South Dakota SPECIALTY PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION

Who are we?

We are growers, processors and others interested in producing and marketing South Dakota specialty crops and products. We represent locally grown non-commodity products including:

- Fruits and Vegetables
- Grapes
- Honey
- Specialty Meats
- Herbs & Medicinal Plants
- Golden Flax, Hops & Ancient Grains
- Nursery Crops
- Value Added Products

Our Goals

- Promote South Dakota horticultural, specialty crops and products
- Develop cooperative marketing opportunities
- Create opportunities for specialty crop producers to market, network, and learn
- Market Agri-tourism
- Develop South Dakota product identity
- Offer educational programs
- Help support research
- Partner with other organizations working on common goals
- Serve as a venue for networking and information gathering

SDSPA MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

STAY INFORMED

We will help you keep up with the changes in the industry affecting specialty crops through a quarterly newsletter and twice -monthly updates. We also take the time to contact each of you annually to gather input about your goals, concerns, and needs as producers and business owners.

BOOST YOUR VISIBILITY

Members can link to our social media sites. They may also host a producer tour or educational workshop. SDSPA will advertise the event. Members may also be invited to present a program at various events such as major conferences and workshops. These promotion and networking experiences are a great benefit of your membership.

IMPROVE YOUR BUSINESS

Members have ample opportunities to learn and network with fellow SDSPA members at workshops, producer tours and other events throughout the year. SDSU Extension serves in an advisory role for SDSPA. Members stay in-the-know regarding grants, events, and extension programming. In addition, we team up with other partner organizations in the agricultural community to support research initiatives and offer educational programs.
