This field integrates into our banking file, and causes a delay in payment if special characters are used.

Do you see fields that don't look familiar? Here are definitions for some of the information we might ask for on your bank account in order to make payment.

What are ABA and SWIFT codes?

ABA and SWIFT codes convey what bank a wire should be sent to.

An ABA number (also known as routing number or routing transfer number) is a sequence of nine numeric characters used by banks to identify specific financial institutions within the United States.

Swift Code is a standard format of Bank Identifier Codes (BIC) and it is unique identification code for a particular bank. These codes are used when transferring money between banks, particularly for international wire transfers. Banks also used the codes for exchanging other messages between them.

What does an ABA look like? Is it the same as the routing number?

Banks located in the United States use ABA or routing codes. An ABA code is 9 digits, all numbers.

Examples:

Bank of America (wires to all branches)= 026009593

JP Morgan Chase (New York branch)= 021000021

JPMorgan Chase (California branch)= 322271627

As you can infer from the examples, some banks have a universal ABA for all branches, while other banks may use different ABA's for different branches. Therefore, don't be surprised if two wires to the same bank may have two different ABA numbers.

What does a SWIFT code look like? Is it the same as a BIC number?

SWIFT codes are 8 or 11 digits usually have the following format:

BBBBCCkk

OR

BBBBCCkkXXX

Where

C= The Country Code (Examples: GB for the United Kingdom, DE for Germany, FR for France)

k= The “check” code, two digits or letters (there is an algorithm for how to determine the check code, but it’s so mind-numbingly esoteric it’s not worth going into here)

B= The Bank Information Code (or “BIC”). It is usually a 4-letter abbreviation of the bank (Examples: BARC for Barclays, LOYD for Lloyds, CITI for Citibank).

Do note that sometimes the four letters don’t look at the bank at all (For example: MIDL for HSBC bank, which is due to the fact that Midland Bank was bought out by HSBC, but they never bothered to change the BIC)

X= The Branch code (optional). This is a 3-digit combination of numbers and/or letters, or simply “XXX” if it’s the main branch. If the SWIFT code is only 8 digits and the branch code is left of, we in finance know that “XXX” is implied.

An example of some SWIFT codes:

BARCGB22XXX (This is going to Barclays in the United Kingdom, main branch)

BARCGB22 (essentially the same as the one above it)

BARCGB2103B (This is also going to Barclays in the United Kingdom, but specifies a branch)

See <http://www.theswiftcodes.com/> to confirm SWIFT Code.

What if I only have a SWIFT code for a US Bank?

If your bank has only provided you with SWIFT information such as:

CHASUS33 (JP Morgan Chase)

CITIUS33 (Citibank)

Our finance department is often able to use this information to look up the ABA number, but if no ABA is available, a SWIFT can be used.

What if my US Bank (or Credit Union) doesn't have a SWIFT code?

If your bank or credit union does NOT have a SWIFT or BIC code, then use the following in the field:

CREDITUNION

What does an account number look like?

The format varies from bank to bank, but is usually 6-26 digits, mostly numbers but on rare occasions use letters.

What is an IBAN?

An IBAN stands for International Bank Account Number, and is a coding system meant to supplant account codes for international wires. IBAN codes provide more detailed information than normal account numbers and usually have less risk in transcription errors.

Is an IBAN required for all wires?

For wires to US banks (from other US banks, which is the case with US), IBANs are not used.

For wires to European banks and some other banks, the IBAN is required. Follow these external links to see where IBAN is mandatory and recommended.

- Countries where the use of IBAN is mandatory
- Countries where the use of IBAN is recommended

What does an IBAN look like?

The format of an IBAN number varies by country, and a complete list can be found here:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/IBAN#List_of_valid_IBANs_by_country

Don't be overwhelmed by this list; you need not memorize every format of IBAN. The important takeaway is understanding roughly what it looks like so you can find it on the mess of numbers your vendor, consultant, or grantee gives you from their bank: an IBAN number is usually a 15-31 digit mixture of numbers or letters, with the first two letters being a country code.

