COMMISSIONER'S WELCOME

As the 2021-22 academic year concluded this past May, the accomplishments of our 15 member schools and more than 10,000 student-athletes continued to resonate. By all standards of measure, athletically and academically, it was another banner year for the ACC.

- No other conference won more NCAA National Championships, and our league's seven titles matched the conference's record for a single academic year. ACC student-athletes won 24 NCAA individual titles. Eight additional ACC teams competed in national semifinals – two for a national championship – and three NCAA semifinals or finals were head-to-head matchups between ACC teams.
- Twelve different ACC schools captured either an ACC or NCAA title, and 11 programs finished ranked first or second in the nation in their respective sports.
- We were thrilled in December to celebrate full distribution making ACC Network available to nearly 90 million households. Another huge breakthrough came a few months ago when the ACC Network and its fellow ESPN outlets secured the rights to exclusively carry both the ACC Women's Basketball Tournament and ACC Baseball Championship in their entirety. And in partnership with the ACC Network, there continues to be a priority to increase football programming year-round.
- For the 15th consecutive year, the ACC led the way among all football bowl subdivision conferences in best colleges rankings by U.S. News and World Report. Three schools ranked among the top 25 and seven among the top 40.
- When the NCAA released its annual graduation success rates last December, the ACC again stood at the forefront. The ACC's average graduation rate of 92 percent matches the conference's average GSR achieved a year ago and was four points higher than this year's national average. A total of 145 ACC teams achieved perfect GSR scores of 100.
- Beyond the competitions and classrooms, the league's ongoing work in racial and social justice, health and safety, and professional development continued to shine over the past year. Our league announced the inaugural ACC Unite Award, which will be presented annually and was created to honor individuals affiliated with the league who have made an impact in the areas of racial and social justice.
- Initiatives of our Committee for Racial and Social Justice (CORE) included honoring the first male and female athletes of color to integrate the athletic teams at each of our 15 institutions. The league's commitment was also highlighted during the second annual fall, winter, and spring Unity Weeks, which provide a meaningful way for the conference to show our collective commitment to CORE's mission. Culminating the CORE initiatives for the year was a truly transformational and educational experience in which more than 45 ACC student-athletes, administrators and conference office staff took part in a journey to two of the centers of the civil rights movement in Selma and Montgomery, Alabama.
- June 23 marked the golden anniversary of Title IX, the historic legislation that has positively impacted the lives of women and provided a pathway in their continued support of achieving gender equity in college athletics. We will proudly recognize and celebrate Title IX throughout the upcoming year and understand that we have an ongoing responsibility to continue to further fairness and equity for women. With three females leading their respective athletic departments, the ACC has more female ADs than all our peer conferences combined. While we are certainly excited to be leading the way, there remains much work to be done.

- The ACC Health and Safety Summit was held in partnership with the ACC Sports Medicine Association, bringing together our campus professionals to collaborate and share best practices. The ACC's Professional Development Academy featured student-athletes coming together as a part of a four-week program. The Academy's curriculum designed and delivered by league administrators assisted participants in establishing and refining skills for long-term success in their lives.
- The ACC is one year away from sponsoring 28 league sports with the addition of ACC women's gymnastics in 2023-24. Our conference will sponsor 15 women's sports and 13 men's sports, which will be the most among our peer conferences.

While I am proud of all we have accomplished, I share your sense of excitement and anticipation as we turn to the coming year and the challenges of navigating the ever-changing landscape of college athletics. It remains my belief there is no better conference in the country, and the ACC remains committed to building upon its long history of balancing academics, athletics and integrity at the highest levels.

TRADITION of EXCELLENCE

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

In today's intercollegiate athletics, competition is so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency. Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds.

Established in 1953, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Through 69 years of competition, ACC schools have captured 173 NCAA team championships, including 87 in women's competition, 82 in men's sports and four in fencing. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 196 times in men's competition and 181 times in women's action.

Since 2015, the ACC has won seven national championships in football, men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball. The ACC is the only conference to win each of those four titles over that stretch.

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The ACC conducts championship competition in all 27 sports – 13 for men and 14 for women. The first ACC championship was held in swimming at North Carolina State University on February 25, 1954.

The 13 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, fencing, swimming & diving, indoor and outdoor track & field, wrestling, baseball, tennis, and golf and lacrosse. Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet held in tennis October 6-8 at Wake Forest University. Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, field hockey, soccer, basketball, fencing, swimming & diving, indoor and outdoor track & field, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing, with volleyball deciding its champion by regular-season play. Men's lacrosse also determines its champion via regular-season competition.

The ACC's sports sponsorship is slated to grow to 28 (15 women, 13 men) with the addition of women's gymnastics in 2023-24. No Autonomy Five conference sponsors more than 28 sports, and the league's 27 sports for 2022-23 is the second most. The soon-to-be 15 women's sports will be the most of any peer conference.

2021-22 YEAR IN REVIEW

The conference completed championship competition in all 27 sports with 11 different schools claiming at least one conference crown. The ACC tied for first among all conferences with seven NCAA titles in 2021-22, and ACC student-athletes accounted for 24 individual national championships. The ACC has averaged more than four national team titles per year over the past quarter-century (104 in 25 years) and has won multiple NCAA titles in 38 of the past 41 years.

The ACC's seven national team titles in 2021-22 matched the league record first set in 2009-10.

Academically, the member institutions of the ACC again led the way among Power 5 conferences in the "Best Colleges" rankings released by US News & World Report. ACC member institutions combined for an average rank of 55, marking the 15th straight year that the ACC led all Power 5 conferences.

A HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, North Carolina with seven charter members – Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest – drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, North Carolina, where a set of bylaws was adopted, and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were Dixie, Mid-South, Mid-Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when South Carolina tendered its resignation. The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when Georgia Tech was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of Miami and Virginia Tech. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.

The ACC added its 13th and 14th members on Sept. 18, 2011, when Pittsburgh and Syracuse accepted invitations to join the conference. The two schools officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013. Notre Dame also officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013, after announcing on Sept. 12, 2012 its intention to enter the league for competition in all sports but football, bringing the membership of the conference to 15. The Fighting Irish will play five games with ACC schools each year.

On July 1, 2014, Louisville entered the ACC on the same day Maryland withdrew, keeping the conference's membership at 15 institutions.

— FALL CHAMPIONS —

2021-22 ANNUAL REPORT

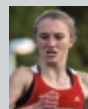

2021 CHAMPION NC STATE

The NC STATE women's cross country team won its first NCAA Championship in program history on Nov. 20, totaling 84 points to take home the team crown. While the title is the first NCAA Championship in program history, it is the third national title won by the storied NC State program. The Wolfpack women's squads won the AIAW Championships in 1979 and 1980. The title is additionally the first by an ACC women's team since Virginia won back-to-back titles in 1981 and 1982. This is the second national championship team win in Tallahassee, Florida, for NC State. The 1979 squad's AIAW title was won in the city as well. The Wolfpack was led by Kelsey Chmiel's sixth-place individual finish with a time of 19:34.6 as the highest ACC finisher. Sophomore Katelyn Tuohy also posted a top-20 finish as her time of 19:43.1 placed her 15th. Allie Hays recorded the first All-America performance of her career, placing 22nd with a time of 19:48.2 while Hannah Steelman placed 24th in 19:49.6. Sam Bush rounded out the Pack's five that counted towards the team total with her 32nd-place finish (19:52.9).

- Placing five women among the top 32 runners and totaling 84 points, NC State took home the program's first NCAA Division I Women's Cross Country Championship on a near-perfect race day at Apalachee Regional Park in Tallahassee, Florida, on Nov. 20.
- The NCAA championship marked the third for the ACC in women's cross country but the first since Virginia claimed back-to-back titles in 1981 and 1982. The national title is the third overall for NC State, which claimed back-to-back AIAW championships in 1979 and 1980.

- Wolfpack sophomore Kelsey Chmiel placed sixth overall and led all ACC runners with her 6K time of 19:34.6. NC State received additional All-America (top-40) finishes from Katelyn Tuohy (15th, 19:43.1), Alexandra Hays (22nd, 19:48.2), Hannah Steelman (24th, 19:49.6) and Samantha Bush (32nd, 19:52.9).
- NC State, under the watch of veteran head coach and former Wolfpack All-American Laurie Henes, made its NCAA-leading 35th appearance in the NCAA Women's Cross Country Championship field. It marked the - program's 16th top-10 NCAA finish and the sixth in the last seven years. It was the Wolfpack's 12th top-five NCAA finish and ninth podium (top-four) finish.

- Notre Dame placed fifth in the team scoring with 215 points, buoyed by a ninth-place finish by Maddy Denner (19:37.7) and an 11th-place showing by Olivia Markezich (19:38).
- The NC State women again claimed the team title at the ACC Cross Country Championships hosted by Notre Dame on Oct. 29. The Wolfpack women took home their

- sixth consecutive conference title and 27th overall, the second-most by any ACC program in any sport and the most of any women's program.
- NC State's Kelsey Chmiel claimed the ACC women's 6K crown with a time of 20:02.7, a little more than two seconds ahead of teammate Katelyn Tuohy. The Wolfpack placed four runners among the top five, and five among the top seven. NC State's 20 total points tied for the lowest team score in the history of the ACC Women's Championship.

• The host NOTRE DAME men claimed the team title at the ACC Cross Country Championships on Oct. 29. The Fighting Irish captured their second consecutive ACC men's championship and their third in four seasons.

• Adriaan Wildschutt of Florida State took the gold medal in the ACC men's 8K final with a time of 23:07, placing 16 seconds ahead of runner-up Dylan Jacobs of Notre Dame.

• The Notre Dame men continued their formula for success in recent seasons under head coach Sean Carlson, with eight runners posting All-ACC (top 21) finishes. Four placed among the top 10, with Jacobs joined by Danny Kilrea in fourth place, 2020 ACC champion Yared Nuguse in fifth and Josh Methner in 10th.

• Florida State's Wildschutt, last season's NCAA runner-up, continued a dominating season in which he won four races and was named the USFCCCA National Athlete of the Week on two occasions. Wildschutt is the first ACC men's cross country champion from Florida State since Andrew Lemmoncello won back-to-back years in 2004 and 2005.

• Notre Dame placed ninth at the NCAA Championships with 290 points and was followed by Wake Forest with 356 to give the ACC two teams among the top 10. They were followed by 18th-place North Carolina (460), 19th-place Syracuse (485) and 20th-place Florida State (517).

• Following up on last season's second-place NCAA finish, FSU's Adriaan Wildschutt again led all ACC runners with his 10K time of 28:52 to place sixth. Notre Dame's Dylan Jacobs took 10th place at 28:57.

• Four more ACC men earned All-America status with Wake Forest's Zach Facioni placing 19th at 29:19.2, followed by FSU's Ahmed Muhumed (20th, 29:19.9), North Carolina's Parker Wolfe (28th, 29:25.8) and Notre Dame's Danny Kilrea (31st, 29:28).

• Florida State served as the host school for the 2021 NCAA Men's and Women's Cross Country Championships. It was the second DI NCAA National Championship hosted by FSU and the first since the 1996 women's tennis national championships. It marked the fifth time that the NCAA Cross Country Championships were hosted by a current ACC school and the first since Louisville welcomed the event in 2017.

ALL-TIME NCAA CHAMPIONS

2015 Syracuse

2021 ACC CHAMPION NORTH CAROLINA

- NORTH CAROLINA claimed its fifth consecutive ACC Championship, defeating Virginia 1-0 in a hard-fought title game at Syracuse's J.S. Coyne Stadium on Sunday, Nov. 8. Tournament MVP Erin Matson's goal off a penalty corner at the 11:16 mark of the third quarter made the difference for the Tar Heels (13-6), who captured their 24th overall title under head coach Karen Shelton's watch.
- It marked only the sixth time a team seeded lower than No. 2 claimed the ACC Field Hockey Championship, and two of those squads – the 2017 team that was seeded No. 5 and this year's team – form part of UNC's current five-year title run.
- Four ACC teams earned bids to the 2021 NCAA Field Hockey Championship. The league claimed three of the eight at-large spots in the 18-team tournament field, along with the automatic qualifier awarded to ACC champion North Carolina. Louisville, Syracuse and Virginia joined the Tar Heels in the tournament field with Syracuse (quarterfinal round) advancing furthest among league teams.

- The ACC landed multiple teams in the NCAA field for the 27th consecutive year. This marked the eighth time in the last nine seasons that at least four conference teams have earned NCAA bids.
- The three-time defending NCAA champion Tar Heels (13-7) made their national-best 38th tournament appearance and 19th in a row.
- Thirteen ACC student-athletes were recognized as first-team All-Americans by the NFCA in 2021, including four first-teamers. North Carolina's Erin Matson earned recognition for the fourth time and became just the second player in UNC program history to be named a first-team All-American four times.
- Matson was also named the 2021 NCAA DI Player of the Year by Bolster Field Hockey. The Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania, senior ended the season as the ACC's all-time leader in goals scored with 109. She led the nation in 2021 with 27 goals (1.59 per game) and 64 points (3.76 per game). She tied for 12th in assists. Her points total was 15 ahead of any other player, despite missing three games due to injury.

- FLORIDA STATE won its third national championship and the 27th from current ACC membership Monday night, edging BYU 4-3 on penalty kicks.
- An ACC team has played in the national championship in each of the last four years with Florida State claiming its second title during that span. The ACC tournament champion has gone on to win the NCAA Women's College Cup 17 times, with the Seminoles accomplishing the feat in 2018 and 2021.

- For the 39th time in the 40 years the event has been held, the ACC had a team in the NCAA Women's Soccer College Cup, as the Florida State Seminoles punched their ticket with a 1-0 overtime win against No. 2 Michigan last Friday. It marked the 16th consecutive year the ACC has had at least one team among the nation's Final Four.
- The ACC led all conferences with four women's soccer student-athletes on the 2021 MAC Hermann Trophy Semifinalists. The league also led all conferences with 10 on the Preseason Watch List.
- Headlined by three of the tournament's No. 1 seeds, nine ACC women's soccer teams were selected to the 2021 NCAA Championship. The ACC's nine teams were the most of any league and two more than the next-closest conference.
- Second-seeded Florida State won its second consecutive ACC Women's Soccer Championship with a 1-0 victory against top-seeded Virginia on Sunday, Nov. 7, at WakeMed Soccer Park. The Seminoles claimed their eighth title and their third in the last four years.
- For the second consecutive year, Florida State's Jaelin Howell was the recipient of the prestigious MAC Hermann Trophy, presented to the top player in NCAA Division I soccer. Howell becomes the sixth student-athlete to garner the award in consecutive years and the fourth from the ACC.

- Howell joined North Carolina's Mia Hamm (1992-93) and Cindy Parlow (1997-98), Portland's Christine Sinclair (2004-05), Stanford's Catarina Macario (2019-20) and Virginia's Morgan Brian (2013-14) as the only student-athletes to win the award in consecutive years.
- Howell also secured the 18th MAC Hermann Trophy for current ACC women's soccer membership - the most of any conference.
- Howell was also named the Honda Sport Award winner for soccer as announced by the Collegiate Women Sports Awards (CWSA). The Honda Sport Award has been presented annually by the CWSA for the past 46 years to the top women athletes in 12 NCAA-sanctioned sports and signifies "the best of the best in collegiate athletics."
- Headlined by four first-round draft picks, 10 ACC student-athletes were selected in the 2022 National Women's Soccer League (NWSL) Draft. The ACC's four first-round selections tied for the most of any conference and the 10 total selections were the second most, just one shy of tying for the conference lead.
- For the second consecutive year and third time in the last five years, the ACC had a student-athlete selected among the top-five picks.

