San Diego Opera Announces “Opera on Track”

New outreach initiative to attract audience members to Fall performance of La Cenerentola (Cinderella) using MTS trolley line

“Opera on Track” includes series of free, abridged, performances of La Cenerentola (Cinderella) at locations along MTS trolley lines

“Opera on Track” is funded by OPERA America’s Building Opera Audience’s Grant Program, supported by Ann and Gordon Getty Foundation

San Diego, CA – San Diego Opera is happy to announce the Company has been awarded a $40,000 Innovation Grant from OPERA America’s Building Opera Audiences Grant Program, for “Opera on Track” a new outreach effort designed to attract new and returning audience members along San Diego’s light rail trolley lines. The Building Opera Audiences Grant Program is supported by the Ann and Gordon Getty Foundation.

“Opera on Track” is a partnership between San Diego Opera and MTS which operates a light rail trolley service with three lines that cover the downtown area as well as the South Bay and East County cities of National City, Chula Vista, Imperial Beach, La Mesa, El Cajon, and Santee. The trolley stations along these three lines include neighborhoods where San Diego Opera has been effective through extensive education activities, especially in schools. But in these same neighborhoods, the Company has not been as effective in terms of generating new audience members. With the “Opera on Track” initiative, the Company will target senior citizens who no longer attend San Diego Opera because of transportation challenges, as well as new opera patrons and their families who live along the trolley lines.

San Diego Opera will present a series of free, abridged, performances of La Cenerentola (Cinderella), along the trolley lines using singers from the Company’s Opera Exposed program. The Company will also provide discounted tickets and other incentives at these events to encourage ticket purchases to San Diego Opera performances at the San Diego Civic Theater, which is located on the trolley’s Blue Line.

“One of the most exciting things about the opera now is our effort to take opera out of a grand theatre and perform it in unusual venues, outdoors, even on the street! The arts belong everywhere and to everyone,” shares Dr. Nicolas Reveles, San Diego Opera’s Director of Outreach and Community Engagement. “Opera on Track gives our company and our young college-based singers the chance to perform opera in that spirit. We’re excited about this initiative and hope that it is a springboard to many other performance opportunities in the future.”

San Diego Opera’s “Opera on Track” initiative will generate interest in opera along a transportation system that represents a broad diversity of neighborhoods, economic statuses and cultures. By focusing on the trolley system, the program breaks down the transportation barrier for seniors and families; eliminates the expense and hassle of parking downtown during heavy traffic times; informs the public of the direct route available to the theatre via a convenient and inexpensive mode of travel; and counters the prevailing attitudes that opera is out of reach, too difficult to get to, inaccessible or too expensive.

Opera on Track Performance Schedule – all performances free to the public and run approximately 30 minutes
