Justiss Elementary School students vote in mock Presidential election

Justiss students cast their vote for President of the United States today in a mock election conducted by the Student Council. The cafeteria was converted into an election polling place and the election was run as if they were real voting citizens. After casting their votes, students proudly sported their "I Voted" stickers for taking part in the campus election.

Student Council members Jimmy Segura and Daniela Barbosa assist Rondarrius Edwards as he casts his vote.

First grader Gabriel Bankston and his classmates prepare to choose their favorite candidate.

Second grade teacher Janita Martinez and Inclusion teacher Marilyn Smith stand proud with Martinez' class after they cast their votes in the election.