Some generic examples to get a feel for what they look like:

GB22 BARC 1234 5612 3456 78 (United Kingdom)

FR12 1234 5123 4512 3456 7890 012 (France)

RO80 BRDE 123S V123 4567 8901 (Romania)

What is a SORT code?

Banks in the UK require one additional piece of information for a wire to go through: a 6 digit code called a Sort Code.

In theory, a bank should be able to determine the Sort Code from the IBAN number: it is digits 9-14 of the IBAN. So if the IBAN is GB22 BARC 1234 5612 3456 78, the Sort code will be 12-34-56.

In practice, the banks are never that proactive, and are known to reject wires for missing a Sort Code even though they have the IBAN. For this reason it is best practice to be redundant and include the Sort Code as a separate line.

What is a Transit Number?

A Transit Number is used while doing financial transactions with Canadian Banks. The 8 digit Transit Number identifies the beneficiary financial institution and the branch to which a payment is being initiated. A Transit Number is essential for making payments through the Canadian clearing system.

What kind of amendment can I ask for?

If you have received a grant agreement that you have countersigned, and you want to request a change to the terms of the grant, below is a list of the types of amendments you can request.

Type of change	What it means
No-Cost Extension	More time to complete grant activities.
Other Report Date	Do you need to request a change in report due dates? If so, enter new report due dates in the narrative description below and tell us why you are requesting a revised reporting schedule. Depending on the type of grant you received and if your revised dates are approved, you will either receive a simplified notification that your request was approved or you will receive an amendment letter for your countersignature.
Payment Date	Do you need to request a change in payment dates outlined in the original agreement? If so, please submit a revised payment schedule along with a brief narrative justification. If your revised payment schedule is approved, you will either receive a simplified notification that your request was approved or you will receive an amendment letter for your countersignature.
Budget Modification	Do any of the scenarios apply to your budget modification request? • Add a new budget line item • Adjust existing allocations more than the permissible percentage indicated in your agreement • Re-allocate additional funds to Salaries and Benefits

	If your request falls in one of these categories, submit a revised budget in the attachments section, and complete the narrative field justifying the request. If your request is approved, you will either receive a simplified notification that your request was approved or you will receive an amendment letter for your countersignature. Please keep in mind that budget modifications do NOT involve additional funds to an awarded grant. If you would like to request supplemental funds for your project, please send a message to your program contact.
Scope of Work	Do you want to make a substantive change to the grant activities? Are there new constraints in your operating environment that necessitate a change in your approved activities? If so, choose Scope of Work. Please provide a narrative description of the proposed changes as well as a justification for the revised scope of work and a revised budget that reflects costs associated with your new activities. If your request is approved, you will either receive a simplified notification that your request was approved or you will receive an amendment letter for your countersignature.
Unspent Funds	Do you have unspent funds due to savings or exchange rate gains? If you want to use the funds for other activities that are related to the approved grant, provide a brief narrative description of the activities, and a summary budget of how the unspent funds will be spent. If your request is approved, you will either receive a simplified notification that your request was approved or you will receive an amendment letter for your countersignature.

Type of change	What it means
Other	If you are requesting a change that does not meet any of the criteria described above, please chose “Other.” Include an explanation of your request in the narrative description field, and attach any relevant documents that support your request. Examples include, but are not limited to: • Change of grantee’s legal name • Change of grantee’s tax status • Change of fiscal agent • Removing a fiscal agent • Spinoff of sponsored project • De-obligating grant funds • Reducing a grant period • Termination

How do I request a grant amendment or a no-cost extension?

Do you need more time to complete grant activities? Would you like to request a budget modification?

This article outlines the steps to request an amendment to your awarded grant.

⚠ Please note that you can not request an amendment if the grant end date has already passed. If the grant term has completed, but you still need more time, please reach out to your program staff contact.
