Regarding claims for work-related injuries or illnesses which are covered by the Arkansas Workers' Compensation Law, you are hereby advised that A.C.A. 11-9-514 explains the employer's and employee's rights and responsibilities with respect to medical care and treatment.

The law provides that the employer and the employer's insurance company has a duty in the first instance following injury to provide medical care to the employee.

THE FOLLOWING STEPS MUST BE FOLLOWED WHEN A JOB-RELATED INJURY OCCURS. Failure to do so may result in your claim for Workers' Compensation being denied.

- b). The employee will be provided Form N, Employee's Notice of Injury, which must be completed even if medical attention is not required. The form must be signed, dated and returned to the bookkeeper.

Worker's Compensation benefits for lost wages are not payable in addition to sick leave.

Some key personnel will receive safety training to aid in providing the safest possible working conditions and also to help minimize the tremendous cost to the cooperative in implementing Act 862.

If you have questions related to Worker's Compensation claim which occurred after July 1, 1994, you may contact Sedgwick James. After July 1, 1998, you may contact Management Claim Solutions, Inc.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION/SICK LEAVE SALARY BENEFITS

Sick leave pay is an employee benefit whereas Workers' Compensation is a mandate of law to compensate an employee for lost wages. An employee ON SICK LEAVE has no lost wages and is not entitled to Workers' Compensation (other than medical) as a bonus to salary. Therefore, an employer does not have to pay an employee sick pay while off work for a work related injury and receiving Workers' Compensation.

Under Workers' Compensation Laws, an employee who is injured on the job is entitled to 2/3's of his average weekly wage up to a maximum of $267.00 per week (the maximum for 1994). This represents compensation benefits for last wages only. Workers' Compensation is non-tax reportable.

An employee who elects to receive Workers' Compensation is NOT ENTITLED to sick leave pay benefits. If an employee's pay is continued, albeit sick pay, there is no wage loss, therefore no Workers' Compensation benefits are due.

Effective 7-1-94, an employee WILL NOT be able to draw both sick pay and Workers' Compensation benefits. An exception will be made if the employer elects to pay the employee 1/3 sick pay per day to make up the difference against the Workers' Compensation benefits.

There is a seven (7) calendar day waiting period which will not be picked by Management Claim Solutions, Inc. until the 14th day. An employee who has accumulated sick days and chooses may count the work days in this period as sick days and receive sick pay compensation with an equal number of sick days deducted. Please note this on payment option form.

*The employer has a legal right to choose the initial designated treating physician.

20. Qualifications and Duties

- a) The Board requires that each certified employee in the cooperative hold a degree from an accredited college or university.
- b) Each professional employee shall hold a current and valid Arkansas Teacher's Certificate, if required by the position for which they are employed, which shall be on file in the office of the director.
- c) If an employee subsequently receives a higher certificate during the school year the salary increase shall become effective the following school year. Proof of the advanced certificate or degree must be on file by July 1 for the salary increase to take effect that fiscal year.
- d) A deficient professional employee must fulfill the continuing education requirements set forth by the Board during his term of employment.

21. Professional Personnel Recruitment

The Board recognizes the Director as the chief executive officer of the Board, and places upon him the responsibility for recommending the appointment of personnel. Although the Director may assign to others certain duties concerning appraisal of the qualifications of candidates, the final decision concerning the recommendation of candidates shall be the responsibility of the Director. All recruitment and hiring practices shall adhere strictly to applicable equal employment opportunity policies and regulations.

22. Hiring
The Board shall employ personnel based upon the Director's recommendations. As a minimum all employment contracts shall comply with the form mandated by the State Board of Education. All prospective employees are subject to a background check through the state policies and other appropriate agencies. False statements on the job applications will be grounds for dismissal.
23. Assignments
The Board authorizes the Director to assign, or reassign, if necessary all professional employees and other employees of the cooperative to their respective positions upon employment.
24. Professional Personnel Orientation
The Board recognizes the importance of an organized orientation program for all employees new to the cooperative each school year and directs the administration to plan and implement an orientation program in accordance with legal and other requirements.
25. Probation
The Board shall require, in accordance with statutory provisions, each professional to serve a probationary period of the first three (3) successive years of employment in the cooperative. The notice shall be sent no later than ten (10) days from the end of the current period. All non-renewal procedures shall be in accordance with the provisions of Act 166 of 1979, the Teacher Fair Dismissal Act, or as updated.

27. Employee Grievance Procedure
 - a) The Cooperative's Board recognizes that harmonious relations with its employees can be maintained and improved through effective communications. The interests of all parties can best be served by sincere efforts of all concerned to promote understanding and cooperation. The Board, therefore, has adopted the following grievance procedure as a means to examine and resolve possible problems which relate to the administration of personnel policies of the co-op.
 - b) The purpose of this procedure is to secure, at the lowest level, equitable solutions to the problems that may arise, from time to time, affecting employees. A copy of the Step 3 appeal, together with Step 1 and Step 2 decisions must be submitted simultaneously to the Director. The Director shall schedule a meeting with the employee within ten (10) working days to attempt to resolve the grievance. Notice of the Step 3 conference shall be given to the employee, as well as to the individuals who rendered the Step 1 and Step 2 decisions. The Director shall issue a written decision within ten (10) working days after the conference with the employee. Unless the grievance shall be so appealed it shall be deemed to have been settled and the employee shall have no further right with respect to said grievance.

4. Step 4 – In the event the employee wishes to appeal the decision at Step 3, the appeal must be presented to the Director within five (5) working days of the receipt of the Step 3 decision. A copy of the Step 4 appeal, together with copies of the grievance, the Step 1, Step 2, and Step 3 decisions, and the name of the representative of the employee, if any, must simultaneously be submitted to the Director. The employee's appearance to present his appeal before the Board will be scheduled in accordance with regular procedures adopted by the Board. The employee may appear along at this conference or be accompanied by a representative of his choice. The Board shall issue a written decision within thirty (30) days after the conference with the employee.

K. Evaluation of Professional Staff

(Personnel required to hold a teaching certificate)

The Board recognizes the importance of implementing a program for the evaluation of professional staff members in accordance with State law for the purpose of identifying and correcting deficiencies, improving professional competence, establishing a means for determining reemployment, and improving the quality of services received by the member schools.

