The 2021 Atlantic Coast Conference Basketball Tournament Record Book is intended to assist you in coverage of a classic American sports event.

Now in its 68th year, the ACC Tournament determines the official conference men's basketball champion. That team in turn receives the league's automatic bid to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament. Given the high stakes, throughout its history the ACC Tournament has featured great performances, great drama, and great crowds. The Record Book is designed to readily provide a depth of statistical detail that lends perspective to ACC Tournament action, and to put results in context with the achievements of past teams, players, and coaches.

The 2021 edition was edited and designed by Emily Watkins, with contributions from Steve Phillips. Sources for foundation materials include the ACC Basketball Yearbook; daily newspaper files; the ACC Basketball Tournament Classic by Smith Barrier and Hugh Morton; the late Skeeter Francis, former ACC Service Bureau director; the late Bob Bradley, former Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association executive secretary and long-time editor of the ACC Basketball Tournament Record Book; retired ACC Media Relations Director Brian Morrison; and research material from Barry Jacobs.

The 2020 New York Life ACC Tournament will be most remembered for what didn't happen.

For the first time in 67 years, the Atlantic Coast Conference did not crown a men's basketball tournament champion, as health and safety concerns took precedent over tradition.

With tipoff coinciding with the widening spread of the COVID-19 pandemic, the tournament began as scheduled at the Greensboro Coliseum on Tuesday, March 10, and was played through the conclusion of second-round games on Wednesday night.

But with concern over the pandemic occupying the national spotlight, the NCAA announced that its upcoming basketball tournament games would be closed to spectators, with only essential staff and limited family in attendance. The ACC would do the same for its remaining tournament games, beginning with Thursday's quarterfinal round.

Then, minutes before the scheduled tipoff of Thursday's early-afternoon opener between Florida State and Clemson, even those revised plans came to an abrupt halt with the following announcement:

"Following additional consultation with the league's presidents and athletic directors, and in light of the continued conversations surrounding the fluidity of COVID-19, the Atlantic Coast Conference will immediately cancel the remainder of the 2020 ACC Tournament. For NCAA Tournament automatic qualification purposes, Florida State will represent the league as the ACC Champion. We are disappointed for our student-athletes, schools and fans to have to make this decision; however, the overall health and safety of all involved is the priority."

Other conferences around the nation took similar action. And the hours and days that followed brought the painful realization that no NCAA Tournament would be played in 2020 – nor would remaining college sports of any kind as cancellations, long-term quarantines and social distancing became the norm.

"It's tough to say (that the ACC Tournament is canceled), for these young men that are on the floor that want to continue to play," ACC commissioner John Swofford said in an on-court address at the Coliseum shortly after Thursday's decision. "It's tough to say those words for you fans that are in the stands, for the media covering this great event, but we believe that it's the right decision to make at this particular point in time."

Swofford noted that the ultimate decision to cancel was complicated by the fact information related to the pandemic remained in flux throughout the week.

"You can ask, 'Why was (the decision) not made sooner?'" Swofford said. "It's a fair question. The answer is that it's an extraordinarily fluid situation with information coming at us that changes – I used to say by the week, then I said by the day, and now I say by the hour. So hopefully we're doing the right thing in the context of this great country of ours and in the context of intercollegiate sports. Thank you for your understanding."

Even though his top-seeded and nationally fourth-ranked Seminoles never got the chance to play a game, Florida State head coach Leonard Hamilton backed the decision to bring the 2020 New York Life ACC Tournament to a close.

"This is really bigger than just from an athletics standpoint," Hamilton said. This is a worldwide epidemic. We will have more opportunities to play basketball, but the downside of some of the circumstances that could happen as a result of us not being cautious, not being properly cautious, would be something that we don't want to have to deal with.

"I'm pleased that the leaders have thought things through with the information that they have and they have decided that it's best for the betterment of our student-athletes and administration and for the game of basketball for us to proceed with caution."

While the record will show that no ACC Tournament champion was crowned in 2020, it will also note that two days of basketball took place before the stage went dark.

Georgia Tech did not participate, joining North Carolina in 1961, Maryland in 1991, Syracuse in 2015 and Louisville in 2016 as members who previously sat out due to NCAA difficulties.

The tournament opened on Tuesday, March 10, with a pair of minor upsets – at least in terms of seeding – as No. 13 Pitt skipped past No. 12 Wake Forest, while No. 14 North Carolina downed No. 11 Virginia Tech.

Freshman Justin Champagnie scored a game-high and career-high 31 points to lead Pitt's 81-72 win over Wake Forest. The Panthers became the first No. 13 seed to win an ACC Tournament game in the seven years since the conference expanded to 15 schools. Wake Forest junior center Olivier Sarr finished with a team-high 20 points and game-high 13 rebounds for the 11th double-double of this season and his career.