2021 CHAMPION NOTRE DAME

- Clemson won its third NCAA Championship (1984, 1987), tied for seventh most of any Division I program.
- ACC teams now have won 18 NCAA men's soccer championships, including nine since 2001.
- The ACC had two of the four teams in the NCAA Men's College Cup (Clemson, Notre Dame) and has had at least one conference team in the Men's College Cup in 20 of the last 21 seasons.
- Eight ACC teams earned bids to the 2021 NCAA Division I Men's Soccer Championship, most by any conference in this tournament.
- The ACC not only picked up the most berths of any conference, but also claimed four of the top eight national seeds: ACC champion Notre Dame (4), Pitt (5), Duke (7) and Clemson (8).
- This marked the ninth straight season in which the ACC placed the most teams in the tournament and the 21st consecutive season that at least five league teams earned a bid.
- Louisville, North Carolina, Virginia Tech and Wake Forest also picked up bids. All eight ACC teams started the tournament on their home fields.
- Notre Dame won the 2021 ACC Championship on Nov. 14 with a 2-0 victory over Duke. It marked the Fighting Irish's first ACC crown in men's soccer.
- Notre Dame was the fifth different school to win the ACC Championship in the last five years (2017-20: Wake Forest, Louisville, Virginia, Clemson).
- Clemson's Oskar Ågren was named one of three finalists for the MAC Hermann Trophy. Three ACC players were among the Hermann Trophy semifinalists: Ågren, Jasper Loeffelsend (Pitt) and Thor Ulfarsson (Duke).
- Pitt led all schools with eight All-ACC selections, including six of the 11 picks on the second team. Clemson had five selections, while Wake Forest picked up four honorees. Pitt's Jasper Loeffelsend and Notre Dame junior forward Jack Lynn each were selected to the All-ACC First Team for the second straight season.
- Duke captured three of the ACC's five season awards with Offensive Player of the Year Thor Ulfarsson, Midfielder of the Year Peter Stroud and Freshman of the Year Shakur Mohammed.

- Pitt's Jasper Loeffelsend claimed ACC Defensive Player of the Year honors, and Pitt head coach Jay Vidovich earned Coach of the Year laurels.
- Six ACC teams were ranked in the final United Soccer Coaches poll, most of any league. Clemson led all ACC teams at No. 1 in the poll and was followed by Notre Dame (4), Pitt (6), Duke (12), Wake (17) and Virginia Tech (19).
- The ACC had six teams among the top 25 in the NCAA's final RPI, twice as many as any other conference:
- Duke (4), Notre Dame (5), Pitt (7) Clemson (9), North Carolina (20) and Virginia Tech (24).
- Ulfarsson ranked second nationally in goals per game (0.94/game), with 15 goals in 16 matches.
- Ulfarsson led the ACC and ranked second nationally in goals with 15. Louisville's Aboubacar Camara tied for 10th nationally with 13.
- Five ACC teams ranked among the top 20 teams nationally in scoring: Pitt (third, 2.6/game), Louisville and Clemson (13th, 2.22), Notre Dame (17th, 2.17) and Duke (18th, 2.15).

- LOUISVILLE won the 2021 ACC Volleyball Championship, its fourth in the last seven seasons and third outright.
- Following a historic season for the conference, four ACC teams finished ranked in the final American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) Top 25 Poll, including three teams among the top 10 for the first time in league history. Louisville, the ACC Champion, finished the year with a 32-1 overall record and leads the conference at No. 3 in the final AVCA ranking, followed by No. 4 Pitt (30-4), No. 8 Georgia Tech (26-6) and No. 25 Miami (25-5).
- For the first time in conference history, two ACC teams advanced to the NCAA national semifinals as No. 1 Louisville and No. 3 Pitt each won their regionals. It marked the first trip to the semifinals for both teams and the second and third for an ACC team.
- The ACC's three teams in the regional finals and third round, and five teams in the second round were both the most in conference history. The six teams selected for the championship tied the league record.

- When Georgia Tech and Louisville met in the NCAA regional final, it marked the first time two ACC teams have met with a trip to the semifinals on the line.
- Louisville was the NCAA Championship's overall No. 1 seed. It marked the first time in ACC history the conference has had the top seed in the tournament. Pitt was the No. 3 seed, while Georgia Tech was the No. 8 seed. The ACC's three top-eight seeds were the most of any conference. Florida State, Miami and North Carolina all earned at-large bids. The conference also had six teams earn NCAA Selections in 2017.
- Five ACC student-athletes were named AVCA First-Team All-Americans for the first time in conference history.
- The ACC was 13-4 in non-conference matches when both teams were ranked, 10-6 against top-15 opponents and 6-5 against top-10 opponents.
- The ACC was 144-40 in non-conference competition with a .782 win percentage, both the best among Power Five conferences.

2021 CHAMPION PITT

Kenny Pickett accounted for three touchdowns and Erick Hallett II returned one of Pitt's four interceptions for a touchdown to help the No. 17 Panthers beat No. 18 Wake Forest 45-21 in the 2022 Subway ACC Football Championship Game.

Hallett, selected the game's MVP, had a pick-six with 11:42 left that came on the heels of A.J. Woods having a 75-yard interception return that fell only 3 yards short of taking it all the way for the score early in the fourth quarter. That was the highlight sequence in a strong defensive performance that locked up the high-scoring Demon Deacons after the opening quarter and ultimately carried the Panthers to their first ACC title since leaving the Big East in 2013.

After surrendering touchdowns on three first-quarter possessions, Pitt (11-2) held Wake Forest scoreless for its last 13 drives while getting after Sam Hartman for five sacks to stymie the Demon Deacons' tempo-controlling flow.

Wake Forest (10-3) was back in the ACC title game for the first time since winning the 2006 championship. But the Demon Deacons finished with 295 total yards, with only 109 of those coming after the opening quarter.

Hartman threw for two scores and ran for another in the opening period. But by the end of this one, Hartman was suffering through another nightmarish performance on a field about 20 minutes from his hometown in Cornelius.

He ended last year here with four interceptions in a Duke's Mayo Bowl loss to Wisconsin, then threw for 213 yards in another four-interception performance before exiting with 8:09 left.

The third was Woods' long return that had him weaving all over the field before being stopped inside the 5 for the longest interception return in the 17-year history of the title game to set up a short TD by Israel Abanikanda.

And on the next offensive snap, Hallett jumped in front of Hartman's pass for Jaquarii Roberson and sprinted for the 19-yard return - extending the ball with his right arm as he crossed the goal line - and a 45-21 lead that all but wrapped up the title for Narduzzi's Panthers.

The game offered a departure from what had become a recent tradition: watching Clemson roll past an overmatched Coastal Division champion on the way to another league title and trip to the College Football Playoff. And going back a decade, either Clemson or Florida State had been in this game as the Atlantic Division champion before Wake Forest finally interrupted that run this year.

This game began with a high-revving show of four straight touchdown drives between the two teams, including a dazzling 58-yard scoring run by Pickett on the first in which he stutter-stepped near the 40 as though he was going to slide then took off around pulling-up defenders the rest of the way to the end zone.

Wake Forest led 21-14 when Hartman hit Taylor Morin on a contested TD catch near the left pylon.

But after that, Pittsburgh's defense started getting to Hartman more often while the secondary that found itself under early duress began to hold up against those deep throws.

Sam Scarton's 41-yard field goal gave Pitt a 24-21 lead at the break, then Abanikanda scored from 12 yards out around the right side late in the third to make it a two-possession lead and send the Panthers on their way.

POSTGAME NOTES

2021 SUBWAY ACC FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

- PITT captured its first ACC football championship since joining the conference in 2013.
- The Panthers and Demon Deacons are both 1-1 in ACC Football Championship Game appearances.
- The Panthers won their third overall conference championship after claiming a share of the Big East Conference title in both 2004 and 2010.
- Pitt became the first Coastal Division team to win the ACC Football Championship Game since Virginia Tech's 44-33 win over Florida State in 2010.
- The Panthers are also the first team other than Clemson or Florida State to win the ACC Football Championship Game since 2010.
- The 58-yard touchdown run by Pitt QB Kenny Pickett in the game's opening minutes was the second-longest rush from scrimmage in ACC Football Championship Game history, and the longest by a quarterback. Clemson RB Travis Etienne set the record with a 78-yard run versus Pitt in 2018.
- Pickett's two touchdown passes versus the Demon Deacons gave him a Pitt-record 81 for his career. Pickett entered the game tied for school the record with Hall of Famer Dan Marino, who threw for 79 touchdowns from 1979-82 and was honored this weekend as an ACC Legend.

- Pickett's two touchdown passes also gave him an ACC-record 42 for the current season, breaking former Clemson All-American Deshaun Watson's ACC single-season record of 41 set in 2016.
- In addition to the four interceptions, the Panthers limited Wake Forest to 74 yards in the second half and 295 for the game. Pitt shut out the Demon Deacons in the final two quarters and finished the game with five quarterback sacks. The Panthers' 3.83 sacks per game during the regular season led the ACC and ranked second nationally.
- The two interceptions by Pitt junior FS Erick Hallett II gave him three for the season and five for his career. Hallett first interception set up the Panthers' fourth touchdown of the game, and he scored Pitt's sixth TD of the night when he returned his second interception 19 yards early in the fourth quarter. Hallett was voted the Subway ACC Football Championship Game MVP.
- The 73-yard interception return by junior CB A.J. Woods that set up Pitt's fifth touchdown was the longest in ACC Football Championship Game history, eclipsing the 64-yard return by Clemson's Bashaud Breeland versus Virginia Tech in 2011.

- The 39-yard punt return by Pitt's Jordan Addison in the second quarter was the second-longest in Subway ACC Football Championship Game history. Florida State's Willie Reid set the record with an 83-yard return versus Virginia Tech during the inaugural ACC Championship Game at Jacksonville, Fla., in 2005.
- Addison finished the night with eight receptions for 126 yards. It marked his seventh 100-yard receiving game of the season and ninth of his career. Addison's 1,479 receiving yards in 2021 rank second in Pitt single-season history behind Larry Fitzgerald's 1,672 in 2003.
- Addison's seven 100-yard games are tied for the second-most in a season by a Pitt player (Jon Baldwin, 2009; Antonio Bryant, 2000). Fitzgerald holds the single-season record for 100-yard receiving games with 10 in 2003.
- Each of Pitt's first four touchdown drives on Saturday night required less than 90 seconds in time of possession - 1:18 (75 yards), 1:11 (75 yards), 1:21 (32 yards) and 1:20 (45 yards).
- Ironically, Pitt's longest touchdown drive in terms of possession time - 1:29 on Pitt's final touchdown following Woods' interception in the fourth quarter - covered only three yards.

- After allowing Wake Forest to score touchdowns on each of its first three possessions of the game, the Panthers stopped the Demon Deacons on each of their final 13 drives. In addition to recording a championship game-record four interceptions, Pitt forced the Demon Deacons to punt eight times and turn the ball over on downs once.
- The touchdown reception by Wake Forest WR A.T. Perry at the 10:48 mark in the first quarter was his 14th of 2021, adding to the school single-season record he already held heading into tonight's game.
- The rushing touchdown by Wake Forest QB Sam Hartman with 6:31 left in the first quarter was his 11th of the year, second-most all-time by a Demon Deacon quarterback in a single season. Larry Russell set the school QB record with 15 rushing touchdowns in 1971.
- Hartman's second touchdown pass of Saturday night's game was the 69th of his career, extending his career school record and tying for 10th place on the ACC's all-time list.
- Hartman's 213 yards passing moved him up to second place on the all-time Wake Forest list with 8,962 career yards. Riley Skinner (2006-09) holds the school record with 9,762 yards.

ACC AND CFP FOUNDATION TO FUND $75,000 IN CLASSROOM RESOURCE PROJECTS, AWARD $47,500 IN SCHOLARSHIPS TO LEAGUE'S FUTURE EDUCATORS

In conjunction with the 2021 Subway ACC Football Championship Game, the ACC and the College Football Playoff Foundation announced they are funding $75,000 in classroom resource projects in three local markets; Winston-Salem, North Carolina, home of Wake Forest University; Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, home of the University of Pittsburgh; and Charlotte, North Carolina, host city of the title game. The projects were designed to meet teachers' needs in area schools, including classroom supplies and technology upgrades.

"The ACC is a proud supporter of teachers – who are everyday heroes – for their tireless work in enhancing the lives of others through education," said ACC Commissioner Jim Phillips, Ph.D. "The experiences and lessons learned by student-athletes translate particularly well to careers within education and coaching. It's an honor to work with the College Football Playoff Foundation to recognize educators through its Extra Yard for Teachers initiative."

"Championship games are always cause for celebration on college campuses, and it's important to extend our work as part of that celebration to the communities these institutions call home," said CFP Foundation Executive Director Britton Banowsky. "The Foundation is proud to go the extra yard for teachers and schools, and our hope is that these projects will have a meaningful impact on classrooms for years to come."

In addition to the classroom resource projects, the ACC named 15 student-athletes as recipients of the 2021 Go Teach Dr Pepper Tuition Giveaway. Each received $2,500 on behalf of the CFP Foundation and Dr Pepper to assist in their continued pursuit of a degree or career in education. The 15 student-athletes were chosen by campus representatives, and the Grand Prize winner will be selected by the ACC's award committee.

THE 15 ACC STUDENT-ATHLETE RECIPIENTS INCLUDE:

Chase Coleman, Virginia, Men's Basketball, Youth & Social Innovation
Claire DeSelm, Notre Dame, Women's Swimming & Diving, Master's in Education
Emma Feehery, North Carolina, Women's Swimming & Diving, Education minor
Peter Fiorini III, Syracuse, Men's Lacrosse, Health & Physical Education
Darryl Gay, Florida State, Men's Track & Field, Education & Coaching
Essence Henderson, Virginia Tech, Women's Track & Field, Public Health
Brandi Hughes, NC State, Women's Track & Field, Master's in Elementary Education
Avery Perosa, Pittsburgh, Volleyball, Master's in Strategic Marketing
Amari Robinson, Clemson, Women's Basketball, Special Education
Abigail Schwenger, Miami, Rowing, Elementary and Special Education, Spanish

Yuval Solomon, Wake Forest, Men's Tennis
Job Trahan, Duke, Men's Track & Field
Kenzie Walls, Georgia Tech, Women's Cross Country, Literature & Media
Liberty Williams, Louisville, Women's Swimming & Diving, Early Elementary Education

The CFP Foundation and Dr Pepper are committed to growing the Go Teach initiative to place qualified teachers in classrooms across the nation. Over the next five years, the CFP Foundation and Dr Pepper are awarding a collective $1.5 million in tuition to the ACC, Big 12, Big Ten, Pac-12 and SEC conference partners to provide support and recognition for student-athletes majoring in education.

ACC & NFL DRAFT

Four ACC football players were selected in the first round of the 2022 National Football League Draft, headlined by No. 6 overall selection Ikem "Ickey"

Ekwonu of NC State, who was taken by the Carolina Panthers.

Ekwonu, a versatile 6-4, 320-pound offensive lineman from Charlotte, North Carolina, was the first ACC player selected sixth overall by the Carolina Panthers. The 2021 ACC Jacobs Blocking Trophy award winner, Ekwonu was a unanimous first-team All-American and a first-team All-ACC performer last year. Ekwonu is NC State's third first-round pick in the last five NFL Drafts. He is the first ACC offensive lineman taken in the top six picks since Virginia's D'Brickashaw Ferguson was taken fourth overall in 2006.

Boston College All-America offensive lineman Zion Johnson was taken 17th overall by the Los Angeles Chargers. Johnson was a first-team All-ACC guard in 2021 and was awarded a Weaver-James-Corrigan Postgraduate Scholarship from the ACC earlier this year. He also earned first-team All-America honors from the Associated Press and Walter Camp Football Foundation.