Supervisors shall make every effort to assist professional staff members in the remediation of deficiencies disclosed by observations and evaluations for employees and, if needed, may conduct additional observations and evaluations for employees.

Supervisors should recognize that the purpose of this policy cannot be realized by evaluations which do not record the strengths and weaknesses of teaching staff members. Assessments which are less than honest and candid serve neither the professional growth of the employee nor the interest of the cooperative in building a staff of highly competent, well-trained personnel.

1. Transfer

The Board may transfer any itinerant employee upon the recommendation of the director when in the best interest of the cooperative to do so. Such transfers shall not be arbitrary, capricious, or discriminatory.

The Board may also grant a requested transfer if the employee so requesting possesses the required qualifications for the desired position and if a vacancy in such position exists. All requests for voluntary transfers shall be carefully considered and reviewed on a nondiscriminatory basis.

2. Reduction in Force (RIP) Policy

DeQueen-Mena Education Service Cooperative is an entity whose charge is to administer programs that benefit member districts. As such, the cooperative has no independent funding source. Rather, it administers various programs that are accepted by the Governing Board. In the course of the administration of these programs, personnel may be hired, equipment purchased, and other attendant costs necessary for success may be expended. Several factors must be in place for the board to consider acceptance of a program's administration, the most important of which is an adequate funding mechanism.

All personnel contracts drawn between the cooperative and an employee shall state the "...compensation is dependent upon receipt of funding..." from the appropriate granting source. It is the case, then, that any personnel contract becomes null and void at any point in its existence as funding from the grant source ceases to exist. This RIF Policy shall include any and all personnel contracts and matching benefits, as well as other attendant program expense for which funding ceases to exist.

3. Termination

It shall be the policy of the Board to strive to assist personnel in every way possible to adjust to their positions and to perform their responsibilities satisfactorily. Every reasonable effort shall be made to avoid the necessity of dismissing personnel.

The Board may terminate the contract of any professional employee or non-renew the contract of any professional employee having successfully served three (3) successive years of employment upon the recommendation of the Director. The notice of termination of a contract of an employee or non-renewal of contract of a professional employee who has successfully completed the probationary period shall be sent by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, and include a statement of the grounds for such recommendation.

Within thirty (30) days of receipt of notice of termination of contract, or non-renewal of contract of a professional employee's having successfully completed the probationary period, the employee may file a written request with the President of the Board and the Director for a hearing by certified or registered mail, or may be delivered in person to each of the above by the employee. Upon receipt of the request for a hearing, the Board shall schedule a hearing and conduct the same in accordance with statutory provisions.

Upon conclusion of the hearing the Board shall render a decision within ten (10) days of the hearing, and the professional employee shall be notified of the decision in writing.

Should a professional employee enter into a contract with another school district, the receiving district shall be liable to the cooperative for the contract amount as set forth in Arkansas Statutes. All dismissal procedures of the Board and employees shall be carried out in accordance with "The Teacher Fair Dismissal Act" (Act 166 of 1979).

4. Resignation

During the period of employment contract or within ten (10) days after the end of the contract term, a professional employee may deliver or mail by registered mail to the board, his resignation.

Contracts for succeeding years shall be issued on or before May 1 and shall be signed and returned to the Director no later than May 30. Failure to meet that latter deadline releases the cooperative from the provisions of the continuing contract clause and the Board may deem the position open.

5. Professional Personnel Retirement

All professional employees and other selected employees shall be members of the Arkansas Teacher Retirement System.

Age 70 is the mandatory retirement for all professional personnel. However, any employee of the cooperative may be permitted to continue in his employment beyond the attainment of age 70 upon written authorization of the Director. Such authorization shall be based solely on the ability of the individual to perform employment tasks.

6. Travel Expenses

The Board authorizes reimbursement to personnel for travel expenses incurred as a requirement of their jobs. Reimbursement may be made for travel which is at the request of, or has received prior approval from the Director and the employee's immediate supervisor. Such reimbursement shall be at a rate as set by the Board in accordance with established procedures. Prior approval for all travel shall be obtained before any travel expenses can be incurred.

Rate of reimbursement for travel shall follow cooperative policy and not exceed the Federal per mile rated allowance.

Employees of the cooperative will be reimbursed for expenses incurred in pursuit of their official duties in the following manner:

- a). Travel reimbursement will be once a month. Reimbursement request forms should be turned in to the director's office for approval by the afternoon of the 4th Friday of each month. VISA receipts need to be turned in by the 3rd Friday of each month. Payment will be ready by the following Tuesday afternoon – except where we have a holiday.
- b). Most employees' official business travel will be from the office and out to the school districts. No allowance will be paid for travel between the employee's home and office.
- c). Employees who spend most of their time in the field and who do not need to come to the office each day may use the first school they visit that day as the point of beginning in logging travel expense for reimbursement.
NOTE: Since the normal work day starts at 8:00 a.m., you need to be at the school, etc., at 8:00 a.m.. If you chose not to use the first school you visit each day we will establish a base point for you. You would then compute your travel expense reimbursement as the distance from the base point to the actual first school visited that day, unless the actual distance traveled from your home to the school is visited. The distance from this school to your home is considered a trip from the office to your home and is a non-reimbursement expense unless the distance is greater than the most direct route from your home to the office. The distance in excess of the travel distance from the office to your home would be allowable for reimbursement. Travel to meetings in Little Rock, etc., will be computed as a round trip from point of origin of trip. This can be either your home or the office and should be the actual business mileage of the trip. If you leave your home, compute from there. If you come to the office and work a couple of hours and then leave on the trip, mileage will be computed from the office.

- d). End of the day actual mileage from base back to your home or the last school visited back to your home is not allowable for reimbursement.
- e). Actual expenses of lodging will be reimbursed when common sense dictates the necessity of overnight accommodations. A hotel/motel receipt will be attached to the request for reimbursement. Reimbursement for lodging expenses will be made only in instances that have prior approval from the director.
- f). Reimbursement for meals will be at actual cost only when the employee is traveling outside the immediate area of the co-op office. Receipts are required for reimbursement. Reasonable requests are expected. Maximums for meal reimbursement and room reimbursement will be set each year by the director.
- g). All travel outside the co-ops immediate service area must be approved in advance by the employee's immediate supervisor and the co-op director. Documentation of agenda or schedule of workshop must be provided. (Proof of workshop)
- h). Extended or out-of-state travel for all co-op employees must be approved by the director. Out-of-state travel reimbursement will be made on the basis of actual expenses. Documentation of agenda or schedule of workshop must be provided. (Proof of workshop)
- i). All requests for expense reimbursement will be made on the standard co-op "Travel Expense Reimbursement Forms", and will be approved by the director and the employee's immediate supervisor.

