ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE MISSION STATEMENT

ACC MISSION STATEMENT

To maximize the educational and athletic opportunities that shape our leaders of tomorrow — in the classroom, in competition, and in life.

ACC VISION STATEMENT

To be at the forefront in educational excellence, athletic achievement, and innovation while inspiring the development of leaders in the ACC.

ACC CORE VALUES

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE	ATHLETICS EXCELLENCE	COMPETITIVE FAIRNESS

COMMISSIONER'S WELCOME

The Atlantic Coast Conference continued to set a high standard, both academically and through its athletic performances, during a memorable 2016-17 academic year.

The ACC's unique blend of public and private institutions continued to lead the way academically among Power 5 conferences. This was again demonstrated in the "Best Colleges" rankings released by U.S. News & World Report, as the ACC led all peer conferences with seven schools among the top 35 and eight among the top 50.

The ACC saw 88 combined teams receive Academic Progress Rate recognition awards from the NCAA in May, once again the most of any peer conference. In the NCAA's Graduation Success Rate report released last November, the ACC's graduation rate of 89.3 percent ranked more than five points above the national average. Additionally, the league tied for the highest GSR among peer conferences in football, and a combined six ACC men's and women's basketball teams achieved perfect scores.

Individually, our student-athletes excelled in the classroom with a record number 4,472 being named to the 2016-17 ACC Honor Roll for earning a grade point average of 3.0 or better for the entire academic year.

The ACC also made the strongest of statements when it came to athletic competition, with Clemson claiming the 2016 College Football Playoff National Championship and North Carolina taking home the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship trophy in late April. It marks only the 10th time that a conference won both titles in the same academic year and the third in time in ACC history.

The cumulative success of ACC teams on the playing fields was evident in late June, when six league schools ranked among the top 25 of the final Division I Learfield Sports Directors' Cup Standings. It marked the 16th consecutive year in which four or more ACC institutions placed among the top 30. The ACC placed nine schools among the top 50 of this year's standings, and 13 member institutions placed among the top 75.

In 2016-17, ACC teams captured four NCAA championships, and student-athletes from league schools claimed 11 individual titles. Our conference now owns 150 NCAA team championships over the course of its 64-year history, and ACC student-athletes have claimed more than 300 individual national titles.

The ACC's strength in Olympic sports continued this past winter, when Notre Dame claimed the NCAA fencing championship in Indianapolis. The title was the first for the Irish since 2011.

The spring brought another national championship celebration when the Virginia men's tennis team captured its third consecutive NCAA title and its fourth in five years. The Cavaliers, one of six programs in NCAA history to win multiple men's tennis championships, finished the year with a sparkling 34-1 record.

Clemson's football national title capped a banner year for the ACC in which our teams set a conference record and tied an all-time NCAA Division I mark by posting a 9-3 record in postseason play. Eleven ACC teams finished with winning records, the most of any FBS league and the most in ACC history. The next highest conference finished with eight winning teams.

Louisville's sophomore quarterback Lamar Jackson was named the Heisman Trophy winner for a season in which he accounted for 51 touchdowns and more than 5,100 total yards. He became the youngest player to ever receive the award and one of four ACC players to accept the Heisman.

North Carolina's NCAA Championship in men's basketball was the eighth in the last 17 years by a current ACC program. The ACC's 47 collective wins over the past three NCAA Tournaments leads all conferences. The ACC is the only conference to place at least one team in each of the last three Final Fours and has had at least one Final Four team in 30 of the last 41 years.

With Barclays Center playing host to the ACC Tournament for the first time, the event has now been held in 12 different venues in eight different cities. This marked the first year that the ACC Tournament was played in the state of New York, with a return engagement set for March of 2018. This year's NBA Draft featured 10 first-round selections from the ACC, the most ever for any conference in a single year.

In women's basketball, seven ACC teams earned bids to the NCAA Championship as Florida State, Duke, Louisville, NC State, Syracuse and Miami joined three-time conference champion Notre Dame in the field. The ACC's seven NCAA Tournament teams matched the third most in league history. It marked the third time in four years that the ACC has placed at least seven teams in the Big Dance, and the 10th time in 13 years that at least six teams had been selected.

ACC baseball placed seven teams in the NCAA Championship field. With Florida State and Louisville reaching the College World Series, the conference sent at least one team to Omaha for the 12th consecutive season and has seen 23 teams reach the CWS since 2006.

As we look back on 2016-17, it's hard not to focus on the future with great anticipation. The academic year began with last summer's announcement that the long-anticipated ACC Network is now a reality. A 20-year partnership between the conference and ESPN will provide ACC fans unprecedented access to live events via a comprehensive, multi-platform network. It also provides for the extension of the conference's existing rights agreement with ESPN through the 2035-36 academic year.

Expansive digital coverage of the league's 27 sports began last August with the launch of ACC Network Extra, which raised viewership opportunities to a new level as more than 1,500 events were live-streamed during the 2016-17 academic year. The full ACC Network linear channel takes flight in 2019.

The ACC and its member institutions remain poised to continue a long tradition of balancing athletics, academics and integrity. As a conference, we are extremely proud of our student-athletes' accomplishments over the past year and look forward to the year ahead.

Sincerely,

John D. Swofford

TRADITION of EXCELLENCE

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor. In today's intercollegiate athletics, competition is so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency. Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Established in 1953, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, as the numbers support it. Through its first 64 years of competition, ACC schools captured 150 NCAA team championships, including 75 in men's sports, 74 in women's competition and one in fencing. In addition, NCAA individual titles went to ACC student-athletes 169 times in men's competition and 134 times in women's action.

2016-17 IN REVIEW

The 2016-17 academic year saw ACC teams capture four more national team titles. The ACC has averaged more than four national titles per year over the past two decades (81 in 20 years) and has claimed multiple NCAA titles in 34 of the past 36 years.

Academically, the member institutions of the Atlantic Coast Conference again led the way among Power 5 conferences in the latest "Best Colleges" rankings released by U.S. News & World Report. ACC member institutions combined for an average rank of 55.7, marking the 10th straight year that the ACC led all Power 5 conferences.

A HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, North Carolina, with seven charter members — Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest — drawing up the conference bylaws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, North Carolina, where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name officially became the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid-South, Mid-Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when South Carolina tendered its resignation. The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when Georgia Tech was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January 1964.

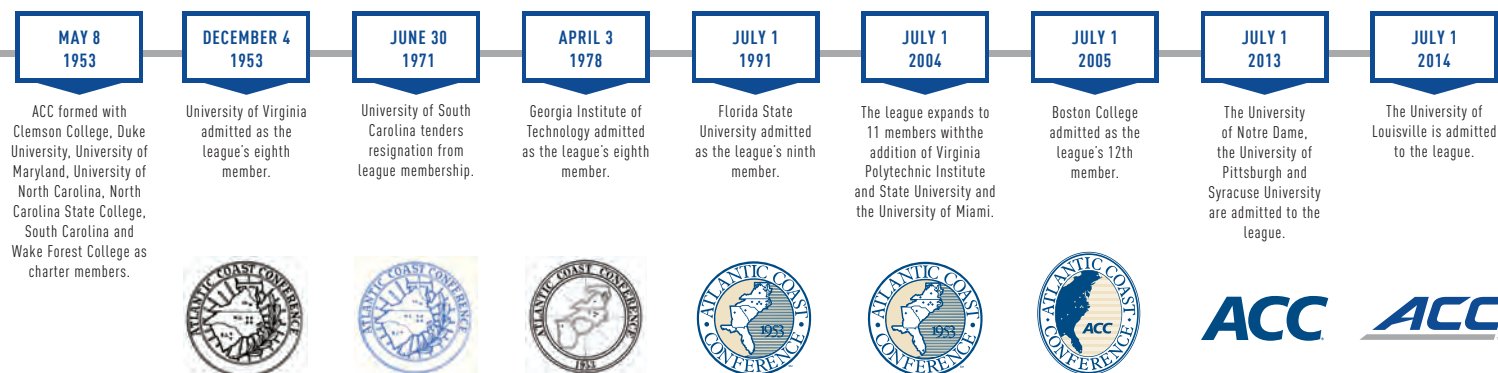

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of Miami and Virginia Tech. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.

The ACC added its 13th and 14th members on September 18, 2011, when Pittsburgh and Syracuse accepted invitations to join the conference. The two schools officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013. Notre Dame also officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013, after announcing on September 12, 2012 its intention to enter the league for competition in all sports but football, bringing the membership of the conference to 15. The Fighting Irish play five games with ACC schools each year.

On July 1, 2014, Louisville entered the ACC on the same day Maryland withdrew, keeping the conference's membership at 15 institutions.

2016-17 ANNUAL REPORT

2016 CHAMPION CLEMSON FOOTBALL

After coming agonizingly close to capturing the College Football Playoff National Championship one year earlier, the Clemson Tigers made the most of their second chance in 2016.

Deshawn Watson's two-yard touchdown pass to Hunter Renfrow with one second remaining lifted the Tigers to a dramatic 35-31 victory over defending national champion Alabama at Tampa's Raymond James Stadium on January 9.

The second-ranked Tigers (14-1) avenged a narrow loss to the Crimson Tide in the 2015 title game while securing the program's second national title and first since 1981.

"The difference in the game was the love we had for each other," an emotional head coach Dabo Swinney exclaimed at game's end. "This was a blessing, and it's surreal. Eight years ago, (former Clemson athletic director) Terry Don Phillips gave me a chance to lead this program. We set out to put Clemson back on top. We came up short last year, but tonight the Clemson flag is flying at the top of that mountain."

Watson was named the Offensive Most Valuable Player of the College Football Playoff title game after throwing for 420 yards and three touchdowns while adding a score on the ground. Renfrow caught two of the touchdowns, giving him a second-straight National Championship Game with multiple receiving scores.

The Tigers, who claimed their second consecutive conference championship with a 42-35 win over Virginia Tech in the Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship in Orlando on December 3, advanced to the National Championship Game with a 31-0 shutout of third-ranked Ohio State in the CFP semifinals.

"I can't tell you how humbled I am, blessed, and so thankful to be a part of helping get Clemson back on top this moment," Swinney said. "(After) 35 years, doing something that a lot of people didn't think we could do. I'm so thankful for that opportunity."

2017 CHAMPION NOTRE DAME FENCING

Two-time Olympian and senior Lee Kiefer clinched the team title for Notre Dame in the fourth round with a 5-1 win over Cornell's Lyubov Kiriakidi on the foil strip in the NCAA Fencing Championships held March 23-26 at the Indiana Farmers Coliseum in Indianapolis.

Notre Dame captured its ninth national championship and its first since 2011. For the third straight season, Notre Dame qualified the maximum of 12 fencers to the NCAA Championships. Outstanding performances by Kiefer and junior Francesca Russo helped the Irish defeat second-place Ohio State by 25 points, the widest margin of victory since the 2004 event. The title becomes the first for head coach Gia Kvaratskhelia, who joined the Irish in 2014.

Notre Dame's final total of 186 points are the most for the Irish in a title victory and the most for a winning team since Penn State's 191 in 2010.

"I'm at a loss of words," Kiefer said. "This has been a goal for this whole season. This is an amazing team and I am so proud of everything that they have done and this is just icing on the cake. It feels so good. We have been so close so many times, but we have been a strong team and worked so well together."

North Carolina now owns six NCAA Men's Basketball Championship banners after bringing home the 2017 title.

The Tar Heels grabbed the crown that had so narrowly eluded their grasp one year earlier. After earning the No. 1 seed in the NCAA South Region, UNC advanced through the tough field with wins over Texas Southern, Arkansas, Butler and Kentucky. Upon reaching the Final Four in Glendale, Arizona, the Tar Heels secured their third NCAA title in 14 seasons under head coach Roy Williams with a one-point semifinal win over Oregon and a 71-65 win over fellow No. 1 seed Gonzaga in the championship game.

"I wanted to see this confetti fall on us, and we're the winners," said UNC's Joel Berry II, who led the Tar Heels with 22 points against Gonzaga and was voted the Most Outstanding Player of the Final Four. "We came out here and we competed. It came down to the last second, but we're national champs now."

Big plays abounded throughout the tournament for UNC (33-7), including Luke Maye's 18-foot jumper that lifted the Tar Heels to a 75-73 win over Kentucky in the South Regional final. The Tar Heels held on for a 77-76 win over Oregon in the national semifinals thanks to big plays by Theo Pinson and Kennedy Meeks in securing offensive rebounds in game's final six seconds.

With his third NCAA title as a head coach, Williams moved one ahead of his mentor, Dean Smith, and now ranks behind only John Wooden (UCLA), Mike Krzyzewski (Duke) and Adolph Rupp (Kentucky).

"I think of Coach Smith, there's no question," Williams said. "I don't think I should be mentioned in the same sentence with him. But we've got three because I've got these guys with me, and that's all I care about right now — my guys."

The Virginia men's tennis team (34-1) won its third-consecutive NCAA Championship by picking up a 4-2 victory over No. 9 North Carolina (29-5) May 23 at the Dan Magill Tennis Complex in Athens, Georgia. The championship is the program's fourth all-time NCAA title and its fourth in the last five years (2013, 15, 16 and 17).

"I want to congratulate the University of North Carolina on an unbelievable match and a great season," said Virginia head coach Brian Boland. "They competed so hard. To beat a team as good as them four times in the same season is so difficult. We have so much respect for them. I am really proud of my players. They deserve everything they get. They work hard every single day and play for something bigger than themselves. I am so proud to be part of it and I appreciate what they have done."

The victory ended a great run at Virginia for Boland, who has been named the USTA Player Development Head of Men's Tennis. Boland left UVA as a two-time ITA National Coach of the Year who, in his 16 seasons with Virginia, amassed a 453-58 record, won four NCAA Championships, six ITA National Team Indoor titles, 12 ACC Championships and led his team to a No. 1 ranking in 10 seasons.

NCAA INDIVIDUAL CHAMPIONS

2016-17 ANNUAL REPORT

NCAA INDIVIDUAL CHAMPIONS

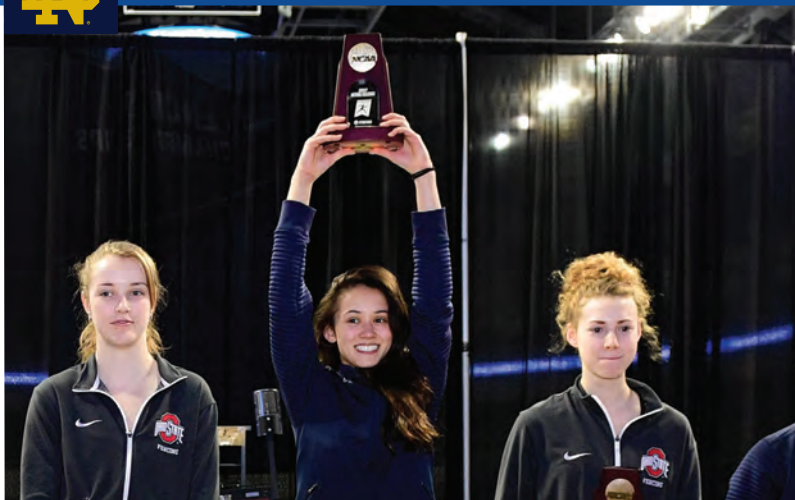

DAVID DINSMORE, MEN'S PLATFORM DIVING

- Miami redshirt freshman DAVID DINSMORE won his first NCAA national championship in the men's 10-meter platform at the 2017 NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships, which were held March 22-25 at the IU Natatorium in Indianapolis. Competing in his first NCAA Championships, Dinsmore outperformed U.S. Olympian Steele Johnston with 528.20 points, earning 81 points or higher on all of his dives to claim the championship. The New Albany, Ohio, native became the 13th diver from the University of Miami to win a national championship under coach Randy Ableman.

LEE KIEFER, FENCING (FOIL)

- Notre Dame's senior and two-time Olympian LEE KIEFER clinched the NCAA women's foil title at the NCAA Fencing Championships, which were held March 23-26 at the Indiana Farmers Coliseum in Indianapolis. Kiefer out-touched Ohio State's Alanna Goldie 15-9 in the final round to claim the NCAA title for the fourth time. The Versailles, Kentucky, native became just the third collegiate fencer to win four NCAA Championships. Kiefer's outstanding performances led the Fighting Irish to its ninth team national championship in program history.

FRANCESCA RUSSO, FENCING (SABRE)

- Notre Dame junior FRANCESCA RUSSO had an impressive performance at the NCAA Fencing Championships, which were held March 23-26 at Indiana Farmers Coliseum in Indianapolis. Russo defeated Penn State's Teodora Kakhiani 15-14 in a thrilling match to claim her second NCAA women's sabre national title. The Wayne, New Jersey, native's victory assisted Notre Dame to its ninth NCAA Fencing Championship.

NC STATE MEN'S SWIMMING (800 RELAY)

- NC STATE JUNIOR RYAN HELD, JUNIOR ANDREAS VAZIOS, SOPHOMORE JUSTIN RESS AND SENIOR SOREN DAHL won the 800 freestyle relay in the 2017 NCAA Men's Swimming and Diving Championships, held March 22-25, at the IU Natatorium in Indianapolis. The team finished three seconds in front of its nearest competition with a time of 6:06.53 to break the NCAA and US Open records. The Wolfpack team also broke all ACC, pool, meet and school records. The win marked the second NCAA relay victory for NC State's men's swimming program.

MALLORY COMERFORD, SWIMMING (200 FREE)

- Louisville sophomore MALLORY COMERFORD'S record-breaking time highlighted an impressive performance in the NCAA Women's Swimming and Diving Championships, which were held March 15-18 at the IU Natatorium in Indianapolis. Comerford's time of 1:40.36 tied five-time Olympian Gold Medalist Katie Ledecky to claim co-champion of the NCAA 200-freestyle. The time set a new pool record and was 2.63 seconds quicker than Comerford's personal best.

SHAKIMA WIMBLEY, INDOOR TRACK & FIELD (400 M)

- Miami senior SHAKIMA WIMBLEY'S world-leading gold medal time in the women's 400 meters highlighted an impressive showing by ACC competitors in the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships, which were held March 10-11 at Texas A&M. Wimbley posted a time of 51.07 seconds, edging USC's Kendall Ellis at the finish line to claim the championship she had always coveted. Wimbley broke her own ACC record of 51.20 set during February's ACC Championships. The Fort Lauderdale, Florida, native set a new conference record in the women's 400 meters on four different occasions during the 2017 Indoor season.

THAI-SON KWIATKOWSKI, MEN'S TENNIS

- Virginia senior THAI-SON KWIATKOWSKI was crowned the 2017 NCAA Men's Singles champion after defeating North Carolina's William Blumberg 6-4, 7-6 (5) in the final on May 29 at the Dan Magill Tennis Complex in Athens, Georgia. It marked the fourth time a Cavalier has won the title with Kwiatkowski joining Somdev Devvarman (2007 and 2008) and Ryan Shane (2015) as an NCAA Singles champion. It also came less than one week since Kwiatkowski helped lead the Cavaliers to the 2017 NCAA Team Championship. As an American player, Kwiatkowski's championship also earned an automatic bid into the main draw of the 2017 U.S. Open.

FILIP MIHALJEVIC, TRACK & FIELD (SHOT PUT & DISCUS)

- Virginia senior FILIP MIHALJEVIC won his second straight NCAA Division I shot put title on June 7 at Hayward Field in Eugene, Oregon. Mihaljevic delivered an ACC and school-record throw of 21.30 meters (69-10.75) to claim the gold medal. Mihaljevic, a native of Livno, Bosnia and Herzegovina, claimed the 143rd NCAA outdoor track and field title by a student-athlete from a current ACC member school. It also marks the 300th all-time NCAA individual title for the ACC in Olympic Sports. He also captured the NCAA title in the discus on his last throw of the night on Friday, June 9. He recorded a mark of 63.76m (209-2) for a personal-best and a Virginia school record. Mihaljevic's success led Virginia to a record best finish for the track and field program as the Cavalier men finished with 36 team points – all on throws – to finish third in the final team standings. Mihaljevic became the first ACC student-athlete since Florida State's Ngoni Makusha in 2011 to capture gold medals in multiple NCAA outdoor finals events and the first since Wake Forest's Andy Bloom in 1996 to claim both the shot put and the discus.

EDWIN KIBICHIY, TRACK & FIELD (3,000 M STEEPLECHASE)

- Louisville senior EDWIN KIBICHIY capped off his collegiate career with a gold medal in the 3,000 Meter Steeplechase with a personal best time of 8:28.40 on June 9 at Hayward Field in Eugene, Oregon. Kibichiy placed well ahead of the rest of the field with the nearest competitor finishing three seconds behind him. Kibichiy surpassed his previous best finish of third at last year's NCAA Outdoor Championships and earned first team All-American honors for an impressive second straight year.

IRENA SEDIVA, TRACK & FIELD (JAVELIN)

- Virginia Tech senior IRENA SEDIVA captured her second gold medal in three years during with a throw of 58.76m (192-9) on June 8 at the NCAA Division I Outdoor Track and Field Championships at Hayward Field. Sediva's collegiate career concluded with Virginia Tech track and field program's 16th individual national championship. The Czech Republic native became just the second woman in Virginia Tech's track and field history to win at least two national titles. Ironically, her winning throw on her fifth attempt this season measured the exact same distance as her winning throw on her sixth attempt at the 2015 NCAA finals.

2015 Syracuse

2016 CHAMPION VIRGINIA

- VIRGINIA defeated North Carolina, 4-2, in the final of the ACC Championship on November 6 in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, to claim the first ACC Field Hockey Title in program history.
- Six ACC teams received NCAA Championship berths, marking the fourth straight season that at least a half-dozen ACC teams earned a spot in postseason play. The ACC's six berths led the nation.
- North Carolina reached the final of the NCAA Championship before dropping a 3-2 decision to Delaware. It marked the 18th consecutive year — and the 27th time in the last 30 seasons — that at least one ACC team reached the national championship game.
- North Carolina's appearance in the NCAA semifinals marked the 28th consecutive year that at least one ACC team advanced that far in the postseason.
- Virginia junior midfielder Tara Vittese was named the 2016

Longstreth/NFHCA National Player of the Year for the second consecutive year. Vittese also received the South Region Player of the Year honor for the second year in a row and was also named the Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) Offensive Player of the Year after accounting for 41 points on 15 goals with 11 assists.