Pitt's record-setting quarterback Kenny Pickett, the 2021 ACC Player of the Year, was selected 20th overall by the Pittsburgh Steelers. Pickett goes to a franchise that plays its home games in the same stadium – Heinz Field – as his college team. Pickett was a Heisman Trophy Finalist and led the Panthers to the 2021 ACC Championship and an 11-3 overall record. He finished his career second in ACC history in passing yards (12,303), third in total offense (13,112) and sixth in passing touchdowns (81). He finished as the winningest starting quarterback in Pitt history with 32 victories.

ACC Defensive Player of the Year Jermaine Johnson II (DE) of Florida State was taken 26th overall by the New York Jets. Johnson's selection gives the Seminoles at least one pick in 39 consecutive NFL Drafts, a streak that dates back to 1984 and is the eighth-longest streak in the country entering this year's draft. In 2021, Johnson was a Walter Camp first-team All-American, a finalist for the Ted Hendricks Award finalist and a first-team All-ACC pick. Johnson started all 12 games for the Seminoles in 2021, recording 70 tackles, 18.0 for loss with 12.0 sacks, two forced fumbles, 12 quarterback hurries, two pass breakups and one fumble recovery. He ranked sixth nationally in sacks and eighth in tackles for loss.

Clemson cornerback Andrew Booth Jr. was taken in the second round and North Carolina offensive guard Joshua Ezeudu and Virginia tight end Jelani Woods were third round picks on Saturday.

Fourteen additional ACC players were taken in rounds four through seven.

THE ACC ANNOUNCED ITS 2022 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE DURING A TWO-HOUR PRIMETIME SPECIAL THE HUDDLE: 2022 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE REVEAL, EXCLUSIVELY ON ACC NETWORK.

The 70th season of ACC Football will feature 56 league games and 56 non-conference contests. Each team will play eight league contests, which includes six division games, one permanent non-division opponent and one rotating opponent from the opposite division. The 2022 schedule includes a minimum of one open date for each team, and at least one conference contest is scheduled each week, except for Week Zero.

The release highlighted message points regarding the challenging upcoming schedule. For example, in addition to 21 games against Power 5 opponents (including Notre Dame), the ACC will play eight non-conference games against teams ranked in the final 2021 AP Top 25 poll. All 14 ACC teams play at least one Power 5 non-conference opponent, while seven schools – Boston College, Clemson, Duke, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Pitt and Syracuse – play two. ACC teams will play 27 games against opponents that appeared in a bowl game last year.

In addition to the release, a logo schedule, team-by-team schedule and composite schedule was released and distributed across all ACC platforms.

PITT CLAIMS FIRST ACC TITLE

Heisman Trophy finalist Kenny Pickett accounted for three touchdowns and Erick Hallett II returned one of Pitt's four interceptions for a touchdown to help the No. 17 Panthers beat No. 18 Wake Forest 45-21 in the 2021 Subway ACC Football Championship Game. It was the Panthers' first ACC title and first for a team from the Coastal Division since Virginia Tech in 2010.

FOUR ACC TEAMS IN FINAL AP TOP 25

Four ACC teams finished the season ranked in the AP Top 25 and USA Today AFCA Coaches Polls. In the AP poll, ACC Champion Pitt finished No. 13, its highest ranking since 1982. The Panthers were followed by No. 14 Clemson, No. 15 Wake Forest and No. 20 NC State.

Pitt was No. 13 in the Coaches Poll, followed by No. 14 Wake Forest, No. 16 Clemson and No. 19 NC State.

TEN ACC TEAMS EARN BOWL BIDS

Led by league champion Pitt's first-ever berth in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl, the ACC placed 10 teams in football postseason games. Clemson and Wake Forest won their respective bowl games. Four of the ACC bowl game matchups were canceled due to COVID-19 issues.

This is the 21st consecutive season in which the ACC earned at least six bowl bids. Not including the pandemic-affected 2020 season, the ACC has sent at least 10 teams to a bowl every year since 2016. Since 2013, the ACC is second among all conferences with 91 postseason appearances.

NC STATE'S EKWONU UNANIMOUS ALL-AMERICAN

Led by unanimous first-team All-America offensive tackle Ikem Ekwonu of NC State, the ACC placed 12 players – representing eight different schools – on NCAA recognized All-America teams. Pitt led the league with four selections, including consensus All-America wide receiver Jordan Addison. The NCAA recognizes the All-America teams selected by AP, FWA, The Sporting News, AFCA and Walter Camp to determine consensus All-Americans. If a player is selected to more than half of those teams, he is considered a consensus All American.

SWINNEY TIES ACC BOWL RECORD; ACC COACHING NOTES

Clemson head coach Dabo Swinney secured his 150th career win in the Tiger's 20-13 Cheez-It Bowl victory over Iowa State. Swinney joined Bobby Bowden as the only head coaches ever to lead an ACC program to 150 wins. It was Swinney's 11th bowl victory, which ties Bowden's record (11) for the most career bowl wins leading an ACC program.

Wake Forest head coach Dave Clawson guided the Deacons to a 38-10 win over Rutgers in the TaxSlayer Gator Bowl. Clawson has led the Deacons to a program-record six consecutive bowl games, the third-longest active streak in the ACC. Clawson owns the school record with four bowl wins.

PICKETT FINISHES THIRD IN HEISMAN

Pitt quarterback Kenny Pickett finished third in the voting for the 2021 Heisman Trophy. He is the seventh ACC player in the last nine years to finish in the top three, including 2013 winner Jameis Winston of FSU and 2016 winner Lamar Jackson of Louisville. Clemson's Trevor Lawrence finished second in 2020.

PICKETT WINS JOHNNY UNITAS GOLDEN ARM AWARD

Pitt quarterback Kenny Pickett, whose prolific passing helped lead the Panthers to the first ACC Championship in program history, won the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award, which is presented annually to the top upperclassman quarterback set to graduate with his class since 1987. Pickett is the fifth ACC player to win the award and first since Clemson's Deshaun Watson in 2016.

ADDISON WINS BILETNIKOFF AWARD

Pitt sophomore Jordan Addison won the 2021 Biletnikoff Award, presented annually to the country's outstanding receiver, during ESPN's live telecast of The Home Depot College Football Awards on Dec. 9. Addison is the first ACC player to win the award since Georgia Tech's Calvin Johnson in 2006. He is the third Pitt player to win, joining Antonio Bryant (2000) and Larry Fitzgerald (2003). The Panthers are now tied for the most Biletnikoff winners in the history of the award (since 1994).

RECORD-SETTING PERFORMANCES

Pitt QB Kenny Pickett connected on an ACC-record 42 touchdown passes this year. The previous mark was held by Clemson's Deshaun Watson (41 in 2016). Wake Forest's Sam Hartman (39), NC State's Devin Leary (35), and Virginia's Brennan Armstrong (31) all threw 30-or-more touchdown passes.

North Carolina quarterback Sam Howell completed 92 career touchdown passes, which is third in ACC history and the most by any player in his first three years. Howell's 68 TD passes in his first two seasons were the most through a sophomore season in league history.

Pitt WR Jordan Addison had 17 touchdown receptions in 2021, which ranks second in ACC single-season history and was just one shy of Clemson WR DeAndre Hopkins' single-season ACC record.

Louisville's Malik Cunningham had 20 rushing touchdowns this season, which ranks tied for fourth in the country. The ACC record for rushing touchdowns by a QB is 21 by Lamar Jackson. The ACC record for rushing touchdowns regardless of position is 26 by Pitt's James Conner.

Virginia QB Brennan Armstrong ranked fourth in ACC single-season history with 4,449 passing yards. Pitt's Kenny Pickett was fifth with 4,319, while Wake Forest's Sam Hartman was sixth with 4,228. Armstrong averaged 404.5 yards passing per game, shattering Duke QB Anthony Dilweg's single-season ACC record of 347.6.

PITT'S TRE TIPTON RECEIVES 2021 DISNEY SPIRIT AWARD

Pitt wide receiver Tre Tipton grew up amid financial instability, food insecurity and family tragedies, which often left him depressed. But, thanks to a tenacious spirit, Tipton managed to pull himself out of "the darkness" and is now a vocal mental health advocate, earning him the prestigious 2021 Disney Spirit Award, given annually to the most inspiring figure in college football. Tipton was presented with the coveted Disney Spirit Award by Disney Sports Vice President Faron Kelley at The Home Depot College Football Awards on Dec. 9.

- VIRGINIA dominated in winning its second straight NCAA Women's Swimming and Diving National Championship, rolling to the title in March in Atlanta. It also was the ACC's second-ever NCAA Championship in women's swimming and diving.

UVA finished 145.5 points ahead of the national runner-up, Texas.

- The 2022 NCAA Championships marked the seventh straight season in which the league had at least two teams finish in the top 10, as NC State took fifth place, while Louisville notched sixth. The ACC also had seven teams earn top 25 finishes: North Carolina (14th), Miami (22nd), Virginia Tech (23rd) and Duke (24th).

- The ACC racked up 13 event championships, with 11 from Virginia and one each from Miami and NC State. UVA won seven individual titles as well as four relays. Kate Douglass and Alex Walsh each captured three individual titles.
- 2022 ACC Women's Swimmer of the Year Kate Douglass won three individual NCAA Championships – the 50 free, 100 butterfly and 200 breaststroke – setting American records in each. She also was part of the NCAA Champion 200 and 400 free relay teams and 200 and 400 medley relay teams.
- Walsh won the 200 and 400 individual medleys as well as the 200 butterfly and was part of three relay wins. Her younger sister, Gretchen, won the 100 free.
- NC State's Katharine Berkoff won her second straight 100 backstroke championship, while Miami's Mia Vallée captured the 1-meter diving title.
- Virginia captured the 2022 ACC Women's Swimming & Diving Championship in Atlanta, marking its third straight crown, fourth in the last five seasons and ACC-record 18th overall.

- Walsh was selected the 2022 ACC Championships Most Valuable Swimmer by vote of the head coaches, while Duke's Margo O'Meara was named the Most Valuable Diver.
- Virginia's Todd DeSorbo was named the CSCAA Division I Women's Coach of the Year for the second straight season. UVA's Kate Douglass was selected the CSCAA Division I Women's Swimmer of the Year.
- DeSorbo was named the ACC Coach of the Year for third straight season, while Miami's Randy Ableman earned ACC Women's Diving Coach of the Year laurels for the fourth time.
- ACC women piled up 102 CSCAA All-America honors (53 first team, 49 second team). Eight ACC schools had individuals and/or relays earn All-America status at the NCAA Championships, and Virginia led all schools nationally with 33 All-America honorees (25 first team, eight second team).
- Six ACC teams were ranked in the final CSCAA Poll, the second-highest total in the nation: Virginia (1), NC State (4), Louisville (10), North Carolina (19), Virginia Tech (21) and Duke (24).

MEN'S SWIMMING & DIVING

ACC CHAMPIONSHIPS WINTER SPORTS

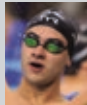

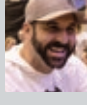

2022 CHAMPION NC STATE

- NC STATE won the 2022 ACC Men's Swimming and Diving Championship, earning its 31st league crown, including its seventh in the last eight years. After accruing 1501.5 points – most in ACC Championships history – the Wolfpack easily outdistanced the runner-up, Louisville (1192.5).
- Wolfpack swimmers won five individual events as well as three relays.
- Virginia Tech's Youssef Ramadan was named the ACC Championships Men's Most Valuable Swimmer by vote of the head coaches. Miami's Max Flory was chosen as the ACC Championships Men's Most Valuable Diver.
- NC State head coach Braden Holloway was selected ACC Men's Swimming Coach of the Year for the eighth time in the last 10 seasons, while Miami's Randy Ableman earned ACC Men's Diving Coach of the Year honors for the fifth time.
- For the fourth consecutive NCAA Championships, at least two ACC teams finished in the top 10. NC State took fourth place with 291 points, marking the sixth straight NCAA Championships in which an ACC team has finished in the top five. The Wolfpack's team finished matched a program record.
- Virginia finished 10th at the NCAA Championships, while Virginia Tech took 11th, Louisville 12th, Georgia Tech 21st and Miami 23rd.
- NC State's Kacper Stokowski won his first national championship in the 100 backstroke. He finished with a time of 44.04.
- In diving, North Carolina's Anton Down-Jenkins led all ACC divers at the NCAA Championships with a pair of top-eight finishes in the 1- and 3-meter events. Miami's duo of Zach Cooper and Maxwell Flory took second and fifth, respectively in the platform event.
- The ACC compiled 63 CSCAA All-America performances (35 first team, 28 second team). Eight ACC schools had individuals and/or relays pick up All-Americans through their performances at the NCAA Championships. NC State topped all ACC schools with 18 All-America honorees (12 first team, six second team).
- NC State fifth-year senior Eric Knowles was the recipient of the Elite 90 award for the 2022 NCAA Men's Swimming and Diving Championship. He was NC State's first men's athlete in any sport to receive the award, which is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade-point average participating at the finals site for each of the NCAA's championships.
- Six ACC teams were ranked in the final CSCAA Poll, the second-highest total in the nation: NC State (2), Virginia Tech (8), Louisville (10), Virginia (17), Florida State (23) and Georgia Tech (24).

2022 CHAMPIONS DUKE & VIRGINIA TECH

- DUKE and VIRGINIA TECH shared the women's team title for the 2022 ACC Track and Field Championships, which concluded Feb. 26 in Blacksburg, Virginia.
- Virginia Tech's led most of the Championship and entered the closing 4x400 relay with a 10-point edge over the second-place Blue Devils. But in a finish remarkably similar to the 2021 ACC Outdoor Women's Championship nine months earlier, the Duke foursome of Jenna Crean, Erin Marsh, Megan McGinnis and Lauren Hoffman raced to a first-place 4x4 finish in 3:35.08. The Hokies placed 10th and failed to score in the event, leaving the final score knotted at 86-86. Miami claimed third place with 76 points, and NC State followed with 75.
- With Virginia Tech claiming sole ownership of this year's men's championship, the Hokies swept both the men's and women's ACC Indoor titles for the first time in program history. It marks only the seventh time one school has won both championships and the first time since Florida State did so in 2018.
- Veteran head coach Dave Cianelli led the Virginia Tech women's program to the league championship for the second time in three years and the fourth time overall. The ACC women's championship is the first for Duke in Indoor Track and Field. Shawn Wilbourn, in less than two years at the head coaching helm, has now led the Blue Devils to a share of both the ACC Outdoor and Indoor women's championship – historic firsts for both programs.

- This year marks only the second time an ACC Indoor Championship – men's or women's – has ended in a tie. Florida State and Virginia Tech tied for the 2019 men's championship.
- Virginia Tech middle-distance runner Lindsey Butler and pole vaulter Rachel Baxter went on to claim gold medals at the 2022 NCAA Indoor Championships at Birmingham, Alabama. Butler won the women's 800 meters with a time of 2:01.37, while Baxter took the pole vault with a clearance of 4.62 meters (15 feet, 1.75 inches).
- The Virginia Tech women tied for sixth place in the overall team scoring with 29 points at the NCAA finals, while NC State placed ninth with 25. Notre Dame's 11 points placed 17th, and Duke tied for 18th with 10.

