The Kansas Heritage Center moves to the Dodge City Public Library

February 19, 2019

Dodge City, Kansas – The Kansas Heritage Center started the move from the USD 443 Administration Building to the Dodge City Public Library in early February. It is near completion. Those familiar with the Heritage Center understand that it is a superb source of historical information for Southwest Kansas.

William Hammond, Executive Director of Business and Operations for USD 443, credits the Dodge City Public Library and Heritage staff for the well-orchestrated transition. Hammond said, "USD 443 Administration is excited about the easy access to the center. The Library will be convenient for frequent users, and most importantly, resources will remain available for research and learning. "The Kansas Heritage Center is a real gem, and we are happy that it has a new home in Dodge City."

Dierdre Lemon, Executive Director, said, "We can't wait to show people the new look!" The official opening to the public will take place in August.