- The ACC's .806 winning percentage (75-18) against nonconference opposition in 2016 led the nation.
- With Duke ascending to the No. 1 spot of the NFHCA poll for the first time in program history, three different ACC teams — Duke, North Carolina and Syracuse — reached the nation's top spot during 2016. Since 2003, the No. 1-ranked team in the nation has been an ACC team 86 percent of the time.
- Ten players from ACC member schools were among the 16-member USA Field Hockey Team that reached the quarterfinals of the 2016 Summer Olympic Games in Rio before falling to Germany.

- FLORIDA STATE outlasted North Carolina on penalty kicks to claim its fourth straight conference title in the ACC Championship final November 6 at Charleston's MUSC Health Stadium. The teams battled to a 0-0 draw through double overtime before the Seminoles prevailed 4-3 on penalty kicks.
- Seven ACC teams earned spots in the 2016 NCAA Women's Soccer Championship. It marked the 18th straight year that at least six ACC teams have been selected to the tournament, and the 13th time in the last 14 years that at least seven league teams have earned berths.
- With North Carolina reaching the semifinals of the NCAA Championship, the ACC pushed its all-time total of Women's College Cup participants to 47 — easily the most among all conferences. The Pac-12 is the next closest conference with 21 all-time College Cup appearances. Current ACC membership has combined for 59 College Cup appearances.
- The ACC placed a team in the NCAA Women's College Cup for the 12th consecutive year and 34th time in the 35-year history of the event.
- The seven ACC teams in the 2016 NCAA Championship combined for a 12-6-3 record in postseason play. ACC teams were 11-5-3 against nonconference opponents in this year's championship.

- Six ACC teams were ranked among the nation's top 25 for all 13 weeks of the 2016 season, and 10 league teams were ranked for at least one week in one national poll.
- The ACC boasted seven players on the NSCAA All-American Team — the most of any single conference. ACC players claimed 25 of 33 spots on the NSCAA All-Southeast Region Team.
- The ACC placed six student-athletes on the 2016 Academic All-American Division I Team, as selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA).
- The ACC had 15 current or former student-athletes represent their member institutions in last summer's Summer Olympic Games in Rio, and had 11 student-athletes on rosters for their native countries for the 2016 FIFA Under-20 Women's World Cup, including six on the U.S. team. In addition, Virginia's Steve Swanson was an assistant coach for the United States Women's National Team in the 2016 Olympic Games.

- This marked the fourth consecutive year that the ACC has led all conferences in NCAA selections.
- The ACC placed at least one team in the NCAA Men's College Cup for the 16th consecutive year.
- ACC teams posted a combined 15-4-2 (.762) record against non-ACC opponents in the NCAA Championship.
- The ACC was the top-ranked conference in NCAA RPI.
- A national-best nine Atlantic Coast Conference men's soccer student-athletes were named to the National Soccer Coaches Association of America's All-American Teams.
- Wake Forest's Ian Harkes won the MAC Hermann Trophy as the nation's top player, the 18th time the award has gone to a player from the ACC.
- Wake Forest senior midfielder Jacori Hayes was tabbed as the 2016 Men's Soccer Senior CLASS Award winner.
- Led by seven first round picks, 18 ACC players were selected in the 2017 MLS SuperDraft, more than twice as many as any other conference and tied for the most in league history.

- NORTH CAROLINA claimed its 13th ACC Championship and its fifth outright since head coach Joe Sagula took over the program in 1990. The Tar Heels (29-4 overall) posted a 19-1 record in conference play.
- Florida State and Pitt joined North Carolina in the NCAA Tournament field. The Tar Heels and Seminoles reached the NCAA regional semifinals before falling to UCLA and Stanford, respectively.
- Fifteen student-athletes from seven different ACC institutions were named to the 2016 AVCA Division I All-Region Teams. In addition, six student-athletes received honorable mention accolades.
- For the fourth time in his career, North Carolina head coach Joe Sagula received the East Coast Region Coach of the Year while also earning 2016 ACC Coach of the Year honors.
- The AVCA East Coast Region Freshman of the Year was awarded to Julia Scoles, only the second Tar Heel in program history to be honored. The freshman also earned four ACC weekly awards throughout the season and ranked fifth in the ACC with 293 kills, 244 digs and .33 aces per set.
- Two ACC teams ranked among the top 25 of the final NCAA RPI, with North Carolina at No. 8 and Florida State at No. 22. The Tar Heels were ranked No. 11 in the final AVCA Coaches poll, while the Seminoles were No. 13.
- ACC teams posted an 87-73 record versus nonconference opposition in 2016, including four wins over ranked teams.

2016 CHAMPION CLEMSON

- No. 2 CLEMSON beat No. 1 ranked Alabama 35-31 at Raymond James Stadium in Tampa, Florida, on January 9 to claim the Tigers' second National Championship. It marked the Tigers' first title since 1981.
- The 12th Annual 2016 Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship took place at Camping World Stadium in Orlando, Florida, on December 3, 2016, where Clemson defeated Virginia Tech, 42-35.
- Clemson was selected to the College Football Playoff, playing in the PlayStation Fiesta Bowl in Glendale, Arizona, on December 31. The Tigers defeated Ohio State 31-0, advancing them to the National Championship for a title game rematch against Alabama.
- Eleven ACC teams finished with winning records, the most of any FBS league and the most in ACC history. The next best conference finished with eight winning teams.
- The ACC had the best nonconference record in the FBS with a 51-17 record, the second best in league history.
- The ACC had the best winning percentage (.654) with a 17-9 record against teams from other Power Five conferences. No other conference had a winning percentage higher than .500.
- The ACC had a postseason record of 9-3, its best in history and the best record in the nation, tying the NCAA record set in 2005 by the SEC.
- Louisville sophomore QB Lamar Jackson was named the Heisman Trophy winner after setting ACC single-season records for most touchdowns rushing and passing (TDR, 51), and most rushing yards (1,571) and touchdowns (21) by a quarterback. Jackson became the youngest player to receive the award and one of four ACC players to accept the Heisman.
- Jackson was also named National Player of the Year by the Walter Camp Foundation, the Associated Press, The Sporting News and was voted the 80th annual Maxwell Award winner.
- The ACC became only the sixth conference to have players finish 1-2 in the Heisman Trophy balloting with Jackson and Clemson QB Deshaun Watson.
- For the second consecutive year, Clemson junior QB Deshaun Watson was named the Davey O'Brien and Manning Quarterback Award winner. Watson was one of four repeat winners and the only ACC quarterback to win the award twice. Watson was also awarded the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award.
- The ACC had 11 teams earn berths into bowl games: Boston College, Clemson, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Louisville, Miami, North Carolina, NC State, Pitt, Virginia Tech and Wake Forest.
- Clemson's senior LB Ben Boulware became the fifth ACC player to be named ACC Co-Defensive Player of the Year and given the Jack Lambert Trophy. This award has been given since 1991 to the nation's top linebacker.
- Virginia Tech's Justin Fuente was the consensus choice as 2016 ACC Coach of the Year as selected by ACC Sports Media Association (ACSMA), the Associated Press and ACC Head Football Coaches. Fuente led the Hokies to a 10-4 record and a berth into the Dr Pepper ACC Championship game, their first appearance since 2011.
- This year marked the 24th consecutive season Virginia Tech has gone to a bowl game, the longest active streak recognized by the NCAA.
- The ACC is only one of two conferences to play in the National Championship Game in three of the last four years.
- Clemson's Dabo Swinney has led the Tigers to 89 wins in his nine seasons as head coach, the seventh-highest in ACC history. In addition, Swinney ranks fourth in winning percentage with .761 in all games and .781 in all ACC games.
- Five ACC coaches rank among the top nine coaches nationally in wins per year. Jimbo Fisher of Florida State leads all, averaging 11.14 wins a season, followed by Clemson's Dabo Swinney, who is fifth (9.89), Miami's Mark Richt is seventh (9.63), Louisville's Bobby Petrino is eighth (9.08) and Georgia Tech's Paul Johnson is ninth (8.85).
- The ACC was one of only three conferences that had five teams ranked in the final Top 25 by the College Football Playoff Selection Committee with Clemson leading the way at No. 2, followed by Florida State (11th), Louisville (13th), Virginia Tech (22nd) and Pitt (23rd).
- Louisville's quarterback Lamar Jackson led the nation with most rushing yards by a quarterback (1,571) and most rushing yards per game (120.8).
- Syracuse's Brisly Estime led the nation with a 17.7 yards per punt return average and placed second among ACC career active leaders in punt returns with 739 yards, behind only leader Ryan Switzer of North Carolina's 1,082.
- The 158,990 fans on hand for Virginia Tech's game with Tennessee on September 10 at Bristol Motor Speedway in Bristol, Tennessee, set a college football attendance record.
- In total, 27 ACC players were recognized with All-American honors, with 12 ACC players selected for first-team All-American honors, including four consensus first-team selections and two unanimous picks. Clemson led the 2016 All-ACC Football Teams with 15 selections, placing nine members on the first team (five offensive, four defensive).

DR PEPPER ACC FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

- On December 3, Clemson defeated Virginia Tech to capture the 2016 Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship in front of over 500 credentialed media and a primetime national television audience on ABC.
- Following TV liveouts at Camping World Stadium, the ACC mascots visited two elementary and middle schools on December 2. During the visits, mascots visited several classrooms, participated in a book reading, and helped to demonstrate the importance of staying in school. The ACC mascots then visited Florida Hospital for Children where they visited patient's rooms and played games with the children and their families. Capping off the weekend of outreach, the ACC mascots visited Give Kids the World Village on December 3. Give Kids the World Village is a 79-acre, nonprofit resort in Central Florida that provides week-long, cost free vacations to children with life-threatening illnesses and their families. Mascots greeted the children and families around the Towne Hall and Gingerbread House.
- The ACC partnered with Project Life Movement to increase the bone marrow and tissue donor registry during the 2016 Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship Game. On December 3, fans were encouraged to visit the Project Life booth at ACC FanFest and on the concourse in the stadium to get registered through a simple cheek swab. The initiative is a part of the ACC Student-Athlete Advisory Committee's relationship with Project Life Movement (PLM), which began last year with Syracuse's SAAC hosting the first bone marrow donor drive in the league.
- I-Drive 360, a popular Orlando destination, served as headquarters for all ACC fans on December 2. ACC Fan Central began at 6 p.m. with performances from the Clemson marching band at 7 p.m. and the Virginia Tech marching band at 7:45 p.m. The event also featured special appearances by ACC cheerleaders and mascots and a live performance by the Greg Warren Band from 8:45-10:30 p.m.
- ACC FanFest was held prior to the Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship Game. This year's event took place from 3-7:30 p.m. outside of Camping World Stadium. Fans enjoyed the day of activities, including live music, interactive games, contests and novelty stations, ACC mascot appearances, ACC Corporate Champion attractions, team band performances, giveaways and samples, and a variety of concessions.
- The ACC held its annual Cheer Performance on December 3. In partnership with the Universal Cheerleaders Association, the event provided youth cheerleaders the opportunity to receive private instruction from world renowned UCA staff, and learn and perform a routine on the field before the Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship Game.

- The ACC recognized the men and women of the Armed Forces by inviting service members and their families to the game. The four invited families enjoyed VIP access throughout game day, including pregame sideline access. In addition, the heroes took part in a special recognition on the field in between the third and fourth quarters, followed by the singing of God Bless America by Liberty Voices a cappella group, which also performed the national anthem prior to the game.

EXTRA YARD FOR TEACHERS

In partnership with the College Football Playoff Foundation's Extra Yard for Teachers initiative, the ACC recognized teachers and provided funding for classroom projects in Orlando and the two participating team's communities as a part of the 2016 Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship Game. Initiatives included distribution of DonorsChoose.org gift cards to fund classroom projects at an area school visited by ACC mascots earlier in the week, and to Orlando area Teacher of the Year finalists and West Lakes neighborhood invitees in attendance at the 2016 Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship Game.

Other collective initiatives in conjunction with Extra Yard for Teachers and Florida Citrus Sports/LIFT Orlando included the funding of 56 classroom projects on DonorsChoose.org in the Orlando area; 40 projects in Pickens and Oconee, South Carolina counties; and 49 projects in Montgomery, Pulaski, Radford and Roanoke, Virginia counties. A total of 135 projects were funded, with more than 12,000 students at 68 schools supported. Orlando Teachers of the Year and other LIFT Orlando teacher invitees were treated to a VIP experience at the Championship Game.

During the regular season, the ACC supported the CFP's Extra Yard for Teachers Awareness Week by creating and sharing videos of ACC staff members discussing the impact that teachers have had on their lives, reposting school social content and posting promotional graphics and videos across ACC digital platforms.

ESPN CAR WASH

ACC coaches appeared on multiple ESPN programs and platforms during the network's annual mid-summer "Car Wash" at the ESPN headquarters in Bristol. Outlets included SportsCenter, ESPN and E:60 on television; ESPN Radio's Mike & Mike in the Morning, The Freddie Coleman Show, Jorge and Izzy, in addition to interviews with ESPN.com writers Andrea Adelson, David Hale, Jared Shanker and Travis Haney; and appearances on a variety of podcasts.

SCHEDULE RELEASE

The 2017 ACC football schedule was released on January 24, with the slate featuring ACC teams facing more Power 5 nonconference opponents than any other Power 5 league, six ACC teams named to ESPN's Way-Too-Early Top 25, and ACC teams facing seven games against teams in ESPN's Way-Too-Early Top 25, which ties for the most among power conferences.

NFL DRAFT

The ACC had 43 players chosen in the 2017 National Football League Draft. The total was the second highest for any conference and the third-highest total for the ACC in any year. Miami led all ACC teams with nine selections followed by Clemson and North Carolina (6 each), Pitt (5), Florida State and Virginia Tech (4 each), NC State (3), Boston College and Louisville (2 each), and Georgia Tech and Wake Forest with one selection apiece.

The ACC has had 158 players chosen in the last four NFL Drafts, the second-highest total of any conference. The league had at least 42 selections in 2014 (42), 2015 (47) and 2017 (43), and is one of only two conferences to do so.

ACC selections were highlighted through releases each day; a dedicated page on theACC.com with a draft board, information, videos and a map of all selections; individual graphics for each student-athlete drafted in the first round; and graphics listing all student-athletes drafted in each subsequent round.

ACC IN BOWL GAMES

Eleven of the ACC's 14 schools were bowl eligible, including Clemson as a participant and winner in the third College Football Playoff. The ACC tied an NCAA record with nine wins in postseason games, posting a nation's best 9-3 record in bowl games and the College Football Playoff.

ACC KICKOFF

Held at The Westin Charlotte in late July, the ACC's 14 head football coaches and 28 student-athletes gathered to meet with over 535 credentialed media members. ESPN aired a live show from the event both days and the media contingency included multiple ESPN platforms, and national, regional and local radio, print and television entities, including USA Today, SI.com, CBSSports.com and Yahoo Sports. Press conferences with coaches and student-athletes were live streamed on ESPN3 and theACC.com. Player and coach press conference excerpts, returning player highlights, footage from the Commissioner's forum and other videos were posted on AVCS. In addition, there was on-site media availability with the ACC's Coordinator of Football Officials.

LUMBER LIQUIDATORS PARTNERSHIP

The ACC worked with Fishbait Marketing to sell a football specific sponsorship in 2016-17. The sponsor, Lumber Liquidators, debuted in 2016-17 with the ACC Tailgate Tour. An ACC and Lumber Liquidators branded truck made stops at each of the league's 14 football campuses during the season, as well as FanFest at the 2016 Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship Game. A press release, radio script, tweet and social graphic were sent to schools before the truck visited their campus and information was distributed on ACC platforms each week.

- For the first time since 1980, NC STATE captured the ACC Women's Swimming and Diving Championship title, which was held at the Georgia Tech Aquatic Center on February 13-16. The Wolfpack won four individual and relay titles each and 19 medals overall.
- The title was the first on the women's side and third overall for Wolfpack coach Braden Holloway.
- The Wolfpack finished with 1,183.5 points, followed by previous nine-time champion Virginia with 1,100.5 points.
- NC State senior Alexia Zevnik was named the 2017 ACC Championship Most Valuable Women's Swimmer for her incredible performance throughout the week, winning five medals, which included three individual titles, a relay championship and a silver medal, along with setting three records in the process.
- Two ACC teams finished in the top 10 of the NCAA, with Louisville finishing in sixth place with 194.5 points, followed by No. 7 NC State with 194 points. No. 12 Virginia (149), No. 31 Virginia Tech (18) and No. 39 Miami.
- Louisville sophomore Mallory Comerford's record-breaking time highlighted an impressive performance in the NCAA Women's Swimming and Diving Championships. Comerford's time of 1 minute and 40.36 seconds tied five-time Olympian Gold Medalist Katie Ledecky to claim co-champion of the NCAA 200-freestyle. The time set a new pool record and was 2.63 seconds quicker than Comerford's personal best. The Kalamazoo, Michigan, native became the fourth NCAA champion for the University of Louisville.

- NOTRE DAME won the ninth national title in program history as the 2017 NCAA Fencing Championships concluded on March 26 at the Indiana Farmers Coliseum in Indianapolis. The title was the first for the Irish since 2011, and the first for head coach Gia Kvaratskhelia.
- Notre Dame finished with 186 points, 25 points ahead of second place Ohio State. Duke placed ninth with 82 points, followed by No. 18 Boston College and No. 24 North Carolina.
- Two Irish fencers — Lee Kiefer and Francesca Russo — won individual national titles. Kiefer won 20 of 23 bouts in foil pool play before defeating Ohio State's Eleanor Harvey in the semifinals. The senior topped Buckeye Alanna Goldie, 15-9, in the title bout to become the third collegiate fencer in history to win four career national titles. Russo won her second career saber title in dramatic fashion. The junior won 20 bouts in pool play to qualify in the top spot before defeating St. John's Mathilda Taharo in the semifinals. Against Penn State's Teodora Kakhiani, the two battled back and forth with Russo winning the decisive final touch and the bout, 15-14.
- Eleven of the ACC's 23 fencers in action at the NCAA Championship earned All-American honors.
- Notre Dame claimed the 2017 ACC Women's Fencing Championship, posting a 3-0 record during the team competition to win the title for the third straight year as competition concluded February 26 at Duke's Cameron Indoor Stadium. The Irish defeated Boston College (24-3), Duke (20-7), and North Carolina (20-7) to claim the championship.
- The foil squad led the way for Notre Dame, topping all three opponents by a combined score of 25-2. The Irish saber team was 19-8, while épée was 14-13. Two Notre Dame foilists were perfect in the team competition: Elyssa Kleiner (9-0) and Lee Kiefer (6-0). Duke's Camille Esnault (8-1) compiled the best mark in épée, and Blue Devils' Lindsay Sapienza and Haley Fisher (7-2) led the way in saber.
- In ACC individual competition, the Irish women posted a sweep of the individual titles. In a matchup of the last two ACC foil champions, Notre Dame's Sabrina Massialas defeated teammate Lee Kiefer, 15-11, to win her second straight individual league title. The Irish's Amanda Sirico took home the épée title with a 15-6 win over Duke's Rita Somogyi, while Notre Dame's Francesca Russo downed Duke's Lindsay Sapienza, 15-7, in the saber title bout.

The Fighting Irish defeated Boston College (21-6), North Carolina (24-3), and Duke (14-13) en route to the ACC Championship.
- Notre Dame's Jonah Shainberg and Duke's Peter Yang posted

8-1 records during the team competition to lead the saber field, followed by Duke's Duncan DeCaire (7-2). The top records in foil were Duke's Jonathan Schwartzman (7-2), Notre Dame's Axel Kiefer (6-2), Kristjan Archer (5-2), and Virgile Collineau (5-2). Notre Dame's Ariel Simmons (8-1) led the way in épée, followed by teammate Dylan French (7-2), North Carolina's Matt Shlimak (5-4) and Duke's Connor Ghazaleh (5-4).

- The Irish épée squad led the way with a combined 22-5 mark against the three opponents, while foil was 20-7 and saber was 17-10.
- In ACC individual competition, top-seeded Pascual Di Tella of Duke defeated teammate Agoston Walter in the semifinals before downing defending champion Jonah Shainberg of Notre Dame in the saber title bout. Notre Dame freshman Ariel Simmons topped teammate Dylan French, 15-9, to win the épée title, while the Irish's Kristjan Archer won the league foil title, 15-11, over teammate Axel Kiefer.

- With Shakima Wimbley shattering three league records and getting plenty of help from her fellow runners and pentathlon champion Michelle Atherley, MIAMI repeated as ACC women's champion and claimed its fourth title under head coach Amy Deem since joining the conference in 2004. Deem's four ACC women's coaching titles are second all-time behind former North Carolina head coach Dennis Craddock's 15.
- Miami's women finished with 113 points as the ACC Championships concluded on February 25 at Notre Dame's Loftus Sports Center, withstanding a strong challenge from second-place Clemson (98). Florida State (74) placed third, followed by Louisville (57.5) and host Notre Dame (48).
- Wimbley went on to claim the gold medal in the women's 400 meters at the NCAA Championships on March 11 in College Station, Texas. Wimbley posted a world-leading and ACC record time of 51.07 seconds, edging out USC's Kendall Ellis at the finish line to claim the championship. Wimbley broke her own ACC mark of 51.20 set at the ACC Championships — and actually broke her own conference record four times during the Indoor season.
- Miami registered a tie for eighth place in the team scoring at the NCAA Championships with 18 points. The Hurricanes

- finished in the top 10 for the first time since tying for fifth with 27 points in 2006. The Louisville women finished tied for 18th with 11 points for the best finish in school history.
- Virginia Tech's Hanna Green (800 meters) and Louisville's Dolly Nyemah (weight throw) were repeat silver medalists in their respective events at the NCAA finals.
- Several ACC Championship times and marks fell during the competition February 23-25 at Notre Dame. The Hurricanes' Wimbley set new meet records in both the 200 (22.86) and 400 (51.20) while also running on the Hurricanes' record-setting 4x400 relay team (3:31.85). Miami's Atherley set a new high in the Championship pentathlon with 4,281 points. Virginia Tech's Green set a new standard in the women's 800 (2:02.96), while Notre Dame's Jessica Harris established a new record mile time of 4:33.88. Louisville's Nyemah delivered a weight throw record of 22.01 meters.
- Miami's Wimbley earned South Region Track Athlete of the Year accolades from the USTFCCA, and the Hurricanes' Amy Deem was recognized as the South Region Women's Head Coach of the Year. Clemson's Marvin Gibson was voted the Southeast Region Women's Assistant Coach of the Year.

