

Jason Townsend – BOE Report – March 27th 2017

The state assessment window has opened. Although we haven't begun testing yet in our building, reports are that things are going well overall in the state. We are excited to see how our students score on these.

We are very pleased with our new photo company, inter-state photos. They are very customer oriented and have positive attitudes when working with our students. We had individual and class pictures taken last month.

Spring break was much needed and enjoyed by all. We were all excited to get back at it. As we look down the home stretch of the school year, we also look to how we can prepare students to perform well at the next level.

Kindergarten round up will be held on March 28th. We are excited to see the new batch of students coming in. It is always exciting for the students, staff, and families.

The state has endorsed some screening tools for meeting the kindergarten readiness outcome. We will be looking at how and when to implement these in our building.