7. Travel Reimbursement Policy

Travel reimbursement paid to employees of school districts that are a part of the DMEC Carl Perkins' consortium will be based on each of the local school districts travel policy. The rate per mile will be the rate allowed by the local school district.

Where specific grants limit the amount per mile that can be reimbursable, we will pay the rate allowable by the grant. For example, the Tobacco Grant may limit the amount per mile to 55 ½ cents per mile rate.

Foster Grandparents mileage rate will be set each year at a specified amount per mile. When funds in this grant specified for reimbursement are exhausted, the paying of mileage reimbursement will be discontinued until additional funds are available.

The general rate for the other co-op employees will be established at the beginning of each fiscal year.

The reimbursement rate for mileage follow the federal rate for effective July 1, 2008 will be fifty-five and one half cents per mile for official co-op business.

We will use a "standard map miles" mileage chart. Use the map miles mileage chart and record only the miles traveled according to the chart. Any vicinity miles will need to be counted separately. For vicinity travel odometer readings will be given as documentation.

If the trip you are claiming mileage on is not listed on your mileage chart you will need to use Microsoft "Streets and Trips", or a similar map program to get directions and figure the allowed miles. Figure the reimbursement for meals while traveling.

Only overnight stays will provide full reimbursement for meals. The IRS regulations prevent us from reimbursing you for meals when you leave home and return the same day. Also the IRS will only allow us to reimburse you for up to 75 percent of the daily allowance for meals on days when you are traveling to and from the overnight meeting. Receipts are required for reimbursement.

Meal reimbursements within the co-op area. Co-op employees are not eligible for meal reimbursements when the employee is traveling within the co-op area, unless the meal is a co-op organized business related meeting whereby multiple participants are involved (board meetings, seminars, staff development training, etc.) The reimbursement for such meals shall be the actual cost of the meal and employees are expected to use sound judgement regarding appropriate expenditures. Itemized receipts and appropriate documentation illustrating the meeting purpose shall be required. No gratuities will be reimbursed.

Each year in June the governing board will review travel mileage reimbursements based on the average of federal and state allowances. The new rate will become effective July 1 and will remain at that rate for the remainder of the fiscal year unless changed by the board.

Credit card use. Because the co-op wants to assist its personnel that have to travel extensively outside the co-op area many people have been issued a co-op credit card. This card is to be used for business purposes only. Its primary purpose is to limit the employee's out of pocket expenses for meals and lodging while on co-op business. Purchases other than meals and lodging are discouraged. However there will be times when the credit card can be used for official purchases. A purchase order will be required to back up the purchase. Fill it out and get it approved by the appropriate supervisor ASAP but no later than the date when travel reimbursement requests are due. Receipts are also required.

Failure to provide the appropriate receipts to verify any use of the credit card will result in the deduction from the individuals travel reimbursement or salary the amount charged for which no receipt is provided by the 4th Friday of the month when travel reimbursement requests are due.

L. Conferences and Visitations

The Board authorizes the Director to grant professional employees time to engage in educational activities related to the goals and needs of the cooperative without pay reductions. The number of absences allowable for such activities shall be at the discretion of the Director.

M. Vacations

All personnel employed on 12 month contract earn vacation time as set by the Board. Arrangements for this time off will be made through the Director and shall not immediately precede or follow scheduled holidays except in rare exceptions that shall be cleared with the Director. Part time employees will receive prorated days.

If an employee has been employed for less than 12 months, the accrued vacation time will be apportioned accordingly.

Vacations will be accrued at the rate of one day per month for each month of employment for 12 month employees. Employees on less than 12 month contract do not accrue vacation time.

1. Employees desiring to take vacation time must obtain the approval of the director.
2. It is preferable that vacations be scheduled during the summer months. Vacation days may be scheduled during the school year provided that it does not adversely affect the performance of the job requirements.
3. Vacation days accumulated must be used by December 31 or be lost.

N. Holidays

A calendar for the co-op will be established each year prior to beginning of the fiscal year. The co-op calendar will coordinate as closely as possible to the school districts calendars. In a normal year the co-op will be closed on the following holidays:

1. Labor Day
2. Thanksgiving (Thursday and Friday)
3. Christmas Break (# of days to be determined each year)
4. Memorial Day
5. Independence Day (4th of July)

All personnel who work out in the school districts

1. On or by Friday afternoon of each week, you should have your Google calendar completed.

2. This itinerary should provide two pieces of information:
 - a). Where you will be
 - b). Purpose of being there
3. Personnel in the positions listed should either come to the office or call the office each day for messages, etc.

O. Professionalism

1. We are here to serve the people of the school districts that belong to the DeQueen-Mena Education Service Cooperative.
2. All staff (certified and non-certified) are to practice courtesy, friendliness and a willingness to assist any and all personnel of the school districts we serve.
3. We are strictly a service organization and our job is to help school districts educate young people.

P. Continuing Education

Employee leave to work on additional college hours – The DMEC's basic philosophy is to encourage and assist our employees in furthering their education. Since most of our employees work twelve months each year, the chances for educational advancement are limited. When employees are taking courses at night, once a week for example, and may need to leave work early, the director is to make the decision about approving this action.

Longer periods of time – if a staff member is willing to use all of the accumulated vacation days plus the 2 days of personal leave allowed each year for summer school, the co-op would grant unpaid educational leave for the remainder of the summer term. Approval by the director and the Board of Directors for a total time period longer than six weeks would not be granted except in extremely pressing or urgent and unusual circumstances.

