Paris High School rewards students for highest grades

Paris High School recently held a dinner in honor of the 2014 graduating seniors with the highest grade point averages. Principal Gary Preston introduced each student including a record of their activities and accomplishments. The students introduced their parents and a special guest. They were presented their honor graduate cowl and a plaque from the Board of Trustees and Superintendent Paul Jones in recognition of their accomplishment.