- VIRGINIA TECH used its familiar formula — standout performances in middle distances, pole vault and other field events — to fend off rival Virginia for its fourth ACC Indoor Track and Field men's team title — all of which have come since 2011 under head coach Dave Cianelli. The Hokies finished with 109 points, 11 ahead of the Cavaliers, who finished strong to place second. Florida State (86), Clemson (76), Louisville (47) and Syracuse (47) rounded out the top six as the competition concluded February 25 at Notre Dame's Loftus Sports Center.
- The ACC champion Virginia Tech men totaled 23.5 points for a seventh-place finish at the NCAA Championships on March 11 in College Station, Texas, the highest in program history. Syracuse tied for 10th with 20 points — an all-time program best — and Virginia tied for 16th with 12.
- Syracuse's Justyn Knight (3,000 meters) and Freddie Crittenden III (60 hurdles) took home silver medals in NCAA men's competition, along with Virginia Tech's Drew Piazza (800 meters) and the Hokie men's distance men's relay team.
- Highlights of the regular season included a new ACC overall record in the pole vault, as Virginia Tech's Deakin Voltz registered a mark of 5.66 meters (18-6.75).
- Several ACC Championship marks fell in the Feb. 23-25 competition at Notre Dame. Syracuse's Freddie Crittenden III posted a time of 7.65 in the 60-meter hurdles. Virginia Tech's Patrick Joseph checked in at 1:46.23 in the 800-meter run. Both the Clemson 1600-meter relay team (3:07.91) and Virginia Tech's DMR squad (9:31.05) put new championship times in the books. Virginia Tech's Torben Laidig set a new championship standard in the pole vault with 5.55 meters (18-2.5).

- Virginia Tech's Ben Thomas was named the National Men's Assistant Coach of the Year by the USTFCCA. He became the first from the ACC to receive that honor.
- Virginia Tech middle-distance runner Patrick Joseph was recognized as the USTFCCA Southeast Region Male Track Athlete of the Year, while teammate and pole vaulter Deakin Voltz was honored as the region's Male Field Athlete of the Year. The ACC champion Hokies made it a Southeast Region sweep on the men's side, as Dave Cianelli was voted the region's Men's Head Coach of the Year, while Ben Thomas picked up Men's Assistant Coach of the Year honors. In the Northeast Region, Syracuse distance runner Justyn Knight was honored with the Male Track Athlete of the Year award. In addition, the Orange's Dave Hegland was named Northeast Men's Assistant Coach of the Year.

- Led by individual titles from Joey Dance, Solomon Chishko, Zach Epperly, Zack Zavatsky, Jared Haight and Ty Walz, VIRGINIA TECH finished with 93 points to capture the 2017 Atlantic Coast Conference Wrestling Championship at Reynolds Coliseum on the campus of NC State University in Raleigh, North Carolina, before a crowd of 3,081 fans. NC State finished second with 64 points followed by Pitt (54), Virginia (52.5), North Carolina (44) and Duke (24.5). The 29-point margin of victory was the most by an ACC team since NC State captured the 2007 title by a 36-point margin.
- The title for the Hokies was their third overall as they became only the second team in the last eight years to win the ACC's regular season and Tournament wrestling championships in the same year. Tech's 2013 team was the last team to accomplish that feat since 2008.
- Tech's Joey Dance, Solomon Chishko, Zach Epperly, Zack Zavatsky, Jared Haight and Ty Walz all captured individual championships. The six individual titles for the Hokies were the most for a single team in the ACC Championship since the NCAA went to its present weight classifications in 1999.
- Virginia Tech led all ACC teams with a sixth-place finish at the NCAA Wrestling Championships. Virginia finished 15th and NC State 17th.
- Virginia Tech's former head coach Kevin Dresser and current head coach Tony Robie shared ACC Coach of Year honors.
- The ACC sent 33 wrestlers, including all 10 of NC State's starting lineup, to the NCAA Wrestling Championships held March 16-18 at the Scottrade Center in St. Louis, Missouri. The Wolfpack was one of two teams nationally (No. 2 Oklahoma State) to have all 10 starters selected for the NCAA Championship.
- Nine ACC Wrestlers earned All-American honors at the 2017 NCAA Championship, including Virginia's Jack Mueller and George DiCamillo, Duke's Jacob Kasper, NC State's Kevin Jack and Virginia Tech's Joey Dance, Solomon Chishko, Jared Haight, Ty Walz and Sal Mastriani.
- Virginia's George DiCamillo, who finished second nationally at 141 pounds, was named the ACC Wrestler of the Year.
- Virginia's Jack Mueller, who finished sixth nationally and led the nation in technical falls, was named ACC Freshman of the Year.

2017 CHAMPION NOTRE DAME

- Led by ACC Champion NOTRE DAME, seven Atlantic Coast Conference teams earned berths in the 64-team field for the 2017 NCAA Women's Basketball Championship. Florida State, Duke, Louisville, NC State, Syracuse and Miami joined the Fighting Irish in the tournament field.
- The ACC's seven NCAA Tournament bids matched the third most in league history. It marked the third time in four years that the ACC has placed at least seven teams in the Big Dance, and the 10th time in 13 years that at least six teams had been selected.
- Notre Dame claimed its fourth-straight ACC regular-season and tournament titles in 2017 with a 15-1 regular season ACC mark and three consecutive wins in the ACC Tournament over Virginia, Louisville and Duke. The Fighting Irish became the first team to claim four straight ACC Tournament crowns since Duke took five in a row in 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004 and 2005.
- Three ACC teams — No. 1 seed Notre Dame, No. 3 seed Florida State and No. 4 seed Louisville — reached the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament, and the Fighting Irish and Seminoles both reached the Elite 8.
- With a 12-7 mark in 2017, the ACC has now posted a .500 or better showing in NCAA Tournament play each of the past 20 seasons.
- The ACC (actual membership) has now had 177 teams earn NCAA Tournament berths and has posted a 281-175 (.618) all-time record. Current membership has combined for 222 appearances.
- Including four teams selected to the WNIT field, the ACC boasted 11 teams in postseason play. The ACC posted a 10-4 record in the WNIT, with Georgia Tech reaching the finals for the second time in program history.
- Ten ACC teams posted at least 20 wins in 2016-17, and four won at least 28 games.
- A league-record seven ACC teams finished the season ranked among the nation's Top 25 in both the AP and USA Today Coaches Poll. That was the most of any conference in the nation.
- The ACC saw a total of eight teams ranked among the nation's Top 25 at some point during the current season, again the most of all conferences nationally.
- ACC teams posted a 161-37 (.813) record against nonconference opposition during the 2016-17 season, the second best of any conference nationally.
- The ACC had three of the five finalists for the Nancy Lieberman Award in Duke's Lexie Brown, Notre Dame's Brianna Turner and Syracuse's Alexis Peterson.
- Seven ACC women's basketball student-athletes earned Associated Press All-American honors, and the ACC led all conferences with four student-athletes named first-, second- or third-team All-American. Notre Dame's Brianna Turner was named an Associated Press second-team All-American for the second consecutive season, along with Syracuse's Alexis Peterson. Notre Dame's Lindsay Allen and Duke's Lexie Brown were named to the third team, and four from the ACC were honorable mention.
- Seven ACC student-athletes were selected in the 2017 WNBA Draft, including first-round and No. 7 overall selection Brittney Sykes of Syracuse. The ACC has had at least one player go in the first round in each of the last 12 drafts, and current membership accounts for 46 first-round picks.

ACC TOURNAMENT

- The 2017 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament was played before over 250 credentialed media at the HTC Center in Conway, South Carolina, on March 1-5. All 14 games were aired or televised on the league's regional sports networks as well as on ESPN platforms.
- Attendance for the 2017 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament was 30,387 (out of total potential capacity of 36,000), including sellouts for the semifinals and championship game.
- The ACC continued an enter-to-win contest with the winner receiving a VIP trip to the ACC Women's Basketball Tournament. The contest was promoted extensively via social media and theACC.com.
- The ACC mascots participated in community outreach initiatives during the 2017 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament, including a food drive and outreach program with the Grand Stand Miracle League. The mascots visited Food Lion on March 3 to encourage Food Lion customers to donate to Lowcountry Food Bank, which serves the 10 coastal counties of South Carolina and aims to distribute more than 24 million pounds of food each year. The event was covered by a local news station and ran on its morning broadcast. Mascots also visited an elementary school and participated in Mascot Night at the HTC Center on Friday. In addition, the mascots participated in ACC Field Day presented by New York Life on March 4. Members of the Grand Stand Miracle League were invited to enjoy a morning of activities, including dancing, skee ball, archery, basketball skills, soccer, speed stacking, face painting, ring toss and more. Mascots mixed and mingled amongst the activity stations and participated in an autograph session.
- ACC Hoops for Kids, presented by the Official Corporate Champions of the ACC, took place on Thursday, March 2. The Hoops for Kids community outreach event was free for kids 5 to 12 years of age who registered for the event. Each participating child received a t-shirt, dinner from Food Lion and a ticket to the Thursday night games of the ACC Women's Basketball Tournament. Participants had the opportunity to take part in the ACC Fan Interactive area before attending the 6 and 8 p.m. games.
- The ACC continued an initiative to recognize local Teachers of the Year by inviting them to ACC Championship events. The Horry County Schools Teacher of the Year semifinalists and their guests were invited to attend the championship game of the ACC Women's Basketball Tournament.
- The ACC again honored America by welcoming and recognizing the men and women of the Armed Forces during the 2017 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament championship game. The ACC once again collaborated with Wounded Warrior Project® (WWP) to invite WWP injured service members and their guests to the championship game on Sunday, March 5. Warriors were recognized on court during a pregame ceremony while the colors were presented by the North Myrtle Beach High School Navy JROTC. Following the ceremony, Air Force Airman First Class Angelia Sutarto sang the National Anthem.

MEDIA DAY

Held at The Westin Charlotte on October 12, the ACC's 15 head basketball coaches and 26 student-athletes gathered to meet with 46 media members and television partners. The media contingency included national, regional and local print and television entities. Player and coach interviews were streamed live on ACC Network Extra and excerpts were posted on the AVCS.

WNBA DRAFT

The WNBA Draft was held on April 13. The ACC had seven players drafted, led by Syracuse guard Brittney Sykes, selected seventh overall by the Atlanta Dream. For each player drafted, a graphic highlighting the pick and team were created and distributed on the ACC's social platforms (Twitter, Facebook, Instagram) and included in a draft recap.

ACC WBBT 40TH ANNIVERSARY

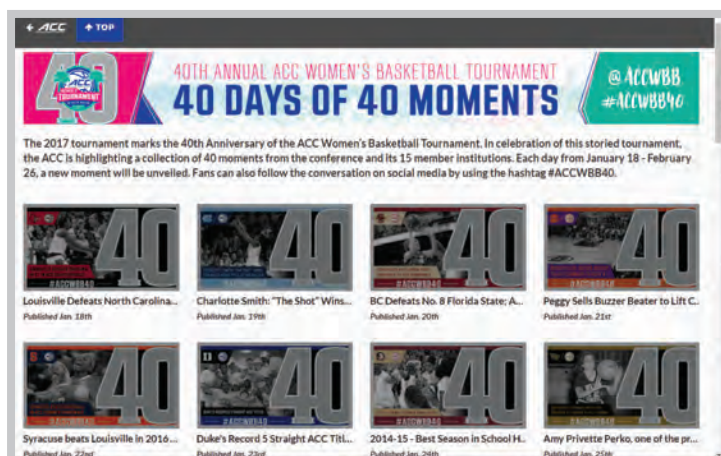

The Atlantic Coast Conference celebrated the 40th anniversary of the ACC Women's Basketball Tournament throughout conference play during the 2016-17 season. In commemoration, the ACC and its member institutions selected 40 of the league's top women's basketball moments that were highlighted over 40 days leading into the 2017 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament.

The 40 moments included a memorable women's basketball moment from each ACC institution, as well as league milestones. All 40 moments were showcased on theACC.com with a combination of video, still photography and written text.

The breakdown of 40 moments included a minimum of one moment per each school (as selected by the respective institution), five representing overall league milestones, and 20 that were selected by a panel of league television and media partners. The panel selected the final 20 moments from a list of nominees submitted by each school that were significant to their program (games, milestones, individual performances, individual players or coaches) and did not have to be specifically related to the ACC Tournament.

Raycom, through its ACC Network broadcasts, included various components of the initiative within all game broadcasts this season by highlighting each of the ACC's 15 programs as well as the ACC's storied history and unveiling its own All-ACC Tournament Team from the last 40 years.

The All-ACC Tournament Team, as selected by Raycom talent and producers, consisted of a five-member first team and a five-member second team and was unveiled during the 2017 ACC Tournament.

A logo and hashtag were created that were specific to the 40th anniversary. Digital graphics and signage around the venue featured the logo and hashtag.

NCAA TOURNAMENT

Seven ACC teams were among the 64-team field for the 2017 NCAA Women's Basketball Tournament with four additional teams earning bids to the WNIT. The ACC went 12-7 in NCAA Tournament and 10-4 in the WNIT.

2016-17 SCHEDULE RELEASE

The ACC Women's Basketball schedule was announced on September 15. The release included highlights of the league schedule as well as ESPN and Regional Sports Networks broadcasts. Along with the traditional release, infographics highlighting key message points and league accomplishments were included.

ACC/BIG TEN CHALLENGE

The ACC/Big Ten Challenge, one of the most anticipated events of the non-conference season, provided regional and national exposure for the league on back-to-back nights (Wednesday, November 30 and Thursday, December 1). Six games were available on ACC Network Extra. The ACC is 7-0-3 all-time in the Challenge.

2017 CHAMPION DUKE

- NORTH CAROLINA claimed the 17th NCAA Championship by a current ACC member school — and the eighth in the last 17 years — when it defeated Gonzaga 71-65 in the national title game April 3 at Glendale, Arizona.
- Fifth-seeded DUKE claimed the 2017 New York Life ACC Tournament Championship March 7-11 at Brooklyn's Barclays Center. The Blue Devils became the first No. 5 seeded team to win the ACC Tournament and the first to do so by winning four games.
- This marked the first year that the ACC Tournament had been played in the state of New York. The tournament has now been played in a total of 12 arenas in eight cities during its 64-year tenure.
- Duke and regular-season champion North Carolina were two of nine ACC teams that were extended NCAA Tournament bids. The ACC's nine teams bettered the previous league record of seven first set in 2007 and equaled in 2009 and 2016. The nine selections led all conferences this season and tied for the second-most ever by any conference.
- No. 1 seeded North Carolina and No. 2 seeds Duke and Louisville were joined by Florida State, Miami, Notre Dame, Virginia, Virginia Tech and Wake Forest in the 2017 NCAA Tournament field.
- With North Carolina advancing and winning the NCAA Championship game, the ACC is the only league to place at least one team in the Final Four each of the last three years.
- With an 11-8 collective mark in the 2017 NCAA Tournament, ACC teams have combined to finish .500 or better in each of the last 30 NCAA tournaments. That is 19 years longer than the longest current active streak by any other conference.
- The ACC's 47 collective NCAA Tournament wins over the past three NCAA Tournaments are 19 more than any other conference. The ACC is 47-20 (.701). The 47 wins over a three-year span are an NCAA record, eclipsing the previous mark of 42 set by the ACC from 2014 through 2016.
- The ACC is the only conference to place at least one team in each of the last three Final Fours. The ACC has had at least one Final Four team in 30 of the last 41 years.
- North Carolina made the 63rd Final Four appearance by a current ACC member school — 10 more than any other conference. Eleven ACC schools have made at least one Final Four appearance.
- North Carolina is the only NCAA school to reach the Final Four in eight different decades.
- Duke's Mike Krzyzewski's 91 NCAA Tournament wins rank first all-time among Division I head coaches, and North Carolina's Roy Williams ranks second with 76.
- North Carolina's No. 1 NCAA Tournament seed was the 36th for an ACC team since the NCAA began assigning seeds in 1979. The 36 No. 1 seeds are the most of any conference.
- With 11 wins in 2017, ACC current membership remains the winningest conference of all time and owns a .620 winning percentage. The 612 wins are 181 more than the next closest Division I conference.
- In addition to its nine NCAA Tournament teams, the ACC landed three teams — Georgia Tech, Clemson and Syracuse — in the NIT field.
- Georgia Tech made the program's deepest-ever run in the NIT before falling to TCU in the championship game at New York's Madison Square Garden on March 30.
- With North Carolina junior Justin Jackson earning consensus first-team All-American honors, the ACC has had at least one consensus All-American selection in 21 of the past 23 seasons. The ACC's 45 consensus All-Americans since 1981 are 17 more than any other conference.
- Six ACC teams ended the season ranked nationally in both major polls, including three among the top 10. North Carolina leads all schools with 877 all-time listings. Duke has been ranked in 391 of the last 394 polls and ranks second to UNC with 770 all-time rankings.
- ACC teams closed out the 2016-17 season with a 171-47 (.784) record against nonconference opposition, including a 114-10 mark in home games.

NEW YORK LIFE ACC TOURNAMENT

- The 2017 New York Life ACC Tournament was played before over 600 credentialed media at Barclays Center March 7-11. Every game was streamed on ACC Network Extra and broadcast nationally on ACC Network and ESPN. For the third straight year, ESPN's College GameDay Covered by State Farm was broadcast live from the tournament, in addition to live segments from the tournament throughout the week.
- The semifinal matchup of No. 1 North Carolina and No. 5 Duke set an attendance record of 18,109 as the largest crowd for a collegiate basketball game in Barclays Center.
- 2017 was the third year of New York Life's three-year title sponsorship of the ACC Tournament. The tournament court (new in 2015) traveled with the tournament to New York City in 2017 and gave the event its own unique visual identity. New York Life participated in a trophy tour in New York City leading up to the tournament and held a youth outreach event at Barclays Center on Monday, March 6.
- For the first time, a public enter-to-win contest was conducted to give away New York Life ACC Tournament tickets. The contest was used to grow the database of men's college basketball fans with the winner receiving a VIP trip to the tournament.
- In conjunction with Wasserman, the ACC coordinated the mascots to be transported through New York on an ACC-branded, double-decker bus. The mascots stopped at a number of popular New York City attractions, including Wall Street, Grand Central Station, Times Square, Central Park and Battery Park to interact with fans and build excitement for the tournament. The mascots were featured on both the Today Show (NBC) and Good Morning America (ABC) the week of the tournament.
- On March 6, to tip off the week of festivities surrounding the New York Life ACC Tournament, Ama Dwimoh, special counsel to Brooklyn Borough President Eric L. Adams, announced on his behalf that March 6-11 would officially be dubbed "ACC Tournament Week in Brooklyn." ACC Commissioner John Swofford, Brooklyn Sports & Entertainment CEO Brett Yormark and the ACC mascots joined Dwimoh for the proclamation on the Resorts World Casino Plaza at Barclays Center.
- The ACC welcomed children from the Most Valuable Kids program to the New York Life ACC Tournament for games on Tuesday, March 7. The ACC provided 2,000 tickets through the Most Valuable Kids program, which, for over nine years, has offered hope, motivation and positive reinforcement to at-risk and underserved kids in New York by providing them with sporting and cultural event experiences as a reward for their academic achievement and positive social behavior.

- The Empire State Building was lit in ACC colors on Friday, March 10, in celebration of the New York Life ACC Tournament. Beginning at sunset, New York City's second-tallest building rotated through the colors of the ACC's 15 schools.
- The ACC continued an initiative to recognize local Teachers of the Year by inviting them to ACC Championship events. Brooklyn-area Big Apple Award Winners and their guests were invited to attend the championship game of the New York Life ACC Tournament.
- The ACC once again collaborated with Wounded Warrior Project® (WWP) to invite WWP injured service members and their guests to the championship game of the New York Life ACC Tournament. The two invited Warriors and family members had VIP hospitality in the arena and Championship Game tickets. In addition, these two heroes took part in a special pregame ceremony on the court, while the colors were presented by representatives of the United States Navy Recruiting Battalion.

OPERATION BASKETBALL

The league's annual Operation Basketball was held in Charlotte at the Ritz-Carlton and ESPNU studios on October 26. Over 250 media members were credentialed, including national, regional and local radio, print, digital and television outlets. While at ESPNU, coaches and student-athletes appeared across a number of programs and platforms. Student-athlete and coach press conference excerpts, returning player highlights, footage of Commissioner's forum and photos were posted on the AVCS and PhotoShelter.

NBA DRAFT

Led by Duke's Jayson Tatum, the third overall selection by the Boston Celtics, the Atlantic Coast Conference set a record with 10 first-round selections in the 2017 NBA Draft. The previous record for first-round picks by a conference was eight set by the ACC in 1995 and the SEC in 2012.

Overall, the ACC tied with the Pac-12 with 14 selections, followed by the Big 12 (6), Big Ten (4), SEC (4), American Athletic (3), Big East (3), West Coast (2) and the Horizon (1). With nine different schools having at least one player selected in this year's draft, the ACC now has had at least seven different schools have players selected in each of the last four years and five times in the last eight years.

ACC LEGENDS

The class of ACC Men's Basketball Legends was honored at the Legends Reception Presented by New York Life on Friday, March 10, and introduced at halftime of the first semifinal game of the New York Life ACC Tournament.

NCAA TOURNAMENT

A league-record nine ACC teams earned NCAA Tournament berths this season, culminating with North Carolina winning the National Championship for the sixth time.

2016-17 SCHEDULE RELEASE

The ACC Men's Basketball schedule containing 135 regular-season matchups and 14 New York Life ACC Tournament games was announced on September 12. Every conference game was available on an ESPN network, the ACC Network, CBS Sports or the league's regional cable networks. A release was posted on theACC.com, highlighting rankings and matchups, and multiple graphics were shared on the ACC's digital platforms.

ACC/BIG TEN CHALLENGE

The ACC/Big Ten Challenge, one of the most anticipated events on the college basketball calendar, provided national exposure for the league on three straight nights in late November across ESPN, ESPN2, and ESPNU. The ACC won the challenge 9-5, winning five of the final six games, and leads the series 11-5-2.

