I. "TOM!"

No answer.

"TOM!"

No answer.

"What's gone with that boy, I wonder? You TOM!"

No answer.

The old lady pulled her spectacles down and looked over them about the room; then she put them up and looked out under them. She seldom or never looked through them for so small a thing as a boy; they were her state pair, the pride of her heart, and were built for "style," not service--she could have seen through a pair of stove-lids just as well.

She looked perplexed for a moment, and then said, not fiercely, but still loud enough for the furniture to hear:

"Well, I lay if I get hold of you I'll--"

She did not finish, for by this time she was bending down and punching under the bed with the broom, and so she needed breath to punctuate the punches with. She resurrected nothing but the cat.

“I never did see the beat of that boy!”

She went to the open door and stood in it and looked out among the tomato vines and “jimpson” weeds that constituted the garden. No Tom.

So she lifted up her voice at an angle calculated for distance and shouted: “TOM!”

An Ode to the Spelling Checker

I have a spelling checker.
It came with my PC.
It plainly marks for my review
Mistakes I cannot see.
I ran this poem through it,
You're sure real glad to know.
It's very polished in its way,
My checker told me so.
A checker is a blessing,
It frees you loads of time.
It helps me write all styles to read,
And aides me when I rhyme.
Each phrase composed up on my screen
I trust to be a jewel.
The checker poured over every word.
To check some spelling rule.

Work sheet 37

Before availing checkers
Our spelling might decline,
And if we were lax or have a lapse,
We would be made to whine.

But now because my spelling
 Is checked with such great flair
 There are no faults within my sight.
 Of none I am aware.
 Now spelling does not faze me.
 It does not bring a tear.
 My papers all do gladden
 With rapt words fair to hear.
 To write with care is quite a feat
 Of which one should be proud.
 And we must do the best we can,
 So flaws are not allowed.
 So you can see why I do praise
 Such software for PCs,
 And why I break into a verse
 By writing once to please.
