BB&T Ballpark in Charlotte, N.C. (above) will be home to the 2020 ACC Baseball Championship from May 19-24.

The ACC Baseball Championship has been held in Charlotte region twice previously at Fort Mill, South Carolina, in 2000 and 2001. Located in Uptown Charlotte, BB&T Ballpark opened in 2014 and is the host facility for the Charlotte Knights, a Triple-A minor league baseball team in the International League. The stadium was the site of the 2016 Triple-A All-Star Game and has hosted a number of college baseball games in recent years involving ACC teams. Stadium capacity is 10,200.

The 2020 ACC Baseball Championship will again include 12 teams and feature a pool play format, leading into a four-team, single-elimination bracket to determine the league champion.

The ACC, which has sent 26 teams to the College World Series in the last 14 years, enters the 2020 season with nine of its teams ranked nationally in at least one major poll.

The 2020 ACC Baseball Information Guide is a publication of the Office of the Commissioner and the Communications Office of the ACC. Additional information is available upon request to accredited members of the media.

Special thanks to the ACC baseball sports information directors, previous league contacts, and ACC staff for their valuable research and contribution to this publication, and to Meagan Hanratty for assistance in editing. Cover design by Martha Schwab.

Tradition of Excellence

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

In today's intercollegiate athletics, competition is so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency. Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds.

Established in 1953, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Through 66 years of competition, ACC schools have captured 161 NCAA team championships, including 79 in men's sports, 80 in women's competition and two in fencing. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 186 times in men's competition and 141 times in women's action.

Wake Forest won the ACC's first baseball national championship during the 1955 season. Virginia won the second in 2015, defeating Vanderbilt in the CWS Finals. In addition, Miami claimed four national baseball championships (1982, 1985, 1999, 2001) prior to joining the ACC.

Last year, eight ACC teams earned NCAA Tournament bids, marking the 16th consecutive year that the league has placed at least a half-dozen teams in the field. Florida State, in its final season under legendary head coach Mike Martin, appeared in the NCAA Tournament for the 42nd consecutive year, the longest active streak in the nation. The Seminoles' 57 total appearances rank second nationally. Two other ACC programs rank among the top five nationally in total NCAA appearances (Miami third with 46 and Clemson fifth with 44).

With Louisville and Florida State reaching the College World Series, the ACC placed at least one team in Omaha for the 14th consecutive year. Over that 14-year span, the ACC has placed 26 teams in the CWS, or 23 percent of the cumulative field. At least two ACC teams have reached Omaha nine times during that stretch.

The 14 current ACC programs have a combined 96 College World Series appearances

With Georgia Tech seeded No. 3 in the NCAA Tournament and Louisville at No. 7, the ACC saw multiple teams earn top-eight national seeds for the 10th consecutive year.

Florida State's Martin retired following the College World Series as the NCAA's winningest head coach in any sport with 2,029 career victories and a record-tying 17 CWS appearances with the Seminoles.

Sixty-nine league players were selected in the 2019 Major League Baseball Draft. At least one ACC player has been picked in the first round for 29 straight years.

2018-19 IN REVIEW

The 2018-19 academic year saw ACC teams capture six more national team titles. The ACC has averaged more than four national titles per year over the past two-plus decades (91 in 22 years) and has claimed multiple NCAA titles in 36 of the past 38 years.

Academically, the member institutions of the Atlantic Coast Conference again led the way among Power 5 conferences in the latest "Best Colleges" rankings released by US News & World Report. ACC member institutions combined for an average rank of 54.7, marking the 12th straight year that the ACC led all Power 5 conferences.

2018-19 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Football – Clemson
Men's Basketball – Virginia
Women's Soccer – Florida State
Field Hockey – North Carolina
Men's Lacrosse – Virginia
Women's Golf – Duke

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The conference will conduct championship competition in 27 sports during the 2019-20 academic year – 13 for men and 14 for women. The first ACC championship was held in swimming at North Carolina State University on February 25, 1954.

The 13 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, fencing, swimming & diving, indoor and outdoor track & field, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet held in tennis October 6-8 at Wake Forest University. Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, field hockey, soccer, basketball, fencing, swimming & diving, indoor and outdoor track & field, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing, with volleyball deciding its champion by regular-season play.

A HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, North Carolina with seven charter members – Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest – drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, North Carolina, where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid-South, Mid-Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when South Carolina tendered its resignation. The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when Georgia Tech was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of Miami and Virginia Tech. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.

