She ran and ran, didn't even stop when she knew she wouldn't get caught. As she was running, she tripped and fell through a whole. As everything turns black she knew her life was coming to An end. 2

Chapter 2: The Door 3

CONTENTS

As her eyes open, she stares above her trying to see through the darkness, she turns her head to the side, only to have it hit a wall. She yelps and uses her hand to rub her head. She pushes her other hand up to the wall and tries her best to get up. She slowly pulls herself up, and tries to look around again, but the darkness is preventing her from seeing anything. "Hello?" She yells into the darkness. She keeps her hand on the wall, as she begins to walk following it. She keeps moving until her hand reaches an opening and she almost falls. She catches herself right before she falls, and tries to looks in front of her, and sees a little dim light, at the end of the little walkway. She puts her hand out to find the wall, her hand hits it and she slowly makes herself toward the light, the wall leading her. She drags her hand along the concrete damp wall, as she draws on front of the source of light. A candle. She picks it up, and looks around. She looks up to discover a dark staircase. She slowly glides to it, and begins to walk up. She keeps one hand on the wall and the other on the candle. When she reaches the top, she sees a door. It's kinda big that's slightly opened. She hears music and talking. She gently pried the door open with her free hand, and it makes a loud creaking noise. She hears everything go silent on the other side as she opens the door. What she sees is what she doesn't expect. She grips the candle as she looks around at the....creatures looking at her. They have horns and they are big with long nails and red eyes. There's dead animals on the table, being eaten by these creatures, she starts to get dizzy. The last thing she sees before everything goes dark and her head hits the ground, is one of them running towards her.

Chapter 3: The GammaTrolls 5

 "Olard, who is this beautiful little girl? And what is she doing here?" a small but large voice says. As the rest of other voices speak up asking questions. "She is the Daughter Of Lee , The Demon Leader Of The Arkturians." A booming voice says, as the rest of the voices quiet down. One, a small woman's voice speaks up. "But what is she doing here, Olard?" The women asks her leader. The leader looks at all of them, then at Maddy. "I'm not entirely sure, but must be for a good reason." He says to them all. Maddy starts to drift back into consciousness, and groans, rubbing her head. She opens her eyes and looks up at the creature. Her eyes wide as she studies his features. Big and green, with brown large eyes, big ears and nostrils, and two large white horns sticking out on his head. His skin is rough and rippled. She looks up at him. He looks back down at her, waiting for her response. Ten seconds go by, before she lets put an ear piercing scream. The creatures cover their ears, and look at her. After a few minutes, she finally stops screaming and looks at them, fear in her eyes. The leader, Olard, reaches out his big hand towards her. She looks at it, confused and then reluctantly puts her hand in his, as he helps her up. She gets on her feet looking at him. He grips her hand gently and smiles. She weakly smiles back. "Who are you?" She says quietly. "We, My lady, are the Gamma Trolls." He says smiling as he gestures to the rest of the trolls. 6

Maddy, looks around at the rest of the trolls. Then back at the leader. "What are your names?" The leader smiles down at her, and says "My name is Olardian, but just call me Olard." She nods and smiles, then looks back at the trolls who are all calling out their names. Three come up to her, one has a bow on one of her horns. The others don't. So she's guessing those are boys. The one with the bow gently pulls her into a hug. "My name is Marian. But you may call me Maria." Maddy smiles at Marian, as she gets a smile back. The older looking troll gently grabs her hand and kisses it. "Mine is Fredian." He smiles as the younger troll with the crossbow, bows and smiles. "Livian, my lady." She blushes. Not understanding why they are calling her that and being so formal. Olard, speaks again. "Do you know who you are Maddy?" Maddy shakes her head, looking at him. "You are The Daughter of Lee, The Demon Leader Of The Arkturians." Maddy tilts her head to study him, trying to see if he's bluffing. But he looks dead serious. "Who is that?" She says quietly. "I didn't even know I had a Father." She looks down. Marian, looks at her with sympathy. "Sweetheart you couldn't have known. You were so young." Maddy looks up at them. "Why aren't I with him?" Freddy looks at Olard as if asking for permission to speak, before looking at Maddy. "You were taken away and put in hiding, you were born from a human and a demon. Which is forbidden in the laws of the Arcturians." He stops speaking when seeing Olard's warning look. "I'm Â forbidden?" She asks confused. "That's enough for tonight, why don't Maria show you your room, and get some rest. We can talk more tomorrow." He says before turning away.