- VIRGINIA TECH claimed its first ACC outdoor title since winning back-to-back in 2007 and 2008. The Hokies led the overall scoring in this year's Championship in Atlanta with 124.5 team points. Florida State placed second with 118.5 and Miami took third with 108.
- Virginia Tech javelin thrower Irena Sediva earned her second gold medal in three seasons with her winning throw June 8 at the NCAA Division I Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Eugene, Oregon.
- Miami's Shakima Wimbley (400 meters), Virginia Tech's Hanna Green (800 meters) and Louisville's Emmonnie Henderson (shot put) earned silver medals at the NCAA finals, while Florida State's Kellion Knibb took the bronze medal in the discus after holding first place for most of the competition.
- Led by Sediva and Green, Virginia Tech scored 19 points to lead all ACC teams at this year's NCAA Championship with an 11th-place team finish.
- Four ACC overall records were set during the 2017 season. Notre Dame's Anna Rohrer set a new mark in the 10K with her time of 31:58.99, while Miami's Wimbley broke her own league record in the 400 meters with her winning time of 50.40 at the ACC Championships. Florida State's Knibb topped her own ACC mark in the discus with a winning throw of 62.73 meters (205-9) at the Jamaica National Senior Championships. The Clemson relay team of Raneek Ricketts, Rebekah Smith, Sabria Hadley and Torie Robinson set a new league mark in the 4x100 relay with their time of 43.31 during the NCAA East Prelims.

- Miami's Wimbley was named a Bowerman semifinalist on June 14 following a stellar senior season that included her conference record in the 400 meters and eight total ACC gold medals in indoor and outdoor competition.
- Louisville's Henderson, Miami's Wimbley and Virginia Tech's Green were recognized as Regional Athletes of the Year by the USTFCCA. Virginia Tech's Dave Cianelli was named the Southeast Region Women's Coach of the Year, while Florida State's Dorian Scott and Clemson's Marvin Gibson each earned recognition as Regional Women's Assistant Coaches of the Year.
- Louisville took the No. 12 spot in the USTFCCA's Program of the Year (cross country, indoor track & field and outdoor track & field) to lead all ACC women's programs.

- VIRGINIA TECH claimed its second consecutive ACC Outdoor title, rallying from 56 points down with 12 events remaining to edge rival Virginia by a single point in the Conference Championships at Atlanta.
- Virginia's Filip Mihaljevic captured a pair of gold medals in the shot put and discus at the 2017 NCAA Division I Outdoor Track and Field Championships, which were held June 7-10 at Eugene, Oregon. Mihaljevic became the first ACC student-athlete since Florida State's Ngoni Makusha in 2011 to win multiple outdoor gold medals and the first since Wake Forest's Andy Bloom in 1996 to claim the NCAA title in both the shot and discus.
- Louisville senior Edwin Kibichiy took the NCAA gold medal in the 3,000 meters steeplechase with a personal best time of 8:28.40. His nearest competitor finished almost three seconds behind. He surpassed his previous best finish of third at last year's NCAA Outdoor Championships while earning first-team All-American honors for the second straight year.
- Led by Mihaljevic and other stellar efforts from its throwing corps, Virginia posted a program-best third-place team finish at the 2017 NCAA Championships. The Cavaliers amassed 56 team points, all coming in throwing events.

- Three ACC overall records were set during the 2017 season, including Mihaljevic's NCAA gold medal shot put throw of 21.30 meters. Virginia Tech's Torben Laidig also set a new pole vault standard of 5.70 meters on March 31, while Syracuse's Justyn Knight raced to a 13:17.51 finish in the 5,000 meters at Stanford's Payton Jordan Invitational on May 6.
- Virginia's Mihaljevic was named a semifinalist for The Bowerman on June 15. The award goes annually to the top male and female NCAA collegiate track and field athlete.
- Virginia's Mihaljevic and Syracuse's Knight were recognized as Regional Athletes of the Year by the USTFCCA. Virginia Tech's Dave Cianelli was named the Southeast Region Men's Coach of the Year, while the Hokies' Ben Thomas earned recognition as the region's Men's Assistant Coach of the Year.
- Virginia claimed the No. 3 spot in the USTFCCA's Program of the Year (cross country, indoor track & field and outdoor track & field) to lead all ACC men's programs, and Syracuse also claimed a spot among the top 10 at No. 7.

- DUKE won its 20th ACC Women's Golf Championship with the help of junior Leona Maguire, who won her second ACC Championship medal honor. This was the first time the Blue Devils captured this title since 2014 and 19th time under head coach Dan Brooks.
- Maguire was voted the ACC Women's Golfer of the Year, and Louisville's Lauren Hartlage was selected as ACC Freshman of the Year.
- Maguire was also named PING Women's Golf Coaches Association National Player of the Year. It marked her second time earning the award in three years. She became just the fifth collegiate golfer to earn the award multiple times. Maguire had her best stroke average this past season of 70.29, which broke her own Duke and ACC record of 70.78 from her freshman year.
- Wake Forest sophomore Jennifer Kupcho and Duke's Maguire tied for second place at the 2017 NCAA Women's Golf National Championship. North Carolina led all ACC teams with a ninth-place finish in the tournament.
- A record-tying five ACC teams advanced to the NCAA Championship. Duke, Florida State, Clemson, Miami and North Carolina all moved past regional play as the ACC tied for the most teams in the 24-team championship field.
- Clemson's Marisa Messana was the 2017 recipient of the NCAA Elite 90 Award for women's golf. This award is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative GPA among the other athletes in the national event. Messana has a 4.0 studying communications. Messana helped Clemson to its first NCAA Championship appearance ever this year.

- DUKE shot a 14-under 850 over two days to claim the 2017 ACC Men's Golf Championship, held at Musgrove Mill Golf Club in Clinton, South Carolina. The Blue Devils posted rounds of 277, 285, and 288 to win the eighth title in program history and first since 2013.
- Virginia's Jimmy Stanger became the third golfer in program history to win the ACC individual title, joining Ben Rusch in 2012 and Pete Arend in 1955. The senior birdied his final hole in regulation to join the clubhouse leaders at 5-under. In a four-way playoff with Clemson's Bryson Nimmer, North Carolina's Ben Griffin, and Wake Forest's Paul McBride, he tallied another birdie to claim the title.
- Six ACC teams finished the season ranked in the Golfstat Top 25, with Wake Forest leading the way at No. 11 followed by No. 12 Virginia, No. 21 Florida State, No. 22 Georgia Tech, No. 23 Duke, and No. 24 Clemson.
- Virginia's Jimmy Stanger and Wake Forest's Will Zalatoris were named PING First-Team All-Americans.
- Eight ACC teams — Clemson, Duke, Florida State, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, NC State, Virginia, and Wake Forest - earned bids to the NCAA Men's Golf Regionals, tied for the second most from any conference. It marked the 11th time in the last 12 years that at least eight ACC teams earned bids.
- Five teams and one individual advanced to the NCAA Championship. It marked the third straight year that five teams in the league have reached the championship. Clemson, Duke, Florida State, North Carolina, and Virginia, along with Wake Forest's Will Zalatoris, represented the ACC at the NCAA Championship.

- VIRGINIA won its third-consecutive NCAA Championship after claiming a 4-2 victory over conference rival North Carolina. It was the Cavaliers' fourth title in the past five years. This was the men's tennis program's second national title this year after winning the ITA Indoor National Championship in February.
- Virginia finished with an almost perfect record of 33-1, with the one loss coming against Wake Forest, 5-2.
- For the first time in ACC history, two member institutions met in the NCAA men's tennis final match, No. 2 Virginia and No. 9 North Carolina. It was the first meeting between conference opponents in an NCAA men's tennis final since 2011.
- Ten ACC players were invited to compete in the NCAA Singles Flight Championship. Wake Forest's Petros Chrysoschos was an automatic qualifier and entered as the No. 5 seed. ACC Player of the Year Christopher Eubanks from Georgia Tech entered as the No. 7 seed.
- Virginia's senior Thai-Son Kwiatkowski defeated ACC Freshman of the Year, North Carolina's William Blumberg, to win the 2017 NCAA Men's Singles Championship. This was the fourth time a Cavalier has won the title dating back to the years 2007, 2008, and 2015.

- Five doubles teams, and one alternate, were selected for the NCAA Doubles Flight Championship, headlined by automatic qualifier and No. 4 seed Christian Seraphim/Skander Mansouri from Wake Forest.
- Virginia was crowned the 2017 ACC Men's Tennis Champion after defeating reigning champion Wake Forest, 4-3.
- Virginia senior J.C. Aragone was named Most Valuable Player after clinching the ACC Championship.
- ACC Coach of the Year went to Georgia Tech's Kenny Thorne. This was the second time Thorne received this honor, with the other dating back to 1999. In his 19th season, he led Georgia Tech to a 17-7 overall record and 8-4 in conference play.
- The ACC finished 1-2-3 in the final ITA team rankings, with national champion Virginia at No. 1, followed by Wake Forest and North Carolina.
- The ACC held four top-20 spots and six top-40 spots in the Oracle/ITA Singles Rankings. The league also held 11 top-40 spots in the Oracle/ITA Doubles Rankings.

- NORTH CAROLINA won its second straight ACC Championship and third overall in the form of an 18-11 victory over No. 2 seed Syracuse in the ACC Championship final.
- Six ACC teams were ranked in the final IWFLCA poll with Boston College at No. 2, North Carolina at No. 5, Syracuse at No. 10, Virginia at No. 14, Notre Dame at No. 18 and Louisville at No. 20. Five were ranked by Inside Lacrosse in its final regular season poll with UNC at No. 2, Syracuse at No. 7, Boston College No. 12, Notre Dame No. 14 and Virginia No. 16. Both totals are the most of any league.
- Six Atlantic Coast Conference women's lacrosse programs (Boston College, Louisville, North Carolina, Notre Dame, Syracuse and Virginia) were among the 26 in the 2017 NCAA Division I Women's Lacrosse Championship field, the most of any conference.
- The ACC has had at least four teams in the NCAA Tournament in 13 consecutive years and in 18 of the 21 years that the league has sponsored the sport.
- Boston College earned its first trip to the NCAA Championship final by way of wins over Canisius, Syracuse, USC and Navy. BC was the sixth school in league history to represent the ACC at Championship Weekend. With Boston College advancing to the NCAA Championship game, the ACC has placed a team in the NCAA title game eight times in the last nine years.

- Including this year, the ACC has been represented by at least one team in the national semifinals in each of the last 28 years and 32 times overall.
- North Carolina's Marie McCool, the ACC Midfielder of the Year, was one of five Tewaaraton Award Finalists.
- The ACC had two of the four nominees for the Honda Sport Award for Lacrosse — Boston College's Kenzie Kent and North Carolina's Marie McCool.
- The ACC had 15 representatives on the IWFLCA All-America Team — the most of any league.
- Boston College's two-sport (women's ice hockey and women's lacrosse) standout Kent was named the Mary Garber Award winner as the conference's finest female athlete after playing leading roles for the Boston College ice hockey team that reached the NCAA semifinals and the women's lacrosse team that played for the national title. Kent was voted the Most Outstanding Player of the 2017 NCAA Division I Women's Lacrosse Championship.

- NORTH CAROLINA won its ninth ACC Championship and first since 2013 following wins over No. 1 ranked Syracuse and No. 6/7 Notre Dame in the tournament semifinals and championship.
- Six of the 10 league games (60 percent) were decided by one goal. Three ACC games were decided in overtime. In addition, both ACC Championship semifinal games were one-goal games.
- Four ACC teams earned berths in the 2017 NCAA Championship: No. 2 seed Syracuse, No. 4 seed Notre Dame, Duke and North Carolina.
- Four ACC teams were ranked in the final regular season national polls, with all four in the top 10: No. 2/2 Syracuse, No. 5/7 Notre Dame, No. 6/6 Duke and No. 10/9 North Carolina. An ACC team held the No. 1 ranking for six weeks this season.
- Nine student-athletes from the ACC were named to Inside Lacrosse's Media All-American Team with two on the first team, four on the second team and three on the third team. The nine selections tied for the most of any league.

- ACC teams combined for 13 wins against ranked non-conference competition, including a pair of wins over No. 1 ranked teams (North Carolina at No. 1 Denver and Notre Dame versus No. 1 Maryland on March 4).
- Syracuse's John Desko collected ACC Coach of the Year honors for the third-straight season, becoming the first coach in ACC Men's Lacrosse history to collect coach of the year honors three consecutive seasons.
- Virginia's attacker Michael Kraus was named ACC Freshman of the Year. He is the 12th Cavalier to be named ACC Rookie of the Year. He had 34 goals and 56 points for his first season of collegiate play.
- Twenty-three (23) from the ACC earned All-America honors by the USILA. Included in the 23 are 13 that were named to the first, second or third team — tied for the most of any league.

- FLORIDA STATE, seeded eighth in the 2017 ACC Baseball Championship's 12-team field, posted four consecutive wins to claim the program's seventh conference title under veteran head coach Mike Martin. The Seminoles downed second-ranked and second-seeded North Carolina 7-3 in the championship game May 28 at Louisville Slugger Field.
- Seven ACC teams earned NCAA Tournament bids, marking the ninth consecutive year that the league has placed at least seven teams in the field.
- Florida State appeared in the NCAA Tournament for the 40th consecutive year, the longest active streak in the nation. The Seminoles' 55 total appearances rank second nationally.
- With Louisville and Florida State each reaching the College World Series, the ACC placed at least one team in Omaha for the 12th consecutive year. Over that 12-year span, the ACC has placed 23 teams in the CWS, or 24 percent of the cumulative field. At least two ACC teams have reached Omaha eight times during that stretch.
- With North Carolina seeded No. 2 in the NCAA Tournament and Louisville at No. 7, the ACC saw multiple teams earn national seeds for the eighth consecutive year.

- The ACC again led all conferences when it came to postseason awards, paced by Louisville two-way standout Brendan McKay, who claimed the Dick Howser Trophy and Golden Spikes Award, along with every other major national player of the year honor.
- Twenty ACC players were named All-Americans by at least one media outlet, the most of any conference.
- Ten ACC teams were ranked during the 2017 season, including seven that made appearances in the top 10.
- A league-record 75 players were selected in the 2017 Major League Baseball Draft. This year's 75 selections tied for the most among all conferences.
- Six ACC players were chosen in the first round and first competitive balance round of this year's MLB Draft, extending a streak of 26 consecutive years with at least one first-round pick from the conference.

2016-17 ANNUAL REPORT

DESHAUN WATSON CLEMSON FOOTBALL

Clemson All-America quarterback Deshaun Watson, who earned the 64th Anthony J. McKevlin Award as the conference's premier male athlete, is a repeat winner from last year. Watson led Clemson to the second National Football Championship in program history this past season and earned a number of individual accolades as the Tigers posted a 14-1 overall record.

Watson completed 388 of 579 passes in his final collegiate season for 4,593 yards and 41 touchdowns. The Gainesville, Georgia, native added 626 yards rushing for 5,219 yards of total offense in his 15 games. Watson, who posted a 32-3 record as a starting quarterback at Clemson, set ACC records for passing yards and touchdowns in a season and tied the league mark for completions. He also set the ACC record for passing yards in a game with 580 against Pittsburgh.

In addition to earning Offensive Most Valuable Player honors in both the College Football Playoff National Championship Game and the Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship, Watson piled up 2016 season accolades. He placed second in the voting for the Heisman Trophy – the highest ranking ever by a Clemson player – and was the winner of the Bobby Bowden Award given to the top all-around student-athlete in college football.

Watson claimed both the Manning and O'Brien Awards for second straight year as the top college quarterback, as well as the Unitas Award. He was named the National Player of the Year by Westwood One, the National Offensive Player of the Year by Scout.com, and was a semifinalist for the Sullivan Award, which is given to the top amateur athlete in the world.

Off the field, Watson was named to the Allstate AFCA Good Works team for community service, the All-ACC Academic Team, and he earned a Weaver-James-Corrigan ACC Honorary Postgraduate Scholarship. He was also honored with a national award by Habitat for Humanity for his contributions to that organization.

ACC FEMALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR

KENZIE KENT BOSTON COLLEGE LACROSSE/HOCKEY

Boston College two-sport standout Kenzie Kent claimed the 27th Mary Garber Award as the conference's finest female athlete after playing leading roles for the Boston College ice hockey team that reached the NCAA semifinals and the women's lacrosse team that played for the national title. Kent was voted the Most Outstanding Player of the 2017 NCAA Division I Women's Lacrosse Championship.

Boston College's Kent emerged as the most prominent and successful two-team sport athlete in the country, starting the year with the ice hockey team before joining the lacrosse team in mid-March following the conclusion of the hockey team's season.

A junior from Norwell, Massachusetts, Kent started on left wing on the first line for the Eagles' women's hockey squad. She helped guide Boston College to its third-straight Frozen Four (and seventh overall), fourth-straight Hockey East regular-season title, second-straight Hockey East Tournament championship and second Beanpot (Boston) championship in a row.

Kent became the 15th player in ice hockey program history to record 100 career points, and will enter the 2017-18 season ranked 14th on Boston College's all-time scoring list (107 points on 31 goals and 76 assists) while tied for 10th in career assists and eighth in career assists per game (0.64).

She continued to excel on the lacrosse field, where she posted a career-best 77 points in 12 contests to tie for 31st nationally (and fifth-most among ACC players) despite playing in only half the Eagles' games. One of four nominees for the 2017 Honda Award for lacrosse and a two-time Tewaaraton Award Watch List member, Kent became the 24th player in program history to record 100 points, and tied the Boston College record for fastest to 100 career points (25 games).

Kent set a new NCAA Tournament scoring record with 37 points in five games on 21 goals (one shy of the tournament record) and a tournament record-tying 16 assists. When she earned Most Outstanding Player honors following the Eagles' 16-13 loss to Maryland in the title game, she became the first-ever student-athlete from a non-championship team to receive that honor.

ACC POSTGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP LUNCHEON

On April 12, 2017, the Atlantic Coast Conference held the 26th annual Postgraduate Scholarship Awards Luncheon, in which 45 student-athletes were awarded the Weaver-James-Corrigan Scholarships, including three student-athletes who received the Thacker Award. An additional nine student-athletes who plan to enter a professional career in their chosen sport were named honorary recipients. In addition to recognizing each postgrad scholar honoree, the ACC presented its annual Game Changers Award for the 2016-17 academic year.

Tamara James, a former All-Atlantic Coast Conference women's basketball standout at the University of Miami and the current mayor of Dania Beach, Florida, served as the keynote speaker at the event, hosted by the Nat Greene Kiwanis Club and presented by ESPN.

The Weaver-James-Corrigan and Jim and Pat Thacker postgraduate scholarships are awarded to selected student-athletes who intend to pursue a graduate degree following completion of their undergraduate requirements. Each recipient will receive $5,000 toward his or her graduate education. Those honored have performed with distinction in both the classroom and their respective sport, while demonstrating exemplary conduct in the community. In addition to those receiving scholarship funds, nine student-athletes received the Weaver-James-Corrigan Honorary Award. The Weaver-James-Corrigan Award is named in honor of the late Jim Weaver and Bob James, as well as Gene Corrigan, the first three ACC commissioners.

ACC GAME CHANGERS INITIATIVE

The ACC's "Game Changers" initiative was introduced in 2015 to recognize and highlight specific ACC teams' involvement with their local communities and exceptional efforts in volunteerism.

Nominations were collected through each school's SAAC, and the ACC's SAAC selected the third ACC Game Changers winner. Wake Forest's women's tennis and track and field teams were recognized at the 2017 ACC Postgraduate Scholarship Luncheon.

The Wake Forest student-athletes have developed an extensive partnership with HOPE (Help Our People Eat). HOPE brings together resources from the inner faith community and provides healthy meals for youth 18 years and younger in Forsyth County, where studies have shown close to 40,000 children are potentially at risk due to hunger and malnutrition.

Wake Forest student-athletes have been an integral part of the weekly food truck operation as they not only help load the truck, but also deliver meals and take time out to interact and play with the children. Wake Forest has partnered with HOPE since January 2014, when the food truck started making rounds. In the past year, the Demon Deacon track and field/cross country and women's tennis teams have adopted HOPE as their charity of choice in hopes of truly changing the game for children in this community.

Recognition for the Wake Forest Game Changers included an introduction and a video presentation during the 2017 ACC Postgraduate Scholarship Luncheon. Previous winners of the ACC Game Changers Award include the 2016 University of Louisville men's soccer team for teaming up with the special needs community in Louisville to host soccer clinics and to celebrate life, and the 2015 Notre Dame men's lacrosse team for its ongoing partnership with the Dickinson Fine Arts Academy.

IT'S ON US

The ACC continued its partnership with It's On Us, highlighting the initiative on conference social platforms during the weeks of action and sharing school content. The It's On Us Weeks of Action were in the fall from October 9th through the 15th, and in the spring from April 2nd through the 8th, in conjunction with National Sexual Assault Awareness Month.

ACC COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

The Atlantic Coast Conference's Community Connections program completed its seventh year and continued its success by partnering with Team Impact and the One Love Foundation.

At both the ACC Field Hockey and Men's Soccer Championships welcomed children from Team Impact for a VIP experience at games. Team Impact focuses on improving the quality of life for children facing life-threatening and chronic illnesses through the power of team.

In addition, the ACC Men's and Women's Lacrosse Championships continued their partnerships with the One Love Foundation. Founded in 2010 to honor the memory of Yeardeley Love, One Love works with young people across the country to raise awareness about the warning signs of abuse and activate communities to work to change the statistics around relationship violence.

ACC AMERICAN CAFÉ

The ACC American Café, operated by HMSHost in partnership with OHM Concession Group, opened at the Piedmont Triad International Airport in April 2017. ACC American Café features a menu of classic and new American dishes, with a focus on incorporating healthy ingredients for every menu item.

A grand opening and ribbon cutting event was held on May 4, 2017, with remarks from ACC Commissioner John Swofford, Chairman of the Piedmont Triad Airport Authority Steve Showfety and HMSHost Vice President of Business Development Bryan Loden. Invited media and guests also had the opportunity to sample items from the menu.

The café, along with the one in the Raleigh-Durham airport that opened in 2014, provide significant dollars to support ACC student-athletes, with $200,000 contributed by HMSHost to the ACC Postgraduate Scholarship fund through the 2016-17 fiscal year.

Cross country runners EVIE TATE (CLEMSON) and RACHEL PEASE (LOUISVILLE) were recognized as the Atlantic Coast Conference's Sportsmanship Award Winners for the 2016-17 academic year.

Tate and Pease received international news coverage and social media recognition last October 27 after they came to aid of a fellow runner in duress during the 2016 ACC Cross Country Championships at Cary, North Carolina. Boston College's Madeline Adams collapsed from exhaustion just 20 yards from completing the race and was unable to get up and continue. Tate came to her assistance and was spotted by Pease as she struggled to help Adams to her feet.

Together, the Clemson and Louisville student-athletes pulled Adams up and helped her across the finish line, oblivious to the fact they would finish 127th and 128th in the 131-runner field. Tate was running among a group that finished between 70th and 80th place when she pulled up to help. Tate and Pease were greeted with warm embraces of appreciation from Adams' Boston College teammates.

