November 3, 2014

The 2014 carnival was a big success, with the event well attended and a good time had by all. Whether it was visiting with old friends, playing games or just enjoying the good food, attendees had plenty to amuse them. The climax of the evening was the crowning of the carnival king and queens. In the 1st-3th competition, 2nd graders Nia Stayton (escorted by Hagen Deaton) and Jeremiah Giordano took top honors. Fifth graders Adam Ulloa and Katelyn Kimble were crowned in the 4-6th grade competition. Junior high winners were Ruth Anna Lonetree and Connor Lee. The royal court was completed with Desarea Kimble and Josh Blanton claiming the senior high honors.

Music Students Shine

On Friday, Oct. 24th, Ms. Gray's high school music classes hosted a recital. The students chose a song they would like to sing or play on a musical instrument. This first recital was to help "break the ice" so to speak and give students a gentle transition into singing before an audience. The audience was small, consisting of a few students and other fans.

Ms. Gray is very proud of the progress of her newly-formed music class. They bravely stepped out and put on a wonderful performance which was music to our ears.

Amber Quis Quis sings during the first music recital.

Help Needed

If you took some great pictures of the carnival king and queen coronation, the yearbook class would love to have a copy, electronic or otherwise. It would really help us out as lighting & equipment issues paired up with lack of expertise to leave our pictures a little wanting. Contact Ms. Whitman at 246-3333 or nwhitman@indiahoma.k12.ok.us. You are welcome to email the photos. Thank you.