Garrison Brooks scored 20 points, and Brandon Robinson added 17 points on five 3-pointers as North Carolina extended its season with a 78-56 win over Virginia Tech. Hunter Cattoor scored 14 points off the bench to lead the Hokies.

But neither Pitt nor UNC could keep the momentum going through Wednesday's second round. No. 5 seed NC State downed the Panthers, 73-58, in the second game of the day, and No. 6 seed Syracuse rolled to an 81-53 win over the Tar Heels in the nightcap.

Quarterfinals • Thursday, March 12 (Canceled)

#1 Florida State vs. #8 Clemson
#4 Duke vs. #5 NC State
#2 Virginia vs. #7 Notre Dame
#3 Louisville vs. #6 Syracuse

Remaining rounds were canceled due to COVID-19 pandemic.

Other second-round action saw No. 8 seed Clemson clip No. 9 Miami, 69-64, while No. 7 Notre Dame defeated No. 10 Boston College, 80-58.

Al-Amir Dawes scored 18 points to lead Clemson in the first game of Wednesday's session. Aamir Simms added 14 points and 10 rebounds, and John Newman had 11 points for the Tigers, who finished 18-of-19 from the free-throw line. Chris Lykes led Miami with 21 points off the bench, including five 3s, and DJ Vasiljevic added 17. The 5-foot-7 Lykes played 28 minutes and led all scorers despite wearing a mask to guard a facial laceration near his eye.

With its win over Pitt, NC State clinched its third consecutive 20-win season under head coach Kevin Keatts and its 34th as an ACC member. Devon Daniels scored 23 points to lead the Wolfpack, while C.J. Bryce added 13 points and 10 rebounds. Xavier Johnson's 15 points led Pitt, and Trey McGowens added 12. Johnson, McGowens and Champagnie combined for 64 double-figure scoring games during the 2019-20 season.

Notre Dame also hit the 20-win plateau for the season as T.J. Gibbs scored 16 points and Dane Goodwin added 15 in the win over Boston College. Steffon Mitchell's 20 points and 13 rebounds led the Eagles. Notre Dame became the eighth NCAA Division I program to reach 1,900 men's basketball victories, joining Kentucky, Kansas, North Carolina, Duke, Temple, Syracuse and UCLA.

With Elijah Hughes scoring 18 of his game-high 27 points in the first half, Syracuse took control early versus UNC in what proved to be the 2020 tournament finale. Hughes scored in double figures for the 30th time in 32 games. Brooks scored 18 points to lead the Tar Heels. The Orange avenged a regular-season loss to the Tar Heels at the Carrier Dome 11 days earlier and snapped a nine-game losing skid versus UNC.

The 2020 New York Life ACC Tournament was the 27th held at the Greensboro Coliseum. It will remain one of the more noteworthy from a historical perspective, even though none of the top four seeds played a single game.

Swofford likened the situation somewhat to March of 1981, when an attempt on President Reagan's life the Monday of the 1981 NCAA Final Four plunged the status of the national title game between North Carolina and Indiana into a whirlwind of uncertainty.

"Things like that and things like this, which could affect a multitude of people, it puts things in perspective," Swofford said. "As much as we love this sport and all college sports, this will sober you up because the most important thing now is the well-being of our citizens."

"What we have to try and do is continue to try and make appropriate decisions that are reasonable and responsible."

2020	The ACC Tournament was canceled after the first and second rounds were played due to COVID-19 pandemic.						NCAAT canceled

Note: * Teams were seeded for the NCAA field beginning in 1979.  Consolation games were played in the NCAA Tournament through 1981. Only the ACC Tournament champion received an NCAA invitation until 1975. The ACC's first place regular-season finishers won the ACC Tournament two of every three times when NCAA participation was predicated on winning the league title (14 in 21 years). During the 45 seasons in which multiple entrants from the same league have been given NCAA berths, 18 first-place finishers won the ACC Tournament, 40 percent. The 2020 NCAA Tournament was canceled due to COVID-19 pandemic.

Reynolds Coliseum

The league's inaugural ACC Tournament was held at Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh, N.C., March 4-6, 1954. Tournament session tickets were sold at two prices, $6 and $9. A total of 39,200 fans attended the tournament, but only the Friday semifinals were a sellout. Thursday attracted 6,800 for the afternoon session and 8,500 in the evening. Saturday's championship game between Wake Forest and NC State drew 900 under capacity. In all, the league grossed $70,252 in revenue that first year.

