

UNIVERSITY VIEW ACADEMY WELCOMES FAMILIES INTERESTED IN MID-YEAR SCHOOL SWITCH

University View Academy, the state’s leading provider of high quality, free public online charter schooling for grades K through 12, is currently enrolling students who are interested in making a mid-year schooling switch. Parents can begin the enrollment process online at www.universityview.academy

According to research, the top reasons for switching schools usually are:

- The student requires or wants greater flexibility;
- The student isn’t happy with his current school;
- The student wants a change from their local school;
- The student wants a safe learning environment.

“Whatever the reason for switching mid-year, it is important to explore what options are out there and have clear communications about what a school change will involve,” said High School Principal Dr. Shana Corvers.

To ensure a successful mid-year school switch, University View recommends parents plan ahead, research school options and offerings, organize needed paperwork early—including transcripts and credit documentation—and maintain an open dialogue with both their student and new school administration.

“Our staff is here to underscore that every enrolled student will be educated. Our team approach between students, staff, and parents is based on a shared responsibility to step up to the plate to succeed,” said U View Superintendent Dr. Lonnie Luce.