1. All leave for educational purposes needs to be worked out in advance with the director.
2. Common sense and the best interests of the co-op and its personnel are to be used.
3. DeQueen-Mena ESC's Pre-School Tuition Policy Purpose: To assist preschool teachers and para-professionals employed by the DeQueen-Mena Education Cooperative in offsetting the cost of becoming fully credentialed by the Arkansas Department of Education in the area of P-4 Early Childhood Education and to assist those teachers seeking additionally the Special Education Early Childhood Instructional Specialist (P-4)". The para-professionals must be seeking either an AA Degree or a CDA credential in Early Childhood to be eligible for reimbursement. Reimbursement: The DMEC preschool department will reimburse its teachers and para-professionals the cost of tuition upon completion of required course. Tuition is defined as actual tuition and includes textbooks and other required material for the course(s). A maximum of six courses may be reimbursed per fiscal year. (July 1 to June 30) Course work and classes for which reimbursement will be requested must be approved as applying to the employee's improvement of their position with the co-op. This approval will be made by the Early Childhood Coordinator. Tuition will not be reimbursed if tuition is paid from another grant or scholarship. DMEC will pay the difference if the other grant scholarship do not cover the actual expense of tuition, textbooks and required materials. Additionally, upon completion of required coursework, DMEC will reimburse one time the registration cost of the two required Praxis examinations. Should the employee's Praxis exams fall below the ADE requirements, the employee will not be reimbursed for re-assessment costs. Reimbursement will be made when the employee submits an official transcript indicating a grade of A or B in each course or a grade of "C" if approved by the Early Childhood Coordinator and the Director, documentation of tuition amounts and other reimbursable expenses like textbooks paid and documentation of Praxis registration fees paid. These documents are to be submitted to the Preschool Coordinator within one month following the completion of the summer, fall and spring terms and no later than June 25th of the fiscal year. This policy may be suspended or terminated due to lack of funding.

Conditions: The employee must be under contract to DMEC when reimbursement is made. The employee must submit to DMEC an approved course of study with a university and must sign the ADE Additional Licensure Plan (ALP) agreement. Prior to the initial reimbursement. The employee must sign a statement agreeing to re-pay DMEC in full for reimbursement received if they fail to work for two additional years at DMEC after completion of the additional licensure program. If termination is either voluntary or involuntary the co-op will be fully reimbursed within that two year time frame.

Conditions:

1. The employee must be under contract to DMEC when reimbursement is made.
2. The employee must submit to DMEC an approved course of study with a university and must sign the ADE Additional Licensure Plan (ALP) agreement.
3. Prior to the initial reimbursement. The employee must sign a statement agreeing to re-pay DMEC in full for reimbursement received if they fail to work for two additional years at DMEC after completion of the additional licensure program. If termination is either voluntary or involuntary the co-op will be fully reimbursed within that two year time frame.

Q. Probations

Each employee hired for a non-certified position will serve a one-year probation period to allow assessment on both the part of the cooperative and employee to the desirability of continuing the employment.

Additionally, marginal performance of duty may be grounds for placing an employee on probationary status to allow appropriate time to effect desired improvements.

R. Evaluation of Staff

1. The development of a strong, competent, licensed and classified staff employee, and the maintenance of high morale among this staff, are major objectives of the Board. This selection of the right employees to fill vacancies, the determination of assignments and equitable workloads, the establishments of wage and salary policies which encourage employees to put forth their best efforts, the evaluation of employees achievements and the provision of a good atmosphere in which to work are some of the major duties of the Board. A program of continuous evaluation is necessary in fulfilling these duties.

The evaluation will cover the major areas of the employee's responsibilities and shall include the following:

- a). Specific work assignments
- b). Attitude toward public school students
- c). Attitude toward public education
- d). Attitudes toward supervisor, teachers, and fellow employees
- e). Work habits
2. The employee's supervisor is responsible for informing each employee in advance of the criteria to be used in evaluation.

3. Each employee will be given an explanation of his or her duties and responsibilities and guidance in performing them satisfactorily by his or her immediate supervisor.
4. Approved Preschool Site Directors will be paid a stipend $50 per classroom per month for 9 months. Payments will be issued in 2 installments. Approved October 2008

S. Termination

The Board may terminate the employment of any non-certified employee for any just reason that is not arbitrary, capricious or discriminatory. Every reasonable effort shall be made, however, to avoid the necessity of dismissing personnel. The co-op will follow the applicable State Law, Act 631 of 1991 and any subsequent state laws that are applicable.

T. Resignation

The Board shall authorize the Director to accept the resignation of any non-certified employee who tenders his resignation in writing and gives the cooperative two weeks advance notice.

U. Illness

The Board shall grant to each non-certified cooperative employee sick leave at the rate of one (1) day per month or major portion thereof that the employee is employed at full pay not to exceed twelve (12) days per year. Cooperative employees shall only be allowed such leave for the reasons of personal illness or illness in the employee's immediate family. The Board shall maintain a record of sick leave used and accumulated for each cooperative employee.

The Director may require a statement from a medical doctor or other acceptable proof that the employee was unable to work to the end that there will be no abuse of sick leave privileges. The Director may require a physician's verification of sick leave when absence exceeds four continuous days or when absence indicates need for verification.

If an employee resigns or leaves his employment position for any reason before the end of the contract term, the Board may deduct from salary payment compensation for any days of sick leave in excess of the number of days earned.

V. Reemployment

The Board shall act on recommendations of the Director for reemployment of non-certified employees at the regular meeting in April of each year.

W. Family and Medical Leave Policy

The DeQueen-Mena Education Service Cooperative (DMESC) recognizes that employees, on occasion, need extended leave time in order to care from themselves in the event of serious personal illness or to provide care for an immediate family member with a serious illness. Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, the following procedures are implemented to provide family and medical leave to all eligible employees.

II. FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE ACT OF 1993

I Summary of the Act

The Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 makes available to eligible employees up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave per year based on a full year of employment. Leave may be taken (1) upon the birth of the employee's child, (2) upon the placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care, (3) when the employee is needed to care for a child, spouse, or parent who has a serious health condition, or

(4) when the employee is unable to perform the functions of his or her position because of a serious health condition.

The right to take a leave applies equally to male and female employees. A father, as well as a mother, can take family leave because of the birth or serious health condition of a child. If husband and wife are employed at same company, husband and wife would be allowed 6 weeks each for a child and if one spouse has a catastrophic health condition then each would be allowed 12 weeks. A FMLA leave request form may be printed from DMESC website.

II. Eligible Employees

An employee of a covered employer must have been employed by the employer for at least 12 months and must have at least 1,250 hours of service during the 12-month period immediately preceding the commencement of the leave.