Maddy follows Maria down between the tables to a row of doors. Maria goes to the last one and opens it. To reveal a big bed with pink and blue covers, a desk and a closet of clothes. Maria smiles gently at Maddy. "Why don't we get you changed into something clean?" She gestures to the closet. Maddy yawns and walks over to the bed sitting down. Maria laughs softly. "Or not." She does to the closet and rummages through it before settling on a long pink nightgown with a princess on the front. She holds it out towards Maddy, as Maddy is watching Maria closely. "Would you like me to step out while you change?" Maddy just nods and Maria steps out the room. Maddy looks in the mirror at herself, seeing the tears in her dress, and the dirt clinging to it. She shakes her head as she pulls the dress over her head gently. And looks at herself again. Tears well as she notices bruises on her stomach and ribs. As she remembers the last day there, the girls at the home beat her up. Calling her a murderer. And crude names like that. She quickly pulls on the nightgown to cover her bruises, as she calls out to Maria she is done changing. Maria comes back in and smiles. "Let's get you in bed, sweetheart." Maddy climbs in the bed as Maria pulls the covers over her, and tucks her in. Maddy closes her eyes, trying to fall asleep. And she hears Maria turn to leave. "Maria?" She says softly. Maria turns to look at her. "Yes?" Maddy opens her eyes to look at her. "Why am I forbidden?" Maria smiles teasingly. "Maybe they just don't like the fact an eleven year old is a badass." Maddy giggled slightly and turns to face the wall, her back against Maria. And the last thing she hears before falling asleep, is Maria leaving her room. 11

Chapter 6: The Break In 13

The light from the small window, wakes Maddy up. She slowly opens her eyes and yawns. Looking around, she pays attention to what the room looks like. White four walls. One wall has a small window over her bed. Her bed is big with blue and pink covers. On the second wall is a closet. And a desk. And the third fourth wall, has another closed door. She slowly gets up and walks towards the door. She runs her fingers over the knob. And turns it. Holds her breath, she opens the door but let's it go when she sees it's a bathroom. With a small white tub, and a toilet, with a sink beside it. She closes the bathroom door and goes over to her bedroom door. She opens it and looks out. To see the trolls all at the tables eating dead and cooked animals. She wrinkles her nose. Just as a shadow appears above her and she jumps back, looking up, only to find it Olard. "He smiles down at her. And she smiles back. "Good morning little girl, I see you got caught watching my trolls." He says with a smirk. She blushes and looks down. He gently takes her hand and leads her out of her room, past the tables of eating trolls, and to the table at the end facing all them. She looks at the table which is revealing human food, set out like a buffet. Olard leads her to the two seats, scoots her seat out, and scoots it back in when she sits down. Just as he sits down and they start to eat, they hear a loud banging noise while the ground starts to shake. All the trolls stop eating, and look at each other, then at Olard. But before he can do anything the roof caves in on top of them. 14

She feels Olard push her under him, as he guards her with his body. She feels the pressure of his body against her, as the roof caved in, causing the bricks and cement to crash down on her and the other trolls. She hears grunting from others entering the cave. She hears the other trolls push up away from the fallen rubble. Olard quickly gets up and pulls Maddy away from violence, but she turns her head just in time to see the trolls fighting with people in black. She screams when she sees one of the trolls getting stabbed by a sword. But Olard covers her mouth with his hand pulling her through the tables. She sees the people in black fight their way through the trolls and the trolls fight back. Olard pulls her through a door, shuts it and locks it. She looks around her to see the long tunnel she walked through the day before. Olard pulls Maddy gently through the small tunnel and turns right into another tunnel. She grips his hand tightly as she hears banging on the door he locked. She trips and lands on her hands and face. Tears well as Olard stops and picks her up in his arms. She grips his neck, looking behind them. He turns down a few more tunnels. She turns to look in front of them, to see a shine of light. She looks behind them again, to see the other trolls running behind them. Maria, Freddy, and Vivian run in front of the others. Olard stops and puts Maddy down, telling her to run towards the light. She looks at them eyes wide with fear. "No, I wanna stay and help you." Her small voice pleads. She sees the people in black running towards them. "Run now!" Olard yells at her turning back as the other trolls fight them. Maddy watches them for a few, before running towards the light. She climbs up the small latter as everything gets bright. . . . 17

Chapter 8: The Birthday Disaster	19
Three years later	20
They are all gathered around a table full of food and presents. A The housekeeper/cook, comes out of the kitchen with a big chocolate cake with the words 'Happy Birthday Maddy!' Written on it. Maddy's wearing a pretty pink dress with white high heels, and her hair is curled into a pretty crown on the top of her head. Over the past three years the trolls have taught her, her powers and how to control them. She stills has so much to learn. But today is a special day. It's Maddy's birthday. She's fifteen. She sits in her chair smiling and laughing with the rest of the trolls and people. Laughter fills the air, along with funny cute jokes. Maddy looks around and smiles. The first family she's ever known. And she feels at home here. Maria sees her smile and smiles at her. They all sing happy birthday and she blows out her candles. As they all eat cake and open her gifts, they hear loud banging noises. They all stop and looks around. Maddy's heart stops as she remembers hearing the same noise three years ago. She jumps up and her chair falls and everyone looks at her. Olard gets up and walks towards Maddy, as the room starts to shake, really badly. Maddy rushes towards the window to see the sky turning black. She shakes her head and looks towards Olard, fear in her eyes. He rushes towards her looking out the window, cursing under his breath. The trolls all get up. Just as the room shakes even harder, causing stuff to fall and break. Everyone loses balance just as the roof caved in once again. . . .	20