The ACC added its 13th and 14th members on Sept. 18, 2011, when Pittsburgh and Syracuse accepted invitations to join the conference. The two schools officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013. Notre Dame also officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013, after announcing on Sept. 12, 2012 its intention to enter the league for competition in all sports but football, bringing the membership of the conference to 15. The Fighting Irish will play five games with ACC schools each year.

On July 1, 2014, Louisville entered the ACC on the same day Maryland withdrew, keeping the conference's membership at 15 institutions.

THE CURRENT ACC SCHOOLS

Boston College was founded in 1863 by the Society of Jesus to serve the sons of Boston's Irish immigrants and was the first institution of higher education to be founded in the city of Boston. Originally located on Harrison Avenue in the South End of Boston, the College outgrew its urban setting toward the end of its first 50 years. A new location was selected in Chestnut Hill and ground for the new campus was broken on June 19, 1909. During the 1940s, new purchases doubled the size of the main campus. In 1974, Boston College acquired Newton College of the Sacred Heart, 1.5 miles away. With 15 buildings on 40 acres, it is now the site of the Law School and residence halls. In 2004, BC purchased 43 acres of land from the archdiocese of Boston; this now forms the Brighton campus.

Clemson University was founded in 1889 through a bequest from Thomas Green Clemson, a Philadelphia-born, European-educated engineer who married John C. Calhoun's daughter, Anna, and settled at her family estate in South Carolina. To help rebuild the state's war-ravaged economy, Clemson left his home and fortune to the state of South Carolina to fund the science and research-oriented institution that bears his name. Located on the shores of Hartwell Lake with its own 16,000-acre forest, Clemson is known today for its focus on student success and engagement, its statewide land-grant mission and its unrelenting school spirit.

Duke University was founded in 1924 by tobacco magnate James B. Duke as a memorial to his father, Washington Duke. Originally the school was called Trinity College, a Methodist institution, started in 1859. In 1892, Trinity moved to west Durham where the east campus with its Georgian architecture now stands. Nearby are Sarah P. Duke gardens, and further west the Gothic spires of Duke chapel overlook the west campus.

Florida State University is one of 11 universities of the State University System of Florida. It was established as the Seminary West of the Suwannee by an act of the Florida Legislature in 1851, and first offered instruction at the post-secondary level in 1857. Its Tallahassee campus has been the site of an institution of higher education longer than any other site in the state. In 1905, the Buckman Act reorganized higher education in the state and designated the Tallahassee school as the Florida Female College. In 1909, it was renamed Florida State College for Women. In 1947, the school returned to a co-educational status, and the name was changed to Florida State University.

Next to I-85 in downtown Atlanta stands the Georgia Institute of Technology, founded in 1885. Its first students came to pursue a degree in mechanical engineering, the only one offered at the time. Tech's strength is not only the red clay of Georgia, but a restored gold and white 1930 model A Ford Cabriolet, the official mascot. The old Ford was first used in 1961, but a Ramblin' Wreck had been around for over three decades. The Ramblin' Wreck fight song appeared almost as soon as the school opened, and it is not only American boys that grow up singing its rollicking tune, for Richard Nixon and Nikita Khrushchev sang it when they met in Moscow in 1959.

The University of Louisville began to take shape on April 3, 1798, when eight men declared their intention to establish the Jefferson Seminary in Louisville and called upon their fellow citizens to join them in pledging funds for land, buildings, and teachers. These early Louisvillians took the first steps on a journey that would link them with succeeding generations to the modern University of Louisville in the twenty-first century. Today's University of Louisville has become known especially for teaching, research, and service to its community and the advancement of educational opportunity for all citizens thereof. With an enrollment of 21,000, its academic programs attract students from every state and from all over the world.

The University of Miami was chartered in 1925 by a group of citizens who felt an institution of higher learning was needed for the development of their young and growing community. Since the first class of 560 students enrolled in the fall of 1926, the University has expanded to more than 15,000 undergraduate and graduate students from every state and more than 114 nations from around the world. The school's colors, representative of the Florida orange tree, were selected in 1926. Orange symbolizes the fruit of the tree, green represents the leaves and white, the blossoms.

The University of North Carolina, located in Chapel Hill, has been called "the perfect college town," making its tree-lined streets and balmy atmosphere what a college should look and feel like. Its inception in 1795 makes it one of the oldest schools in the nation, and its nickname of Tar Heels stems from the tar pitch and turpentine that were the state's principal industry. The nickname is as old as the school, for it was born during the Revolutionary War when tar was dumped into the streams to impede the advance of British forces.