III. Employer's Duty to Designate FMLA Leave

DMESC will determine whether a requested leave qualifies as FMLA leave. If leave is granted without the employee providing facts sufficient to establish that the leave is for FMLA purposes, the leave is not FMLA and does not count against the 12 weeks of FMLA to which the employee is entitled. This is true even if the employer learns after the end of the leave that it would have qualified under FMLA. However, if the employee tell the employer facts which establish the leave qualifies as an FMLA leave while the employee is still on the leave, or if the employee seeks an extension of the leave, all or that portion of the leave can be charged as FMLA leave. (Only information from the employee may provide the basis for designating time off as FMLA leave.)

IV. Calculation of the 12-Month Period

An eligible employee is entitled to a total of twelve work weeks of leave during any 12-month period for any one, or more, of the reasons specified in the FMLA. The twelve month period will start July 1st or August 1st each year and run through June 30th or July 31st of the following year.

V. Limitations on Leave

The entitlement to leave because of birth or adoption expires at the end of the 12-month period beginning on the date of the birth or placement of the child. Any leave must be conducted within this one-year period.

Leave for the birth or placement of a child may not be taken intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule unless the employee and the employer agree otherwise.

Spouses employed by the same employer are limited to a total of 12 weeks of leave for the birth or adoption of a child or for the care of a sick parent.

VI. Requirement of Notice

When the need for leave is foreseeable the employee must provide reasonable prior notice and make efforts to schedule leave so as not to disrupt unduly the employer's operations. Sixty days will be required.

Employees should report periodically during the leave period on the employee's leave status and intention to return to work. Report once a month.

An employee must provide the employer with at least a thirty-day notice of the need for leave for birth, adoption or planned medical treatment when the need for such leave is foreseeable. Sixty days is preferred.

Thirty-day advance notice is not required in cases of medical emergency or other unforeseeable events – for example, a premature birth, or sudden change in a patient's condition which may require a change in schedule medical treatment.

The employee shall make a reasonable effort to schedule the treatment or supervision so as not to disrupt unduly the employer's operations (subject to the approval of the employee's doctor or other health care provider).

If an employee fails to give a 30 day notice for foreseeable leave with no reasonable excuse for the delay, the employer may deny the taking of FMLA leave for at least 30 days after the date the employee provided notice.

VII. Medical Certification

Medical certification to support a claim for leave for an employee's own serious health condition or to care for a seriously ill child, spouse or parent is required. An employee must give written notice of a requirement for medical certification and the employee has 15 days in which to provide certification. Requests for additional certifications to support renewals or extensions of FMLA leaves may be oral, but ordinarily not be more frequent than each 30 days. Failure to provide proper certification which is requested will result in FMLA being denied.

In the case of foreseeable leave, if the employee fails to provide timely certification, the leave will be denied until the required certification is provided.

For the employee's own medical leave, the certification must include a statement that the employee is unable to perform the functions of his or her position.

For the leave to care for a seriously ill child, spouse or parent, the certification must include an estimate of the amount of time the employee is needed to care for the child or parent. DMESC may require a second medical opinion and periodic recertification at its own expense. If the first and second opinions differ, the employer, again at its own expense, may require the binding opinion of a third health care provider approved jointly by the employee and employer. The employer may not regularly contract with or otherwise regularly utilize the services of the health care provided furnishing the second opinion unless the employee is located where access to health care is limited.

If the certification is for intermittent leave for planned medical treatment, for example, for periodic chemotherapy treatments or physical therapy sessions, the certification must also state the dates on which the treatment is expected to be given and duration of such treatment.

DMESC requires all employees as a condition of restoration from leave to provide medical certification that the employee is able to resume work.

VIII. Intermittent or Reduced Leave Schedule

An employee needing leave because of his or her own serious health condition or the serious health condition of a child or parent may, if medically necessary, take leave intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule that reduces the employee's usual number of hours per work week or per work day.

Intermittent leave includes leave of periods from an hour to several weeks. Examples of intermittent leave would include leave taken on an occasional basis for medical appointments, or leave taken several days at a time spread over a period of six months, such as for chemotherapy.

A reduced leave schedule is a leave that reduces an employee's usual number of working hours per work week, or hours per work day.

DMESC may require an employee who requests intermittent or reduced schedule leave to transfer temporarily to an alternative position which better accommodates recurring periods of leave than the employee's regular position, provided that the position has the equivalent pay and benefits.

An employee taking leave to care for a newborn child or a child who has been placed with the employee for adoption or foster care may not take leave intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule unless the employer and the employee agree to such an arrangement.

An employee is entitled to twelve full weeks of leave even if it is taken intermittently or on a reduced schedule. The amount of leave charged against an employee's twelve work week entitlement is to be based on the actual time away from work compared to the employee's regular schedule. For example, if an employee takes one day of intermittent FMLA leave per a five day work week, one-fifth of a week is to be charged. If an employee taking a reduced leave schedule work for four hours a day rather than eight hours a day, only one-half week can be charged at the end of the week against the twelve-week entitlement.

If an employee's work schedule varies from week to week, the twelve-week time period immediately preceding the leave is analyzed to determine a weekly average of hours. This average is used as the basis for calculating that employee's normal work week.

An employer may not require that FMLA leaves be taken in increments of specified minimum duration, such as one-half day or one hour. An employer may change FMLA leave to employees based on the shortest time period used in its payroll system to account for absences and leaves.

Providing unpaid leave in accordance with the Act is not intended to affect in any way the exempt status of bona fide executive, administrative and professional employees. Where an employer provides family or medical leave in accordance with the Act, providing such leave, whether paid or unpaid, and maintaining records with respect to such leave will not be a factor in determining whether the employee is paid on a salary basis.

IX. Employment and Benefits Protection

An employee taking leave is entitled to be returned to his or her previous position or to "an equivalent position with equivalent employment benefits, pay, and other terms and conditions of employment".

If an employee is no longer qualified for the prior position because of his or her inability to meet certain job requirements (i.e., renew a license) because of the FMLA leave, the employee must be given reasonable opportunity to fulfill those conditions upon returning. An employer may be required to reasonable accommodate a returning employee as required by the Americans with Disabilities Act.

The employer may not deprive an employee who takes leave of benefits accrued before the date on which the leave commenced. However, the employer is under no obligation to allow the employee to accrue seniority or other employment benefits during the leave period.