Chapter 9: The Turn 21
Maddy used the force to protect herself and the other humans from the caving roof. They all grunt and push away from the rubble. The trolls push the humans in the middle of the room and gathers around protecting them. Olard pushes Maddy behind him just as men in black jump through the open roof down around them. The humans scream and cry. As the men in black take charge towards the trolls, swinging their swords and knives. Maddy sees Maria fighting off a bigger man with a large sword. She's too focused on that she doesn't see the man running behind her. Until she feels a sharp pain in her back, she cries out catching Olard's attention. He turns towards her as she falls forward. Olard catches her before she falls and holds her against his chest. She uses her hand to force the man back into the table, having struggle getting back up. She winces as she feels blood dripping down her back to the floor. Olard let's her go gently and runs over to the fight and stabs a man with his sword. Maddy looks around, and sees another man running towards her. She winces as blood pours down her back. The man raises her swords towards her and she holds out her hand blocking her face, and closing her eyes. The sound of the sword meeting flesh hits in her ears, and she looks up to see the sword in Olard's heart. "NO!!" She screams and she feels her heart stop as tears well. Anger wells inside her, as her nails grow really long and her eyes turn red. . . . 22

CONTENTS

Maddy turns towards the guy who stabbed Olard, and growls. "What are you gonna do little girl?" He taunts smirking. She growls louder stepping towards him. "He backs up but keeps the smirk on his face. "Come on baby, you're just proving what a monster you are, and I'll have the pleasure of killing you, we all know what kind of reward I'll get." She jump towards him landing in his arms and digs her long nails into his neck. Causing him to cry out as blood spurts out. She digs her nails more until he stops struggling. And she pulls her nails out as tears fall down her face. Her eyes and nails turning to normal. She runs over to Olard who's struggling to breathe. "Olard?" She says crying as she pulls him into her lap, blood running off her fingers. He looks at her his face ashen "Shh child, it's okay. You know what you have to do. A mission. To find your father. You'll find a lot along the way but when you find him...." He coughs, blood pouring down his mouth. "When you find him, you'll learn all about yourself and where you come from. But now, you need to go. Get out of here." She's already shaking her head. "No im not leaving you!" She says tears falling. He grips her hand in a weak stance "You'll meet others like us, others you'll grow to love. But for now, our time with you is over." She cries, tears falling down her face, mixing with the blood on her. Olard looks at Maria, Vivian and Freddy before nodding once. His face turning to stone. "No no no!" She grips his body as it turns to stone. "I don't know what to do! You have to stay to help me! Please..." Her vision blurs with tears and anger. Her mentor, her family. The only father she's ever known, is now dead. Turned to stone. No longer living. She kisses his stone head saying she'll never forget them. Turns up towards the roof jumping up and out of it. Running away towards the woods once again. .

As she runs through the woods, tears fall down her face.

She keeps running and doesn't stop until her tears do. She slows down a bit and tries to catch her breath. She leans against a tree, putting her hand to her chest, healing the pain in it. She catches her breath and looks up. Surprise writes on her face as she sees the dark cabin in front of her. She slowly walks up to the porch, she runs her fingers over the porch rail. She climbs up the porch and steps to the front door. She gently opens the door. "Hello? Anyone home?" She calls out. Silence is the only answer she gets. She looks around at the old fashioned furnished cabin. She slowly walks in the cabin and the door slams shut behind her making her jump. She looks back at the door, just as a scream pierces through the air. She covers her ears as she looks towards the stairs and jumps up them two at a time. Finally reaching the top she looks around at the closed doors, before going to the one she thinks the screaming is coming from. She holds her breath as she opens the door to reveal a little girl's room. But still no sign of anyone. She goes to leave the room as something pulls her dress gently. She looks again and sees a little girl wearing the same dress looking up at Maddy with innocent wide eyes. Maddy smiles. "What is your name?" The little girl smiles back. "Madison." She says softly. Maddy studies the little girl's features. She has light brown hair, with huge blue eyes. Her nose is slender and her lips are small but full and pink. Her breath catches in her throats as she realizes who this little girl is. The little girl is her.

