

PRIDE is a word you will see and hear frequently at GMS—in the halls, in the classrooms, on the bus, in the lunchroom, and much more. It is a carefully selected word that, when used as an acronym, typifies those qualities expected of all GMS students and staff.

PRIDE is...

- ...a feeling of self-respect and personal worth
- ...satisfaction with your (or another's) achievements
- ...the trait of being spurred on by a dislike of falling below your standards

PRIDE is also defined as “a group of lions” making its use even more befitting of the students and staff of Goddard Middle School.

Our hope...our challenge...our expectation...is that all students experience PRIDE in all they do.