An employee returning from FMLA leave is not entitled to any right, benefit or position of employment other than any right, benefit or position to which the employee would have been entitled had the employee not taken leave. For example, if but for being on leave an employee would have been laid off, the employee's right to reinstatement is whatever it would have been had the employee not been on leave when the layoff occurred.

X. Meaning of Serious Health Condition

"Serious health condition" means an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition that involves:

- A. Any period of incapacity or treatment in connection with or consequent to inpatient care (i.e., an overnight stay) in a hospital, hospice or residential medical care facility:
- B. Any period of incapacity requiring absence for work, school, or other regular daily activities, or more than three calendar days, that also involves continuing treatment by (or under the supervision of) a health care provider: or
- C. Continuing treatment by (or under the supervision of) a health care provider for a chronic or long-term health condition that is incurable or so serious that, if not treated, would likely result in a period of incapacity of more than three calendar days; or prenatal care.

The term "health care provider" is defined in the Regulations and includes: A doctor of medicine of osteopathy, podiatrist, dentist, clinical psychologist, optometrists, chiropractors, nurse practitioners, nurse-midwives, and Christian Science practitioners listed with the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts.

Routine preventive physical examinations are excluded. Voluntary or cosmetic treatments which are not medically necessary (such as most treatments for orthodontia or acne) are not included.

According to the Committee Report, examples of "serious health conditions" include but are not limited to heart attacks, heart conditions requiring heart bypass valve operations, most cancers, back conditions requiring extensive therapy or surgical procedures, strokes, severe respiratory conditions, spinal injuries, appendicitis, pneumonia, emphysema, severe arthritis, severe nervous disorders, injuries caused by serious accidents on or off the job, ongoing pregnancy miscarriages, complications or illnesses related to pregnancy such as severe morning sickness, the need for prenatal care, childbirth and recovery from childbirth.

XI. Exemption Concerning Certain Highly Compensated Employees

The Act contains a limited exemption from the restoration requirement to an equivalent position for certain highly-compensated employees.

To be considered highly compensated an employee must be a salaried employee and be among the highest paid ten percent of an employer's employee within 75 miles of the facility at which the employee works.

For such employees restoration may be denied if (a) the employer shows that such denial is necessary to prevent substantial and grievous economic injury to the employer's operations, (b) the employer notifies the employee that it intends to deny restoration on such basis at the time the employer determines that such injury would occur and, (c) in any case in which the leave has commenced, the employee elects not to return to employment within a reasonable period of time after receiving such notice.

In measuring grievous economic harm, a factor to be considered is the cost of losing a key employee if the employee chooses to take the leave, notwithstanding the determination that restoration will be denied.

A key employee who takes leave is still eligible for continuation of health benefits, even if the employee has been notified that reinstatement will be denied. Under such circumstances, no recovery of premium may be made by the employer if such employee has chosen to take or continue leave after receiving such notice.

XII. Maintenance of Health Benefits During Leave and COBRA

The employer must maintain health insurance benefits during periods of FMLA leave at the level and under the conditions coverage would have been provided if the employee had continued in employment continuously for the duration of such leave. The employer need only pay that portion of the premium normally paid. The employee must continue to make his or her contribution. Nothing in the Act requires an employer to provide health benefits if it does not do so at the time the employee commences leave. However, if an employer establishes a health benefits plan during an employee's leave, entitlement to health benefits would commence at the same point during the leave that the employee's would have become entitled to such benefits if on the job.

An employee may choose not to retain health coverage during FMLA leave. However, when an employee returns from leave, the employee is entitled to be reinstalled on the same terms as prior to taking the leave, without any qualifying period, physical examination, exclusion of preexisting conditions, etc.

If the employee pays a portion of health insurance premiums:

- A. Payment due at the same time as the payroll deduction is made:
- B: Payment due on the same schedule as payments are made under COBRA.

Leave under the Act does not constitute it qualifying event under COBRA. However, a qualifying event triggering COBRA may occur when it becomes known that an employee is not returning to employment and therefore ceases to be entitled to leave under the act.

XIII. Special Rules for Employees of Schools

Educational institutions are covered by the FMLA without reference to the Acts fifty employee coverage test. However, school employees are "eligible" for leave only if employed at a 'worksite' where at least fifty employees are employed within seventy-five miles. For example, employees of a rural school would not be eligible for FMLA leave if the school has fewer than fifty employees and there are no other schools under the jurisdiction of the same employer within seventy-five miles.

The special rules affect instructional employees who take intermittent leave, leave on a reduced leave schedule or leave near the end of an academic term (semester). "Instructional employees" are defined by the Regulations as "those whose principal function is to teach and instruct students in a class, a small group, or individual setting. This term includes not only teacher, but also athletic coaches, driving instructor and special education assistants such as signers for the hearing impaired. It does not include, and the special rules do not apply to teacher assistants or aides who do not have as their principal job actual teaching or instruction, nor does it include auxiliary personnel such as counselors, psychologists, or curriculum specialists. It also does not include cafeteria workers, maintenance workers or bus drivers".

If an eligible instructional employee requests intermittent leave or leave on a reduced leave schedule and the employee would be on leave for more than twenty percent of the total number of working days over the period the leave would extend, the employer may require the employee to choose to:

- A. Take leave for a period or periods of a particular duration not greater than the duration of the planned treatment; or
- B. Transfer temporarily to an available alternative position with equivalent pay and benefits which better accommodates recurring periods of leave.

DMESC may require an instructional employee who begins leave more than five weeks before the end of the term to continue taking leave until the end of the term if (1) the leave will last at least three weeks, and (2) the employee would return to work during the three week period before the end of the term.

DMESC may require an instructional employee who begins taking leave for purposes other than the employee's own serious health condition during the five week period before the end of the term if (1) the leave will last more than two weeks and (2) the employee would return to work during the two week period before the end of the term.

DMESC may require an instructional employee who begins leave, for purposes other than the employees own serious health condition, during the three week period before the end of the term to continue taking leave until the end of the term, if the leave will last more than five (5) working days.

The Regulations define "academic term" as "the school semester which typically ends near the end of the calendar year and the end of the spring each school year". The Regulations give an example of leave falling within these provisions as an employee who plans two weeks of leave to care for a family member which will begin three weeks before the end of the term. In that situation, the employer could require the employee to stay out on leave until the end of the term.