Chapter 12: “I’m Your Mother.” 30

The little girl grabs Maddy’s hand gently and pulls her down the hall, to the stairs. Maddy walks behind her as she pulls her down the stairs. She looks at the pictures on the wall beside them. Pictures of her with a woman and an older looking boy. Madison smiles up at her and pulls her down the hall beside the stairs to the open kitchen. Before she reaches the open doorway, she sees a table with a coffee cup and a stack of mail on top of it. As they stop at the doorway, Maddy sees a woman with brown hair that’s up in a bun. She’s wearing black jeans and a flowy dress shirt the same pattern of Madison and Maddy’s dress. Maddy looks at her. The woman turns around and smiles warmly at her, her hazel eyes sparkling. Like she’s happy to see Maddy. “Come Maddy, we have lots to talk about.” Madison, still holding Maddy’s hand, walks over to the table and sits down, pulling Maddy to sit next to her. The woman brings two coffee cups and a glass of milk. She places the glass of milk in front of Madison. Then a coffee cup in front of Maddy. She sits down in the chair across the table and smiles at Maddy taking a sip of her hot coffee. Maddy watches her with her eyes narrowed. “Who are you?” She says quietly. “It doesn’t matter who I am. It matters who you are. And I’m here to tell you.” She sets her cup down and gets comfortable in her chair. Maddy shakes her head. “How can I believe anything you say if I don’t know who you are?” A smile appears on Madison’s face as she looks at the woman. “Tell her Mommy!” Maddy looks at her than at the woman. The woman looks down, then at Maddy. “I’m your mother Maddy.” . 31

Version:1.0 Maddy looks at her "You're what?" The woman takes Maddy's hand and smiles "I'm Charly, your mother." Maddy shakes her head and studies her features. Maddy's breath catches in her throat. She's right. She looks just like Charly. She looks at Madison whose smiling up at her. "My mother is dead." Maddy says sharply and pulls her hand away. Charly tries not to look hurt at her tone but covers it up with another smile. "No you just have to find me." "Where are you?" Maddy looks around "Where are we?" Madison's eyes light up. "Mommy! Let's show her!" Charly laughs softly at her daughter and stands up. "Come on, I'll show you where we are." Madison runs out before anyone can say a word. And Maddy stands up slowly. Something inside her tells her to trust Charly, but she's scared to. Something is off about all this. It just doesn't make sense to her. Charly leads her outside to the back yard. "You grew up different than us. You had rules and restrictions in the home you lived in." She looks at Maddy. Maddy narrows her eyes. "But when you met Olard and the rest of the Gamma Trolls life became different. And difficult. Am I right?" Raises an eyebrow. All Maddy does is look at her. Giving her no answer. Charly continues. "I assume it was difficult. Trying to learn who you are and what you can do. Trying not to let it show because people already think you're a monster." Again she stops to look at Maddy. Maddy averts her eyes. "I don't think you are a monsters hon. Neither does little Madison. But it's gonna be hard living in a world where people thrive to kill people like you. How are you gonna survive like that?" 34

Chapter 14: Having A Normal Life	36

CONTENTS

After Charly talks to Maddy. They all go into the house so Charly can cook dinner for them as it is getting late. Maddy goes to the bathroom and locks the door, leaning against the back of it and lets out a breath. She looks around at the best cleaned bathroom and sighs. I can't hide in here forever, I've already been in here too long. She flushes the toilet, unlocks the bathroom door and opens it. As she walks out she runs into Madison. Madison smiles up at her. "Momma wanted me to tell you dinner is done. We're having Homemade Pasta! My favorite!" Madison keeps talking as they walk to the kitchen and sits at the table, that has a pan of Pasta, plates and cups. Charly fills the cups with Tea for her and Maddy and Milk for Madison. She fills the plates with food and sits down in her chair. Madison and Charly starts to eat but Maddy leaves her plate untouched. Charly looks at Maddy "You aren't gonna eat?" Maddy shakes her head "I'm not hungry." Charly watches Maddy for a few minutes. Maddy looks at Charly. Madison keeps eating her dinner then stops when she's done looking up at her mother. "Mommy?" Charly looks away from Maddy to look at her daughter and smiles. "Yes sweetheart?" Madison yawns. "Maybe we should all get some rest. We can talk more tomorrow." Charly gets up and puts the dishes in the sink. She walks over and picks up Madison, looking at Maddy. "You can sleep in the guest room. It's next to the bathroom." Charly doesn't give her a chance to respond as she turns to the stairs and puts Madison to bed. Maddy slowly gets up and walks up the stairs to her new room. She washes in the bathroom then lays down in her bed. I could get used to this. Having a mother. A little sister. A normal life. Her last thought as she falls fast asleep. 37