ACC Sportsmanship Award winners are selected from institutional nominees submitted by each school's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and their advisors. To be considered, nominees must consistently demonstrate good sportsmanship and ethical behavior in his/her participation in intercollegiate athletics as well as in the community, and be in good academic standing.

ACC CONTINUES

SPORTSMANSHIP AWARENESS WEEKS

Established in 2010, the ACC Sportsmanship Week initiative is a campaign to recognize and promote sportsmanship. During the 2016-17 academic year, three specific weeks were tabbed as ACC Sportsmanship Weeks: October 10-16 (Fall), January 16-22 (Winter) and April 10-16 (Spring). At all ACC home competitions during ACC Sportsmanship Weeks, every league team showcased its continued dedication to sportsmanship by participating in a pregame handshake. In addition to the teams' efforts, the conference and member schools highlighted the initiative to its fans through releases, social media platforms and on official websites.

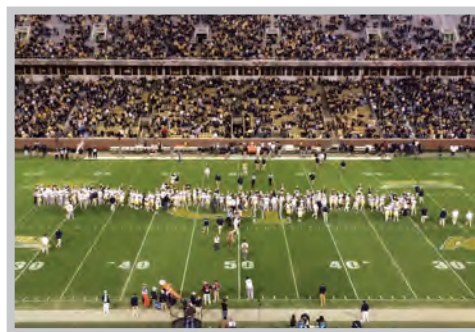

SPORTSMANSHIP INITIATIVES

The Atlantic Coast Conference continues to implement various initiatives in Sportsmanship, including the emphasis on the importance of good sportsmanship at every level of the Conference including student-athletes, coaches, officials, administrators, fans, friends and alumni. This past year the ACC reinforced the role of officiating in maintaining an atmosphere of good sportsmanship. Educational emphasis with all of the ACC's administrators, coaches and student-athletes was continued, and the league further refined a reporting and recording system to more accurately assess sportsmanship problems which might exist. For the 2016-17 year, the conference is proud to report 100% participation by the institutions.

ACC SPORTSMANSHIP SCHOOL OF THE YEAR AWARDS

Prior to the 2008-09 academic year, the ACC awarded a sportsmanship award for each of its 25 sponsored sports. The concept of these awards was created by the ACC Student Athlete Advisory Committee in an effort to recognize teams who earned the utmost regard from their peers during competition. As is stated in the conference's Mission Statement, "It [the ACC] strongly adheres to the principles of integrity and sportsmanship, and supports the total development of the student-athlete and each member institution's athletics department staff, with the intent of producing enlightened leadership for tomorrow." Teams receiving the award conducted themselves with a high degree of character and good sportsmanship, as determined by a vote of the league's teams.

FOUR ACC SCHOOLS AMONG TOP 25 IN LEARFIELD DIRECTORS' CUP STANDINGS

2016-17 FINAL STANDINGS

Learfield Directors' Cup Standings

5. North Carolina (1154.00)
13. Florida State (921.75)
19. Virginia (862.00)
23. Notre Dame (801.00)
26. Louisville (767.50)
29. NC State (710.50)
32. Duke (679.50)
40. Virginia Tech (549.50)
44. Syracuse (519.25)
52. Clemson (471.50)
55. Wake Forest (443.00)
56. Miami (441.00)
72. Boston College (303.00)
92. Pittsburgh (216.00)
102. Georgia Tech (198.00)

The ACC placed four schools among the top 25 of the final 2016-17 Division I Learfield Sports Directors' Cup Standings, and nine member institutions ranked among the top 50.

North Carolina led all ACC schools with a No. 5 ranking, followed by Florida State at No. 13, Virginia at No. 19 and Notre Dame at No. 23.

This marked the 16th consecutive year that four or more ACC schools placed among the top 30 in the final rankings (Louisville ranked 26th and NC State 29th to join North Carolina, Florida State, Virginia and Notre Dame). North Carolina and Virginia are among two of only 12 schools nationally to rank in the top 30 of the final Directors' Cup standings in each of the program's 24 years of existence.

In the league's 64-year history, ACC institutions have captured 150 team national championships and 303 individual NCAA titles. The past academic year saw four ACC teams claim national championships – Clemson in football, North Carolina in men's basketball, Notre Dame in fencing and Virginia in men's tennis.

The 2016-17 academic year marked only the 10th time that one conference claimed both the college football and men's basketball national titles in the same year and the third time in ACC history.

The Learfield Directors' Cup was developed as a joint effort between the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) and USA Today. Points are awarded based on each institution's finish in up to 20 sports in Division I – 10 men's and 10 women's.

ACC TEAMS CONTINUED TO SET HIGH GRADUATION SUCCESS RATE STANDARD

The Atlantic Coast Conference's presence in the forefront of academic success was demonstrated once again in the latest NCAA Graduation Success Rates (GSR) Report released on November 15, 2016.

Teams from ACC institutions rank among the top Division I institutions with an average graduation rate of 89.3 percent, while the NCAA graduation rate is 84 percent nationally.

"Our schools' commitment to academic excellence is demonstrated once again in our outstanding graduation success rates," said ACC Commissioner John Swofford. "The fact that the ACC continues to have the strongest collective numbers among our peers is a testament to the hard work and dedication of our student-athletes, coaches and member institutions."

ACC notables:

- 10 of 14 ACC Football teams earned a GSR at or above the FBS average of 74. That ties for first among Power 5 conferences, both in terms of percentage and in total number.
- In the sport of football, the ACC remains the only Power 5 conference to have multiple teams score 90 or higher every year since 2005. Duke (94), Wake Forest (91) and Boston College (90) reached that plateau this year.
- 9 of 15 ACC Men's Basketball teams earned a GSR at or above the Div. I average of 76, the most among Power 5 conferences.
- In the sport of men's basketball, Duke and Notre Dame each achieved scores of 100.
- 8 of 14 ACC Baseball teams earned a GSR above the Div. I average of 79, tying for second among Power 5 conferences.
- Five ACC Baseball teams achieved GSR scores above 90 – Boston College (96), Notre Dame (95), Clemson (94), Duke (94) and Virginia Tech (91).
- 10 of 15 ACC Women's Basketball teams earned a GSR above the Div. I average of 87.
- This marks the ninth-straight year that the ACC has had at least four women's basketball programs score 100, making it the only Power 5 conference to do so. Five ACC teams – Boston College, Florida State, Pitt, Virginia and Wake Forest – hit the century mark in the latest report, tying for most among Power 5 conferences.
- A total of seven ACC teams achieved GSR scores of 100 in the sports of football, men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball.

The Graduation Success Rate was developed by the NCAA as part of its academic reform initiative as a better measure of student-athlete academic success. The rate holds institutions accountable for transfer students, unlike the federal graduation rate. The GSR also accounts for midyear enrollees and is calculated for every sport.

Under the calculation, institutions are not penalized for outgoing transfer students who leave in good academic standing. The outgoing transfers are included in the receiving institution's GSR cohort.

The GSR allows student-athletes six years to earn their degree. This year's rate is based on student-athletes who entered college in the fall of 2009, the most recent data available. The rate shows the percentage of those student-athletes who earned a degree by the spring of 2015. The four-year cohort of student-athletes who began college in 2006, 2007, 2008 and 2009 is also included.

This year marks the 16th year that GSR data has been collected. The NCAA began collecting this data with the entering freshman class of 1995.

ACC MADE ANOTHER STRONG SHOWING IN APR

The Atlantic Coast Conference led all Power 5 conferences with 86 teams recognized in the latest report card on the NCAA Academic Progress Rate (APR) Public Recognition Awards released on May 3, 2017.

The Academic Progress Rate, a multi-year rate based on the most recent four years of data, is a real-time measure of eligibility and retention of student-athletes competing on every Division I sports team. The most recent APR scores are based on scores from the 2012-13, 2013-14, 2014-15 and 2015-16 academic years. This year marks the 13th year of APR data for most teams.

Each year, the NCAA honors select Division I sports teams by publicly recognizing their latest multi-year NCAA Division I Academic Progress Rate (APR). This announcement is part of the overall Division I academic reform effort and is intended to highlight teams that demonstrate a commitment to academic progress and retention of student-athletes by achieving the top APRs within their respective sports. Specifically, these teams posted multi-year APRs in the top 10 percent of all squads in each sport.

Even with rising academic standards, ACC teams continue to build upon their success in the classroom. Highlights from the most recent report include:

ACC notables:

- The ACC had 86 combined teams recognized to lead all of its peer conferences for the 2015-16 academic year. The next closest had 72 teams recognized.
- All 15 ACC schools had at least one team recognized, the most among peer conferences.
- Five men's basketball teams – Clemson, Duke, Louisville, Syracuse and Pitt – were recognized from the ACC for the 2015-16 season, again leading all peer conferences.
- Leading the ACC in APR public recognition awards for 2015-16 were Notre Dame with 14, Duke with 12, Boston College with 11, North Carolina with eight, and Clemson, Louisville and Virginia with six each.
- Eleven programs at ACC member institutions have earned Public Recognition Awards every year since the inception of the program: Boston College men's track and skiing; Duke football, men's golf and women's fencing; Georgia Tech men's golf; North Carolina fencing and women's golf; Notre Dame men's cross country, men's track and football.
- A total of 249 ACC teams have earned APR Public Recognition Awards over the past three years, which again leads all peer conferences.

In addition, teams from the Atlantic Coast Conference continue to be among the top percentage of Division I colleges and universities that meet standards and excel academically, as reflected by Academic Progress Rate (APR) data released by the NCAA on May 10, 2017.

Each Division I institution is held accountable for the academic progress of its student-athletes through the APR, a team-based metric that accounts for the eligibility and retention of each student-athlete, each term.

ACC notables:

- All 58 ACC football, men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball programs exceed the required 930 APR average
- Men's Basketball: 11 ACC teams have an APR above the average 966 (tied for most among peer conferences)
- Women's Basketball: 11 teams have an APR above 980 average (tied for most among peer conferences)
- Baseball: 10 teams have an APR above 973 average (tied for most among peer conferences)
- Football: 12 teams have an APR above 962 average (second most among peer conferences)
- Six men's and women's basketball teams had an APR score of 1000, the most among peer conferences

ACC LED FBS CONFERENCES IN "BEST COLLEGES" RANKINGS

For the 10th consecutive year, member institutions of the Atlantic Coast Conference led the way among Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) conferences in the "Best Colleges" rankings released by U.S. News & World Report on September 13, 2016.

Member schools combined for an average rank of 55.7. The ACC is the only FBS conference to place seven member schools among the Top 35 of the U.S. News & World Report rankings and placed eight institutions among the 50 – three more than any peer conference.

Duke boasted the league's highest ranking at eighth and was joined in the Top 35 by Notre Dame (No. 15), Virginia (No. 24), Wake Forest (No. 27), North Carolina (No. 30), Boston College (No. 31) and Georgia Tech (No. 34). Miami ranks 44th, followed by Syracuse at No. 60, Clemson at No. 66, Pitt at No. 68, Virginia Tech at No. 74, NC State and Florida State tied at No. 92 and Louisville at No. 171.

ACC notables:

- Average rank of ACC Schools: 55.7
- The ACC has led the FBS conferences in best average rank in each of the last 10 years.
- The ACC has had a school finish in the Top 10 every year since 2006 (one of only two FBS conferences that can make that claim).
- The ACC is the only FBS conference with eight member institutions among the Top 50 – three more than any peer league.
- The ACC's seven schools ranked in the Top 35 are the most among FBS conferences.

Building upon the collegiality and the desire-for-success nurtured by athletic competition among the league's 15 universities, the mission of the ACC Academic Consortium (ACCAC) is to enhance the academic experience of all students (athletes and non-athletes) and the success of faculty/administrators through collaborative programs, ideas, and recognitions.

By sharing resources and expertise, together our research universities are providing an enhanced level of access to learning and discovery that would simply not be possible at any one of the universities.

Fourteen years ago the university presidents established a special fund within the conference budget. Guided by annual meetings of the presidents, the provosts, and chief undergraduate education officers—consortium programming highlights competition in academic domains such as debate, and in innovation discovery, and in juried research. Also supported are collaborative sessions devoted to leadership development, involving both undergraduate student leaders and key faculty/administrative leaders. Swapping and sharing ideas, contacts, and knowledge grows from extensive networking. Increasingly these collaborative efforts are becoming a difference-maker for our ACC universities, still another reason to enroll and teach are some of the best universities in the nation.

2016-17 has been a year when ACCAC heritage programs have reached record numbers of students and faculty and when energetic planning has been anticipating the launch of several new collaborative programs. For more information visit <http://acciac.org>.

ACC INVENTURE PRIZE COMPETITION

Georgia Tech hosted the second annual ACC Inventure Prize Competition on March 30-31, 2017. Fifteen universities sent competitively selected teams to Atlanta. In "Shark Tank"-style, each team of undergraduates pitched their invention or business before a panel of judges. In the preliminary round all 15 teams were given five minutes. The five highest ranked teams repeated their pitches during an hour long PBS show broadcast live in six states. Judging was based upon four criteria: the validity of social impact of the idea, the viability of the business model, the commitment and culture of entrepreneurship, and the probability of becoming a successful business. The winning team, Agrospheres from Virginia, took home a $15,000 prize. Virginia Tech's Tech Wounds Solutions team was runner up and Georgia Tech's Cautery Guard team was "the peoples' choice." Information about each of the projects is available at <http://acc.coe.gatech.edu/> and a replay of the televised broadcast is available at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=r-RFWOpfPGM>. Georgia Tech has generously agreed to host the third annual competition in April 5-6.

INSPIRING EMERGING GLOBAL LEADERS

Students from all 15 ACC universities (four to eight from each university) and their leadership advisors came together at Wake Forest for an impressive, impactful, and elegant three days in February. The focus of this year's ACC Student Leadership Symposium was upon global leadership (<http://studentengagement.wfu.edu/leadership/acc-leadership-symposium/>).

Throughout the three days, delegates engaged in various networking activities, workshops, field trips and social events to help increase each delegate's knowledge of and commitment to leading on the global stage. Duke University will host the 2018 conference.

ORIGINAL RESEARCH BY UNDERGRADUATES

Duke University hosted about 90 undergraduate students (from all 15 universities) in elegant new facilities for the 12th annual Meeting of the Minds Conference. Each student, having been identified by his/her home campus as an outstanding scholar with a quality research project, either presented his/her research to an interdisciplinary audience or explained his/her project to a stream of inquiring conferees. Topics ranged across the sciences, humanities, social sciences and beyond. Seminars and special lectures by successful senior researchers rounded out a very busy, learning-filled weekend.

Conference materials are available at <https://sites.duke.edu/accmom2017/files/2017/03/ACCMOMforweb.pdf>. Boston College will host the 2018 on April 6-8.

THE ACC DEBATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Brent Mitchell and Adam Tomasi led Wake Forest to its third consecutive debate championship, narrowly beating the University of Miami in the Championship Round. In the course of the tournament all teams were tasked with debating both sides of the topic, "Should the Electoral College Be Abolished?"

This year's tournament followed the "audience friendly" policy format. Teams from 11 universities were hosted by Miami in early April. For more information see <http://news.wfu.edu/2017/04/03/wake-forest-wins-third-straight-acc-debate-championship/>.

Next year's debate will be at Clemson.

CREATING AND INNOVATING

Each year the ACCAC provides over 50 special stipends for competitively selected undergraduate students to advance a creative concept and/or innovative idea. Program guidelines provide substantial flexibility to each campus. The $12,500 from the consortium is to support at least three undergraduate students who are pursuing individually designed research or service projects (e.g. summer stipends, travel stipends).

LOOKING AHEAD

The consortium's most ambitious project-to-date will be launched in October 2017. In partnership with the Lemelson Center of Invention and Innovation, the ACC Smithsonian Festival for Creativity and Design will be held at the National Museum of American History at the National Mall in Washington, D.C. Teams of students and faculty from all 15 universities will, over a three-day period, showcase cutting-edge initiatives. Emphasized will be multi-disciplinary projects at the nexus of science, engineering, arts, and design.

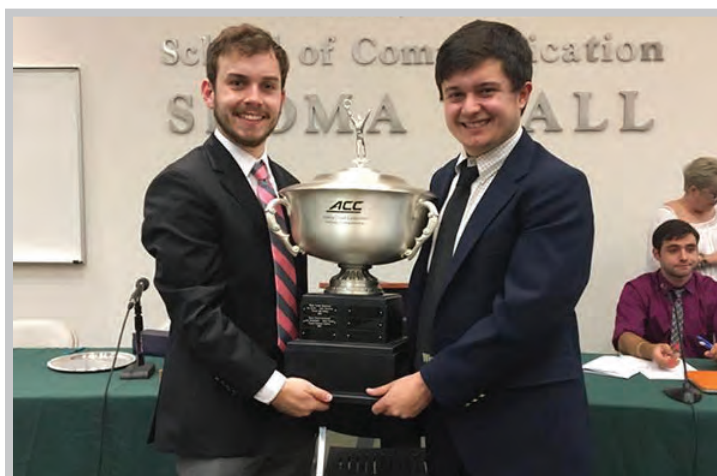

Over 90 displays and presentations will be set up in the corridors and special exhibit spaces throughout the museum. An estimated 25,000 visitors are anticipated.

Anticipated are at least four outcomes — to give deserved recognition to our students and faculty, to nurture additional collaborations among our universities, to publicize the creative work being done at our universities, and demonstrate the commitment of the ACC to academic as well as athletic excellence.

A second new initiative is still in development (by a taskforce of Associate Provosts headed by Amy Hogan from Virginia Tech) with anticipated launch in 2018-19. The ACC Academic Leadership Program will enable established faculty leaders (e.g. department chairs, center directors, faculty committee heads) to understand more fully broader issues in higher education and strategies being pursued at other universities.

Proposed is a program that will involve five leaders from each universities (for a total of 75) attending two-day seminars at three different campuses (for a total of six days). The interpersonal networks and interinstitutional knowledge built in these consortium sessions will not only advantage each member university but will also advance consortial collaboration.

The ACC Academic Consortium is becoming a major resource not only in undergraduate education but also in faculty development, professional networking, graduate education, research, and service. These are exciting times. The collaborations seeded by athletic relationships are becoming more and more critical. The strong commitment of the ACC to this conference academic initiative represents a distinctive affirmation of the symbiotic relationships between strong academic and strong athletics.

SERVICES TO MEMBER SCHOOLS IN COMPLIANCE & GOVERNANCE

The ACC office provides timely information on NCAA and ACC governance items through its compliance and governance department. The work of the compliance and governance staff furthers the ACC's commitment to competing athletically at a high level with integrity and uniquely balancing academics and athletics. While some services focus on day-to-day assistance to member institutions, other services provide institutions with best practices and ideas on how to continuously improve their compliance operations. Among the services provided through the compliance and governance office were:

- Continued assistance with interpretations of NCAA and ACC rules.
- Quarterly calls and two in-person meetings with compliance personnel.
- Video assistance to ACC coaches as they prepare for the coaches recruiting certification exam.
- Implementation of institutional compliance reviews conducted through the contract services of The Compliance Group.
- Governance meeting support for the ACC governance structure, including coaches meetings.
- Distribution of more than $6,233,018 to member institutions for direct benefits to ACC student-athletes.
- Enhanced rules education program for institutional administrators.
- Fifth ACC Compliance Workshop was held with 140 attendees from member institutions.

ACC PER SCHOOL REVENUE DISTRIBUTION REMAINS SIGNIFICANT

The ACC's revenue distribution to member schools has steadily increased and ranks among the highest in conference allocations to their institutions. Revenue streams from television, football, men's basketball, and the NCAA increased from the previous operating year. In addition, the Conference reimburses member schools for expenses related to their participation in all ACC championships and provides financial support for participation in select NCAA championships and bowl games. These reimbursement amounts are not included in annual distribution reports for Conference institutions.

The Conference revenue pool was further enhanced in 2016-17 as Clemson earned a second consecutive spot in the College Football Playoff while Florida State participated in the Capital One Orange Bowl. The ACC has continued to earn unprecedented success in the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, dividends of which will pay out over each of the next six years.

COST CENTER BUDGETING SYSTEM

The conference utilizes a budget process which includes significant involvement from the Finance Committee, which is comprised of a representative of each member institution. The process includes involvement from this Committee and the ACC office in creating and reviewing the Conference operating budget prior to its approval at the Spring Business Meeting. Revenue projections are also reviewed as part of the overall budget preparation process. The ACC Office continues to use a cost-centered, responsibility-based accounting system to allow cost center managers the ability to review their accounts on-line and, thus, be able to react quickly in managing their budgets and gaining timely information.

INVESTMENT POLICIES

The current allocation of asset investments for the Conference is delegated to the Finance Committee and its Investment Sub-Committee. This oversight committee includes development of the Conference Investment policy, including the determination of appropriate asset allocations, consistent review of invested funds, and recommendations regarding Conference monetary investments. The committee meets annually with the current external investment management agency to make changes, as needed, with investment strategies.

ACC ACTIVELY PURSUES MINORITY CANDIDATES

The Atlantic Coast Conference is committed to achieving diversity in all aspects of its administration. One of the areas the Conference Office is looking to achieve this is in actively pursuing minority candidates for positions which are available in the ACC Office. The Conference Office conducts a concerted effort to identify, seek and hire qualified minority personnel.

CONTINUING THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE FUTURES INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

One of the most successful programs developed by the Atlantic Coast Conference is its internship program for graduating male and female student-athletes. Officially named the Atlantic Coast Conference Futures Internship Program, the Conference partially funds the internships. These interns work with the following organizations: the Atlantic Coast Conference, Fox Sports South, Fox Sports Florida and the Orange Bowl Committee. The program has been very successful in placing the interns into permanent positions within the athletics and sports television industry.

ACC AUTONOMY

The ACC continued to be prominently involved in the new NCAA structure and efforts with rules-making autonomy for the ACC, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-12 and SEC in areas directly impacting student-athlete benefits. Building upon the priorities established by the ACC's Council of Presidents, centered on the desire to enhance student-athlete opportunities and experiences, the league is working toward the overall objective of modernizing college athletics and preparing student-athletes for success on and off the field.

The legislative process includes student-athlete representatives who hold voting power on proposed NCAA rule changes. Duke's Madison Granger (track and field/cross country), Florida State's Wilson Bell (football) and Virginia Tech's Brandon Fiala (swimming and diving) attended the 2017 NCAA Convention.