ACC CHAMPIONSHIPS WINTER SPORTS

2022 CHAMPION VIRGINIA TECH

- The VIRGINIA TECH men, who led by a mere three points heading into the final session of the ACC Men's Indoor Track and Field Championships, methodically pulled away during the meet's final 11 events to finish comfortably in first place for the second consecutive year as the 2022 three-day competition wrapped up Feb. 26 at Rector Field House in Blacksburg. The host Hokies finished with 105 team points, while Florida State placed second with 72 and Clemson was third with 70.
- With Virginia Tech sharing the women's team title with Duke, the Hokies swept both the men's and women's ACC Indoor titles for the first time in program history. It marks only the seventh time one school has won both championships and the first time since Florida State did so in 2018.
- The Hokie men have now won seven total ACC titles under veteran head coach Dave Cianielli, all of which have come since 2011. Cianielli led the Virginia Tech women's program to the league championship for the second time in three years and the fourth time overall.

- Florida State's Trey Cunningham went on to capture the NCAA gold medal in the men's 60-meter hurdles with a personal best time of 7:38 on March 12 in Birmingham, Alabama. Cunningham, who also excelled in the 110 hurdles with record-setting performances in the spring, became the second student-athlete in school history to be named a finalist for The Bowerman.
- Florida State led all ACC teams in men's scoring with 17 points at the NCAA Men's Indoor Track and Field Championships, tying for 13th place. Notre Dame scored eight team points and was among a group of seven teams tying for 28th place.

- NC STATE placed seven wrestlers in the finals and claimed four gold medals in capturing the ACC Wrestling Championship title for the fourth consecutive year March 6 at Virginia's John Paul Jones Arena.
- The Wolfpack became the first wrestling program since North Carolina in 1997-2000 to win the ACC Championship four straight years. It marks the first time since 1988-91 that NC State has won four titles in a row.
- This year's league wrestling championship is the 19th overall for NC State, the most among current ACC programs, and the fifth overall under current head coach Pat Popolizio.
- NC State finished with 98.5 points, the most by an ACC wrestling champion since the Wolfpack's 2007 team won with 103.5. Virginia Tech placed second with 76 points, while Pitt took third with 51. The Hokies and Panthers had three weight-class champions each. Fourth-place North Carolina (46 points) took fourth place, followed by Virginia (39.5) and Duke (11).
- Virginia Tech's Mekhi Lewis, who took the gold medal in the 174-pound weight class as the No. 3 seed, was selected the Championship's Most Outstanding Wrestler in a vote of the head coaches.
- Highlighted by silver medals from North Carolina's Kizhan Clarke and Virginia Tech's Mekhi Lewis, the ACC closed out the 2022 NCAA Division I Wrestling Championships with four podium finishes and 10 total All-America honors.
- Clarke reached the finals of the 141-pound weight class as the No. 15 seed before dropping a 10-3 decision to No. 1 seed and two-time champion Nick Lee of Penn State on Saturday night.
- Clarke reached the finals of the 141-pound weight class as the No. 15 seed before dropping a 10-3 decision to No. 1 seed and two-time champion Nick Lee of Penn State on Saturday night.

2021 CHAMPION NC STATE

- NC STATE claimed its third consecutive ACC Tournament Championship on Sunday, March 6, with a 60-47 victory over seventh-seeded Miami. The Wolfpack also clinched the outright regular-season title for the sixth overall time and the first time in 32 years (1989-90 season).
- For the second consecutive year, NC State center Elissa Cunane was tabbed the tournament's MVP after averaging 17.3 points and 9.0 rebounds per game, while shooting 52.8 percent from the floor.
- Eight of the 14 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament games were decided by 10 points or less, with five games determined by five points or less.
- The 2022 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament marked the 45th edition of the longest running conference women's basketball championship in the nation and it was the 22nd time in the last 23 years that the Greensboro Coliseum hosted the event.
- Headlined by No. 1 seeds Louisville and NC State, eight ACC teams were selected to compete in the 2022 NCAA Women's Basketball Tournament, tied for the most of any conference.
- Florida State, Georgia Tech, Louisville, Miami, North Carolina, NC State, Notre Dame and Virginia Tech earned bids to participate in this year's event.
- After winning its third consecutive ACC Tournament and winning the ACC regular-season crown for the first time in 32 years, NC State was awarded a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament for the second straight year. The Wolfpack was the top seed in the Bridgeport (Conn.) Region. NC State made its 27th NCAA Tournament appearance and fifth consecutive.

- Louisville was the No. 1 seed in the Wichita (Kan.) Region, marking the third time in the last four years (2018, 2019) that the event has been held the Cardinals have accomplished that feat. The Cards made their 24th NCAA appearance and 11th consecutive.
- Four ACC women's basketball student-athletes were named to the Associated Press All-America Teams, including NC State's Elissa Cunane (Second Team), Virginia Tech's Elizabeth Kitley (Third Team), Louisville's Emily Engstler (Honorable Mention) and Notre Dame's Olivia Miles (Honorable Mention). It marks the third consecutive year that Cunane has been named to either the second or third team, while Kitley claims the first AP All-America honor in Hokies program history.
- Five ACC women's basketball teams were ranked in the final Associated Press Top 25 Poll - tied for the most of any conference. NC State headlined the group at No. 3, followed by No. 4 Louisville, No. 16 Virginia Tech, No. 17 North Carolina and No. 21 Notre Dame. Miami and Georgia Tech received votes. In the USA TODAY/Coaches Poll five ACC teams were ranked - No. 3 NC State, No. 4 Louisville, No. 18 North Carolina, No. 21 Notre Dame and No. 23 Virginia Tech. Georgia Tech received votes.

- NC State's Wes Moore was named one of four finalists for the 2022 Werner Ladder Naismith Women's Coach of the Year. It marks the second consecutive season Moore has been a finalist and the third time in his NC State tenure. Louisville's Jeff Walz was a semifinalist, while Georgia Tech's Nell Fortner was named to the late season watch list.
- The ACC placed four teams in the Sweet 16 and is the only conference to have at least three teams in the regional semifinals in each of the last eight NCAA Tournaments. Louisville and NC State each played in the Elite Eight, with Louisville reaching the Final Four for the fourth time in program history.
- Louisville advanced to its fourth Final Four with a 62-50 win over No. 3 seed Michigan in Wichita, Kansas. All four of the Cardinals' Final Four appearances have come under current head coach Jeff Walz. Additionally, every four-year player in the UofL program during his tenure has played in a Final Four. Louisville has advanced to four Final Fours since 2009, tied for the fourth most in the country.

- Third-ranked NC State completed its chase to a third straight Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament championship, ending Miami's upset-filled run in a 60-47 victory.
- Elissa Cunane had 17 points and eight rebounds despite exiting the game for a stretch in the second half with an apparent left-ankle injury for the top-seeded Wolfpack (29-3). She returned to grind through the final minutes and was named the tournament's most valuable player for a second straight year.
- Raina Perez added 12 points and Diamond Johnson had 11, while Kayla Jones had 10 rebounds. The Wolfpack also got valuable minutes from backup post Camille Hobby when Cunane was sidelined, with Hobby scoring eight.
- "They've all sacrificed a little bit," coach Wes Moore told the crowd during the postgame trophy presentation. "But hey, it's worth it."

- NC State shot just 35% but took control with a 17-4 run with Miami's offense unable to do much of anything, a burst that stretched an eight-point margin to 54-33 on consecutive 3-pointers by Johnson to end the third quarter and start the fourth.
- NC State kept that margin at double figures the rest of the way, never letting Miami repeat its improbable quarterfinal comeback win against No. 4 Louisville.
- While the Wolfpack pushed to an expected finals appearance, the seventh-seeded Hurricanes (20-12) were the surprise of the weekend. They were trying to become the lowest-seeded team ever to win the ACC Tournament or to win four games in four days for a title, a run that had already included the wild rally from 15 down in the final 5:44 to beat the Cardinals and a semifinal win against No. 20 Notre Dame.

- But Miami's offense struggled all day, with the Hurricanes shooting just 32% and 3 for 19 from 3-point range. That included a 7-minute scoreless drought in the third quarter as the Wolfpack began to pull away.
- Kelsey Marshall scored 24 points to lead the Hurricanes, but no other player reached double figures.
- As the final seconds ticked away, Cunane - who had grimaced her way through the final 6:56 of the game - finally broke into a smile as the Wolfpack began to run out the clock and hugged teammate Jada Boyd.
- A few feet away, Perez - who hit the game-winning shot in last year's title game against Louisville - held up three fingers on each hand to the crowd, then jumped into Cunane's arms for a hug at the horn.

EIGHT TEAMS SELECTED TO NCAA TOURNAMENT

GREENSBORO, N.C. (theACC.com) - Headlined by No. 1 seeds Louisville and NC State, eight ACC teams were selected to compete in the 2022 NCAA Women's Basketball Tournament, tied for the most of any conference. Florida State, Georgia Tech, Louisville, Miami, North Carolina, NC State, Notre Dame and Virginia Tech earned bids to participate in this year's event.

It marks the fourth consecutive NCAA Tournament that the ACC has had eight teams selected, leading all conferences or tied for the conference each year. In the last five NCAA Tournaments, ACC teams have earned 39 selections to compete in the field, also the most of any conference.

The ACC is the only conference with two No. 1 seeds and the league has had at least one No. 1 seed in each of past eight tournaments and 23 times overall. The ACC has had multiple No. 1 seeds in seven tournaments (2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2018, 2019, 2022).

After winning its third consecutive ACC Tournament and winning the ACC regular-season crown for the first time in 32 years, NC State (29-3) was awarded a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament for the second straight year. Louisville (25-4) is the No. 1 seed in the Wichita (Kan.) Region, marking the third time in the last four years (2018, 2019) that the event has been held the Cardinals have accomplished the feat. The Cards are making their 24th NCAA appearance and 11th consecutive.

The ACC also owns the most NCAA Tournament wins (93) of any conference since 2014. The next closest conference has 80. ACC member institutions have won three NCAA Championships and made 24 trips to the Final Four. Seven different institutions have represented the ACC in the Women's Final Four.

SEVEN ACC STUDENT-ATHLETES SELECTED IN 2022 WNBA DRAFT

GREENSBORO, N.C. (theACC.com) - For the 17th consecutive year, the Atlantic Coast Conference had at least one student-athlete selected in the first round of the WNBA Draft, as the 2022 edition was held on April 11. That streak is the most of any conference and the next closest is eight.

The ACC had seven student-athletes selected in the WNBA Draft, which tied for the most of any conference.

Louisville forward Emily Engstler was the first ACC player taken in the draft when she was selected by the Indiana Fever with the fourth pick in the first round. Engstler was named a First Team All-ACC Selection and led the Cardinals to the Final Four. In addition to claiming Associated Press All-America honorable mention, the New York native was a Cheryl Miller Award Finalist (given to the nation's top small forward) and a Naismith Defensive Player of the Year Semifinalist.

Cardinals teammate Kianna Smith was drafted with the 16th pick in the second round by the Los Angeles Sparks, as Louisville was one of just two programs with multiple selections among the top 16.

NC State's Elissa Cunane was selected by the Seattle Storm with the 17th pick in the second round and Georgia Tech's Lorela Cubaj followed with the 18th pick also by the Storm before the selection was traded to the New York Liberty.

Kayla Jones of NC State was the 22nd overall pick in the second round by the Minnesota Lynx and Virginia Tech's Aisha Sheppard was drafted with the 23rd pick by the Las Vegas Aces. Notre Dame's Maya Dodson was the conference's seventh selection at 26th overall by the Phoenix Mercury.

The ACC led all leagues with 27 players on WNBA rosters and 22 players on WNBA Playoff rosters last season. The ACC's 11 former student-athletes on the four semifinal playoff teams (Chicago Sky, Connecticut Sun, Las Vegas Aces and Phoenix Mercury) were also the most of any conference. Duke's Lexie Brown and Louisville's Dana Evans won the 2021 WNBA Championship as members of the Chicago Sky.

- VIRGINIA TECH claimed its first ACC Championship by winning four games in four days, capped by an 82-67 victory over Duke on March 12 in Brooklyn.
- The 7-seed, Virginia Tech was the lowest seed to ever win the ACC Tournament and was the fourth team in tournament history to defeat the tournament's top three seeds. The Hokies were the second ACC team to win four games to win the title (2017 Duke).
- Hokies junior guard Hunter Cattoor earned the Everett Case Award as tournament MVP after scoring a career-high 31 points on 11-for-16 shooting from the floor in the title game, including a 7-for-9 showing from 3-point range.
- Five ACC teams earned NCAA Tournament bids – Duke, Miami, North Carolina, Notre Dame and Virginia Tech. Four won at least two games, with Duke, Miami and North Carolina each reaching the Elite Eight.
- Duke and North Carolina reached the Final Four, marking the seventh time ACC teams have comprised half of the Men's Final Four field. The Duke-North Carolina matchup in the semifinals was the fourth between ACC teams in the Men's Final Four.
- The ACC's five participants were 14-5 (73.7%) in the 2022 NCAA Tournament – the most wins of any league and best winning percentage of any multi-bid league. The ACC leads all conferences with 10 or more wins in 18 different NCAA Tournaments.
- With North Carolina reaching the title game, the ACC had a team in the NCAA championship game for the fifth time in the last seven tournaments and the 28th time in tournament history.
- North Carolina finished No. 2 in the final Coaches poll and was followed by Duke (3) and Miami (16).

- The ACC has had seven different schools (10 total) make the Sweet 16 in the last three tournaments – both totals are the most of any conference.
- Current ACC members own 657 wins and a 65.7% winning percentage in NCAA Tournament history. Both totals are tops among all conferences.
- Since 1985, nearly half of the ACC teams which earned NCAA Tournament bids have reached the Sweet 16 (100 of 204).
- Since the NCAA began allowing an unlimited number of at-large teams from any conference in 1980, the ACC has had a winning record in the tournament 40 times (42 total tournaments), most of any league.
- Duke won its first ACC regular-season title since the 2009-10 season and was the top seed in the ACC Men's Basketball Tournament in Brooklyn.
- Wake Forest guard Alondes Williams was selected ACC Player of the Year, becoming the first Demon Deacon to win the award since 2003 (Josh Howard).
- Wake Forest head coach Steve Forbes won ACC Coach of the Year honors, the first at Wake since Skip Prosser in 2003.
- UNC's Armando Bacot led the nation and set an ACC record with 31 double-doubles in the 2021-22 season (Tim Duncan, 29, 1997). Bacot (16.3 ppg, 13.1 rpg) was one of only three power conference players nationally to average a double-double this season.
- Bacot (13.1 rpg) was third nationally in rebounding. His average of 14.3 rpg in ACC play was the highest since Wake Forest's Tim Duncan (14.9) in 1997.
- Duke head coach Mike Krzyzewski concluded his legendary career, retiring following the season. He retired with five national titles and a college basketball-record 1,202 wins, including a record 101 in the NCAA Tournament.
- Fifty-five of the 150 ACC regular-season contests (36.7%) this season were determined by five points or fewer or overtime, with 34 decided by one possession/OT. Eighty-four of the 150 ACC games (56%) were within five points in the final five minutes.

- Home teams went 83-67 (55.3%) in ACC play, the lowest win percentage for home teams in ACC play since 1987 (53.6%) and the fifth lowest in league history.
- In the latest NCAA Graduation Success Rate report, Clemson, Duke, Florida State, Miami, North Carolina, Syracuse, Virginia and Wake Forest posted GSR scores of 100. Nine ACC men's basketball teams earned higher than the Division I basketball GSR average.
- The ACC led all conferences with 89 alumni on NBA Opening Night rosters. That was the most of any conference. Duke led all ACC programs with 24, while North Carolina had 12 and Florida State and Virginia each had eight.
- Seven ACC standouts were selected in the 2022 NBA Draft on June 30, including six in the first round, the most of any league. The ACC's draft contingent was led by Duke freshman forward Paolo Banchero, who was the No. 1 overall selection by the Orlando Magic. Banchero is the ACC's 12th NBA No. 1 draft pick, most of any conference.
- Duke sophomore center Mark Williams (No. 15 overall, Charlotte), Duke freshman guard AJ Griffin (No. 16, Atlanta), Wake Forest junior forward Jake LaRavia (No. 19, Minnesota), Notre Dame freshman guard Blake Wesley (No. 25, San Antonio) and Duke junior forward Wendell Moore Jr. (No. 26, Houston) also were selected in the first round. Duke freshman guard Trevor Keels was picked in the second round (42nd overall) by the New York Knicks.