Chapter 15: Meeting Nathan	39

CONTENTS

The next day, they all get up and eat breakfast. Maddy tells Charly she's going outside to the woods. As she walks through the woods she hears a noise, so she stops. She looks around slowly as the noise gets louder. Sounds like footsteps. She climbs up the tree as they get closer. As she sees a boy walk where she is she jumps down on top of him, making them fall. The boy grunts and struggles. "Hey! Get off me!" Maddy gets off him reluctantly and looks at him while he wipes the dirt off himself. He looks up at her, with piercing green eyes. Her breath catches, and she looks away. He steps closer to her. "How old are you?" She looks up at him. "How old are you?" He smirks. "I'm Fifteen. Your turn." Maddy looks away shyly. God what is wrong with me right now?? I've never been nervous around a boy before...oh yeah that's because I've never been around a boy. Maddy shakes her head. "Fifteen too." She decides to play it cool. As if she isn't nervous. She holds out her hand. "I'm Maddy." He takes her hand and shakes it. "Nathan." She lets go of his hand and looks towards the cabin. "So I should get back. Charly is probably worried about me." Nathan's eyes get dark. "Charly?" Maddy nods slowly looking at him, confused. "Why?" He shakes his head and steps back. "I should go. It was nice talking to you Maddy." She watches as he walks away quickly. She looks around confused. What the heck was that about? She turns and goes back to the cabin. "Hey! Did you have fun out on your walk in the woods?" Charly asks as she gives Maddy a glass of lemonade. Maddy takes a long sip of her drink and sets it down. She explains to Charly about her encounter with Noah and his reaction. "I don't want you to ever talk to him again. His whole family is insane." Maddy nods. "Well I'll make sure to stay clear next time. I'm gonna go hang out in my room. See ya later." She smiles politely at Charly. As she walks to her room she thinks, but why was Nathan freaked out about you Charly? .

The past two weeks Maddy has tried to find something that could explain the answer to her question. Almost getting caught a few times she searched the whole cabin. But she found nothing. Today she is walking out to the spot she met Nathan. Hoping he comes there so she can ask him why he was so freaked out about Charly. As she reaches the spot she sees Nathan with a girl and another boy. They must of heard her coming because they all turned to look at her. She stops short of them and looks at each of them, watching her. "Is this her? The girl you told us about, Nathan?" The other boy ask Nathan, still looking at Maddy. Nathan nods and looks away from Maddy as she looks at him, narrowing her eyes. The girl walks up to Maddy and studies her. "Are you Charly's daughter?" Maddy nods slowly. "Yes." Nathan shakes his head in disbelief, while the other guy looks away. "What?" Maddy ask them, not understanding the looks. Nathan looks at her. "That's not your mother Maddy." Maddy looks at him. "What?" Nathan steps toward her. "Your real mother, she used to live in that cabin. One day she left and we've haven't seen her since. But that women in there pretending to be your mother came a few weeks later. We all knew it wasn't Charly, but the complete opposite of her." Maddy couldn't wrap her head around what they were saying. She took a step back. "No, your wrong." Nathan shakes his head. "No We're right Maddy. How can you explain Madison huh?" Maddy stops and thinks. How...is...wait! Madison is me....how's that possible? "She's not my mom..." Maddy backs up, feeling hurt by the lie. And the fact that She believed Charly, or whoever that woman is.

"What's going on?" They all look over at Charly. She looks at all of them, her eyes darkening. Maddy turns around to look at Charly. "I thought I told you to stay away from them." Charly grabs Maddy's arm in a death grip and pulls her towards the cabin. Pain shoots through Maddy's arm. "Let go of me." Charly grips tighter. "Why did you have to disobey me?" Pain showing in her eyes, Maddy makes her arm start to burn. Charly pulls her hand away in pain. Maddy backs away from Charly, towards the others. Charly's eyes turn black, as her hair starts to get all wild like. Charly growls. Maddy tries to step towards her but Nathan puts his hand in her arm. But She shakes off his hand and steps closer to Charly. "You're a bad little girl Maddy." Charly snaps as she turns into this big green monster. It has black eyes, green rippling slimy skin, and white long nails on large hands. Maddy hears The others gasp, but she focuses on the monster. The monster growls loudly and steps closer to Maddy, towering her. Maddy whimpers when the monster swipes its hand and throws her against a tree, but she gets up anyway. Shaking off the pain, she only takes a second to see the stick sticking out of her leg. She hears a scream, and turns to see the monster squeezing Nathan in its hand. Maddy's eyes turn red and her nails get razor sharp. She runs towards the monster and swipes at it's legs with her nails, making it cry out but still give no way of letting go of Nathan. Maddy grips its arm and pulls herself onto the monster. "Let him go." Maddy says growling. The monster laughs, that sounds more like a growl. Maddy narrows her red eyes. "I said let...him...go." Maddy digs her nails in one of the monster's eyes. The monster cries out in pain as it opens its hand and Nathan falls to the ground. The monster swipes Maddy off its back and knocks her against a tree again, this time she hits her head. Maddy groans as she feels the blood trailing down her neck. Maddy stirs just in time to see the monster