In January, it was announced that Granger, NC State's Harli Hubbard (softball) and Miami's Demetrius Jackson (football) will participate as members of the ACC Autonomy Committee, be invited to attend various ACC governance meetings and participate as members of the voting delegation at the 2018 NCAA Convention.

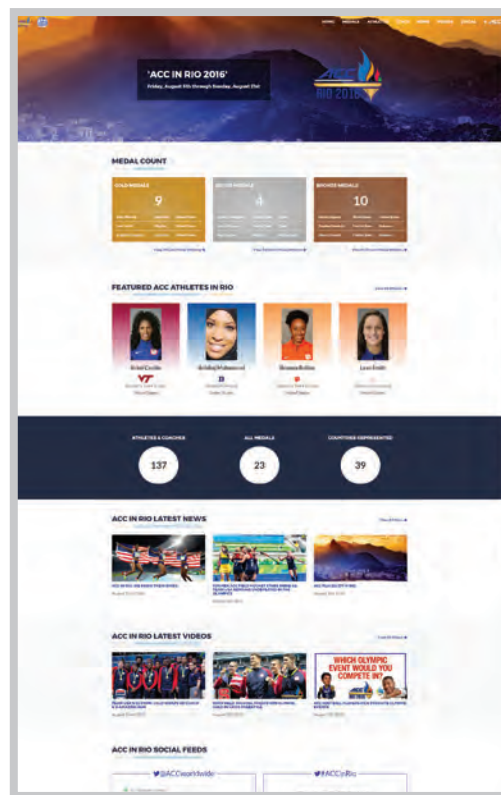

Florida State's Wilson Bell, Duke's Madison Granger and Virginia Tech's Brandon Fiala served as the ACC's student-athlete representatives at the 2017 NCAA Convention.

ACC WORLDWIDE AND RIO OLYMPICS

In June of 2015, the ACC launched an initiative known as ACC Worldwide, which seeks to further the conference's member institutions internationally through promotion, marketing and athletic competition. ACC universities are truly global in terms of both their brands and student populations. The conference is well positioned to capitalize and expand upon this existing strength with ACC Worldwide.

The ACC covered the 2016 Olympic summer games on the @ACCWorldwide Twitter account, along with a webpage dedicated to current and former ACC athletes participating in the games. Updates included medal counts, stories from ACC member institutions, a social stream and unique video and written content.

ACC PRESIDENT'S AWARD

The ACC President's Award is presented at the discretion of the conference President to an individual who has provided exemplary service to the conference in a specific task, in a series of efforts during the year of the President's service, or over an extended period of time.

Previous Award Winners:

2016-17: Maddie Salamone, Duke
2015-16: Martha Putallaz, Duke
2014-15: Nathan Hatch, Wake Forest
2013-14: Carolyn Callahan, Virginia
2012-13: Craig Littlepage, Virginia

2011-12: Ken Haines, Raycom
2010-11: Craig Littlepage, Virginia

Excitement abounded during last summer's Atlantic Coast Conference Football Kickoff when ACC Commissioner John Swofford and ESPN President John Skipper made the news official. The long-anticipated ACC Network is now a reality.

A 20-year partnership between the conference and ESPN will provide ACC fans unprecedented access to live events via a comprehensive, multi-platform network. It also provides for the extension of the conference's existing rights agreement with ESPN through the 2035-36 academic year. ESPN is the ACC's exclusive worldwide rights holder.

"On behalf of the ACC Council of Presidents, Faculty Athletics Representatives and our ACC Television Committee, we are tremendously pleased to further enhance our long-term partnership with ESPN that includes the creation of the ACC Network and ACC Network Extra, and positions the conference for the long-term future," Swofford told a large contingent of media and others who gathered in Charlotte on July 21.

"This partnership continues to be a win-win for ESPN and the ACC. ESPN is the premier provider in sports content and this agreement will deliver unprecedented coverage to our fans, while highlighting our quality student-athletes, coaches and institutions."

Expansive digital coverage of the league's 27 sports began in August with the launch of ACC

Network Extra. The full ACC Network linear channel takes flight in 2019.

"I am excited that ESPN and the ACC Network will give our outstanding member schools an opportunity to showcase their institutions to new audiences across the country," said Clemson President James P. Clements, who is serving as Chair of the ACC Council of Presidents for 2016-17. "The ACC not only has world-class student-athletes and coaches, but it also has some of the top academic institutions in the nation, and this new network will be a great opportunity for national exposure for all of us in the conference."

Coaches, student-athletes and fans from throughout the league gave the move a thumbs-up.

"The ACC is one of America's elite conferences, so it only makes sense we would partner with ESPN, the World Wide Leader in Sports," Pitt football coach Pat Narduzzi said. "The exposure we will receive from the ACC Network will be incredible."

ACC NETWORK EXTRA

Olympic sports have always been an integral part of the Atlantic Coast Conference, which saw its teams claim a combined 146 NCAA team championships and nearly 300 individual titles in its first 63 years of competition. A fair number of ACC contests in all sports have been live-streamed via ESPN3 and other platforms during the past decade.

ACC Network Extra, however, raises viewership opportunities to a new level. More than 1,450 events were live-streamed during the 2016-17 academic year.

"ACC Network Extra is off the ground with flying colors," Swofford said. "ACC Olympic sports have a record of unparalleled success, and it was important to both ESPN and our league to create a model in which each of the ACC's 27 sponsored sports would be carried live to fans in some manner."

Every conference Olympic sport championship during the current academic year has been shown live on either a linear platform or ACC Network Extra, beginning with the ACC Cross Country Championships from Cary, North Carolina, last October 28.

"We have already been pleased by the television coverage the ACC Cross Country Championships have received over the last two years," Syracuse coach Chris Fox said. "With the advent of the network, I am sure the exposure will go up tenfold and help ACC schools tremendously in all sports."

The events covered by ACC Network Extra were immediately available to users with access to WatchESPN and the ESPN app.

"This is an incredible moment for our league in terms of expanding our visibility and exposing a greater audience to learn about our legendary conference," said NC State baseball coach Elliott Avent. "There are so many great stories, whether it be here at NC State, or in our league, and this gives us an outlet to bring those stories to life once again. From a recruiting standpoint, it's a tremendous addition, and it's very exciting for our fans who will be able to see much more of a great product in ACC athletics."

ACC Network Extra also provided a platform for a number of ACC football games during the 2016 season.

"It gives all of our programs greater visibility on the national stage, solidifies the ACC's position among the Power Five conferences, and helps provide stability in the ever-changing world of college athletics," said Syracuse head football coach Dino Babers. "I commend Commissioner Swofford and the ESPN leadership for their vision and their hard work in making this network a reality."

LINEAR NETWORK LAUNCHES IN 2019

When the linear ACC Network launches in a little more than two years, it will feature 450 exclusive live events, including 40 regular-season football games, more than 150 men's and women's basketball games, more than 200 other regular-season contests and tournament games from across the conference's 27 sponsored sports, plus a complement of news and information shows and original programming.

"The ACC Network will provide a tremendous platform for our league and is a testament to how highly regarded all of the schools in the Atlantic Coast Conference are throughout the country," said Florida State men's basketball coach Leonard Hamilton. "The ACC has the greatest collection of teams in the history of college basketball and the increased exposure by the ACC Network will make us an even stronger league. It provides a showcase that allows our teams and our student-athletes in all sports unprecedented exposure to the great fans of the ACC."

ESPN has been televising ACC content since 1979 and has exclusive rights to every conference-controlled football and men's basketball game, plus women's basketball and all ACC championship events.

"The ACC is the best women's basketball conference in the country with its unmatched talent and depth of teams," Virginia head coach Joanne Boyle said. "Having a far-reaching national platform to showcase the talent in this league is going to not just benefit our teams, but it is also going to help continue to build on the growth of women's basketball."

It should indeed be, as Swofford aptly put it, "a win-win."

"We look forward to working with our longtime partners at the ACC to create a network that reflects the depth and quality of its athletes and teams, and serves the fans who passionately support them," ESPN's Skipper said. "We are proud and excited to add the ACC Network to our industry-leading college content offerings."

ACCDN

The ACC Digital Network (ACCDN), the official home of ACC video, continues to be the college sports leader in creation of digital-first content, featuring original programming and production leveraging the power of current and archival footage. The ACCDN produced over 2,000 original pieces of content this past year, making them available to fans via a distributed network far beyond the official platforms (theACC.com, the ACC Mobile App, ACC social channels), including on a growing number of over-the-top platforms such as Apple TV, Amazon Fire TV, Roku, and on channels on Xbox One and Verizon's go90. The ACCDN delivered over 115,000,000 video views this past year.

Since its inception, the ACCDN has been aggressive on social media platforms and continues to be well positioned to deliver and monetize ACCDN video in the ever-evolving social media landscape. With new features on Facebook and Twitter, the ACCDN integrated unique access opportunities into social coverage and saw direct revenue through a Facebook Live partnership as well as the Twitter Amplify program. The ACCDN also ramped up efforts on millennial-skewing platforms Instagram and Snapchat.

While official highlights in all major sports continue to be a fan favorite, the ACCDN continues to invest in storytelling and production of both feature segments and special event coverage including: ACC & NCAA Championships, Player Profiles, Hype Videos and Hidden Gems.

The high-quality programming and unparalleled distribution continue to make the ACCDN a significant leader in not only coverage of the top Conference in America, but all of college sports.

MOBILE

ACC Digital continues to position the ACC as the leader among college conferences in mobile space. New products and features during 2016 further cemented that position. Already the first conference to introduce mobile gaming with football and trivia apps, the ACC became the first to release a mobile basketball game with ACC 3-Point Challenge. And on the eve of the 2017 ACC Tournament in Brooklyn, the first dedicated collegiate virtual reality app, ACC VR, was launched.

Our suite of mobile apps, free on iOS and Android, consist of:

- OFFICIAL MOBILE APP — ACC Digital has responded to the incredible growth of mobile content consumption. The ACC offers an industry-leading official Mobile App featuring live — without authentication — ACC Network broadcasts, live scores and stats, highlights, individualized alerts, news, schedules, social media and more.
- ACC QB CHALLENGE — This past season saw the continued evolution of our mobile football game with the ACC QB Challenge App. Raising the bar again, this swipe-style passing App is the first conference gaming app that allows the user to play virtual quarterback of their favorite ACC team. Additional features allow the users to compete in school-branded stadiums, play their team's season schedule, challenge friends, and compete in a second-screen rivalry between fanbases week to week in the ACC Football Season — which lead to high degree of intra-conference fan engagement.
- CHAMPIONSHIP APP — Utilized at four conference championships, the ACC "gameday" app has proven to be a valuable resource for fans attending those events. The championship app is a complete resource for fans including event schedules, venue maps, social streams, live stats, and exclusive video coverage. Now supporting both conference basketball tournaments, the baseball championship and the football championship, the ACC "gameday" app continues to expand its capabilities and features.
- ACC 3-POINT CHALLENGE — On the eve of the 2016 ACC Basketball Tournament, the first conference-level college basketball mobile game was launched with immediate success. The game, a swipe-style basketball shooting competition from around the three-point arc, allows users to play as their favorite team, compete in tournament format, and post scores to social media. The app's positive fan reception and high engagement are extremely encouraging as we look to build upon the features and sponsored elements.
- ACC VR — The first dedicated collegiate virtual reality app, ACC VR delivers unique ACC basketball content from each school in an immersive experience. Fans can enjoy exclusive behind the scenes footage, on court and front row perspectives, locker room tours, and much more. Among the exclusive 360 content includes: team huddles and run outs, player introductions, game action, highlights, locker rooms tours, trophies cases and team museums. During tournament week, the app featured the free, unauthenticated ACC Network broadcast with accompanying live stats, an interactive bracket with scores and highlights, and incredible 360 footage from Barclays Center.

WEBSITE

The conference's official athletic site, theACC.com, has continued to evolve and adapt to emerging digital standards and trends. In addition to extensive back-end enhancements and numerous user experience improvements, the site has been made fully responsive to serve fans on all screen sizes equally. As in years past, theACC.com provides live streams of ACC Network games as well as press conferences and other live shows, at no cost to ACC fans. The site has expanded championship pages for the league's events, featuring more in-depth Olympic sport pages and full microsites for the Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship and ACC Men's and Women's Basketball Tournaments, including video and game-by-game coverage. Infographics were created for the basketball postseason, including the New York Life ACC Tournament, NCAA Championships and men's and women's Final Fours.

The screenshot displays the ACC Digital website. At the top is a navigation bar with the ACC logo and various school logos. Below this is a secondary navigation bar with links for SPORTS, SCHOOLS, VIDEOS, SCHEDULES, STANDINGS, CHAMPIONSHIPS, NEWS, TICKETS & MORE, and SHOP NOW. A search bar and a LIVE button are also present. The main content area features a large image of a basketball game between Virginia (white jersey, number 15) and Miami (green jersey). Below the image is a headline: "VIRGINIA'S BROGDON NAMED NBA ROOKIE OF THE YEAR" dated 06/26/2017. To the left of the headline is a small icon of a document. Below the main content area is a section titled "SCOREBOARD ALL SCHOOLS" with a message: "There are no near-term events to display." Below this is a "MEDIA" section featuring a video player with a play button icon. To the right of the video player is a headline: "ACC Sets NBA Draft First-Round Record With Ten Picks" and a date: "Posted: 6/23/2017 - Updated: 6/26/2017". To the right of the headline is a small image of bananas with the text "100% FRESH OR DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK".

SOCIAL MEDIA

The ACC continued to expand its presence in the social space through growth in platforms and content. This space provides a unique opportunity to engage and educate ACC Fans where they organically gather through technology (digitally). The ACC was well positioned to take advantage of the rise of video on social platforms by leveraging ACCDN content to deliver millions of views through Twitter and Facebook. In addition to continuing to grow key platforms such as Facebook and Twitter, considerable focus was placed on rapidly growing platforms such as Instagram and Snapchat. Across all platforms, there is a move to focus more on imagery, video and content that drives interaction and engagement as part of a strategy to better cater to fans and take full advantage of the power of social media.

The league has expanded its use of social media tools designed for specific platforms. Customized, event-specific filters provided an interactive experience for Snapchat users attending various ACC events.

TOP SIX FOR SERVICE

ACC SPECIALTY AWARDS

SENIOR CLASS AWARD

The award, chosen by a vote of coaches, media and fans, is given annually to the most outstanding senior student-athlete in his or her sport. In order to be eligible for the award, a student-athlete must be classified as an NCAA Division I senior and have notable achievements in four areas of excellence: classroom, community, character and competition.

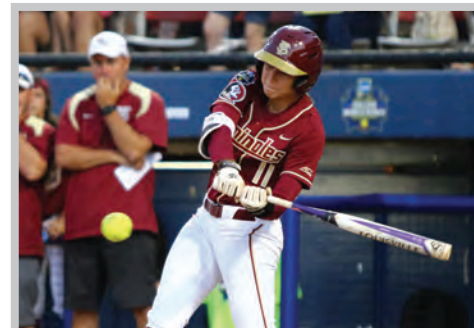

An acronym for Celebrating Loyalty and Achievement for Staying in School®, the Senior CLASS Award was inspired by Duke men's basketball player Shane Battier and his decision to forego the NBA to remain in school all four years. Established in 2001, the award is presented in 10 NCAA sports and focuses on the total student-athlete, encouraging students to use their platform in athletics to make a positive impact as leaders in their communities.

NCAA ELITE 90

The Elite 90, an award founded by the NCAA, recognizes the true essence of the student-athlete by honoring the individual who has reached the pinnacle of competition at the national championship level in his or her sport, while also achieving the highest academic standard among his or her peers. The Elite 90 is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade-point average participating at the finals site for each of the NCAA's 90 championships.

NCAA POSTGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIPS

The NCAA awards up to 174 postgraduate scholarships annually. The scholarships are awarded to student-athletes who excel academically and athletically and who are at least in their final year of intercollegiate athletics competition.

The one-time non-renewable scholarships of $7,500 are awarded three times a year corresponding to each sport season (fall, winter and spring). Each sports season there are 29 scholarships available for men and 29 scholarships available for women for use in an accredited graduate program.

All former student-athletes who earned an undergraduate degree from an NCAA member school are eligible to be nominated by that school for an NCAA graduate degree scholarship, regardless of when they received their undergraduate degree.

HONOR ROLL

2016-17 ANNUAL REPORT

The 61st annual Atlantic Coast Conference Honor Roll was announced on July 6, 2017, recognizing academic excellence by the league's student-athletes during the 2016-17 academic year. The ACC Honor Roll is comprised of student-athletes who participated in a varsity-level sport and registered a grade point average of 3.0 or better for the full academic year.

The conference recognized a record 4,472 student-athletes for their hard work in the classroom. Duke led all schools with 489 student-athletes recognized, and Notre Dame followed with 445. Boston College saw 422 student-athletes achieve Honor Roll status. North Carolina had 385 student-athletes recognized, followed by Louisville with 351 and Virginia with 323. Syracuse was next with 282, followed by Virginia Tech with 278, Florida State with 252, Pitt with 239, NC State with 232, Clemson with 228, Georgia Tech with 184, and Miami and Wake Forest with 181 each.

Ten schools had at least one student-athlete who earned ACC Honor Roll status for the fifth time (Notre Dame, Pitt, Syracuse and Louisville have not yet completed five full academic years as league members):

Boston College – McKenzie Meehan (women's soccer), Wan Yi Sweeting (women's tennis)

Clemson – Patrick Andrews (baseball), Mary Kretzer (rowing), Jenna Polonsky (women's soccer)

Duke – DeVon Edwards (football), Jake Faust (wrestling), Madison Granger (women's cross country/track & field),

Jaimee Gundry (women's swimming & diving), Thomas Hennessy (football), Erich Schneider (football),

Thomas Sirk (football), Tanner Stone (football), Ryan Thompson (soccer), A.J. Wolf (football), Michael Wright (wrestling)

Florida State – Kalonji Cole (men's swimming & diving), Kirsten Crowley (women's soccer), Bryan LaCivita (football)

Georgia Tech – Samantha Kase (women's swimming & diving), Jonathan King (baseball), Isiah Willis (football)

Miami – Gracie Lachowewski (women's soccer), Austin Pfenninger (football)

North Carolina – R.J. Alowonle (men's track & field), Emma Bozek (field hockey), Carly Davis (women's lacrosse),

Sarah Howard (women's track & field), Mark Rizzo (men's lacrosse)

NC State – Kaitlyn Kramer (women's cross country and track & field), Ashley Williams (women's basketball)

Virginia – Nicholas Conte (football), Chris Yankowich (wrestling)

Wake Forest – Ryan Janvion (football)

In addition to All-ACC Academic Teams, the Atlantic Coast Conference recognized Scholar Athletes of the Year in each of its 27 sports earlier in the 2016-17 academic year: Louisville's Drew Ellis (baseball), Miami's Davon Reed (men's basketball), Duke's Lexie Brown (women's basketball), Louisville's Edwin Kibichiy (men's cross country), Clemson's Grace Barnett (women's cross country), Duke's Pascual Di Tella (men's fencing), Duke's Rita Somogyi (women's fencing), North Carolina's Emma Bozek (field hockey), Wake Forest's Ryan Janvion (football), Virginia's Jimmy Stanger (men's golf), Duke's Leona Maguire (women's golf), Notre Dame's Sergio Perkovic (men's lacrosse), North Carolina's Marie McCool (women's lacrosse), Virginia's Georgia Ratcliff (rowing), Wake Forest's Jacori Hayes (men's soccer), Duke's Christina Gibbons (women's soccer), Florida State's Alex Powers (softball), NC State's Anton Ipsen (men's swimming & diving), NC State's Alexia Zevnik (women's swimming & diving), Virginia's Thai-Son Kiwatkowski (men's tennis), North Carolina's Hayley Carter (women's tennis), Virginia Tech's Torben Laidig (men's indoor track and field), Virginia's Filip Mihaljevic (men's outdoor track and field), Virginia Tech's Hanna Green (women's indoor track & field and women's outdoor track & field), Georgia Tech's Teegan Van Gunst (volleyball) and Virginia Tech's Jared Haight (wrestling).

POINTS OF PRIDE

- The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, North Carolina, with seven charter members — Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, NC State, South Carolina and Wake Forest — drawing up the conference bylaws. On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation. The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State. The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of Miami and Virginia Tech. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005. The ACC added its 13th and 14th members on Sept. 18, 2011, when Pittsburgh and Syracuse accepted invitations to join the conference. The two schools officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013. Notre Dame also officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013, after announcing on September 12, 2012 its intention to enter the league for competition in all sports but football, bringing the membership of the conference to 15. The Fighting Irish will play five football games with ACC schools each year. On July 1, 2014, Louisville entered the ACC on the same day Maryland withdrew, keeping the conference's membership at 15 institutions.
- Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 150 national championships, including 75 in men's competition, 74 in women's competition and one in fencing. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 169 times in men's competition and 134 times in women's action.
- In the 2016-17 academic year, four NCAA titles were captured by ACC teams, with championships from Clemson (football), Notre Dame (fencing), North Carolina (men's basketball) and Virginia (men's tennis).
- The league's unique blend of public and private institutions continues to lead the way among Power 5 conferences in the "Best Colleges" rankings released by U.S. News & World Report. The ACC was the only FBS conference with eight member institutions among the Top 50 — three more than any peer league.
- The Atlantic Coast Conference had 88 combined teams that received Academic Progress Rate recognition awards from the NCAA in April of 2017, the most of any Power 5 conference. The next closest conference had 72 teams recognized.
- In the NCAA's Graduation Success Rate report released in November of 2016, the ACC tied for the highest GSR among peer conferences in football and led in men's basketball. A total of seven ACC teams achieved GSR scores of 100 in the sports of football, men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball.
- The ACC's current member institutions have won more AFCA Academic Awards — 22, including ties — than the members of any other conference since the Awards' inception in 1981. The winners include: Duke (13 times), Boston College (4), Miami (2), Virginia (2) and Wake Forest (1). ACC teams have been honored by the AFCA a total of 127 times, which also leads all conferences nationally.
- Some of the most influential people in history have been awarded the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship to pursue post-graduate education at the University of Oxford in England. The oldest international fellowships have been earned by a few extraordinary ACC student-athletes. Some of the names on this list include Florida State football student-athlete Myron Rolle, Duke tennis student-athlete Julia Parker Goyer, Florida State track and field student-athlete Garrett Johnson and Notre Dame fencing student-athlete Alex Coccia.
- The ACC Academic Consortium is a special commitment of the 15 university presidents and the conference office to enhance academic excellence. Funded by a portion of the revenues from the Dr Pepper ACC Football Championship Game, the ACCAC works to advance the quality of education for all undergraduate students by sharing academic and administrative resources and by hosting conferences that bring together experts from all our campuses.
- ACC Postgraduate Scholarships: The Weaver-James-Corrigan and Jim and Pat Thacker scholarships are awarded to selected student-athletes — three from each league institution — who intend to pursue a graduate degree following completion of his or her undergraduate requirements. Each recipient receives $5,000 to contribute to their graduate education. Each recipient has performed with distinction in both the classroom and in his/her respective sport, while also demonstrating exemplary conduct in the community. In addition, four student-athletes who intend to compete at the Olympic or professional level receive Weaver-James-Corrigan Honorary Awards in recognition of their outstanding performance in both athletic competition and the classroom throughout their collegiate careers.
- In 2016-17, the ACC placed six schools among the top 30 of the final Division I Learfield Sports Directors' Cup Standings. North Carolina led all ACC member schools with a No. 5 ranking, followed by Florida State at No. 13, Virginia at No. 19, Notre Dame at No. 23, Louisville at No. 26 and NC State at No. 29. This marked the 16th consecutive year that the ACC placed four or more teams among the Top 30; in addition, nine ACC member schools finished among the top 50.

