Communication between the school, teachers and parents/students is vital to the success of the distance learning plan. Each teacher is responsible for contacting each parent/child in his/her classroom both verbally and through technological means. Each teacher has developed his/her plan to contact each parent/child and provide for access by each parent/child throughout the duration of learning plan. All instructors will ensure that the learning programs are developmentally and grade appropriate. They will also recognize the goals and objectives of students that have IEPs (Individual Education Plans).