If an instructional employee chooses or is required to take leave for "periods of a particular duration" the entire period of leave taken will count as FMLA leave. However, in the case an employee who is required to take academic leave until the end of the academic term if the employee's leave entitlement ends before the involuntary period is completed, the employer must still maintain health benefits during the entire period.

The determination of how an employee is to be restored to an equivalent position upon return from FMLA leave must be made on the basis of established school policies and practices and must provide for restoration to an “equivalent position” with equivalent employment benefits pay and other terms of the conditions as provided by the Act.

XIV. Anti-Discrimination Provisions

It is unlawful under the Act for any employer to interfere with or restrain or deny the exercise of any right provided under the Act. It is also unlawful for any employer to discharge or otherwise discriminate against any individual for opposing a practice made unlawful under the Act or for participating in any inquiry or proceeding related to the rights established under the act.

XV. Enforcement of the Act

To insure compliance with the Act, the Secretary of Labor is given investigative authority parallel to the authority provided to the Secretary with regard to enforcement of the Fair Labor Standards Act. Employers are required to make, keep and preserve records pertaining to compliance with the Family and Medical Leave Act.

Rights established under the Act are enforceable through civil actions. A civil action for damages or equitable relief may be brought against an employer in and federal or state court by the Secretary of Labor or by and employee, except that an employee’s right to bring such an action is terminated if the Secretary files an action seeking relief with respect to that employee. The enforcement scheme is modeled on the enforcement scheme of the Fair Labor Standards Act and relies on the Fair Labor Standards Act procedures already established by the Department of Labor.

The relief provided by the Act also parallels the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act. It provides for injunctive and monetary relief for violations of the Act. An employer who violates the Act is liable to the eligible employee for an amount equal to the wages, salary, employment benefits or other compensation denied or lost to such employee because of the violation. In cases in which no wages or other compensation were denied, the employer is liable to the employee for an amount equal to the actual monetary losses sustained by the employee as a result of the violation, such as the cost of providing care, up to a sum equal to 12 weeks of wages or salary for the employee. Interest at the prevailing rate and liquidated damages are also available. However, the court has the discretion not to award liquidated damages if the employer proves to the satisfaction of the court that the act or omission was made in good faith and the employer has reasonable grounds for believing that it was not a violation.

Equitable relief in the form of reinstatement or promotion of the affected employee is also available as is any other appropriate equitable relief, including preliminary relief.

Attorney’s fees are allowable under the same basis as under the Fair Labor Standards Act and the Act contains a specific provision that defendants must pay reasonable expert witness fees.

XVI. Fair Labor Standards

The Fair Labor Standards Board has caused some new requirements on keeping up with time sheets, the work day, and overtime calculations. Since many school districts have been sued by different personnel over overtime, etc., the Fair Labor Standards Boards has strengthened their standards. Therefore please comply with the following regulations starting July 1, 2004.

- A. On your time sheet which must be filled out each week. (Do not make out a time sheet and run off copies.) List your starting time. Be exact. The end of the day is 4:00 p.m., Monday through Thursday and 3:30 p.m. on Friday. Summer hours are 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday.
- B. Time sheets need to be signed by you and your supervisor and turned in to bookkeeping on Monday of each week.
- C. If you are asked to work overtime, or if you ask to leave early by working through your lunch hour this must be approved by your immediate supervisor in advance.
- D. We will follow the Standards and pay overtime pay or provide comp time for any hours beyond a normal forty (40) hour week. We will provide comp time for any hours beyond the normal co-op work week of thirty-five (35) hours. If you are leaving early due to comp time that has been approved by your supervisor you must notify all the secretaries of your intentions in detail.
- E. If you are not at work due to vacation, sick, personal or holidays, you must turn in a time sheet. You must have a copy of your approved vacation or personal leave form attached to your time sheet.
- F. Hourly employees need to turn time sheets in weekly.

XVII. Record-Keeping Requirements

The Regulations specify that the following records must be kept for each employee for at least three years:

- A. Basic payroll and identifying employee data, including name, address and occupation; rate of basis of pay and terms of compensation; daily and weekly hours worked per pay period; additions to or deductions from wages; and total compensation paid.
- B. Dates FMLA leave was taken by employees. Regulations indicate that these dates do not have to be listed separately on a record, but can be designated on an attendance card. Leave must be designated in the records as FMLA leave.
- C. If FMLA leave is taken in increments of less than one full day, the hours of the leave.
- D. Copies of employee's notices of leave furnished to the employee under FMLA, if in writing, and copies of all general and specific notices given to employees as required under FMLA and the Regulations.
- E. Any documents describing employee benefits or employer policies and practices regarding the taking of paid and unpaid leave.
- F. Premium payments of employee benefits.
- G. Records of any dispute between the employer and the employee regarding designation of leave as FMLA leave, including any written statement from the employer and employee of the reasons for designation and for the disagreement. If employees are not subject to the Fair Labor Standards Act record-keeping Regulations for purposes of minimum wage or overtime compliance, an employer need not keep a record of actual hours worked, provided that eligibility for the FMLA leave is presumed for any employee who has been employed at least twelve months.

For employees who take FMLA leave intermittently on a reduced leave schedule, the employer and the employees must agree on the employee's normal schedule or average hours worked each week and reduce this agreement to a written record maintained in accordance with the Regulations.

XVIII. Notice

Employer must post a notice "in conspicuous places on the premises of the employer where notices to employees and applicants for employment are customarily posted". The notice is to be prepared or approved the secretary "setting forth excerpts, or summaries of, the pertinent provisions of the Act." Employers may duplicate the text of the notice contained in Appendix C to the Regulations or copies of the required notice may be obtained from local offices of the Wage and Hour Division, Notice must be at least 8 ½ inches by 11 inches.

If an employer has any written guidance to employees benefits or leave rights, such as in an employee handbook, information concerning FMLA entitlements and employee obligations under the FMLA must be included in the handbook or document, if the employer does not have written policies, the employer shall provide written guidance to an employee concerning all the employee's rights the obligations under the FMLA whenever the employee requests leave under the FMLA. Employers may duplicate and provide the employee a copy of the FMLA Fact Sheet available from the Wage and Hour Division to provide such guidance.

