Paris High School students cast their ballots

Students from Paris High School voted for the first time Thursday, Feb. 25 at the Lamar County Courthouse Annex. They participated in early voting before the March 1 elections.

The U.S. Government classes of Cheryl Brown, Tracey Roden, Lonnie Norton and Randall Lewis were taught how to take part in elections.

Brown said she didn't want her students intimidated by the process. "We have been giving our seniors unbiased information on how elections take place, how to read a ballot, and what to expect the first time you vote."

She added how important it is for students to be informative voters. "These students are our future leaders, decision makers and participants in our country. They need to be educated in the importance of being life long voters."

1st row: Mary Cobb, Tierra Yates, DaQuavious Council;

2nd row: Tarshala Fisher, Zarreia Jones, Summer James, Ty Gray, Jacob Owen;

3rd row: Katie Watson, Ryan Callaway, Jefferey White, Bridger Gottshalk, D.J. Samuels, Quez Allen, Graham Weatherford, Adilih Calderon