Larry Worsley

NC State's Larry Worsley was the only non-starter in history to earn ACC Tournament MVP honors. The 6-5, Oak City, N.C., junior entered the 1965 ACC Tournament averaging 5.2 points per game. Worsley scored 12 points in State's 106-69 quarterfinal win over Virginia. The following night against Maryland, Worsley had 15 points in a 76-67 victory over the Terps. In the title game against top-seeded Duke, Worsley came off the bench and connected on 14 of 19 field goal attempts to finish with a career-high 30 points as the Wolfpack captured its first ACC title since 1959 and fifth overall.

A Family Affair

Clemson's Mahaffey quartet holds all existing records for brother participation in the ACC Tournament. The four LaGrange, Ga., brothers played in 10 of the 11 tournaments between 1960 and 1970. Tom was the first (1960-62), followed by Donnie (1962-64), Randy (1965-67) and finally Richie (1967-68 and 1970). Richie injured a shoulder early in the 1969 season, was redshirted and missed the 1969 tournament. Tom and Donnie played together under Press Maravich in 1962, while Randy and Richie were a Tiger twosome under Bobby Roberts in 1967. All four Mahaffeys are among Clemson's top 10 career leaders in rebound average.

March 4, 1978

In the first nationally televised ACC Tournament championship (during ABC's Wide World of Sports), Duke defeated Wake Forest 85-77 for the Blue Devils' first title in 12 years. Fearing a Saturday afternoon tip-off for TV would result in sloppy play, ACC officials moved the quarterfinals and semifinals to Wednesday and Thursday — the only time the tournament was not played on successive days. Also for the first time, all seven games were televised live.

Title games impact NCAA rules

Two ACC Tournament finals had a significant impact on how the college game is played. The 1974 championship contest, won in overtime by top-ranked NC State over fourth-ranked Maryland, helped facilitate a change to allow multiple entrants from the same league into the NCAA Tournament. The 1982 championship contest, won in a slowdown by North Carolina over Virginia, led to installation of a shot clock and 3-pointer, first as an experiment and later as permanent rules.

Childress posts historic performance

Randolph Childress enjoyed arguably the greatest three-game performance in ACC Tournament history, scoring 107 points in 1995, a record for the event. The Wake Forest guard had 40 in a comeback win over Duke in the quarterfinals, 37 in an overtime victory against North Carolina, including the winning shot, in the championship contest, and 30 in a semifinal triumph over Virginia. Childress also had 21 assists and made 23 of 44 from 3-point range. The following season the Demon Deacons repeated as champions, led by center Tim Duncan, the 1996 ACC Player of the Year. Duncan set a record for the title game with 22 rebounds in a one-point victory over Georgia Tech.

Record-setting scoring in first round upsets

In 2007, for the first time in ACC Tournament history, the first four games were all won by lower seeds, including Wake Forest's 114-112 double overtime win over Georgia Tech which set a tournament record for the most points scored (226) in a game by two teams. The teams set records for single-game scoring and for combined field goal accuracy - .592 on 74 of 125 shooting. Wake became the first squad to boast seven double-figure scorers in an ACC Tournament contest. Demon Deacon guard Ishmael Smith set a one-game mark with 15 assists.

Notre Dame continues string of non-North Carolina champions

The 2015 ACC Tournament produced an unprecedented fourth straight champion from outside the state of North Carolina, as well as a different winner for the fifth straight year. In just its second year as a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference, Notre Dame won the title faster than any program added since the foundation of the league. The 62nd ACC Tournament also marked the first time since 1981 that the championship was not decided on a Sunday afternoon. The first 28 ACC Tournament title games were played on Saturdays, and all but one (1978) on a Saturday night.

Growing concerns over COVID-19 pandemic shuts down 2020 Tournament

For the first time in league history, the Atlantic Coast Conference did not crown a men's basketball tournament champion, as health and safety concerns took precedent over tradition. With tipoff coinciding with the widening spread of the COVID-19 pandemic, the tournament began as scheduled and was played through the conclusion of the second-round games. But with concern over the pandemic occupying the national spotlight, the NCAA announced that its upcoming basketball tournament games would be closed to spectators, with only essential staff and limited family in attendance. The ACC it would do the same for its remaining tournament games, beginning with Thursday's quarterfinal round. Then, minutes before the scheduled tipoff of Thursday's noon opener between Florida State and Clemson, even those revised plans came to an abrupt halt as the league canceled the remainder of the conference tournament.

Halftime Margins

There have been 137 ACC Tournament games in which a team rallied to win after facing a halftime deficit. A record six of eight victors in 2003 rallied after trailing at intermission. There were two such comeback victories in 2020, with Pitt advancing to the second round against Wake Forest who held a slim one-point lead at half, and Clemson eliminating a five-point lead in the second round to defeat Miami. Eight-seed NC State set a tournament record in 1997, reaching the finals by coming back from halftime deficits in each of its first three games.