BOSTON COLLEGE

- Boston College was founded in 1863 by the Society of Jesus. It was the first institution of higher education to be founded in the city of Boston. Today, it is one of the most applied to private universities in the United States, and its coeducational enrollment of 14,100 undergraduate and graduate students is drawn from all 50 states and more than 80 countries.
- The core of Boston College's Jesuit, Catholic mission is a commitment to integrating intellectual, personal, ethical, and religious formation and to uniting high academic achievement with service to others.
- Students at Boston College consistently win a significant number of prestigious national awards for academic achievement, including Rhodes, Marshall, Churchill, Goldwater, Mellon, Truman, Beinecke and Beckman scholarships. Boston College is annually among the top schools nationally in producing undergraduate Fulbright winners, with more than 130 won in the past decade.
- More than 5,000 Boston College students give some 550,000 hours of community service in the Boston area each year, while more than 700 participate in service trips during Spring Break.
- Boston College is ranked 31st among national universities by U.S. News and World Report, and is home to highly-ranked professional schools in Education, Law, Management, Nursing and Social Work.
- The School of Theology & Ministry, created when Weston Jesuit School of Theology reaffiliated with Boston College in 2008, is one of the world's top centers for Catholic theological education.
- Boston College is home to a rich array of academic and cultural resources: the McMullen Museum of Art is renowned for its groundbreaking exhibitions; BC's Irish Collection, housed in the Burns Library of Rare Books and Special Collections, is considered the nation's premier collection of Irish research material; the Bapst Library topped a 2010 survey of the most beautiful college libraries in the United States.
- BC is a leader in initiatives that enhance teaching and learning in public and Catholic k-12 schools and it conducts two prominent research assessments of student achievement: TIMSS, which surveys math and science, and PIRLS, which surveys reading literacy. BC also was chosen to be a partner in the Carnegie Corporation's interdisciplinary Teachers for a New Era initiative, preparing, assessing, and supporting the teachers of tomorrow.
- BC's Center for Retirement Research and Center for Aging and Work are national resources on issues facing older Americans.
- Boston College's scientific research facilities include its state-of-the-art Integrated Sciences Clean Room and Nanofabrication Facility, which supports projects ranging from high-efficiency solar cells and nanostructured retinal implants to metamaterials for manipulation of terahertz and visible light. The University also is home to the largest magnet on a university campus, outside of a national laboratory.
- The Boston College athletic program shares the University's commitment to the development of the whole person—body as well as mind and spirit. BC sponsors 31 varsity sports for 750 student-athletes and 59 intramural and club sports for more than 7,000 students.
- Thirteen of BC's varsity teams achieved perfect Graduation Success Rate (GSR) scores of 100 in the NCAA's most recently released data. The NCAA has recognized 12 BC varsity teams for having Academic Progress Rate scores in the top ten percent of all Division I squads in their respective sports.
- The BC men's ice hockey team won NCAA national championships in 1949, 2000, 2008, 2010 and 2012.

- Clemson University is a land grant institution founded in 1889 and named for Thomas Green Clemson, a champion of formal scientific education and economic development who served as ambassador to Belgium and became the nation's first secretary of agriculture. Thomas Clemson was the son-in-law of famous South Carolina statesman John C. Calhoun, and he inherited Calhoun's Fort Hill Plantation. Upon his death in 1888, Thomas Clemson willed Fort Hill and his personal assets to the state of South Carolina for the establishment of a high seminary of learning dedicated to scientific education. Today, the Fort Hill mansion sits at the center of the Clemson University campus. Clemson has a proud history of military excellence and recently dedicated a Scroll of Honor memorial recognizing nearly 500 Clemson men and women who have lost their lives in service to their country. The University is organized into 7 colleges: Agriculture, Forestry, and Life Sciences; Architecture, Arts, and Humanities; Business & Behavioral Science; Engineering and Science; and Health and Human Development; and Education.
- U.S. News & World Report ranks Clemson No. 23rd among the nation's public universities for 2017, No. 8 as an "up and coming" national public university, and one of 11 public institutions that make writing a priority across all disciplines.
- Incoming freshman ACT scores rank 7th among national public universities, according to the U.S. News & World Report of 2017, and the average SAT score for incoming freshmen in 2017 is 1246.
- Clemson is the No. 1 national public university in South Carolina, and home to approximately 22,000 students, with a freshmen retention rate of 92% and a 6-year graduation rate of 83%.

- Founded in 1885, the Georgia Institute of Technology is a public research university with more than 25,000 undergraduate and graduate students.
- Georgia Tech's undergraduate program is ranked seventh among public universities by U.S. News & World Report, and has been in the top 10 for more than a decade.
- Georgia Tech's engineering program is the largest in the United States, and is one of the best. Six undergraduate engineering programs rank in the top five nationally, and all engineering programs rank in the top 10. For the past several years, Georgia Tech's College of Engineering has granted the largest number of degrees to women engineers and the largest number of graduate degrees to African American engineers. Georgia Tech also has outstanding programs in business, computing, design, liberal arts, and sciences.
- Georgia Tech enjoys a stellar reputation internationally, ranking No. 9 on the U.S. News & World Report list of the 100 Best Global Universities for Engineering and No. 70 on its 500 Top Global Universities list. Students come to Georgia Tech from 127 countries, and students are studying and interning in 70 countries. Fifty-four percent of Georgia Tech students have an international experience by graduation. Georgia Tech faculty are engaged in research collaborations in more than 100 countries. The Institute has global centers in China, Costa Rica, Mexico, Panama and Singapore, along with a campus in Metz, France.
- Georgia Tech is committed to providing lifelong learning. More than 18,000 learners benefit from Georgia Tech Professional Education professional development courses and certificate programs. More than 1.5 million learners worldwide are enrolled in 28 massive open online courses (MOOCs) produced by Georgia Tech.
- The strong academic work ethic at Tech is balanced by a collegiate atmosphere incorporating both intercollegiate and intramural sports, campus traditions, and some 400 student organizations.
- Georgia Tech is preparing students for the future through curricula and numerous student competitions designed to instill entrepreneurial confidence. Fifty-four percent of invention disclosures list at least one student. The annual InVenture Prize competition has been expanded to include a K-12 component. In addition, the ACC's InVenture prize has been modeled after Tech's popular competition.
- Recruitment and job placement of high-quality students is an advantage that many gain from attending Georgia Tech. The Center for Career Discovery and Development is one of the nation's most successful and innovative university career support offices. Upon graduation, approximately 76 percent of Tech students seeking a job have already accepted one.
- With research expenditures of more than $786 million per year, Georgia Tech is among the nation's leaders for universities without a medical school.
- Georgia Tech has created and enhanced distinct innovation neighborhoods on and surrounding the Atlanta campus, and continues to attract large company innovation centers to Tech Square including Anthem Inc., AT&T, Delta Air Lines, the Home Depot, Panasonic and Southern Company.
- Georgia Tech has a national reputation for embracing and promoting cross-disciplinary sustainability practices on campus, and in classrooms and labs. The Princeton Review has named Georgia Tech to its Green Honor Roll, and the Institute has also been named a Tree Campus USA for the past nine years.
- Georgia Tech has been a national champion in football four times (1917, 1928, 1952, and 1990), and its women's tennis team won the NCAA National Championship in 2007. From 1997-2014, Georgia Tech's football team earned a bowl berth in 18 consecutive seasons, reached the Atlantic Coast Conference Championship game four times, and claimed one ACC championship. The Yellow Jackets' men's basketball team has played in 16 NCAA Tournaments, including two trips to the Final Four, and won three ACC Championships. In 2016 both the men's and women's basketball teams competed in the National Invitation Tournament (NIT) finals in New York and Michigan, respectively. The Georgia Tech men's golf team continues to be a model of consistency, capturing 16 ACC titles, including eight of the last 12. Tech has played in the NCAA Golf Championship finals 29 times over the past 32 years.
- Georgia Tech student-athletes continued to excel in the classroom as well as the competitive arena, with a Graduation Success Rate (GSR) of 87 percent. Individually, 10 of Georgia Tech's sports have GSRs higher than the national average for their respective sports, and five programs — men's cross country/track and field, women's cross country/track and field, golf, women's tennis, and volleyball — scored perfect 100 percent GSRs.

- Established in 1798, UofL has the mandate to be Kentucky's premier, nationally recognized metropolitan research university.
- UofL's mascot is the Cardinal Bird, affectionately known as Louie. Its most famous landmark is a large, original bronze casting of Rodin's "The Thinker" in front of Grawemeyer Hall. The statue, given to the city of Louisville to recognize its namesake, French monarch Louis XVI, has been in place at UofL since 1949. In 2012, the sculpture was completely refinished.
- With a student body of more than 22,600 and faculty and staff of around 7,000, UofL's 12 academic schools and colleges offer over 200 undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees and credentials. Its students hail from 117 counties across Kentucky, 54 U.S. states and territories, and more than 90 countries. UofL offers its students 458 recognized student organizations, 34 national Greek letter fraternities and sororities, and 23 sports clubs.
- Since 2003 U of L has claimed 104 Fulbright scholars—more than all other Kentucky public universities combined. The university set a record in 2016 with 15 scholars, besting the previous record of 14 scholars in 2010 and again in 2011.
- The University of Louisville is home to the unique FirstBuild micro-factory, a partnership among the university, GE Appliances, and Arizona-based Local Motors. The 35,000-square-foot facility is a space where home appliances are designed, built, and sold, using an online co-creation community and micro-manufacturing model.
- UofL's drive to become a premier metropolitan research university is highlighted by its $1.3 billion investment in campus and facility developments since 2001. The Micro/Nano Technology Service Center (one of the nation's largest "clean rooms" to develop leading-edge technology) and a library system ranked among the top 100 for research capabilities in North America are two examples of the university's cutting-edge facilities designed to enhance the academic experience.
- UofL's Alcohol Research Center is the only NIH-designated center researching the interactive role of nutrition and alcohol to discover the deleterious, as well as beneficial, effects of alcohol on the human body.
- UofL's charting Our Course Capital Campaign has exceeded $1 billion in private fundraising for scholarships, teaching, research, and facility construction and renovation.
- The University recently opened a 128,000-square-foot Student Recreation Center featuring an exercise and weight facility, six basketball courts, a multi-activity court, a jogging track, aerobics studios, fitness labs, a gaming area and classrooms.
- Louisville sponsors 23 varsity athletic programs, 10 for men and 13 for women. The Cardinals have won three NCAA team championships (men's basketball in 1980, 1986 and 2013) and 16 NCAA individual titles (four in men's swimming, four in men's track and field, six in women's swimming, and two in women's track and field). Louisville is one of only eight programs in the nation with three or more NCAA men's basketball titles.
- Fourteen UofL sports — seven men's and nine women's — participated in post-season competition in 2016-17 and a dozen sports were ranked among the nation's top 25 during the year.
- Cardinal athletic teams posted a collective 3.18 GPA during the 2016-17 academic year, with 19 of 23 teams achieving a 3.0 or better for the 2017 spring semester. A total of 84 UofL student-athletes were honored on All-ACC Academic teams. Three hundred student-athletes had a cumulative GPA of 3.25 or better after the 2016 fall semester.
- Six University of Louisville athletic teams — men's and women's basketball, football, men's and women's golf and men's tennis — received NCAA Public Recognition Awards for ranking among the top 10 percent nationally in Academic Progress Rate (APR) scores for the most recent four-year period from 2012-16, including five teams with perfect scores.
- UofL student-athletes amassed over 11,000 service hours through its CardsCARE community outreach program during the 2016-17 year, a total which ranked among the top five in the nation in the NCAA Team Works Challenge.
- The KFC Yum! Center basketball and multipurpose arena, Papa John's Cardinal Stadium for football, and Mark and Cindy Lynn Stadium for soccer are state-of-the-art facilities. Since 2010, UofL has also built a rowing center, expanded its football, baseball, and softball stadiums and purchased the Cardinal Golf Club, rebranding it as the University of Louisville Golf Club. UofL completed its first year in a new $14.5 million student-athlete academic center, which opened in July 2016. UofL is currently expanding Papa John's Cardinal Stadium, with a completion date of August 2018.
- UofL is the only university to ever win a Bowl Championship Series (BSC) Bowl game, place both its men's and women's basketball teams in the NCAA Final Four (as champions and runners-up, respectively) and reach the College World Series all in the same academic year, 2012-13. CBS's Best in College Sports ranked UofL as first in the nation in 2012-13, third in 2013-14, and second in 2014-2015.

- Miami is the youngest institution in the ACC. Although founded in 1925, Miami did not start classes until October 1926 in a partially constructed hotel after a hurricane had devastated other opening facilities. This auspicious start not only provided the name for the Miami Hurricanes, but also provided a foundation for a fast growing citizen-founded university, which has had only six presidents during its entire existence.
- Miami awarded the first athletic scholarship to a female student-athlete.
- Miami is among the first, if not the first institution, to adopt an athletics logo as its school-wide symbol, the U.
- Between 1985 and 1994, the Miami Hurricanes football team won 58 straight games at home, breaking the record for the longest home winning streak previously held by Alabama.
- The School of Medicine was founded in 1952 as the first medical school in Florida.
- Bascom Palmer Eye Institute at UHealth—the University of Miami Health System is ranked No. 1 in ophthalmology by U.S. News & World Report in its 2017 Best Hospitals issue, marking its 15th time as the nation's best.
- The new LGBTQ Student Center has opened on UM's Coral Gables campus, supporting the needs of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, and questioning students and allies.
- The University of Miami is ranked No. 44 on U.S. News & World Report's 2017 Best Colleges list, which also names UM among the top research universities that graduate students with the lowest amount of debt.
- UM is ranked No. 37 out of more than 1,000 national public and private institutions on the inaugural Wall Street Journal/Times Higher Education ranking of U.S. colleges and universities.
- UM alumnus Sam Dorman teamed with Michael Hixon to win a silver medal in synchronized 3-meter diving at the 2016 Summer Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro.
- Continuing their stellar work in the classroom, Hurricane student-athletes in 2016 posted a Graduation Success Rate of 90 percent — well above the national average of 84 percent and tied for 15th among Football Bowl Subdivision institutions.
- The Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center at the University of Miami Miller School of Medicine has been named a Cancer Center of Excellence by the State of Florida, one of four in the state and the only one in South Florida.
- Under an agreement signed by UM President Julio Frenk, the University of Miami joined the Carlos Slim Foundation and the Inter-American Development Bank to reduce high mortality rates among poor women and children in Mexico and other Central American nations through advanced training for health care professionals.
- Funding for over 2,100 externally funded projects grew to $323.8 million in sponsored grants and contracts in FY 2016. This includes more than $99 million from the National Institutes of Health (NIH), making UM's Miller School of Medicine once again the top NIH-funded medical school in the state. The School of Nursing and Health Studies, which conducts pioneering research to reduce health disparities, is No. 22 nationwide and the top nursing school in Florida for NIH funding.
- The University of Miami's climate change special report (climate.miami.edu) features more than 40 articles, videos, and tools that showcase the relevant, multidisciplinary scholarship and solutions underway at The U. The web-based report became a resource for the City of Miami waterfront advisory board and Sea Level Rise Committee.
- Researchers from the University of Miami-Nova Southeastern University Center for Autism and Related Disabilities help launch the Simons Foundation Powering Autism Research for Knowledge, or SPARK, an online initiative designed to become the largest autism study ever undertaken in the U.S.
- The University of Miami is recognized as an institutional member—the first in Florida—of the prestigious Edward A. Bouchet Graduate Honor Society, recognizing scholarly achievements and promotion of diversity and excellence in graduate education.
- The University of Miami installed its first fully research-dedicated functional MRI (fMRI) for human brain imaging. The fMRI, located in the Neuroscience Annex on the Coral Gables campus, places researchers from the College of Arts and Sciences and Miller School of Medicine at the forefront of scholarship in brain function and neurological health.
- The Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science's Marine Technology and Life Sciences Seawater Complex includes the Alfred C. Glassell, Jr. SUSTAIN Building, a wind-wave-storm surge simulator capable of generating Category 5 hurricane-force winds.

- The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the nation's first state university.
- UNC-Chapel Hill was No. 1 among the 100 U.S. public colleges and universities that offer the best combination of top-flight academics and affordable costs as ranked by Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine in December 2016. For the 16th time in a row, the University has ranked first on best values to in-state students.
- Carolina was third-best public university in The Wall Street Journal/Times Higher Education 2017 rankings and was the fifth-best public university in U.S. News & World Report's 2017 "Best Colleges" guidebook for the 16th consecutive year.
- For the 12th straight year, Carolina has received a record number of first-year applications — more than 40,792 applicants vying for places in the Class of 2021, a 13.7 percent increase over 2016.
- The University offers 77 bachelor's, 110 master's, 64 doctorate and seven professional degree programs through 14 schools and the College of Arts and Sciences.
- The University was one of the country's first public universities to adopt a debt-free financial aid policy. The Carolina Covenant serves as a national model for providing a debt-free education to qualified low-income students. Thirteen percent of each incoming class has qualified for the Carolina Covenant Scholars and more than 6,500 students have benefited from the program since it began in 2003.
- With 325 programs in 70 countries, nearly one-third of UNC undergraduates study in other countries before graduation — one of the highest study abroad rates among public universities nationwide. Since 1973, our students have received more than 250 Fulbright Student Program Awards for global research and study.
- Carolina has 12 faculty members in the prestigious National Academy of Sciences, considered one of the highest honors a U.S. scientist or engineer can receive.
- Carolina ranks among the nation's top universities in research dollar volume, and has become increasingly focused on innovation and entrepreneurship. Each year, the University conducts close to $1 billion in research activity, supporting all or part of the salary of over 12,000 UNC employees and adding tremendous value to the state's economy.
- Peace Corps ranks Carolina seventh in 2017 list of top volunteer-producing large colleges and universities.
- The University is one of the 30 founding members of the American Talent Initiative, which aims to attract, enroll and graduate 50,000 additional high-achieving, lower-income high school students at the 270 colleges and universities with the highest graduation rates by 2025.
- Multiple UNC graduate programs were highly ranked by U.S. News & World Report for the 2017 edition of "America's Best Graduate Schools," including School of Medicine (Primary Care, No. 2).
- Two national championship teams (men's basketball and women's lacrosse) were among 16 teams to post perfect 1000 scores in the NCAA's Academic Progress Rates for 2015-2016.
- A 2017 Innovate Carolina Roadmap report concluded UNC has significantly strengthened efforts over the past five years to commercialize research-based intellectual property; disclosures of ideas by faculty are up 23 percent, patents issued are up 47 percent, the number of new startups more than doubled, and revenue is up 73 percent. Recent highlights included creating the $10 million Carolina Research Ventures Fund to spur investments in startups and collaborating in the launch of a downtown Chapel Hill accelerator that has worked with 63 companies that have raised $15 million in investment capital and created over 1,000 jobs.

ACC POINTS OF PRIDE

NC STATE

- NC State is one of the nation's pre-eminent research institutions. Every day, our accomplished, high-performing students, faculty, staff and alumni create economic, societal and intellectual prosperity.
- With 34,000 students, NC State educates more North Carolinians than any other university.
- U.S. News & World Report ranks NC State as one of the top 10 best values among the nation's public universities.

- NC State was the first ACC institution to integrate athletics, in 1956.
- In the classroom, NC State student-athletes continue to perform at an extremely high level. Over the past four years, NC State has posted the four highest graduation success rate (GSR) figures in school history. Last year NC State matched its highest GSR mark ever.
- Wolfpack athletes continue to perform well in the competitive arena, with nine teams finishing in the top 25 in their respective sports — including four in the top 10 — for the 2016-17 academic year. The NC State men's swimming and diving team finished fourth in the nation at the NCAA championships, matching the highest finish ever for an ACC program at the event.
- Women's cross-country finished fourth in the nation, the highest finish by the program since 2001, while women's swimming and diving finished seventh in the nation, and rifle finished ninth nationally.
- NC State football reached its third consecutive bowl game, earning a berth in the Independence Bowl, where the team soundly defeated Vanderbilt 41-17.
- NC State's Centennial Campus is the premier public-private university research campus in the country, where more than 70 corporate, government and nonprofit partners work in state-of-the-art facilities alongside more than 70 NC State research and academic units.
- NC State research has yielded more than 950 U.S. patents and nearly 2,000 patents worldwide, leading to the commercialization of more than 500 consumer products.
- More than 100 startups and spinoffs have been founded based on NC State research, including 12 in the last year, attracting a total of $1.6 billion in venture capital.
- NC State is one of only two universities in the country leading two National Science Foundation Engineering Research Centers, one creating the smart grid of the future and the other pioneering self-powered health monitoring devices.
- Researchers at NC State recently were awarded the National Medal of Technology and Innovation, elected to the National Academy of Engineering, inducted into the National Inventors Hall of Fame and selected for MIT Technology Review's "35 Innovators Under 35" and Popular Science's "Brilliant 10."
- NC State's James B. Hunt Jr. Library, one of the world's most innovative and advanced centers for learning, is a winner of the prestigious Stanford Prize for Innovation in Research Libraries. The library's automated book retrieval and storage system, the bookBot, creates space for technology-rich collaboration spaces by holding more than 1 million volumes in 18,172 bins stacked 50 feet high. The Hunt Library includes a computer gaming lab, an immersive visualization lab and ultra-HD media production facilities.
- NC State's College of Textiles produces more than half of the textile graduates in the country each year. The university's College of Veterinary Medicine is ranked third in the nation, and the College of Engineering is one of the top 20 public engineering schools in the U.S.
- Fifty-two NC State student-athletes have been awarded the Weaver-James Corrigan Postgraduate Scholarship since 1997 — the highest number of honorees among all league schools.
- NC State is one of only 16 Division I schools to have won two or more NCAA titles in men's basketball (1974 and 1983).
- NC State and its students, alumni and associated startups generate $6.5 billion in annual added income for the state.