When an employee provides notice of the need for FMLA leave, the employer shall provide the employee with notice of the following, if applicable,

- A. That leave will be counted against FMLA leave entitlement,
- B. Any requirement to furnish medical certification and consequences of failing to do so;
- C. Whether employee will be required to substitute paid leave;
- D. Any requirements for the employee to make health insurance premium payments;
- E. Any requirement to present return-to-work certification;
- F. Employee's right to restoration to the same or equivalent job upon return from leave;
- G. Employee's potential liability for payment of health insurance premiums paid by the employer during FMLA leave if the employee fails to return to work after leave;
- H. Status as a "key employee".

XIV. Effective Date

The Act was signed into law by President Clinton on February 5 and became effective on August 5, 1993. Employers with collective bargaining agreements will not be subject to the law until 12 months after February 5 or the termination of the agreements whichever is earliest.

YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE ACT OF 1993

FMLA requires covered employers to provide up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave to “eligible” employees for certain family and medical reasons. Employees are eligible if they have worked for their employer for at least one year, and for 1,250 hours.

Reasons For Taking Leave:

Unpaid leave must be granted for any of the following reasons:

- to care for the employee’s child after birth or placement for adoption or foster care;
- to care for the employee’s spouse, son or daughter, or parent, who has a serious health condition; or
- for a serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the employee’s job.

At the employee’s or employer’s option, certain kinds of paid leave may be substituted for unpaid leave.

Advance Notice and Medical Certification:

The employee may be required to provide advance leave notice and medical certification. Taking of leave may be denied if requirements are not met.

- The employee ordinarily must provide 30 days advance notice when the leave is “foreseeable”.
- An employer may require medical certification to support a request for leave because of a serious health condition, and may require second or third opinions (at the employer’s expense) and a fitness for duty report to return to work.

Job Benefits and Protection:

- For the duration of FMLA leave, the employer must maintain the employee’s health coverage under any “group health plan”.
- Upon return from FMLA leave, most employees must be restored to their original or equivalent positions with equivalent pay, benefits, and other employment terms.
- The use of FMLA leave cannot result in the loss of any employment benefit that accrued prior to the start of an employee’s leave.

Unlawful Acts By Employers:

FMLA makes it unlawful for any employer to:

- Interfere with, restrain, or deny the exercise of any right provided under FMLA;
- Discharge or discriminate against any person for opposing any practice made unlawful by FMLA or for involvement in any proceeding under or relating to FMLA.

Enforcement:

- The U.S. Department of Labor is authorized to investigate and resolve complaints of violations.
- An eligible employee may bring a civil action against an employer for violations.

FMLA does not affect any Federal or State law prohibiting discrimination; supersede any State or local law or collective bargaining agreement which provides greater family or medical leave rights.

I. Drug Free Work Environment

The purpose of this policy is to comply with the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act of 1989 and amendments. This policy is applicable to all employees of the DMESC. All employees are to be made cognizant of this policy and are required to sign an acknowledgment form and return it to the office of the Director.

The DMESC is strongly committed to providing a drug-free work place for the health and safety of its employees. Drug abuse and use during working hours are subjects of immediate concern in our society. From a safety perspective, the users of drugs may impair the well-being of all employees, students, the public at large, and may cause damage to co-op property. Therefore, it is the policy of the DMESC that the unlawful manufacture, distribution, possession, sale, dispensation or use of alcohol or a controlled substance on co-op property or related activities is prohibited. Any employee violating this policy will be subject to the discipline up to and including termination. The specifics of this policy are as follows;

- A. The DMESC will not differentiate between drug users and drug pushers or sellers. Any employee who gives or in any transfers a controlled substance to another person or sells or manufactures a controlled substance while on the job or on co-op premises or at co-op related activities will be subject to discipline up to and including termination and referral for prosecution.
- B. The term "controlled substance" means any drug listed in 21 U.S.C. Section 812 and other federal regulations. General, these are drugs which have a high potential for abuse. Such drugs include, but are not limited to, Heroin, Marijuana, Cocaine, "Crack", PCP, "Ice". They also include "legal drugs" which are prescribed by a licensed physician.
- C. Each employee is required by law to inform the co-op within five (5) days after he or she is convicted for violation of any federal or state criminal drug statute where such violation occurred on the co-op's premises or during co-op sponsored activities. A conviction means a finding of guilt (including a plea of nolo contendere) or the imposition of a sentence by a judge or jury in any federal court, state court or other of competent jurisdiction. Failure to report such conviction may result in immediate termination without recourse.
- D. If an employee is convicted of violating any criminal drug statute while in the work place, he or she will be subject to discipline up to and including termination. Alternatively, the co-op may require the employee to successfully finish a drug abuse program sponsored by an accredited and approved private or governmental institution. Employees are encouraged to seek treatment and/or counseling for drug problems. Employees voluntarily requesting assistance will not have their employment jeopardized by the request.

However, a request for assistance by an employee after violating this regulation will not affect the imposition of disciplinary action.

- E. As a condition of employment involving any federal government contract, the law required all employees to abide by this policy.
- F. Nothing in this regulation shall limit the co-op's right to discipline up to and including termination of an employee for off duty, off premises activity. Employees suspected of or known to be using illegal substances or abusing prescription drugs beyond their therapeutic intent will be confronted by administration and expected to submit to screening tests. If test results are positive and in administration's sole discretion and judgement such drug usage may be subject to termination or may be afforded the option of beginning a rehabilitation program (as deemed necessary) which may include requiring the employees to submit to random drug screening on a quarterly basis for one year to ensure the employee's system is free of drugs.

Testing will include drug and alcohol screening if deemed necessary.

Employees who refuse testing will be suspended and subject to termination.

An Incident Report will be placed in the personnel file of those employees with positive test results. No action will be taken if the drug screen is negative and results will not be placed in the personnel file unless specifically requested by the employee.

Test results will be mailed to Administration.

II. Policy: Maintaining a Drug Free Work Place

The co-op recognizes its responsibility to employees to provide a drug-free work place. The co-op also recognizes that the problem of use, possession, and sale of illegal drugs by employees may extend to the workplace and requires both attention and action by everyone. In addition to making employees aware of prohibitions through the employee handbook the co-op will include information about the effects and dangers relating to illegal drugs and provide information about agencies which provide help with drug abuse situations.

When it has been established that an employee possesses or is under the influence of alcohol or other substances expressly prohibited by federal, state or local laws, or of any mind altering non-prescribed substances while he/she will be subject to probation, suspension with or without pay or dismissal. The employee may be reported to legal authorities.