North Carolina State University is located in the state capital of Raleigh. It opened in 1889 as a land-grant agricultural and mechanical school and was known as A&M or Aggies or Farmers for over a quarter-century. The school's colors of pink and blue were gone by 1895, brown and white were tried for a year, but the students finally chose red and white to represent the school. An unhappy fan in 1922 said State football players behaved like a pack of wolves, and the term that was coined in derision became a badge of honor.

The University of Notre Dame began late on the bitterly cold afternoon of November 26, 1842, when a 28-year-old French priest, Rev. Edward Sorin, C.S.C., and seven companions took possession of 524 snow-covered acres that the Bishop of Vincennes had given them in the Indiana mission fields. A man of lively imagination, Father Sorin named his fledgling school in honor of Our Lady, in his native tongue, "L'Université de Notre Dame du Lac" (The University of Our Lady of the Lake). On January 15, 1844, the University was thus officially chartered by the Indiana legislature.

The University of Pittsburgh was founded as Pittsburgh Academy by Hugh Henry Brackenridge in 1787 and is one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States. Pitt researchers led by Jonas Salk developed the first polio vaccine in 1955, and Pitt surgeons have performed more than 17,000 organ transplants, making Pitt the world's transplantation capital. In 1932, a Pitt team led by Charles Glen King isolated and identified the chemical structure of vitamin C.

Syracuse University was founded during the Methodist State Convention in Syracuse, N.Y., in February of 1870. Measures were taken to raise $500,000 to endow the university, with the city of Syracuse subscribing $100,000. Rev. Jesse T. Peck, who was elected president of the Syracuse University Board of Trustees, suggested purchasing 50 acres of farmland in southeastern Syracuse. The Board of Trustees of Syracuse University signed the University charter and certificate of incorporation on March 24, 1870, and the university's College of Liberal Arts opened in September of 1871.

The University of Virginia was founded in 1819 by Thomas Jefferson and is one of three things on his tombstone for which he wanted to be remembered. James Madison and James Monroe were on the board of governors in the early years. The Rotunda, a half-scale version of the Pantheon which faces the Lawn, is the focal point of the grounds as the campus is called. Jefferson wanted his school to educate leaders in practical affairs and public service, not just to train teachers.

Virginia Tech was established in 1872 as an all-male military school dedicated to the original land-grant mission of teaching agriculture and engineering. The University has grown from a small college of 132 students into the largest institution of higher education in the state during its 132-year history. Located in Southwest Virginia on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Allegheny Mountains, the campus consists of 334 buildings and 20 miles of sidewalks over 2,600 acres. The official school colors - Chicago maroon and burnt orange - were selected in 1896 because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.

Wake Forest University was started on Calvin Jones' plantation amid the stately pine forest of Wake County in 1834. The Baptist seminary is still there, but the school was moved to Winston-Salem in 1956 on a site donated by Charles H. and Mary Reynolds Babcock. President Harry S. Truman attended the ground-breaking ceremonies that brought a picturesque campus of Georgian architecture and painted roofs. Wake's colors have been black and gold since 1895, thanks to a badge designed by student John Heck who died before he graduated.

ACC Commissioner John Swofford

Now in his 23rd year as Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner, John Swofford continues to make a dramatic impact on the ACC and throughout college athletics. As the ACC's longest-tenured Commissioner, Swofford has been part of the conference for more than five decades as a student-athlete and administrator.

A native of North Wilkesboro, North Carolina, and a two-year all-state quarterback at Wilkes Central High, Swofford remains the only player to have his number retired by the school after earning Most Valuable Player honors in football, basketball and track.

After being recruited by numerous schools to play football, Swofford attended the University of North Carolina on a Morehead Scholarship as part of head coach Bill Dooley's first recruiting class. In addition to earning a spot on the ACC Academic Honor Roll as a student-athlete, he started at quarterback as a sophomore and part of his junior year, and then finished his career as a defensive back for UNC's 1971 ACC Championship team. He played in the Peach Bowl as a junior and the Gator Bowl as a senior.