Fate of Two-Game Regular Season Winners in Third Meetings in ACC Tournament Since 2005

Since the ACC adopted an unbalanced schedule in 2005, league teams no longer automatically face each other home and home. Between 2005 and 2020, there have been 78 games that involved squads that had played twice during the regular season and met a third time during the subsequent ACC Tournament. To date, teams that won twice during the regular season were 35-7 in that third meeting, including 6-0 in 2013. Four champions during those 15 years beat their finals opponent for a third time.

The Tournament Most Valuable Player Everett Case Award

Everett Norris Case, nicknamed the "Old Gray Fox," is credited with kindling passionate interest in Atlantic Coast Conference basketball, particularly in North Carolina. Case, who began coaching at age 18 in Indiana, spent his entire collegiate head coaching career at North Carolina State. A member of the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame, he directed the Wolfpack from 1946 through the second game of the 1965 season, compiling a 377-134 (.738) record. Case won nine league titles in his first decade at Raleigh – six in the Southern Conference and the first three in the newly created ACC in 1954, 1955 and 1956. He also won an ACC championship in 1959 and led the Pack to the NCAA Final Four in 1950.

Case, an avid and creative promoter of the game, was responsible for spurring NC State to build the 12,400-seat Reynolds Coliseum, which opened on campus in December 1949 as the largest basketball facility south of New York. For 10 consecutive years Case's fast-breaking Wolfpack led the nation in attendance.

Case's greatest ACC-era players were Ronnie Shavlik, Vic Molodet, Lou Pucillo, and John Richter. Former Case players became head coaches at Duke (Vic Bubas, Bucky Waters) and NC State (Norman Sloan, Les Robinson). Case also recruited and coached Larry Worsley, the first recipient of the Everett Case Award as the most valuable player in the ACC Tournament. NC State players hoisted an ailing Case on their shoulders after winning the '65 title so he could help cut down the nets, an enduring celebratory act he is credited with introducing to the game.

The 2020 ACC Tournament was canceled after the first and second rounds were played due to COVID-19 pandemic. No individual awards were selected.

Coaching Records

Bold denotes active coaches

There have been 17 member schools during the previous 67 seasons of Atlantic Coast Conference competition, with six of the eight charter institutions still in the league. A total of 84 men have served as head coaches during those years, including three who directed teams at two different conference schools then in the conference – Frank McGuire (North Carolina and South Carolina), Press Maravich (Clemson and NC State), and Dwane Morrison (South Carolina and Georgia Tech). Ten men both played and coached in the ACC Tournament, including Pitt's Jeff Capel, who played in six games as a member of the Duke Blue Devils from 1994 to 1997.

• Sidney Lowe, Bucky Waters and Matt Doherty are the only ACC head coaches who played for an ACC champion. NC State won in 1983 with Lowe starting at point guard and winning the Case Award as MVP. The Wolfpack also won in '56 with Waters as a reserve. Doherty appeared in every game as UNC won the ACC Tournament in 1981 and 1982.

• Among those who played and coached in the tournament, Bobby Cremins directed three teams to titles at Georgia Tech (1985, 1990, 1993), while Lefty Driesell (1984) and Gary Williams (2004) won once each at Maryland.

• Prior to the 1953 founding of the ACC, a number of eventual head coaches played varsity basketball at schools that became members of the league: James "Banks" McFadden (Clemson), Vic Bubas (NC State), Dwane Morrison (South Carolina), Frank Fellows (Maryland), Norman Sloan (NC State), Charles "Chuck" Noe (Virginia), Evan "Bus" Male (Virginia), Bill McCann (Virginia), Murray Greason (Wake Forest), and Horace "Bones" McKinney (NC State and North Carolina).

THE ONLY TIME...

...that five players on both teams played the entire game: Steve Vandenberg, Fred Lind, Randy Denton, Dave Golden, and Dick DeVenzio of Duke against Bobby Cremins, Tom Owens, John Ribock, John Roche and Billy Walsh of South Carolina, 1969 SF. Duke won, 68-59.

...that four players on one team scored 20 or more points in a game: John Lucas (24), Owen Brown (22), Mo Howard (20,) and Tom McMillen (20) scored 86 of Maryland's 105 points in the Terps' 105-85 semifinal victory over North Carolina in 1974.

...that all five starters played the full 50 minutes in a double-overtime game. Rick Anheuser, Paul Coder, Joe Dunning, Ed Leftwich, and Vann Williford of NC State played without relief in the Wolfpack's 42-39 double-overtime win in the 1970 finals over South Carolina. Tom Owens, John Ribock, and Tom Riker also played 50 minutes for South Carolina.
