BEN W. COBB

SUPERINTENDENT

May I first express my appreciation to you, the student body, for the friendliness and excellent cooperation extended me since coming to your school as superintendent.

Four years are spent in high school during which a student sets goals for life and begins working toward them. Through varied opportunities, students at Fayetteville High School are encouraged to find their most outstanding qualities and to develop them. You not only benefit from these efforts, but the standards of the entire student body are raised by each worthwhile contribution. Our school's quality depends on the efforts of the individual. The multiple of these single efforts makes our school great.

Ben W. Cobb

JERRY D. ODSTRCIL

PRINCIPAL

The calendar on the wall, much marked and tattered, shows the end of another school year for some and the end of high school for others. Your high school experience is a doorway to life, and it is growth that opens that door. Unless there is growth, your school will die. Through growth each of you become better today than you were yesterday. Growth through physical expansion, growth through experience, and growth through the study of books make it possible for you to develop a thorough knowledge. To the extent that you use these forms of growth, you can open that door with confidence and opportunity.

This annual, like a diary, is a record of things past. With this record of the past year, there is also the opportunity to show the rest of the world what a great school you really have.

SEMINAR

Standing: Yvonne Fritsch, Larry Wied, Frances Stastny, and Larry Malota. Seated: Paulette Minarcik, Darlene Weyand, and Sharon Malota

We, the F.R.H.S. TALENTED STUDENT SEMINAR REPRESENTATIVES, take pride in our representation at Blinn College in Brenham, as we learn of current happenings in the world. Academically talented juniors and seniors from Burton, Round Top-Carnine, and Fayetteville discuss matters such as computer programming, politics, Viet Nam, church morals, and court procedures. We also benefited from a tour of the Giddings State School. We feel that we have attained great knowlege and experience by attending these sessions.

Individuals work together to achieve a common goal. Publishing the yearbook is no exception, so here we have it - THE 1973 LION. The staff would like to thank Mr. Cobb and Mr. Odstricl for their help and assistance. Special appreciation is extended to the businessmen and merchants who support and take interest in the 1973 LION, to the student body, and the faculty.

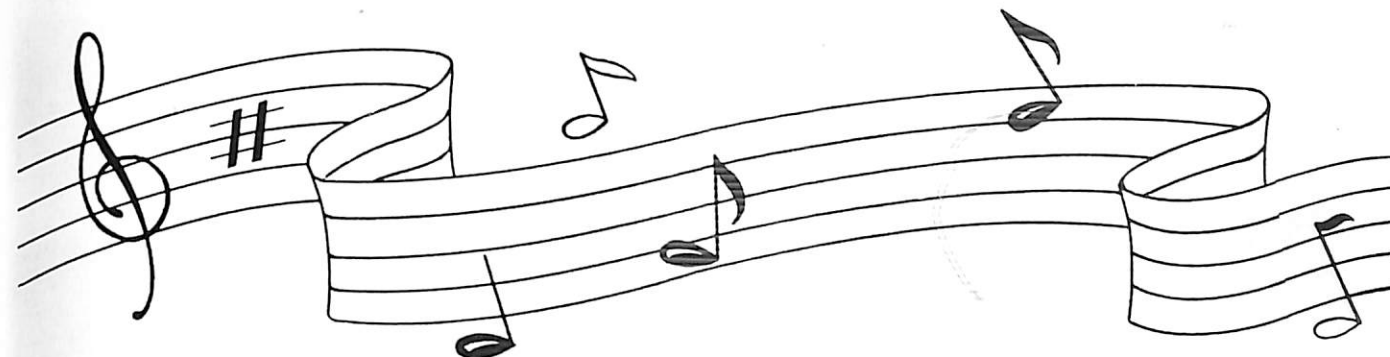

We, the 1973 LION STAFF, have strived to achieve our goal - presenting the 1973 LION to you.