Swofford received his Master's in Athletics Administration from Ohio University. His first job in college athletics came at the University of Virginia — where he worked under future ACC Commissioner Gene Corrigan — before returning to North Carolina. In 1980, at the age of 31, Swofford was named the athletics director at his alma mater. He held that post for 17 years, a period in which North Carolina claimed more ACC and NCAA Championships than during any athletics director's tenure in ACC history, and claimed the 1994 Sears Directors' Cup, awarded to the top overall athletics program in the nation. Swofford also hired six head coaches that went on to win national championships — five at North Carolina and football coach Mack Brown at the University of Texas. In 1981, he hired the first African American head coach in the ACC, track and field coach Hubert West.

As Commissioner, Swofford has successfully guided the ACC through turbulent times in college athletics and has led the league's expansion from nine to 15 schools. Under his leadership, the ACC has remained at the forefront of college athletics, winning 91 national titles during his 22 years as Commissioner.

Under the leadership of Swofford, the ACC has received unprecedented levels of national television exposure. One of most significant initiatives in conference history, the launch of ACC Network on August 22, 2019, is a partnership between ESPN and the ACC. The 20-year collaboration, which began with the inception of ACC Network

Extra in the fall of 2016, provides ACC fans exceptional access to live events via a comprehensive, multi-platform network, while extending the conference's existing rights agreement with ESPN as the conference's exclusive worldwide rights holder through 2036.

In May 2019, the inaugural ACC Mental Health and Wellness Summit was held to explore strategies and best practices for mental health care for student-athletes at each institution. The summit also identified ways to reduce the stigma of mental illness and promote access to mental health services.

Approved in January of 2015, Swofford was a leading advocate for NCAA legislation that allows Autonomy 5 conferences to better address the needs of their institutions, athletic programs and student-athletes. In April of 2013, Swofford and the leadership of the ACC's member institutions spearheaded a grant of rights agreement that helped stabilize the college athletic landscape and further secured the league's position as one of the nation's premier conferences.

Swofford oversaw the creation of the ACC Football Championship Game and played a key role in the evolution of the postseason structure to today's College Football Playoff. The ACC Bowl affiliations have been tremendously enhanced under his watch.

He was instrumental in starting the ACC/Big Ten Challenge, now an early-season staple for both men's and women's college basketball. He created the ACC Student-Athlete Advisory Committee in 1999 and launched the ACC Community Outreach Program.

Swofford is a member of four Halls of Fame — the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame; the North Carolina High School Athletic Association Hall of Fame; the Chick-fil-A Bowl Hall of Fame; and the Wilkes County Hall of Fame. He has been awarded the Corbett Award, which is the highest administrative honor given nationally to a collegiate athletics administrator. Swofford has received the Homer Rice Award from the Division 1A Athletic Directors' Association and is a recipient of the Ohio University Distinguished Alumnus Award. In 2011, he also received one of Greensboro's Father of the Year Awards.

Swofford and his wife, Nora, reside in Greensboro, North Carolina. Together, they have three children — Autumn and her husband, Sherman Wooden, who have three children, Maya, Lyla and Lincoln; Chad and his wife, Caitlyn, who have one child, Owen; and Amie and her husband, Mike Caudle, who have two children, Emerson and Colson.

ACC Championship Seeding Information

Qualification

The top team from both the Atlantic and Coastal divisions, determined by conference winning percentage, and the next ten teams with the best conference winning percentage regardless of division will be selected to participate in the Conference Baseball Championship. The two division champions will automatically be seeded number one and two based on winning percentage in overall conference competition, and the number one seed shall have the choice of its preferred day off. The remaining teams will be seeded (three through 12) based on winning percentage in overall Conference competition without regard to division. All ties will be broken using the tie-breaking provisions.

Seeding

Seeding for the Championship will be determined by the regular season conference game results. The following guidelines will be used:

