The Fayetteville P.T.C. is an organization which is very helpful to Fayetteville Rural High School. The P.T.C. makes contributions to the school in many ways. Our P.T.C. buys needed equipment for our school, such as typing desks, athletic supplies, and silverware for the homemaking room. They sponsor the Halloween Carnival, provide scholarships to deserving students, and give each teacher a specified allowance to be used for classroom instruction. These services that our P.T.C. provides are truly helpful to the school.

TSSA Region XIII Talented Student Seminar

These six talented students attend the Texas Small Schools Association's Talented Student Seminar at Blinn College in Brenham. These meetings are composed of students from Round Top-Carmine, Burton, Fayetteville, Waelder, and Dime Box. Seminar students are the most academically talented juniors and seniors from these schools. They meet monthly to discuss various topics such as the court system, religion, pollution, and mental retardation. At each seminar the speaker is a professional person talented in his field. Seminar programs influence the students to widen their interests, and to become more aware of the feelings and ideas of others.

Dexter and Jessie Dunning and their three children are the average American family. Into their peaceful home comes Jessie's ne'er-do-well brother, Jay Desmond, who ran away from home when he was young and whom everyone thought of as dead. Jay calmly announces that he plans to stay for a while at his sister's house. Dexter hits the ceiling! A month later Jay is still with the Dunnings when the local bank informs Jessie that someone had very mysteriously deposited ten thousand dollars to her account! "Mama has got herself a sugar daddy, and she don't know who he is or how she got him!" exclaims fourteen year old Della. Not until the end of the play do we find out who Jessie's "sugar daddy" is.