Chapter 2: The Door

As her eyes open, she stares above her trying to see through the darkness, she turns her head to the side, only to have it hit a wall. She yelps and uses her hand to rub her head. She pushes her other hand up to the wall and tries her best to get up. She slowly pulls herself up, and tries to look around again, but the darkness is preventing her from seeing anything. "Hello?" She yells into the darkness. She keeps her hand on the wall, as she begins to walk following it. She keeps moving until her hand reaches an opening and she almost falls. She catches herself right before she falls, and tries to look in front of her, and sees a little dim light, at the end of the little walkway. She puts her hand out to find the wall, her hand hits it and she slowly makes herself toward the light, the wall leading her. She drags her hand along the concrete damp wall, as she draws on front of the source of light. A candle. She picks it up, and looks around. She looks up to discover a dark staircase. She slowly glides to it, and begins to walk up. She keeps one hand on the wall and the other on the candle

Chapter 3: The GammaTrolls

"Olard, who is this beautiful little girl? And what is she doing here?" a small but large voice says. As the rest of other voices speak up asking questions. "She is the Daughter Of Lee , The Demon Leader Of The Arkturians." A booming voice says, as the rest of the voices quiet down. One, a small woman's voice speaks up. "But what is she doing here, Olard?" The women asks her leader. The leader looks at all of them, then at Maddy. "I'm not entirely sure, but must be for a good reason." He says to them all. Maddy starts to drift back into consciousness, and groans, rubbing her head. She opens her eyes and looks up at the creature. Her eyes wide as she studies his features. Big and green, with brown large eyes, big ears and nostrils, and two large white horns sticking out on his head. His skin is rough and rippled. She looks up at him. He looks back down at her, waiting for her response. Ten seconds go by, before she lets put an ear piercing scream. The creatures cover their ears, and look at

Chapter 4: Finding Who She Is

Maddy, looks around at the rest of the trolls. Then back at the leader. "What are your names?" The leader smiles down at her, and says "My name is Olardian, but just call me Olard." She nods and smiles, then looks back at the trolls who are all calling out their names. Three come up to her, one has a bow on one of her horns. The others don't. So she's guessing those are boys. The one with the bow gently pulls her into a hug. "My name is Marian. But you may call me Maria." Maddy smiles at Marian, as she gets a smile back. The older looking troll gently grabs her hand and kisses it. "Mine is Fredian." He smiles as the younger troll with the crossbow, bows and smiles. "Livian, my lady." She blushes. Not understanding why they are calling her that and being so formal. Olard, speaks again. "Do you know who you are Maddy?" Maddy shakes her head, looking at him. "You are The Daughter of Lee, The Demon Leader Of The Arkturians." Maddy tilts her head to study him, trying to see if

Chapter 5: "Why Am I Forbidden?"

Maddy follows Maria down between the tables to a row of doors. Maria goes to the last one and opens it. To reveal a big bed with pink and blue covers, a desk and a closet of clothes. Maria smiles gently at Maddy. "Why don't we get you changed into something clean?" She gestures to the closet. Maddy yawns and walks over to the bed sitting down. Maria laughs softly. "Or not." She does to the closet and rummages through it before settling on a long pink nightgown with a princess on the front. She holds it out towards Maddy, as Maddy is watching Maria closely. "Would you like me to step out while you change?" Maddy just nods and Maria steps out the room. Maddy looks in the mirror at herself, seeing the tears in her dress, and the dirt clinging to it. She shakes her head as she pulls the dress over her head gently. And looks at herself again. Tears well as she notices bruises on her stomach and ribs. As she remembers the last day there, the girls at the home beat her up. Calling her a

The light from the small window, wakes Maddy up. She slowly opens her eyes and yawns. Looking around, she pays attention to what the room looks like. White four walls. One wall has a small window over her bed. Her bed is big with blue and pink covers. On the second wall is a closet. And a desk. And the third fourth wall, has another closed door. She slowly gets up and walks towards the door. She runs her fingers over the knob. And turns it. Holds her breath, she opens the door but let's it go when she sees it's a bathroom. With a small white tub, and a toilet, with a sink beside it. She closes the bathroom door and goes over to her bedroom door. She opens it and looks out. To see the trolls all at the tables eating dead and cooked animals. She wrinkles her nose. Just as a shadow appears above her and she jumps back, looking up, only to find it Olard. He smiles down at her. And she smiles back. "Good morning little girl, I see you got caught watching my trolls." He says with a smirk. She blushes and looks down. He gently takes her hand and leads her out of her room, past the