- For 175 years, the University of Notre Dame has provided a distinctive voice in higher education that is at once rigorously intellectual, unapologetically moral in orientation and firmly embracing of a service ethos. Founded in 1842 by a priest of the Congregation of Holy Cross, Notre Dame is a national Catholic research university located adjacent to the city of South Bend, Indiana, in a metropolitan area of some 300,000, approximately 90 miles east of Chicago.
- Admission to the University is highly competitive, with 48 percent of incoming first-year students ranking in the top one percent of their high school graduating classes and 94 percent in the top 10 percent of their classes.
- Notre Dame is organized into four undergraduate colleges — Arts and Letters, Science, Engineering, and the Mendoza College of Business — the School of Architecture, the Law School, the Graduate School, the Keough School for Global Affairs, 13 major research institutes, three dozen centers and special programs, and the University Library system. Enrollment is 12,393 students overall and 8,530 undergraduates.
- The Graduate School, established in 1918, encompasses nine terminal master's degree programs, six professional master's programs, plus 26 doctoral degree programs in and among 30 departments, institutes and programs.
- Notre Dame is rated among the nation's top 20 universities in a wide array of surveys. The Mendoza College of Business undergraduate program was ranked No. 1 in the nation for five consecutive years by Bloomberg Businessweek in its surveys of top business programs. It was rated second in the publication's latest survey.
- Notre Dame's graduation rate of 97 percent annually ranks in the top 10 among research universities.
- Notre Dame is among the most geographically diverse universities in the country with students from all 50 states and nearly 90 countries.
- Notre Dame faculty members have earned 61 fellowships from the National Endowment for the Humanities since 1999, more than for any other university in the nation.
- About half of Notre Dame students participate in study abroad programs, with that figure ranking among the highest among American doctoral/research institutions. The University recently added nine new short-term summer programs.
- Led by the Center for Social Concerns, about 80 percent of Notre Dame students engage in some form of voluntary service learning during their years at the University, and 10 percent devote a year or more after graduation to serving the less fortunate in the United States and around the world.
- Notre Dame's service to the Catholic Church is extensive, including the Alliance for Catholic Education, a master's program in which young graduates serve in under-resourced Catholic K-12 schools nationwide.
- More U.S. presidents have delivered commencement addresses at Notre Dame than any other university in the nation.
- The Basilica of the Sacred Heart, the 14-story Hesburgh Library with its 132-foot-high mural depicting Christ the Teacher, and the university's historic Main Building with its famed Golden Dome are among the most widely recognized university landmarks in the world.
- Notre Dame sponsors 26 varsity athletics programs (13 men's, 13 women's) and has won 31 national championships (11 consensus titles in football—1924-29-30-43-46-47-49-66-73-77-88; 9 in fencing—men in 1977-78-86, women in 1987, combined in 1994, 2003-05-11-17; 2 Helms Foundation titles in men's basketball in 1927-36; plus NCAA crowns in women's soccer in 1995, 2004 and 2010; women's basketball in 2000-01; men's tennis in 1944 and 1959; men's golf in 1944, men's cross country in 1957 and men's soccer in 2013).
- Notre Dame consistently leads all Football Bowl Subdivision institutions in athletic graduation rate measurements. In NCAA Graduation Success Rate figures, Notre Dame student-athletes have ranked No. 1 among FBS schools for 10 straight years (2007-2016), including 99 scores from 2009-14. In other GSR ratings, Notre Dame male student-athletes ranked first for six straight years (2009-14), female student-athletes have ranked No. 1 for ten straight years (eight of those years at 100) and football student-athletes have finished first four of the last eight years.
- Notre Dame athletics in recent years has produced two student body presidents (fencer Alex Coccia in 2013-14 and football player Corey Robinson in 2016-17), a University valedictorian (rower Anna Kottkamp in 2015), an NCAA Woman of the Year honoree (Elizabeth Tucker from women's soccer in 2014) and a Summer Olympic Games flag-bearer (fencer Mariel Zagunis for the United States delegation in London in 2012). Coccia also won a Rhodes Scholarship.
- Notre Dame in 2016-17 enjoyed one of its best across-the-board athletic years in its history, led by a men's and women's combined NCAA title in fencing. Notre Dame in both 2015-16 and 2016-17 became the first school in history to qualify for the Sweet 16 in NCAA brackets in men's basketball, women's basketball and hockey.
- Notre Dame finished the 2012 football regular season ranked No. 1 in the Bowl Championship Series standings and became the first program to accomplish that, play in the BCS Championship Game and also rank No. 1 in graduation rates based on NCAA GSR numbers.
- Notre Dame ranks second all-time, only behind Nebraska, in production of Capital One Academic All-Americans, as chosen by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA).
- The extensive RecSports program at Notre Dame features two historic offerings — the Bengal Bouts, the men's boxing club's annual charity tournament that since 1920 has benefited the missions in Bangladesh, and also Bookstore Basketball, the largest five-on-five outdoor basketball tournament in the world, annually featuring more than 700 team entries.

- Founded as the Pittsburgh Academy in 1787, the University of Pittsburgh is one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the nation and has regional campuses in Bradford, Greensburg, Johnstown, and Titusville, Pennsylvania.
- The University's more than 13,000 employees, including more than 5,200 faculty members, served nearly 35,000 students drawn from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, three U.S. territories, and 106 foreign countries through the programs of 16 undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools in the 2016-17 academic year.
- In a reaccreditation report issued in September 2012, the Middle States Commission on Higher Education praised Pitt as a "world class research university" with an "unwavering commitment to excellence" and an "extraordinarily talented and beloved leadership team."
- Pitt students consistently win a significant number of prestigious national awards for academic achievement. Since 1995, Pitt undergraduates have claimed one Gates Cambridge Scholarship, two Churchill Scholarships, four Rhodes Scholarships, six Truman Scholarships, six Marshall Scholarships, nine Udall Scholarships, and an astounding 48 Goldwater Scholarships.
- Pitt is among the nation's leading producers of student Fulbright grant winners, with more than 120 undergraduate Fulbright winners since 2006. Pitt also is among the nation's leading producers of Boren scholars, Whitaker International fellows, Critical Language scholars, and Humanity in Action fellows.
- Senior faculty members have been elected to such prestigious groups as the Health and Medicine Division of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine; American Association for the Advancement of Science; American Society for Clinical Investigation; National Academy of Education; American Academy of Nursing; and National Academy of Sciences. And they have claimed some of the country's most prestigious awards, including the National Medal of Science, Lasker-DeBaakey Clinical Medical Research Award, John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation "genius award," and Andrew W. Mellon Foundation Distinguished Achievement Award for exemplary contributions to humanistic studies.
- In the 2016-17 academic year, faculty members were awarded the Passano Foundation Laureate Award, the Friendship Award (the highest recognition bestowed by the People's Republic of China to foreign experts), the National Institutes of Health (NIH) New Innovator Award, a National Endowment for the Arts Creative Writing Fellowship, the Lenore Marshall Poetry Prize, the Paul Ehrlich and Ludwig Darmstaedter Prize, and the Distinguished Service Award from the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Faculty members also were named fellows of the National Academy of Inventors and the American Council of Polish Culture.
- Since the beginning of this century, Pitt alumni have received the Nobel Peace Prize, Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine, Pulitzer Prize for fiction, National Medal of Science, National Book Award, John Fritz Medal in engineering, Shaw Prize in Life Science and Medicine, Albany Medical Center Prize in Medicine and Biomedical Research, and many other high honors.
- In the most recent QS World University Rankings (2016-17), a ranking of the world's top 916 universities, the University of Pittsburgh was ranked 38th best in the United States and 145rd in the world. The QS World University Rankings by Subject 2017 also gave the top spot in the world to Pitt's philosophy department.
- In 2012, Pitt surpassed its goal to raise $2 billion during its historic capital campaign. Thanks to generous gifts received from more than 189,000 donors, the University was able to create more than 1,600 new endowments, including more than 600 student scholarships and fellowships and more than 150 new faculty chairs and professorships.
- Pitt's intercollegiate athletics history dates back to 1869, when the university began to field a baseball team. Today, Pitt sponsors 19 varsity sports with more than 450 student-athletes vying for conference, regional and national honors.
- Pitt boasts a rich Olympic history that includes gold-medal winning performances in track, and silver and bronze medals in diving and basketball.
- The Panthers rank fourth among all schools with eight inductees in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Pitt's gridiron legacy also includes 24 College Hall of Famers, 92 first-team All-American citations and nine national championships.
- Pitt was the only school to have wins over two teams that finished in the top 5 of the final 2016 College Football Playoff rankings. The Panthers gave No. 2 Clemson—the eventual national champion—its only loss (43-42) and effectively kept No. 5 Penn State out of the playoff field by defeating the Nittany Lions, 42-39.
- Tailback James Conner heroically overcame both a knee injury and Hodgkin lymphoma to return to the field in 2016. Conner was nothing short of spectacular in his final collegiate season, earning first team All-ACC after rushing for 1,092 yards and scoring 20 touchdowns. The ACC's Brian Piccolo Award recipient, he set conference records for career rushing touchdowns (52) and total touchdowns (56). Conner was selected by the hometown Pittsburgh Steelers in this year's NFL Draft.
- Dominic Giordano earned All-American honors in three different diving events, making him the first Pitt diver to complete the NCAA trifecta on the one-meter and three-meter boards, as well as the platform. In 2016, Giordano became the first Pitt swimmer or diver to earn a national title as he placed first on the three-meter board.
- The Pitt men's basketball team owns a .850 home winning percentage at the Petersen Events Center, ranking 10th nationally in that category.
- Under Coach Dan Fisher, the Pitt volleyball team has achieved three consecutive 20-win seasons. In 2016, the Panthers went 25-9 and advanced to their first NCAA Tournament in 12 years.
- All-American hurdler Desmond Palmer earned five All-ACC citations during the 2016-17 competition year. A past ACC champion in the 400-meter hurdles, Palmer will conclude his career as one of the Panthers' most decorated student-athletes of the school's ACC era.
- In the classroom, 385 Pitt student-athletes achieved a grade point average of at least 3.0 during the 2016 spring or fall terms, while 29 earned a perfect 4.0.
- In May 2017, four Pitt teams received NCAA Public Recognition Awards for exemplary Academic Progress Rates (APR): men's basketball, women's cross country, women's softball and women's tennis.
- During the 2016-17 academic year, Pitt student-athletes dedicated more than 2,600 hours to community service in Western Pennsylvania and beyond.

- Founded in 1870, Syracuse University is a private research university dedicated to advancing knowledge and fostering student success through teaching excellence, rigorous scholarship, and interdisciplinary research.
- Syracuse University enrolls about 14,600 undergraduates and 6,700 graduate students pursuing full- and part-time study in 11 academic schools and colleges. They enjoy the resources of a beautiful 270-acre main campus; extended campus venues in Los Angeles, Washington D.C., and Manhattan; and seven study abroad centers around the world.
- Syracuse University distinguishes itself among the nation's best research universities as determined by the Carnegie Foundation. Five of Syracuse's schools and colleges — Architecture, Information Studies, Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Newhouse School of Public Communications, and Whitman School of Management — rank among the best in the nation. Syracuse's long list of nationally-recognized programs include creative writing, entrepreneurship and emerging enterprises, industrial design, information systems, drama, and social work.
- Syracuse's distinguished roster of faculty scholars includes two MacArthur Fellows; a Pulitzer Prize winner; PEN America Literary Award winners; numerous Guggenheim and Fulbright fellows; members of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences; and Fellows of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.
- Syracuse students represent all 50 states and 118 countries; 25 percent are students of color; and about one-fifth are first-generation college students. Approximately two-thirds of students receive institutional aid.
- Syracuse's study abroad program is consistently ranked one of the top in the U.S. Almost half of Syracuse's students graduate with at least one study abroad experience.
- Syracuse has a long legacy of support for veterans, from enrolling unprecedented numbers of returning soldiers under the GI Bill to launching the Entrepreneurship Bootcamp for Veterans with Disabilities. Today, the University ranks third nationally for veterans and the Whitman School of Management is the No. 5 business school for veterans. Syracuse University is home to the acclaimed Institute for Veterans and Military Families, the first university-based institute in the U.S. dedicated to addressing the needs of veterans and their families.
- Syracuse alumni include Ernie Davis, the first African-American Heisman Trophy winner; novelist Joyce Carol Oates; NBA great and former Detroit Mayor Dave Bing; Pro Football Hall of Famers Jim Brown, Floyd Little and Art Monk; former Vice President Joseph Biden; pioneering astronaut Eileen Collins; writer/producer Aaron Sorkin; actress/singer Vanessa Williams; and NBC announcer Mike Tirico.
- Syracuse's across-the-board finishes in the NACDA Directors' Cup in the last six years have been part of the top eight performances in Syracuse Athletics' history, including the school's best finish ever in 2016. Eleven of Syracuse's 20 squads represented Syracuse in national postseason competitions. In each of the past six seasons, at least nine teams have represented Syracuse in the postseason.
- Student-athletes also excel in the classroom. Ten teams had a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher, while the cumulative GPA for all student-athletes is a 3.08. Fourteen Orange teams earned a perfect 1,000 Academic Progress Rate (APR) single-year score, while two — men's basketball and women's soccer — posted a perfect four-year APR. Eight Syracuse teams have posted a perfect single-year score for the past three years.
- SU boasts eight alumni in the Pro Football Hall of Fame; 18 coaches and players in the College Football Hall of Fame; the 2003 men's basketball national championship; three members in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame; 11 NCAA championships in men's lacrosse; and 27 members in the National Lacrosse Hall of Fame.

- The University of Virginia is one of the nation's top public universities. UVA was founded in 1819 by Thomas Jefferson, who designed the buildings, planned the curriculum, and hired the first faculty members. Jefferson's original "Academical Village" remains the heart of the University's Grounds and is the only university in America designated as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. UVA is known for excellence in teaching, research, public service, and medicine.
- Rankings for UVA are consistently high. The University is ranked as the No. 2 public national university by U.S. News & World Report and as one of the best values in higher education by numerous publications.
- UVA is highly selective. Among 2016 first-year students, 88 percent ranked in the top 10 percent of their graduating classes. The application review is holistic, allowing the admission committee to look far beyond grades and test scores to seek motivated students who will challenge their professors and each other through exploration, inquiry, discussion, and debate.
- Graduation rates at UVA are among the highest in the country. The six-year graduation rate for students who entered in fall 2010 is 94 percent. The six-year graduation rate for African-American students who entered in fall 2010 is 91 percent.
- Student-athletes excel on the field and in the classroom. In 2016-17, UVA captured three Atlantic Coast Conference championships – field hockey, men's tennis and rowing. The men's tennis team won its third consecutive national championship and senior Thai-Son Kwiatkowski captured the NCAA men's singles title. The team championship marks the 25th NCAA title in the athletics department's history.
- UVA is recognized as a leader in humanities, social sciences, and arts scholarship and is enhancing research efforts in science and engineering to support the pursuit of innovation and new discoveries with the potential to transform society.
- UVA Medical Center — named No. 1 in a list of "Best Hospitals" in Virginia by U.S. News & World Report — is a nationally renowned academic medical center committed to educating tomorrow's health-care leaders, offering outstanding patient care, and discovering better ways to treat diseases.
- As a member of the Association of American Universities and a leading research institution, UVA offers undergraduates an outstanding educational experience with a wide range of volunteer-service and extracurricular opportunities.
- Students at UVA have a long tradition of responsible self-governance. The University Judiciary Committee, The Honor Committee, Student Council, The Lawn Selection Committee, and many others are staffed and governed solely by students. Community service is a cornerstone of student life, and each year, students give over 110,000 hours of service valued at over $2.5 million.

- Founded in 1872, Virginia Tech is a public, land-grant, research university that offers 250 undergraduate and graduate degree programs to 33,000 students and manages a research portfolio of $504 million — the largest of any university in Virginia.
- Virginia Tech is one of the six Congressionally designated senior military colleges and one of two, with Texas A&M being the other, that maintains a full-time Corps of Cadets alongside a civilian student population. Seven Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets alumni have earned the Medal of Honor, with another 22 being awarded the Distinguished Service Cross or Navy Cross.
- Virginia Tech has produced two Rhodes Scholars in its history. William W. Lewis earned the prestigious honor in 1963, and Mark Embree earned the designation in 1996.
- A school-record 27,178 high school students applied to Virginia Tech to be a part of the Class of 2021. Nearly 7,100 accepted offers of admission.
- The 2017 Princeton Review ranked Virginia Tech at No. 1 for "Best Quality of Life" and "Their Students Love These Colleges."
- The 2017 Princeton Review also ranked Virginia Tech at No. 4 for "Best Campus Food" and No. 7 for "Happiest Students," "Lots of Race/Class Interaction," and "Town-Gown Relations are Great" categories.
- USA Today College, a group that ranks various university academic programs to help high school students make informed decisions, rated Virginia Tech No. 1 two years in a row for studying natural resources and conservation.
- U.S. News and World Report rated the school's environmental and environmental health engineering and industrial systems graduate programs No. 6 nationally.
- In addition, U.S. News and World Report ranked the school's civil engineering graduate program and the evening MBA program seventh nationally.
- The school's hospitality and leisure management program came in sixth worldwide according to QS World University Ratings by subject.
- The National Science Foundation ranked the university No. 44 in research expenditures.
- Money magazine ranked Virginia Tech No. 2 among the "Best Colleges You Can Actually Get Into" and No. 9 among "Best Public Colleges."
- The Hokie Club — Virginia Tech Athletics' fundraising organization — raised a record $33 million over the past academic year, with $16.2 million designated to the Hokie Scholarship Fund to pay for student-athlete scholarships.
- Taking over for the legendary Frank Beamer, football coach Justin Fuente guided the Hokies to 10 wins, an ACC Coastal Division championship and the largest comeback in school history, as Tech registered a thrilling 35-24 win over Arkansas in the Belk Bowl. He was the consensus choice as the 2016 ACC Coach of the Year after the Hokies finished with a final ranking of No. 16 in both the USA Today coaches' poll and The Associated Press top-25 poll — Tech's highest finish in both polls since 2010.
- The Virginia Tech wrestling (dual and tournament), men's indoor track and field team, and both the men's and women's outdoor track and field teams won ACC championships this past academic year, bringing the total number of ACC team titles to 26 since the school joined the ACC for the 2004-05 academic year.
- Virginia Tech student-athletes Jared Haught (wrestling), Torben Laidig (men's indoor track), and Hanna Green (women's indoor track) were named ACC Scholar-Athletes of the Year for their respective sports in 2016-17.
- Virginia Tech's men's basketball, women's basketball, football, and men's soccer teams all qualified for postseason play in 2016-17, while individuals qualified for postseason action in the sports of men's golf, men's and women's swimming and diving, men's and women's indoor track and field, men's and women's outdoor track and field, and wrestling.

WAKE FOREST

- The Alexander Meiklejohn Award For Academic Freedom was given to Wake Forest in 1978 by the American Association of University Professors.
- In 1962 Wake Forest became the first southern private university to admit African-Americans. Jim Caldwell was the first African-American head football coach in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The first African-American quarterback and the first African-American to earn All-ACC honors in three straight years in the ACC were Wake Forest student-athletes.
- The James W. Denmark Loan Fund, originally named the North Carolina Baptist Students' Aid Association, is the oldest student loan fund in the United States, having been established at Wake Forest on November 30, 1875.
- Wake Forest has a long and distinguished history in debate dating to the old campus in Wake Forest, North Carolina. Having had final four finishes at the National Debate Tournament in 1993, 1994, 1995, 1997, 2006, 2008, and 2009 and with championships in 1997 and 2008, Wake Forest is among a small number of schools that has qualified most often for the national debate finals. Wake Forest has hosted two Presidential Debates, in 1988 and 2000.
- Wake Forest is a pioneer in study abroad with emphasis on this aspect of education beginning in the 1970s. Each semester Wake Forest faculty and students gather for semester long study at each of the University owned houses in London, Venice, and Vienna. At present more than 60 percent of Wake Forest undergraduates participate in study abroad at some point during their undergraduate years.
- During the past 20 years Wake Forest has had 12 Rhodes Scholars.
- Wake Forest's 1955 College World Series championship marked the first national championship by an Atlantic Coast Conference member institution.
- Wake Forest was one of eight teams to play in the first NCAA basketball tournament in 1939.
- With "Pro Humanitate" as its motto, Wake Forest encourages service by its students and has more than 150 community partners locally, nationally, and internationally. During 2008-09, two-thirds of the undergraduate student body completed more than 85,000 service hours. The Brian Piccolo Cancer Fund was established by Wake Forest students in 1980 in memory of the alumnus and Chicago Bear football star who died of cancer in 1970 at age 26. Wake Forest students have raised more than $1 million for this Fund which supports cancer research.
- Students in Wake Forest's accountancy program have achieved the highest passage rate in the nation on the Certified Public Accountant (CPA) examination for the past five years. Since the program began offering a master's degree in accounting in 1997, the graduates have achieved the top national ranking in passage rate of the CPA exam eight times.
- The Wake Forest Institute for Regenerative Medicine and the Center for Nanotechnology and Molecular Materials are examples of research groups at Wake Forest which are leading research efforts in their fields internationally.
- Wake Forest University Health Sciences is the leading academic institution in the State of North Carolina in the amount of income generated through the licensing of Intellectual Property and is in the top five of academic institutions nationally in this activity.
- In 1953 Wake Forest was one of the seven institutions that founded the Atlantic Coast Conference and provided the new Conference with its first Commissioner. In 1956 Wake Forest successfully moved the approximately 120 miles from Wake Forest, North Carolina, to Winston-Salem, North Carolina, while retaining its name, heritage, traditions, and uniqueness as an institution. Persons closely associated with Wake Forest have stated that these two events, the moving to Winston-Salem and the joining with six other institutions to form the ACC, have been the two most important historical events that have contributed to the subsequent growth of Wake Forest to become a top 30-ranked national university today.