NEW YORK LIFE ACC TOURNAMENT

The 2022 New York Life ACC Men's Basketball Tournament was played March 8-12 in Brooklyn, New York, at Barclays Center, marking the tournament's third trip to Brooklyn. More than 600 media credentials were issued. Games were broadcast nationally on ESPN networks and streamed via ACCNX. The first day of play aired on ACC Network, which provided wall-to-wall coverage throughout the tournament.

Press conferences all were again held in person, while also incorporating a Zoom presence for those who did not travel to the event. Press conference also streamed on ACCNX. ASAP transcripts were provided to media following all press conferences. Photos were available to the schools and media via the ACC's Photo Station account.

- Traditional New York City elements were integrated into all signage and advertising for the basketball tournament.
- During tournament week, the conference purchased digital signage in Times Square that advertised the tournament, daily matchups, all 15 institutions, and eventually the tournament champion. Photos & videos were shared organically across social media.
- Print campaigns began in mid-January with signage in and around the Barclays Center. Digital and email campaigns began simultaneously and targeted fans in all five boroughs.
- The ACC branded the Barclays Center with the ACC Basketball look in areas where appropriate. Barclays Center's outdoor digital advertising boards featured ACC branding, including updated brackets throughout the tournament. Teams were greeted at their entry point by a host of branding to let them know they had arrived at the event, including tournament branding in the locker rooms and hallways.
- Courtside signage was used to highlight the strength of ACC Men's Basketball:
 - Most Overall No. 1 NBA Draft Picks
 - Most NCAA Tournament Victories & Appearances
 - 5 of the top 10 winningest programs
 - Multiple teams with perfect NCAA GSR
 - 8 of the last 20 NCAA Championships
 - 3 of the last 6 NCAA Championships

NCAA TOURNAMENT

The ACC had a standout NCAA Tournament, with the league's five participants posting a 14-5 record (73.7%) – the most wins of any league and best winning percentage of any multi-bid league.

For the seventh time, ACC teams comprised half of the NCAA Men's Final Four field, as Duke and North Carolina reached the national semifinals and squared off in a classic matchup, just the fourth ever between ACC teams in the semis of the Men's Final Four. The Tar Heels prevailed, 81-77, to advance to the national championship game before falling Kansas in a tight contest, 72-69.

The ACC had a team (UNC) in the championship game for the fifth time in the last seven tournaments and the 28th time in tournament history.

Duke, Miami and North Carolina advanced to the Elite Eight in the NCAA Tournament. At least one ACC team has advanced to the Sweet 16 in 42 straight NCAA Tournaments, which is by far the longest in the history of the NCAA Tournament. No other conference has a streak longer than 22.

NBA DRAFT

Seven ACC players were chosen in the 2022 NBA Draft. Six ACC players were selected in the first round – most of any conference – as the ACC extended its streak of having at least one first-round selection to 34 consecutive years (1989-2022). The ACC has now had at least three first-round draft picks in each of the last 14 drafts – the only conference to do so.

The ACC's draft contingent was led by Duke freshman forward Paolo Banchero, who was the No. 1 overall selection by the Orlando Magic. Banchero was the ACC's 12th NBA No. 1 draft pick, most of any conference. Duke's Mark Williams (No. 15 overall, Charlotte) and AJ Griffin (No. 16, Atlanta), Wake Forest's Jake LaRavia (No. 19, Minnesota), Notre Dame's Blake Wesley (No. 25, San Antonio) and Duke's Wendell Moore Jr. (No. 26, Houston) also were selected in the first round.

2021-22 REGULAR SEASON

Links to ACCNX broadcasts were shared with schools throughout the regular season. In addition, regular content was publicly released on all platforms, including head coach weekly media Zoom information, Players of the Week, game recaps, standings and updated statistics.

ACC TIPOFF

Held at the Marriott City Center Charlotte on October 12, the ACC's 15 head men's basketball coaches and 30 student-athletes gathered to meet with media members and television partners. Over 300 members of the media were in attendance. National, regional and local media attended the event.

ACC Commissioner Jim Phillips opened the event by meeting with the media as part of the annual Commissioner's Forum. Player and coach interviews were streamed live on ACC Network and ACCNX. Excerpts were posted on the ACC's Media Portal.

ACC Network was live from the ACC Tipoff in Charlotte for two days of expansive coverage of men's and women's basketball. The network provided the event's most robust television coverage to date. ACCN's Packer and Durham was live from 7 a.m. - 10 a.m., followed an All-ACC Special from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. with Kelsey Riggs, Carlos Boozer, Dalen Cuff and Seth Greenberg.

MBB SCHEDULE

Every conference game was available on ESPN networks, including ACC Network, or the conference's Regional Sports Networks (RSN). More than 100 games aired on ACC Network, including more than 60 conference games as well as three ACC Tournament matchups. In addition to the linear broadcast schedule, several non-conference ACC home games were broadcast online via ACC Network Extra.

ACC/BIG TEN CHALLENGE

The ACC/Big Ten Challenge, one of the most anticipated events on the college basketball calendar, provided national exposure for the league from November 29-December 1. The 22nd edition of the Big Ten/ACC Challenge featured all 14 scheduled games on the ESPN family of networks.

Graphics were created for both the matchup and schedule announcements and a release with messaging was distributed in advance of the Challenge.

2022 CHAMPION WAKE FOREST

- Headlined by a stellar showing on the back nine, top-seeded WAKE FOREST stormed back to earn a 3-1-1 match play victory over No. 2 Florida State to win the 2022 ACC Women's Golf Championship at The Reserve Golf Club. It was Wake Forest's seventh overall ACC women's golf title and second under head coach Kim Lewellen.
- Four ACC teams were ranked in the final Golfstat Top 25 rankings. No. 5 Wake Forest led the way and was followed by No. 7 Florida State, No. 9 Virginia and No. 21 Duke. In the final Golfweek/Sagarin rankings, Wake Forest was No. 5, Virginia was No. 10, Florida State was No. 14 and Duke was No. 23.
- Ten ACC women's golf teams earned a bid to the 2022 NCAA Regionals. Wake Forest led the way as a No. 1 seed, and was joined in this year's competition by Clemson, Duke, Florida State, Louisville, Miami, North Carolina, NC State, Virginia and Virginia Tech. The league has earned eight-or-more NCAA Regional bids in each of the last eight NCAA competitions and 10-or-more in four of the last six.
- Florida State (6th), Wake Forest (15th) and Virginia (16th) all advanced to NCAA stroke play competition. As one of the top

- eight teams in stroke play, Florida State qualified for NCAA match play before falling 3-2 to Texas A&M.
- Wake Forest swept the league's annual awards and placed four players on the all-conference team. Wake Forest junior Rachel Kuehn was voted the league's Player of the Year, teammate Carolina Lopez-Chacarra was selected ACC Freshman of the Year and Demon Deacons head coach Kim Lewellen was voted ACC Coach of the Year. Lewellen earned her fifth ACC Coach of the Year honor and second at Wake Forest (2019, 2022). She was also the ACC Coach of the Year at Virginia in 2008, 2015 and 2016.
- The ACC had 12 current or former players compete in the prestigious 2022 Augusta National Women's Amateur Championship - Clemson's Savannah Grewal and Ivy Shepherd, Duke's Phoebe Brinker and Erica Shepherd, Florida State's Beatrice Wallin, Virginia's Beth Lillie and Amanda Sambach, Virginia Tech's Emily Mahar and Wake Forest's Carolina Chacarra, Rachel Kuehn, Emilia Migliaccio, Lauren Walsh. Wallin finished fourth and Kuehn was seventh.

2022 CHAMPION WAKE FOREST

- With a birdie on the third playoff hole, Wake Forest's Alex Fitzpatrick lifted the Demon Deacons to a 3-2 victory in the 2022 ACC Men's Golf Championship at Shark's Tooth Golf Course at Watersound Club. The ACC championship is the 19th for WAKE FOREST – breaking a tie with Georgia Tech for the most golf titles of any school – and the first since 1989.
- Clemson senior Jacob Bridgeman made a seven-foot birdie putt on the second playoff hole to win the 2022 Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Golf Individual Title over North Carolina's Peter Fountain in stroke play competition.
- A league-record tying 10 ACC men's golf teams earned a bid to the 2022 NCAA Regionals. The 10 league representatives were the second most from any conference and equaled the ACC record of 10 set in 2015 and 2021. It marks the 15th time in the last 16 years of NCAA competition that at least eight ACC teams earned a regional bid. North Carolina was the No. 1 seed in the New Haven Regional.
- Four teams advanced from NCAA Regional play to compete at the NCAA Championship, May 27-June 1 at Grayhawk Golf Club in Scottsdale, Arizona. Florida State, Georgia Tech, North Carolina and Wake Forest tall finished in the top five of their respective NCAA Regional to earn a spot in the national championship field. ACC Champion Wake Forest won the New Haven (Conn.) Regional and North Carolina was second. Georgia Tech tied for the Columbus (Ohio) Regional title with Oklahoma State and Florida State finished second in the Palm Beach Gardens (Fla.) Regional.
- North Carolina tied for the best stroke play score after four rounds at Grayhawk and advanced to the match play competition. The Tar Heels lost in the match play quarterfinals to Pepperdine, 3-2.
- Clemson's Bridgeman was the ACC Men's Golf Scholar-Athlete of the Year for the second consecutive season. A senior management major from Inman, South Carolina, Bridgeman is Cavaliers led the way with five players in the singles rankings, followed by Wake Forest with four.

- Thirteen ACC doubles teams were listed in the final ITA rankings released Thursday led by No. 16 Siddhant Banthia and Jakob Schnaitter of Wake Forest.
- Top-seeded Virginia won its second straight ACC Men's Tennis Championship, capturing four of the six singles matches to come from behind and top No. 3 seed North Carolina, 4-3, at the Rome Tennis Center at Berry College in Rome, Georgia. The Cavaliers won their 14th ACC title in program history and second under head coach Andres Pedrosa. UVA's Ryan Goetz was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

2022 CHAMPION NORTH CAROLINA

- NORTH CAROLINA won the 2022 NCAA Championship, topping ACC rival Boston College, 12-11, in the title game in Baltimore. The Tar Heels finished with an unblemished 22-0 record and won the third national championship in program history.
- ACC teams now own 17 NCAA Women's Lacrosse titles, including two straight. The league had a team in the national title game for the 12th time in the last 13 seasons.
- With UNC and BC, the ACC had at least two teams competing in the NCAA's Championship Weekend for the 17th time in league history, including the fourth straight.
- The ACC led all conferences with six teams in the NCAA field (UNC, BC, Syracuse, Duke, Notre Dame, Virginia). UNC (1), BC (3) and Syracuse (5) all were among the tournament's top five seeds.
- The ACC had at least one team in the national semis in the 32nd straight tournament and 36th time overall.
- For the third straight tournament, three ACC teams advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals.
- North Carolina won its sixth consecutive ACC Championship, matching the ACC women's lacrosse record for consecutive titles, set by Maryland from 2009-14. Graduate attack Jamie Ortega was named the tournament MVP.
- Boston College senior attack Charlotte North won her second straight Tewaaraton Award. She is one of just seven players – male or female – to win the award twice. North is the 10th women's Tewaaraton recipient from an ACC program.
- Four ACC players were among the five women's Tewaaraton finalists – North, UNC's Ally Mastroianni and Jamie Ortega and Syracuse's Meaghan Tyrrell.
- Six ACC programs were ranked among the top 20 in the final IL Women/IWLCA poll: UNC (1), BC (2), Syracuse (6), Duke (13), Virginia (16) and Notre Dame (17). That is the most of any league nationally.
- Five ACC programs ranked among the top 10 nationally in strength of schedule: Syracuse (2), UNC (4), Notre Dame (5), Virginia (7) and Boston College (9).
- ACC teams racked up a 72-20 (.783) record against non-conference foes, the most wins and best win percentage of all leagues nationally.
- 33 ACC student-athletes were named to the Inside Lacrosse All-America Team. ACC players made up nine of the 13 First-Team All-Americans.
- BC's Charlotte North (358 career goals) broke the NCAA career goals record on May 15, surpassing Courtney Murphy of Stony Brook (341). She ranked second nationally and led the ACC with 92 goals this season, becoming the first player since Maryland's Katie Schwarzmann (2011-12) to lead the ACC in goals per game in consecutive seasons.
- North Carolina's Jamie Ortega (466 career points) broke the ACC's career points record on May 7, moving past Maryland's Jen Adams (445 points). Ortega ranks second in career points in NCAA history.
- This marked the 26th season of ACC women's lacrosse. The league expanded to nine programs this year as Pitt played in its inaugural season and moves to 10 in 2023 with Clemson making its debut.
- The United States' gold-medal winning team at the 2022 World Championships was coached by North Carolina head coach Jenny Levy. Twelve alumnae from current ACC programs were on the roster, including current Syracuse head coach Kayla Treanor. She was joined on the field by Sam Apuzzo, Dempsey Arseneault and Charlotte North (Boston College), Becca Block and Liz Hogan (Syracuse) and Molly Hendrick, Ally Mastroianni, Marie McCool, Emily Parros, Emma Trenchard and Caylee Waters (North Carolina).

- NOTRE DAME and VIRGINIA shared the 2022 ACC championship, with both teams posting 5-1 league records during the regular season.
- Virginia made its fourth straight NCAA Tournament appearance this season, reaching the quarterfinal round.
- 25 ACC players earned spots on the USILA All-America Team, while 17 were named to the Inside Lacrosse All-America Team. North Carolina attackman Chris Gray was a first-team selection from both organizations. All five ACC programs are represented on the All-America teams.
- Gray was named the ACC Offensive Player of the Year for the second straight season. Virginia sophomore defenseman Cole Kastner was voted ACC Defensive Player of the Year, while UVA goalie Matthew Nunes was selected ACC Freshman of the Year.
- Gray also earned the USILA's Lt. Col. JI Turnbull Outstanding Attackman Award, presented to the nation's top attackman. He claimed the award for the second year in a row.
- Two ACC players finished among the five finalists for the 2022 Tewaaraton Award: UNC's Chris Gray and Virginia's Connor Shellenberger.
- In the final Inside Lacrosse poll, Virginia was No. 5, Notre Dame No. 6 and Duke No. 13. In the final USILA poll (prior to the postseason), Virginia was No. 3 and followed by Notre Dame (7), Duke (11) and UNC (20).
- Eight ACC players were chosen in the 2022 Premier Lacrosse League Draft, held May 10. UNC's Chris Gray (second overall), Notre Dame's Arden Cohen (third), Virginia's Matt Moore (fourth) and Syracuse's Brett Kennedy (sixth) comprised half of the draft's first-round picks.
- 54 ACC alums were on opening-day rosters for the 2022 Premier Lacrosse League season. Each ACC program had at least nine alumni on PLL rosters, led by Notre Dame with 13.
- UNC's Chris Gray set the NCAA career points record on May 1 at Duke and finished with 401 career points. He also finished the 2022 season as the NCAA's active career leader in goals (204) and ranked second among active players in assists (197).