Chapter 7: The Light

She feels Olard push her under him, as he guards her with his body. She feels the pressure of his body against her, as the roof caved in, causing the bricks and cement to crash down on her and the other trolls. She hears grunting from others entering the cave. She hears the other trolls push up away from the fallen rubble. Olard quickly gets up and pulls Maddy away from violence, but she turns her head just in time to see the trolls fighting with people in black. She screams when she sees one of the trolls getting stabbed by a sword. But Olard covers her mouth with his hand pulling her through the tables. She sees the people in black fight their way through the trolls and the trolls fight back. Olard pulls her through a door, shuts it and locks it. She looks around her to see the long tunnel she walked through the day before. Olard pulls Maddy gently through the small tunnel and turns right into another tunnel. She grips his hand tightly as she hears banging on the door he locked. She trips and lands on her hands and face. Tears well as Olard stops and picks her up in

Chapter 8: The Birthday Disaster

Three years later

They are all gathered around a table full of food and presents. The housekeeper/cook, comes out of the kitchen with a big chocolate cake with the words 'Happy Birthday Maddy!' Written on it. Maddy's wearing a pretty pink dress with white high heels, and her hair is curled into a pretty crown on the top of her head. Over the past three years the trolls have taught her, her powers and how to control them. She stills has so much to learn. But today is a special day. It's Maddy's birthday. She's fifteen. She sits in her chair smiling and laughing with the rest of the trolls and people. Laughter fills the air, along with funny cute jokes. Maddy looks around and smiles. The first family she's ever known. And she feels at home here. Maria sees her smile and smiles at her. They all sing happy birthday and she blows out her candles. As they all eat cake and open her gifts, they hear loud banging noises. They all

Chapter 9: The Turn

Maddy used the force to protect herself and the other humans from the caving roof. They all grunt and push away from the rubble. The trolls push the humans in the middle of the room and gathers around protecting them. Olard pushes Maddy behind him just as men in black jump through the open roof down around them. The humans scream and cry. As the men in black take charge towards the trolls, swinging their swords and knives. Maddy sees Maria fighting off a bigger man with a large sword. She's too focused on that she doesn't see the man running behind her. Until she feels a sharp pain in her back, she cries out catching Olard's attention. He turns towards her as she falls foreword. Olard catches her before she falls and holds her against his chest. She uses her hand to force the man back into the table, having struggle getting back up. She winces as she feels blood dripping down her back to the floor. Olard let's her go gently and runs over to the fight and stabs a man with his sword. Maddy looks around, and sees another man running towards her

Chapter 10: The Death

Maddy turns towards the guy who stabbed Olard, and growls. "What are you gonna do little girl?" He taunts smirking. She growls louder stepping towards him. "He backs up but keeps the smirk on his face. "Come on baby, you're just proving what a monster you are, and I'll have the pleasure of killing you, we all know what kind of reward I'll get." She jump towards him landing in his arms and digs her long nails into his neck. Causing him to cry out as blood spurts out. She digs her nails more until he stops struggling. And she pulls her nails out as tears fall down her face. Her eyes and nails turning to normal. She runs over to Olard who's struggling to breathe. "Olard?" She says crying as she pulls him into her lap, blood running off her fingers. He looks at her his face ashen "Shh child, it's okay. You know what you have to do. A mission. To find your father. You'll find a lot along the way but when you find him...." He coughs, blood pouring down his mouth. "When you find him, you'll learn all about yourself and where you come from. But now you need to go. Get out

Chapter 11: Madison

As she runs through the woods, tears fall down her face. She keeps running and doesn't stop until her tears do. She slows down a bit and tries to catch her breath. She leans against a tree, putting her hand to her chest, healing the pain in it. She catches her breath and looks up. Surprise writes on her face as she sees the dark cabin in front of her. She slowly walks up to the porch, she runs her fingers over the porch rail. She climbs up the porch and steps to the front door. She gently opens the door. "Hello? Anyone home?" She calls out. Silence is the only answer she gets. She looks around at the old fashioned furnished cabin. She slowly walks in the cabin and the door slams shut behind her making her jump. She looks back at the door, just as a scream pierces through the air. She covers her ears as she looks towards the stairs and jumps up them two at a time. Finally reaching the top she looks around at the closed doors, before going to the one she thinks the screaming is coming from. She holds her breath as she opens the door to reveal a little

Chapter 12: "I'm Your Mother."

The little girl grabs Maddy's hand gently and pulls her down the hall, to the stairs. Maddy walks behind her as she pulls her down the stairs. She looks at the pictures on the wall beside them.

Pictures of her with a woman and an older looking boy. Madison smiles up at her and pulls her down the hall beside the stairs to the open kitchen. Before she reaches the open doorway, she sees a table with a coffee cup and a stack of mail on top of it. As they stop at the doorway, Maddy sees a woman with brown hair that's up in a bun. She's wearing black jeans and a flowy dress shirt the same pattern of Madison and Maddy's dress. Maddy looks at her.

The woman turns around and smiles warmly at her, her hazel eyes sparkling. Like she's happy to see Maddy. "Come Maddy, we have lots to talk about."