- Head-to-head conference game results are the outcome of games among only the teams involved in the tie.
- Overall conference game results are defined as games a team plays against all conference opponents, not just the teams involved in the tie.
- Common opponents are teams that have been scheduled by the Conference to play during the regular season. One completed game of a series constitutes a common opponent for tiebreaker purposes.
- If one of the seeding criteria cannot be applied because at least one game of the series was not played, the next ordered criteria should be used.
- Divisional standings will be determined by a team's overall conference winning percentage, not just winning percentage within the division.
- In two-team ties, when comparing tied teams and arriving at another pair of tied teams, use each team's winning percentage against the tied teams as a group prior to the group's tiebreaking procedures. For example, if Teams A and B have the same winning percentage as compared to Team C; then Teams A and B will be compared to Team D, but if Team D is tied with Team E, then Teams A and B will be compared to the winning percentage of Teams D and E collectively, not individually.
- In three-or-more team ties, when comparing tied teams and arriving at another group of tied teams, use each team's head-to-head conference winning percentage against the tied teams as a group prior to the group's tiebreaking procedures. For example, if Teams A, B and C have the same results as compared to Team D; then Teams A, B and C will be compared to Team E, but if Team E is tied with Team F, then Teams A, B and C will be compared to the results of Teams E and F collectively, not individually.
- When overall or divisional standings are utilized in tiebreakers, records against teams or groups of teams will be used prior to any seeding or divisional tiebreakers. For example, Teams A and B are division co-champions and Team A has received the higher seed. When determining the tiebreaker for seeds three through 12, records against Teams A and B should be used as a group, not just records against Team A.
- When comparing records against a single team or group of teams, the higher winning percentage shall prevail even if the number of games played against a team or group of teams is unequal. If winning percentage of the tied teams is equal against a team, or a group of tied teams, continue until one team gains an advantage. For example, 2-0 is better than 3-1; 1-0 is the same as 2-0; 2-1 is the same as 4-2; 1-0 is better than 1-1; 0-1 is the same as 0-3.

1. Division Champion(s) Determination – The division champion(s) will be the team(s) in each division with the highest overall conference winning percentage. If two or more teams are tied for first place in divisional standings, they shall be declared division co-champions. For seeding purposes, the tie will be broken to determine which team receives the highest seed within each division.

Two-Team Tie

- a. Winning percentage in head-to-head conference game results.
- b. Winning percentage in games played against divisional opponents.

c. Head-to-head conference winning percentage versus teams within the division occupying the next highest position in the divisional standings and continuing down through the divisional standings until one team gains an advantage.

d. Head-to-head conference winning percentage versus the common opponent(s) in the opposite division occupying the highest position in their divisional standings and continuing down through the opposite division's standings until one team gains an advantage.

e. If a coin flip is required, the procedure takes place immediately following the conclusion of the last regular season game prior to the Conference Championship. The procedure is administered by the Commissioner or a designated assistant.

Three-or-More Team Tie

In the case of a three-team tie for the highest seed in each division, if any procedure reduces the tie by one team and two teams remain tied, the two-team tie procedure will be followed, comparing only the remaining tied teams. In the case of a tie among more than three teams, if any procedure reduces the tie by at least one team, then the three or more-team tie procedure will be restarted.

- a. Winning percentage in head-to-head conference game results.
- b. Winning percentage in games played against divisional opponents.

- d. Head-to-head conference winning percentage versus the common opponent(s) in the opposite division occupying the highest position in their divisional standings and continuing down through the opposite division's standings until the tie is reduced by one or more teams.
- e. If a blind draw is required, the procedure takes place immediately following the conclusion of the last regular season game prior to the Conference Championship. The procedure is administered by the Commissioner or a designated assistant.

2. Seeds One and Two Determination. The highest seed from each division will automatically be seeded number one and two based on overall winning percentage.

Tie for Seeds One and Two

- a. Winning percentage in head-to-head conference game results.
- b. Winning percentage versus the common opponent(s) occupying the next highest position in the overall standings and continuing down through the overall standings until one team gains an advantage.

1. Winning percentage in head-to-head conference game results.
2. Winning percentage versus the common opponent(s) occupying the highest position in the overall standings and continuing down through the overall standings until one team gains an advantage.

Dating back to the beginning of the Major League Baseball Draft in 1965, four student-athletes representing the current 14-member ACC schools were selected as the No. 1 overall pick. The ACC's first No. 1 overall draftee was North Carolina's B.J. Surhoff, who was selected by the Milwaukee Brewers in 1985.

Noting the 2019 MLB Draft

- Sixty-nine ACC players were selected in the 2019 MLB Draft.
- It marked the third-highest total in league ACC history, behind the 75 from the conference selected in both 2017 and 2018.
- At least 50 ACC players have been selected in 13 of the last 14 MLB Drafts.
- Three ACC players were picked in the first round, extending a streak of 28 straight years with at least one first-round pick from the conference.
- At least two players from each of the ACC's 14 baseball schools were selected. North Carolina led the ACC with nine players selected, followed by Louisville and NC State with eight each, and Georgia Tech with seven.
- Of the 30 MLB teams, 26 drafted at least one player from the ACC in 2019.