2022 CHAMPION FLORIDA STATE

- FLORIDA STATE took home the 2022 ACC Men's Outdoor Track and Field title with an impressive showing on Saturday, May 14. The Seminoles held a four-point lead heading into the final day of competition and then pulled away to win big with four runners earning gold medals and numerous others scoring key points with top-five finishes.
- The ACC men's outdoor title was the second straight for Florida State, the Seminoles' 14th overall and the 12th under veteran head coach Bob Braman. FSU's 149 points and 56-point margin of victory are the most by an ACC men's champion since the conference expanded to its current 15 teams.
- Virginia Tech placed second with 93 points, followed by Virginia (80) and North Carolina (78).
- Three ACC student-athletes earned gold medals at the NCAA Division I Championships in Eugene, Oregon. Notre Dame's Dylan Jacobs led the 10,000 meters, Florida State's Trey Cunningham dominated the 110 high hurdles, and Virginia's

- Claudio Romero delivered in the discus throw.
- With an impressive time of 28:12.32, Jacobs took home the NCAA Championship in the 10,000 meters. Despite taking a spill earlier in the race, Jacobs regrouped and eventually overtook Abdihamid Nur of Northern Arizona in the final lap. Jacobs posted a final lap time of 55.45.
- Cunningham put his mark on the record books again with a 13.00 on his way to the 110 high hurdles national title. With a time of 13.00, Cunningham is now tied for the second-fastest time in NCAA history and moved to No. 23 on the all-time world list. His time of 13.00 matches the ACC record first set by Maryland's Renaldo Nehemiah in 1979.
- Romero's best mark came in the second round of the discus competition as he unleashed a throw of 66.17 meters (217'1"). The mark stood up until the end of the event, giving Virginia its second all-time men's discus champion in NCAA history. Filip Mihaljevic also accomplished the feat in 2017 (3:35.60).

- Third-seeded FLORIDA STATE scored four runs in the bottom of the sixth to erase a one-run deficit and defeat fifth-seeded Clemson, 8-6, to win the 2022 ACC Softball Championship on May 14 at Pitt's Vartabedian Field.
- Florida State won its 18th overall ACC Championship and seventh in the last eight years the event has been held. Saturday's game was the first meeting between the teams in the ACC Championship, since the Tigers' first year as a program in 2020.
- Headlined by four teams among the top 16 national seeds for the first time in conference history, six ACC teams were selected to compete in the 2022 NCAA Division I Softball Championship. The ACC was the only conference with two teams among the top five seeds (No. 2 Florida State and No. 3

- Virginia Tech). The Seminoles' No. 2 seed was the highest in conference history.
- The ACC's six selections are the most for the league since 2015 when a league record seven teams were selected to the NCAA Tournament.
- A league-record three ACC teams advanced to the NCAA Super Regionals, as third-seeded Virginia Tech, 10th-seeded Clemson and No. 12 seed Duke each won their home regionals.
- Five ACC student-athletes were among the 25 finalists for the 2022 USA Softball Collegiate Player of the Year, including Clemson's Valerie Cagle, Duke's Jameson Kavel, Florida State's Kathryn Sandercock, Notre Dame's Karina Gaskins and Virginia Tech's Keely Rochard. That total was the second most of any conference.

- VIRGINIA won four of the five Grand Finals and tallied 98 total points to claim the 2022 Atlantic Coast Conference Rowing Championship Saturday morning at Lake Hartwell in Clemson, South Carolina. It is the Cavaliers' 12th consecutive ACC rowing title and 21st overall in the 22 years of the regatta's existence. Syracuse finished second with 83 points to narrowly nudge out Duke, who had 82. Clemson was fourth with 60 points, followed by Miami (52), Louisville (43), Notre Dame (29), Boston College (26) and North Carolina (21).
- Three ACC teams were selected to compete in the NCAA Women's Rowing Championships, tying the league record also accomplished in 2016, 2017 and 2021. ACC Champion Virginia claimed the league's automatic bid, while Duke and Syracuse were at-large selections in the 2022 field. Virginia earned its 15th consecutive invitation to the NCAA Rowing Championship and 24th in the last 25 years the event has been held. The Cavaliers garnered the No. 10 seed in the Varsity Four, No. 11 in the Second Varsity Eight and No. 13 in the Varsity Eight.

- Syracuse earned an at-large selection for the fifth time in six racing seasons (2016, 2017, 2018, 2021 and 2022; 2020 season canceled due to COVID-19). The Orange are the No. 12 seed in the Second Varsity Eight, No. 14 in the Varsity Eight and No. 16 in the Varsity Four.
- Duke secured its fourth at-large bid to the NCAA Championship in program history and is the No. 12 seed in the Varsity Four, No. 14 in the Second Varsity Eight and No. 15 in the Varsity Eight.
- Three ACC teams were ranked in the final 2022 Pocock/CRCA Poll - No. 10 Virginia, No. 16 Duke and No. 17 Syracuse. Miami, Clemson and Louisville also received votes.

- Eighth-seeded NORTH CAROLINA captured the 2022 ACC Baseball Championship with a 9-5 win over No. 10 NC State in the tournament's title game May 29 at Charlotte's Truist Field.
- Freshman Vance Honeycutt homered twice and drove in five runs to lead the Tar Heels versus the Wolfpack. A sellout crowd of 10,500 packed Truist Field to watch the battle between long-time rivals, setting the record for the largest title-game attendance in league history.
- The Tar Heels won for the 15th time in their last 17 games while capturing the 12th ACC baseball title in program history overall and the eighth since the conference began holding a tournament to determine its champion in 1973.
- Nine Atlantic Coast Conference teams were among the 64-team field for the 2022 NCAA Division I Baseball Championship. ACC champion North Carolina served as a regional host, along with Coastal Division winner Virginia Tech, Atlantic Division winner Louisville and Miami. Florida State, Georgia Tech, Notre Dame, Virginia, and Wake Forest also earned spots in the field.

- The ACC's nine teams in this year's tournament tied for most of any conference. No. 4 Virginia Tech owned the ACC's highest national overall seed, followed by No. 6 Miami, No. 10 North Carolina and No. 12 Louisville.
- The ACC has placed at least six teams in the NCAA tournament for 18 straight years. This was the sixth year since 2010 that at least eight ACC teams have landed spots in the field. This year's nine teams were the second-most in league history, trailing only the ACC's 10 selections in 2016.
- Notre Dame advanced to the Men's College World Series for the third time in program history and first time since 2002. The Fighting Irish won their series opener versus before bowing out with losses to Oklahoma and Texas A&M.
- At least one ACC team has reached the Men's College World Series each of the last 16 years in which the event has been held. The ACC has placed a total of 29 teams in the MCWS during that span. The 14 current ACC teams own a combined 99 MCWS appearances.

2021-22 ANNUAL REPORT

2022 MALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR

KENNY PICKETT

PITT, FOOTBALL

ACC Football Player of the Year Kenny Pickett of Pitt received the 69th Anthony J. McKeelin Award as the conference's premier male athlete. The Oakhurst, New Jersey, senior directed the Panthers to an 11-win season and the program's first ACC championship in 2021. The 11 victories marked Pitt's most since the 1981 team led by Dan Marino went 11-1.

The ACC Athlete of the Year Awards are given in memory of two distinguished journalists. McKeelin was a sports editor of the Raleigh (North Carolina) News and Observer, while Garber, of the Winston-Salem (North Carolina) Journal, was a pioneer as one of the first female sports journalists in the nation.

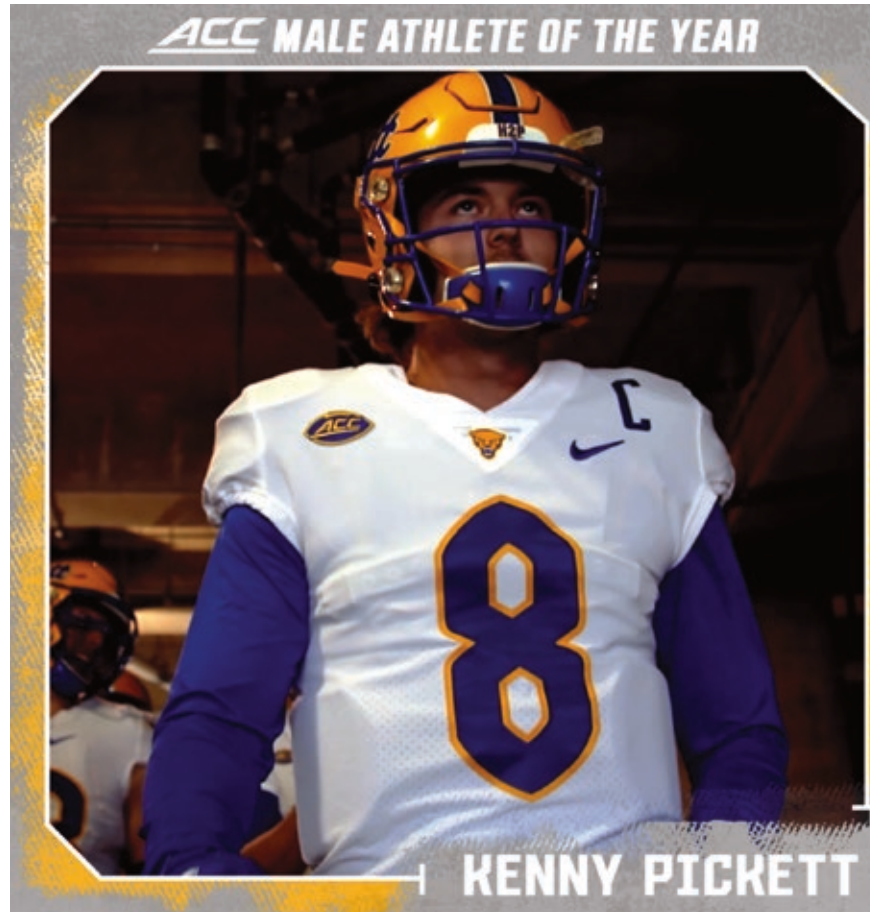

Pickett started all 13 games for Pitt and completed 67% of his passes (334 of 497) for 4,319 yards with 42 touchdowns and only seven interceptions. Including his five rushing scores, he totaled 47 touchdowns.

Pickett's passing yardage, passing touchdowns, total TDs and completions are all Pitt season records. He also set an ACC season record for touchdown passes, breaking the prior mark of 41 set by Clemson's Deshaun Watson in 2016.

Pickett was named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Football Foundation and American Football Coaches Association (AFCA), becoming the first Pitt quarterback to earn first-team status since Marino in 1981. He was selected the winner of the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award (presented to the top upperclassman quarterback set to graduate with his class) and the Senior CLASS Award (presented to the most outstanding senior Football Bowl Subdivision student-athlete).

Pickett was a Heisman Trophy finalist—Pitt's first since receiver Larry Fitzgerald in 2003—and finished third in the balloting. Pickett was selected in the first round (20th overall) of the NFL Draft by the Pittsburgh Steelers, becoming the 26th Pitt player to be selected in the opening round.

Pickett led the McKeelin Award balloting with 32 votes and becomes the first Pitt student-athlete selected for the honor since the Panthers began ACC competition in 2013-14. Florida State track standout Trey Cunningham followed Pickett with 18 votes, and North Carolina basketball player Armando Bacot was third with 16.

2022 FEMALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR

CHARLOTTE NORTH

BOSTON COLLEGE, LACROSSE

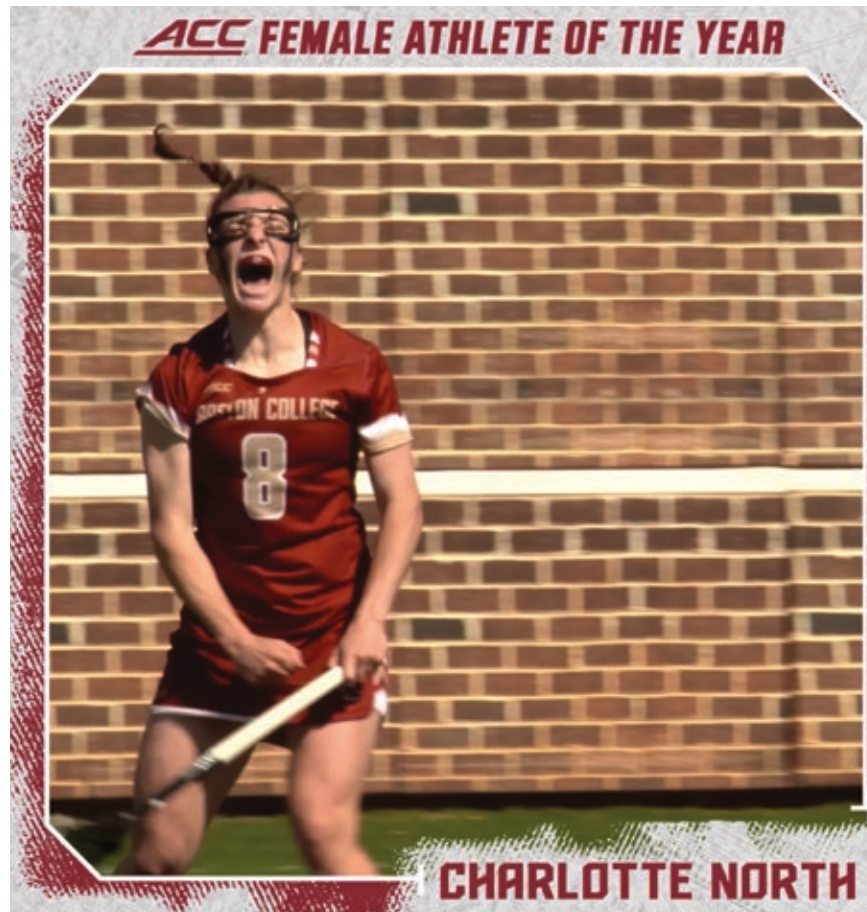

National women's lacrosse player of the year Charlotte North of Boston College received the 32nd Mary Garber Award as the ACC's most outstanding female athlete for the second consecutive season. North, who earned the 2022 Tewaaraton Award as the nation's top lacrosse player, is just the fifth female student-athlete to earn the ACC athlete of the year honor in consecutive seasons and the first since Duke's Alana Beard (basketball) in 2003 and 2004.

The ACC Athlete of the Year Awards are given in memory of two distinguished journalists. McKevlin was a sports editor of the Raleigh (North Carolina) News and Observer, while Garber, of the Winston-Salem (North Carolina) Journal, was a pioneer as one of the first female sports journalists in the nation.

North was the 2022 IWLCA Division I Player of the Year and Attacker of the Year and earned All-American honors from the IWLCA, Inside Lacrosse/IL Women, and USA Lacrosse Magazine. The No. 1 overall pick in the 2022 Athletes Unlimited Lacrosse College Draft, North finished third in the country in goals scored (92), fourth in draw controls (139), and fifth in points (115), leading BC to its second-consecutive national championship game. She was one of only two players at the Division I level to register 90 goals and 100 draw controls. North finished her career as the all-time goals leader in NCAA Division I history (358) and ranks third all-time in NCAA history with 433 points and ninth with 373 draw controls.

A native of Dallas, Texas, North was named the 2022 ACC's Women's Lacrosse Student-Athlete of the Year, the second straight year she has received the award.

North received 27 votes to lead the Garber Award balloting, followed by Virginia swimmer Kate Douglass with 16 and FSU's Jaelin Howell with 12.

The Atlantic Coast Conference's 54 postgraduate scholarship award winners were featured on "Balancing Act: The ACC Salutes Scholar-Athletes," a one-hour show that debuted on ACC Network at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, May 31. The show was hosted by former ACC student-athlete and current ACCN personality Roddy Jones.

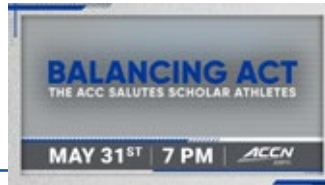

"Balancing Act" brought together the best and brightest student-athletes from all 15 league institutions and included interviews highlighting each recipient's passion for ACC athletics and academics as well as thoughts on Title IX, workload balance, superstitions, adversity, most interesting majors, memorable moments, greatest influences and more.