Madison, still holding Maddy's hand, walks over to the table and sits down, pulling Maddy to sit next to her. The woman brings two coffee cups and a glass of milk. She places the glass of Chapter 13: How Can You Survive Like That?

Version:1.0 Maddy looks at her "You're what?" The woman takes Maddy's hand and smiles "I'm Charly, your mother." Maddy shakes her head and studies her features. Maddy's breath catches in her throat. She's right. She looks just like Charly. She looks at Madison whose smiling up at her. "My mother is dead." Maddy says sharply and pulls her hand away. Charly tries not to look hurt at her tone but covers it up with another smile. "No you just have to find me." "Where are you?" Maddy looks around "Where are we?" Madison's eyes light up. "Mommy! Let's show her!" Charly laughs softly at her daughter and stands up. "Come on, I'll show you where we are." Madison runs out before anyone can say a word. And Maddy stands up slowly. Something inside her tells her to trust Charly, but she's scared to. Something is off about all this. It just doesn't make sense to her. Charly leads her outside to the back yard. "You grew up different than us. You had rules and restrictions in the home you lived in."

Chapter 14: Having A Normal Life

After Charly talks to Maddy. They all go into the house so Charly can cook dinner for them as it is getting late. Maddy goes to the bathroom and locks the door, leaning against the back of it and lets out a breath. She looks around at the best cleaned bathroom and sighs. I can't hide in here forever, I've already been in here too long. She flushes the toilet, unlocks the bathroom door and opens it. As she walks out she runs into Madison. Madison smiles up at her. "Momma wanted me to tell you dinner is done. We're having Homemade Pasta! My favorite!" Madison keeps talking as they walk to the kitchen and sits at the table, that has a pan of Pasta, plates and cups. Charly fills the cups with Tea for her and Maddy and Milk for Madison. She fills the plates with food and sits down in her chair. Madison and Charly starts to eat but Maddy leaves her plate untouched. Charly looks at Maddy "You aren't gonna eat?" Maddy shakes her head "I'm not hungry." Charly watches Maddy for a few

Chapter 15: Meeting Nathan

The next day, they all get up and eat breakfast. Maddy tells Charly she's going outside to the woods. As she walks through the woods she hears a noise, so she stops. She looks around slowly as the noise gets louder. Sounds like footsteps. She climbs up the tree as they get closer. As she sees a boy walk where she is she jumps down on top of him, making them fall. The boy grunts and struggles. "Hey! Get off me!" Maddy gets off him reluctantly and looks at him while he wipes the dirt off himself. He looks up at her, with piercing green eyes. Her breath catches, and she looks away. He steps closer to her. "How old are you?" She looks up at him. "How old are you?" He smirks. "I'm Fifteen. Your turn." Maddy looks away shyly. God what is wrong with me right now?? I've never been nervous around a boy before...oh yeah that's because I've never been around a boy. Maddy shakes her head. "Fifteen too." She decides to play it cool. As if she isn't nervous. She holds out her hand. "I'm Maddy." He

Chapter 16: "That's Not Your Mother, Maddy."

The past two weeks Maddy has tried to find something that could explain the answer to her question. Almost getting caught a few times she searched the whole cabin. But she found nothing. Today she is walking out to the spot she met Nathan. Hoping he comes there so she can ask him why he was so freaked out about Charly. As she reaches the spot she sees Nathan with a girl and another boy. They must of heard her coming because they all turned to look at her. She stops short of them and looks at each of them, watching her. "Is this her? The girl you told us about, Nathan?" The other boy ask Nathan, still looking at Maddy. Nathan nods and looks away from Maddy as she looks at him, narrowing her eyes. The girl walks up to Maddy and studies her. "Are you Charly's daughter?" Maddy nods slowly. "Yes." Nathan shakes his head in disbelief, while the other guy looks away. "What?" Maddy ask them, not understanding the looks. Nathan looks at her. "That's not your mother Maddy."

Chapter 17: The Monster

"What's going on?" They all look over at Charly. She looks at all of them, her eyes darkening. Maddy turns around to look at Charly. "I thought I told you to stay away from them." Charly grabs Maddy's arm in a death grip and pulls her towards the cabin. Pain shoots through Maddy's arm. "Let go of me." Charly grips tighter. "Why did you have to disobey me?" Pain showing in her eyes, Maddy makes her arm start to burn. Charly pulls her hand away in pain. Maddy backs away from Charly, towards the others. Charly's eyes turn black, as her hair starts to get all wild like. Charly growls. Maddy tries to step towards her but Nathan puts his hand in her arm. But She shakes off his hand and steps closer to Charly. "You're a bad little girl Maddy." Charly snaps as she turns into this big green monster. It has black eyes, green rippling slimy skin, and white long nails on large hands. Maddy hears The others gasp, but she focuses on the monster. The monster growls loudly and steps closer to Maddy, towering her. Maddy whimpers when the monster swines its hand and
