In Mr. Swafford's Technology II class, students have been working with scalable vector graphics using Microsoft Expression Design. Expression Design is a tool for creative professionals and developers who want to build graphics for application user interfaces, the web, or any other medium. Later in the semester, students will apply their knowledge of scalable vector graphics, sound effects, and programming concepts to create their own original game using Gamemaker Studio. Gamemaker Studio utilizes their own programming language that is very similar to the Java programming language and will reinforce and build upon each student's knowledge of fundamental programming concepts.