"The ACC has an incredible history of producing outstanding student-athletes who excel both on and off the playing field," said ACC Commissioner Jim Phillips, Ph.D. "This feature provides a tremendous opportunity to highlight this year's class of postgrad scholarship recipients on ACC Network and showcase their amazing stories and accomplishments. We are extremely proud of these incredible individuals and look forward to their future success."

This class of scholar-athletes received the Weaver-James-Corrigan-Swofford Postgraduate Scholarship. This year's class included three student-athletes who also received the Thacker Award and nine student-athletes who plan to pursue professional careers in their chosen sports and were named honorary recipients.

The Weaver-James-Corrigan-Swofford and the Jim and Pat Thacker postgraduate scholarships are awarded to selected student-athletes who intend to pursue a graduate degree following completion of their undergraduate requirements. Each recipient will receive $6,000 toward his or her graduate education. Those honored have performed with distinction in both the classroom and their respective sport, while demonstrating exemplary conduct in the community.

ABOUT THE WEAVER-JAMES-CORRIGAN-SWOFFORD AWARD

The Weaver-James-Corrigan-Swofford Award is named in honor of Jim Weaver, Bob James, Gene Corrigan and John Swofford, the first four ACC commissioners. The league's first commissioner, James H. Weaver, served the conference from 1954-70 after a stint as the Director of Athletics at Wake Forest. His early leadership and uncompromising integrity are largely responsible for the excellent reputation enjoyed by the ACC today.

Robert C. James, a former Maryland football player, was named commissioner in 1971 and served in that capacity for 16 years. During his tenure, the league continued to grow in stature and became recognized as a national leader in athletics and academics, winning 23 national championships and maintaining standards of excellence in the classroom.

Eugene F. Corrigan assumed his role as the third full-time commissioner on September 1, 1987 and served until August of 1997. During Corrigan's tenure, ACC schools captured 30 NCAA championships and two national football titles.

John Swofford, the longest-tenured commissioner in the 67-year history of the ACC, started in 1997 and served 24 years before retiring in February 2021. Swofford guided the league to unprecedented stability, success and growth as the league expanded from nine to 15 members. Expansion allowed the league to secure its future through the grant of media rights, creation of the ACC Football Championship Game, an invaluable partnership with the Orange Bowl, and joining with ESPN in August 2019 to establish the ACC Network.

ACC SCHOOLS AGAIN REGISTER IMPRESSIVE GSR DATA

THE ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE'S COLLECTIVE HIGH LEVEL OF ACADEMIC SUCCESS IS AGAIN REFLECTED BY THE NCAA GRADUATION SUCCESS RATE (GSR) REPORT.

The ACC's average graduation rate of 92 percent matches the conference's average GSR achieved a year ago and is four points higher than this year's national average of 88 percent. Other notes of interest:

- A total of 145 ACC teams achieved perfect GSR scores of 100, led by 19 teams from Duke and 17 from Notre Dame.
- Twenty-five ACC teams achieved GSR scores of 100 in the sports of men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball.
- Nine ACC men's basketball teams earned higher than the Division I basketball GSR average. Clemson, Duke, Florida State, Miami, North Carolina, Syracuse, Virginia and Wake Forest posted GSR scores of 100.
- Ten ACC football teams matched or earned higher than the FBS football GSR average.
- In the sport of football, the ACC remains the only conference to have multiple teams register GSR scores of 90 or higher every year since 2005. Duke (96), Louisville (93), Pitt (93) and Boston College (92) reached that plateau in this year's report.
- Eleven ACC women's basketball teams matched or earned higher than the Division I women's basketball GSR average.
- This marks the 13th straight year that the ACC has had at least four women's basketball programs score 100, making it the only peer conference to do so. Nine ACC teams – Boston College, Duke, Louisville, Miami, North Carolina, Notre Dame, Pitt, Syracuse and Virginia – hit the century mark in the latest report.
- Ten ACC baseball teams earned higher than the Division I GSR baseball average. Clemson, Duke, Louisville, NC State, Notre Dame, Virginia, Virginia Tech and Wake Forest each registered a 100 GSR.

This year's report is based on information obtained from the 2021 NCAA Graduation Rate Report. This is the most recent graduating class for which the required six years of information is available. A graduation rate (percent) is based on a comparison of the number of students who entered a college or university and the number of those who graduated within six years. For example, if 100 students entered and 60 graduated, the graduation rate is 60 percent.

It should be noted that graduation rates are affected by a number of factors: some students transfer to another college, some may be dismissed for academic deficiencies, some may have to work part-time and need more than six years to graduate.

The Graduation Success Rate (GSR) subtracts students from the entering cohort who are considered allowable exclusions (those who either die or become personally disabled, those who leave school to join the armed forces, foreign services or attend a church mission) as well as those who would have been academically eligible to compete had they returned to the institution.

ACC SCHOOLS AGAIN EARN HIGH MARKS IN 'BEST COLLEGE' RANKINGS

For the 15th consecutive year, the Atlantic Coast Conference leads the way among Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) conferences in the "Best Colleges" rankings released by U.S. News & World Report.

Notables from this year's rankings:

- The ACC has led the FBS conferences in best average rank in each of the last 15 years.
- The average rank of ACC schools is 55, which leads all FBS Conferences and is five percentage points ahead of the next-closest peer conference.
- The ACC's three schools among the top 25 of this year's rankings ties for the most among peer conferences.
- The ACC's seven schools ranked in the top 40 are the most among FBS conferences.
- The ACC's 11 member schools among the top 60 are also the most among peer conferences, as are its 14 institutions among the top 80.
- On Aug. 24, the ACC, Big Ten and Pac-12 announced an historic alliance that brings 41 world-class institutions together on a collaborative approach surrounding the future evolution of college athletics and scheduling. Thirty-five Alliance schools rank among the top 100 of this year's "Best Colleges" report.

ACC STUDENT-ATHLETES EXCEL ONCE AGAIN IN NCAA APR REPORT

ACC teams continue to stand out among those from Division I colleges and universities that meet standards and excel academically, as evidenced by the annual Academic Progress Rate (APR) team data released by the NCAA. Each Division I institution is held accountable for the academic progress of its student-athletes through the APR, a team-based metric that accounts for the eligibility and retention of each scholarship student-athlete, each term.

Current ACC highlights include:

- All football, men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball programs exceeded the NCAA's required APR.
- Highest APR among Power 5 conferences in the following men's sports: football, basketball, cross country, swimming & diving (tied), track & field and wrestling.
- Highest APR among Power 5 conferences in the following women's sports: golf, soccer, swimming & diving, tennis and track & field.

Men's Basketball:

- 11 teams have an APR above the Division I average 966 (the most among Power 5 conferences).
- Average APR of 983 for ACC teams - 15 points above the NCAA average.

Football:

- 11 ACC teams have an APR above the Division I average 969 (second among peer conferences).
- Average APR of 983 is 14 points above the NCAA FBS average.

Women's Basketball:

- Ten teams have an APR above the Division I average 983 (tied for most among peer conferences).
- APR of 983 matches the NCAA average.

Baseball

- 10 of 14 ACC teams have an APR above the average 977 (most among peer conferences).
- Baseball: APR of 984 is seven points above the NCAA average.

NOTRE DAME'S DESCHNER NAMED FINALIST FOR NCAA WOMAN OF THE YEAR

Atlantic Coast Conference nominee Stefani Deschner of Notre Dame was among the nine finalists announced for the 2021 NCAA Woman of the Year Award.

Now in its 31st year, the NCAA Woman of the Year program honors graduating female student-athletes who have distinguished themselves throughout their collegiate careers in the areas of academic achievement, athletics excellence, service and leadership.

"Stefani - along with all of the nominees from our member schools - have excelled in the classroom and in competition, while also setting the ultimate example in their commitment to community service," said ACC Commissioner Jim Phillips, Ph.D. "Stefani is an incredible individual who embodies everything that is important within college athletics. We are proud to support her as she represents both Notre Dame and the ACC."

An NCAA fencing national champion and campus leader, Deschner joins eight other finalists who were among an original group of 535 school nominees. That group was narrowed to 154 nominees by conference offices, and the NCAA in September announced the Top 30 - 10 from each of three NCAA divisions. The list of finalists consisted of three student-athletes from each NCAA division.

The ACC was the only Power 5 conference to place two student-athletes among this year's Top 30, as Deschner was joined by Georgia Tech track and field All-American Bria Matthews.

Deschner was named the ACC Fencing Scholar-Athlete of the Year for the second consecutive season after a successful senior year in which she helped Notre Dame to the 11th NCAA Fencing Championship in program history.

The Versailles, Kentucky, native continued her strong play on the strip after a breakout junior season. She completed an undefeated regular season with a 17-0 record heading into the NCAA Championships. At the NAAs, Deschner advanced to the semifinals and defeated teammate Amita Berthier to advance to the foil finals. In the finals, she scored the first seven touches of the match and ended up claiming the foil championship, 15-9.

With the win, she captured her first career individual championship and was the first women's foil champion from Notre Dame since Olympic gold medalist Lee Kiefer back in 2017.

The co-executive chair of the ACC Student-Athlete Advisory Council (SAAC) mental health board, Deschner has organized additional mental health town halls, developed education modules, and created a mental health station to help direct student athletes to proper mental health professionals.

Deschner has also actively served as the fencing liaison with Fighting Irish Fight for Life (FIFL), an organization that pairs severely ill children with the university's sports teams.

Having recently earned her undergraduate degree in pre-professional studies and theology, Deschner has been accepted into three medical schools. She was a 2021 ACC Postgraduate Scholarship recipient, a three-time All-ACC Fencing Academic Team honoree and has made the Dean's List seven times.

"As I enter medical school, I am grateful to have had the opportunity to learn true compassion, joy in the simplest things, and resilience despite the myriad of obstacles that we face," Deschner said. "I have become a compassionate leader, a resilient athlete, and a determined student. As a result, I will combine these qualities to become a thoughtful physician, making a difference through service."

Matthews and Deschner emerged as the ACC's 2021 NCAA Woman of the Year candidates following a vote of the league's 15 member schools. The strong list of nominees from member institutions also included:

Boston College: Charlotte North (lacrosse)

Clemson: Cammy Pereira (softball)

Duke: Meible Chi (tennis) and Peyton St. George (softball)

Florida State: Nandini Das (tennis) and Taryn Knuth (volleyball)

Louisville: Makenli Forrest (track & field) and Meghan Schneider (field hockey)

Miami: Michelle Atherley (track & field) and Estela Perez-Somarriba (tennis)

North Carolina: Katie Hoeg (lacrosse) and Rachel Jones (soccer)

NC State: Olivia Calegan (swimming & diving) and Jaeda Daniel (tennis)

Pitt: Kayla Lund (volleyball) and Chinaza Ndee (volleyball)

Virginia: Paige Madden (swimming & diving)

Virginia Tech: Aisha Sheppard (basketball)

Wake Forest: Emilia Migliaccio (golf)

ACC member institutions claim three past NCAA Women of the Year honorees. Former Notre Dame soccer standout Elizabeth Tucker was named the 2014 NCAA Woman of the Year. Wake Forest's Annie Bersagel (cross country/track & field) was recognized in 2006, and Virginia's Peggy Boutilier (field hockey/lacrosse) received the honor in 1998.

INTERNAL OPERATIONS

SERVICES TO MEMBER SCHOOLS
IN COMPLIANCE & GOVERNANCE

The ACC office provides timely information on NCAA and ACC governance items through its compliance and governance department. The work of the compliance and governance staff furthers the ACC's commitment to competing athletically at a high level with integrity and uniquely balancing academics and athletics. While some services focus on day-to-day assistance to member institutions, other services provide institutions with best practices and ideas on how to continuously improve their compliance operations. Among the services provided through the compliance and governance office were:

- Continued assistance with interpretations of NCAA and ACC rules.
- Frequent calls throughout the pandemic with compliance personnel.
- Implementation of institutional compliance reviews conducted through the contract services of The Compliance Group.
- Governance meeting support for the ACC governance structure, including coaches meetings.
- Distribution of more than $8,800,000 to member institutions for direct benefits to ACC student-athletes.
- Enhanced Rules education program for institutional administrators through monthly newsletters.
- Despite having to cancel the in-person ACC Mental Health and Wellness Summit, videos related to mental health and wellness topics were delivered to the membership during the month of May.
- Implementation of an ACC Healthcare Advisory Group to assist in sharing best practices across the membership and oversee the Student-Athlete Health & Safety Summit.

ACC SCHOOL REVENUE DISTRIBUTION
REMAINS SIGNIFICANT

The ACC's total revenue has steadily increased and ranks among the highest in total conference revenue. Primary revenue sources include media rights, the College Football Playoff and bowl games, the ACC Football Championship Game, the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, and NCAA broad-based funds. In addition, the Conference reimburses member schools for expenses related to their participation in all ACC championships and provides financial support for participation in select NCAA championships and bowl games.

COST CENTER BUDGETING SYSTEM

The Conference utilizes a budget process which includes significant involvement from the ACC Finance Committee, which is comprised of three members of the Board of Directors and the Conference Treasurer serving as the ex-officio. Following review and adjustments to the proposed operating budget for the upcoming fiscal year, the Finance Committee is tasked with recommending a proposed budget for review and approval by the Board at the Annual Meeting. Revenue projections are also reviewed as part of the overall budget process.

The ACC office uses an accounting system that allows departmental managers the ability to effectively monitor their budgets vs. actual expenses, review year over year comparisons, and provide ACC staff with the tools necessary to make informed decisions based on timely and accurate financial information.

INVESTMENT POLICIES

The current allocation of asset investments for the Conference is delegated to the Finance Committee. This oversight committee includes development of the Conference Investment policy, including the determination of appropriate asset allocations, consistent review of funds' performance versus benchmarks and recommendations regarding Conference monetary investments. The Committee meets annually with the current external investment management agency to make changes, as needed, with investment strategies. The Finance committee recommended an amended Investment Policy to the Board, simplifying the administration and execution of the policy. The Board unanimously approved the policy at the Annual Meeting.

ACC ACTIVELY PURSUES MINORITY CANDIDATES

The Atlantic Coast Conference is committed to achieving diversity in all aspects of its administration. One of the areas the Conference Office is looking to achieve this is in actively pursuing minority candidates for positions which are available in the ACC Office. The Conference Office conducts a concerted effort to identify, seek and hire qualified minority personnel.

ACC PRESIDENT'S AWARD

The ACC President's Award is presented at the discretion of the chair of the Faculty Athletics Representatives to an individual who has provided exemplary service to the conference in a specific task, in a series of efforts during the year of the chair's service, or over an extended period of time.

C.O.R.E.

UNITE AWARD

The ACC announced the recipients of the inaugural ACC UNITE Award, which was created to honor individuals affiliated with the league who have made an impact in the areas of racial and social justice.

The UNITE Award is an initiative of the ACC's Committee for Racial and Social Justice (CORE - Champions of Racial Equity) and was developed and approved by its 15 member institutions.

The UNITE Award will be presented annually to individuals who:

- Best exemplify ACC CORE's mission to promote and encourage racial equity and social justice through education, partnerships, engagement and advocacy;
- Have helped create meaningful, lasting change by improving systems, organizational structures, policies, practices and attitudes;
- Have been a pioneer and/or helped pave the way for minorities either at the institution or in the community

"As a conference, we are thrilled to celebrate these deserving individuals as we continue our commitment to racial and social justice," said ACC Commissioner Jim Phillips, Ph.D. "As we look to the future, our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion will remain steadfast."

Moving forward, each school will select one male and one female recipient for the annual ACC UNITE Award.

C.O.R.E. was created in June 2020 to support the ACC's commitment to social justice and racial equity. Members of C.O.R.E. include conference office staff members and campus representatives from each of the league's 15 institutions. C.O.R.E.'s mission is to promote and encourage inclusion, racial equity and social justice through education, partnerships, engagement and advocacy.

- The ACC honored the recipients of the inaugural ACC UNITE Award, which was created to honor individuals affiliated with the league who have made an impact in the areas of racial and social justice.

- In the first year of the award, the league celebrated the individuals who – according to available information – were the first male and female athletes of color to integrate the athletic teams at each current ACC institution. Each school honored its recipients during the current academic year.

- The UNITE Award recipients were recognized as part of a 1-hour show on SiriusXM ACC Radio Channel 371 hosted by Chris Spatola and Dalen Cuff. The show featured guests Ray Bellamy and Irwin Holmes.

ACC UNITY WEEKS

- ACC Unity Weeks are an initiative of the ACC's Committee for Racial and Social Justice and were developed in conjunction with its 15 member institutions. The league celebrated Unity Week in the fall (Oct. 24-31), winter (Feb. 20-28) and spring (April 16-24).

- During Unity Week, all league social handle profile pictures featured the ACC UNITE logo, specific themes of UNITY each day of the week were promoted and the conference office produced a video highlighting our institution's diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives.

- ACC UNITE logo was included in ACCN television broadcasts. ACCN held a virtual roundtable hosted by Dalen Cuff on former ACC Trailblazers (ACC Unite: No Struggle, No Progress).
- In conjunction with winter Unity Week, the conference created content throughout February to celebrate Black History Month.

2022 ACC HEALTH & SAFETY SUMMIT

ACC HEALTH & SAFETY

The ACC conducted a Health and Safety Summit in partnership with the ACC Sports Medicine Association, May 2-3, at the Grandover Resort in Greensboro, North Carolina.

The two-day summit provided an opportunity for athletic trainers, team physicians, nutritionists, mental health practitioners, sports performance coaches, and others within the ACC's health and sports performance community to collaborate and share best practices.

The summit featured a mix of keynote speakers, breakout sessions and practitioner meetings. Attendees representing all ACC institutions attended.

This year's program built off the momentum of the ACC Mental Health Summit, which was first conducted in 2019 in Durham, North Carolina, and then held virtually the last two years. Based on the success of those events, the ACC expanded the scope of this year's summit to include a variety of health care professionals and a broad range of topics.

"The health and safety of our student-athletes continues to be a significant priority for the ACC and our 15 member institutions," said ACC Commissioner Jim Phillips, Ph.D. "This summit is a comprehensive program that addresses key issues affecting our student-athletes and provides meaningful input and dialog from many of the most respected healthcare professionals in college athletics. Having our membership come together and work tirelessly in these areas is incredibly important, and we are proud of the difference it will make for our student-athletes, institutions and communities."

Keynote speakers included Dr. Thomas Dompier, Dr. LaTisha Bader, Dr. Doug Aukerman and Dr. Cameron Wolfe with sessions focusing on injury surveillance, drug testing and suicide prevention, among others.

The ACC Health & Safety Summit is another program that demonstrates the league's commitment to serving the student-athlete. In November, the ACC partnered with the Big Ten and Pac-12 on "Teammates for Mental Health," to raise awareness about the importance of mental health and wellness among their more than 27,000 student athletes.

The ACC formed a mental health working group in 2018 to provide recommendations for mental health support and education at each of its 15 member institutions. The following year, the league hosted its first ACC Mental Health and Wellness Summit, which focused on best practices for integrative care and strategies to break the stigma surrounding mental health. Guest speakers included Kym and Mark Hilinski of Hilinski's Hope and former WNBA No. 1 draft pick Chamique Holdclaw.

In 2020, the conference distributed a series of videos and educational materials throughout Mental Health Awareness Month (May) and held two virtual QPR (Question, Persuade, Refer) workshops on suicide prevention.

In 2021, the conference held a virtual summit that addressed the affects and takeaways from navigating a pandemic and a year of social unrest. The ACC also provides the Calm meditation app to all student-athletes, coaches, and staff members for additional support.

ACC NETWORK HIGHLIGHTS

2021-22 SEASON

• One of the ACC's most significant historical accomplishments came on August 22, 2019 with the launch of ACC Network (ACCN), a 24/7 national network dedicated to ACC sports and league-wide original programming. Initially announced in July 2016, the launch was the culmination of years of planning by former ACC Commissioner John Swofford, league administrators and ESPN officials.

• ACCN includes state-of-the-art campus production facilities at all 15 institutions.

• Among the many benefits of ACCN are increased revenue distribution for league institutions, employment opportunities for students, and promotion and coverage of Olympic Sports, including an enormous increase in programming for women's athletics.

- ACCN exceeded all distribution and revenue expectations in year 1 and year 2.
- ACCN continues to super-serve ACC fans with first-class content representing the ACC's 15 member institutions, student-athletes and alumni.

• ACCN provides coverage of more than 500 exclusive ACC events annually across the ACC's 27 sponsored sports. Games/matches featured on the network extend across regular season and ACC Championships.

• Together, ACCN and its digital platform, ACC Network Extra (ACCNX), features more than 1,500 ACC events annually.

• ACCN was nominated for three Sports Video Group awards and one Sports Emmy in its debut 2019-20 season. ACCN also won a gold medal for "Best Animation" at the 2020 New York Festivals TV & Film Awards.

DISTRIBUTION/REACH

• ACC Network (ACCN) is fully distributed with every major cable, satellite, telco, and digital provider across the country including the following: Comcast's Xfinity, Cox, DIRECTV, DIRECTV STREAM, DISH Network, Frontier, fuboTV, Google Fiber, Hulu+ Live TV, Mediacom, Optimum, Sling TV, Spectrum

TV, Suddenlink, Verizon Fios, YouTube TV, members of the NCTC, NRTC and Vivicast, among others.

• In 2021, Disney Media & Entertainment Distribution reached comprehensive agreements with Mediacom (August), The National Cable Television Cooperative (August), and Comcast (November).

STUDIO SHOWS

• Announced at ACC Football Kickoff, the newest addition to the ACCN studio lineup is ACC PM. Hosted by Mark Packer, the three-hour long studio show will air from 4-7 p.m. ET, beginning Monday, Aug. 22.

• ACC PM will have a football focus while also delivering news and commentary from around the ACC's 15 institutions.

• ACC PM will originate from Mark Packer's state of the art basement studio. A co-host will be named at a later date.

• ACCN's exclusive studio show lineup includes All ACC, The ACC Huddle, Nothing But Net and Bald Men on Campus, which features ESPN College GameDay's Jay Bilas, LaPhonso Ellis and Seth Greenberg.

ORIGINAL PROGRAMMING

• ACCN is committed to original storytelling and access programming – two hallmarks of the network and showcased through a multitude of documentaries and all-access series. Examples include: Hidden Dynasty: The Story of Carolina Women's Soccer, The Tournament: A History of ACC Men's Basketball, The Class That Saved Coach K, Champions Coaches Conversations, Unbelievable: Virginia's Improbable

Path to a Title, Greatest Ever: 2018 Clemson Tigers, 1186 To Omaha: 2015 Virginia Baseball, in addition to the All Access, ACC Traditions and ACC Legends franchises.

• The 10-part/10-hour series The Tournament: A History of ACC Men's Basketball – ACCN's largest original programming initiative to date aired over five Mondays throughout February and early March. The documentary, produced by Emmy Award-winning filmmakers John Dahl and Jonathan Hock, explored the transformative tournament that started in 1954. The Tournament included exclusive footage and interviews with more than 160 players, coaches and media members who had been a part of the ACC Tournament since its beginnings as the series explored the inception, transformation and impact of the tournament on entire eras of the game.

• ACCN continues to expand its All Access, 3-Day Weekend, We're #1! and ACC Legends franchises. In 2021-22, ACCN debuted All Access with Miami Football, We're #1! – The Story of 1990 ACC Football, 3-Day Weekend: Miami/Coral Gables; 3-Day Weekend: Pittsburgh; 3-Day Weekend: Clemson and 3-Day Weekend: Boston, as well as multiple new episodes of All Access The ACC Life, and ACC Legends highlighting the careers of Bobby Bowden, Kay Yow and Ralph Sampson.

• ACCN debuted another installment of its All Access series - All Access with Pitt Women's Lacrosse | The Inaugural Season – a look at the Pitt's first season competing as an NCAA Division I program.

• Past All Access and 3-Day Weekend programs include:

- 3-Day Weekend: Blacksburg
- All In: The Clemson Football Family
- All Access with Louisville Football
- All Access with Carolina Basketball
- All Access with Notre Dame Women's Basketball
- All Access with Miami Women's Basketball
- All Access with Miami Football
- All Access with NC State Football (debut August 2022)

• Hidden Dynasty: The Story of Carolina Women's Soccer – a documentary on the rise and domination of North Carolina women's soccer debuted on June 23, 2022 as part of the ESPN's Fifty/50 initiative celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Title IX.

• ACCN has received unprecedented access to high profile programs including North Carolina men's basketball, Louisville and Miami football, Notre Dame and Miami women's basketball and Pitt women's lacrosse. ACCN will continue its push around access programming.

Future Storytelling Projects

• Coming this fall is a documentary on Clemson's 1981 football season - We're #1! The Story of 1981 Clemson Football - produced in partnership with Raycom sports. This documentary highlights the Tigers undefeated 1981 season in which they won Clemson's first football national title.

- ACCN will debut another installment of its All Access series with All Access with NC State premiering on Aug. 14. The three-episode series will offer a rare, behind-the-scenes look at the Wolfpack as it prepares for the 2022 season.

- Future episodes of 3-Day Weekend showcasing Syracuse, Tallahassee and Atlanta are in production and will air later this summer/fall. 3-Day Weekend is a series of 30-minute episodes featuring host Jess Roy as she travels to ACC college towns introducing fans to historic spots, popular restaurants and establishments, while giving viewers a taste of what the area has to offer.

- ACC Legends series continues. Each episode will be 30 minutes and produced as part of the on-going partnership with Raycom.

FOOTBALL

- ACC Network supports the ACC's 24/7/365 football initiative with year-long coverage throughout its live event and studio coverage, original programming, and content on its social platforms.

- Along with a full slate of season-long football games on ACCN, the network provides wall-to-wall coverage every Saturday throughout the fall. The ACC Huddle, ACCN's franchise football studio show leads into the action with an hour pregame show (11 a.m. – noon ET), provides coverage at halftime and between games, as well as a primetime show leading into ACC Primetime Football and an hour-long postgame show. The ACC Huddle also appears on ACCN around other tentpole football events – ACC Football Kickoff, Pro Days, Signing Day, CFP and select bowl games.

- ACCN was live from the ACC Football Kickoff in Charlotte July 2021 for the first time since the network launched in 2019 for two days of expansive coverage of the conference's annual football media days. With 15 hours of dedicated programming over the two-day event, ACCN provided the event's most robust television coverage to date.

- ACCN embarked on 14-campus ACC Football Tour throughout August to kickoff the football season. ACC Football Road Trip featured 14 one-hour shows airing in primetime over four weeks from campuses across the conference. ACC Football Road Trip previewed each team's upcoming season and included exclusive interviews with head coaches and student-athletes, while showcasing unique aspects of those 14 football campuses.

- ACCN added long-time NFL wide receiver and former Virginia Tech football standout Eddie Royal to the ACCN studio roster in August. Royal contributed to weekly football coverage on All ACC as well as traveling to various on-campus The ACC Huddle stops.

- ACCN opened the football season with Packer and Durham and The ACC Huddle live from NC State for the 2021 season opener. The ACC Huddle made three additional road trips during the regular season to North Carolina (vs Virginia), Virginia Tech (vs Notre Dame) and Wake Forest (vs NC State) during the regular season, in addition to being onsite at the Subway ACC Football Championship Game and the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

- ACCN will have two full days of live coverage of the 2022 ACC Football Kickoff and will take The ACC Huddle on the road again this year for six regular season games throughout the fall along with the Subway ACC Football Championship Game and select games throughout Bowl Season.

- For a second straight year, ACCN will visit all 14 football campuses ahead of the 2022 season for ACC Football Road Trip beginning Aug. 1. ACC Football Road Trip will again preview each team's upcoming season and include exclusive interviews with head coaches and student-athletes, while showcasing unique aspects of those 14 football programs.

BASKETBALL

- ACC men's and women's basketball enjoys tremendous exposure through ACC Network. ACCN delivers hundreds of men's women's basketball games annually as well as surrounding studio coverage. In its debut year, ACCN doubled linear exposure for ACC men's basketball and caused an 800 percent increase in women's basketball linear coverage.

- ACCN provides dedicated studio coverage of the conference's basketball media days - ACC Women's Basketball Tipoff and Operation Basketball as well as both men's and women's conference tournaments. The network had live studio sets at 2021 Tipoff and Operation Basketball as well as at the 2022 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament and New York Life ACC Men's Basketball Tournament, delivering surrounding coverage of those events.

- ACCN added former North Carolina basketball standout Joel Berry II to the ACCN studio roster. Berry was a fixture on ACCN's signature basketball studio program Nothing But Net throughout the basketball season.

- ACCN also added WNBA and Olympic Champion former Duke star Chelsea Gray to its "Ladies Night" Thursday night Nothing But Net studio coverage.

- ACCN's signature basketball studio show Nothing But Net features and incredibly decorated men's and women's cast including a Naismith Hall of Fame and NCAA Champion coach Muffet McGraw, NCAA Champions and Most Outstanding Players Joel Berry II and Luke Hancock, NCAA and Olympic Champion and NBA All-Star Carlos Boozer and WNBA and Olympic Champion Chelsea Gray.

- ACCN opened the season with on-site coverage of Coach K's final home opener at Duke (vs Army) in November.

- ACCN had comprehensive coverage of Coach K's final home game at Duke with both an alternate viewing option featuring Wes Durham, Mark Packer and Debbie Antonelli calling the game on ACCN and full pre and postgame Nothing But Net coverage live from outside of Cameron Indoor Stadium.

- Nothing But Net was onsite for surrounding coverage both the New York Life ACC Men's Basketball Tournament and ACC Women's Basketball Tournament.

- ACCN had nearly 20 hours of expansive onsite coverage of the NCAA Men's and Women's Final Four in New Orleans and Minneapolis covering Duke and North Carolina men and Louisville women. It marked the most coverage of the men's and women's Final Four since the network launched.

OLYMPIC SPORTS

- ACC Network delivers the most national linear coverage for the league's Olympic sport programs (field hockey, m/w soccer, wrestling, m/w lacrosse, softball and baseball). ACCN provides live championship coverage for field hockey, m/w soccer, wrestling, women's lacrosse, softball and baseball.

- ACC wrestling enjoys a dedicated night of programming – Friday Night Duals – highlighted by five straight weeks of conference matches and the finals of the ACC Wrestling Championship exclusively on ACCN. 2020 marked the first time the ACC Wrestling Championship was featured on a linear network.

- ACCN had dedicated onsite studio coverage surrounding the 2022 ACC Women's Lacrosse, Softball and Baseball Championships.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

- ACCN is committed to women's sports delivering expansive coverage of field hockey, women's soccer and volleyball throughout the fall, women's basketball throughout the fall and winter, and softball and women's lacrosse throughout the spring. Additionally, cross country, swimming and diving, tennis, golf and rowing enjoy championship coverage on the network.

- ACC field hockey saw its first-ever linear broadcast of the sport during the 2019 season – exclusively on ACCN. It is regularly featured each week throughout the regular season on ACCN, along with all three rounds of the ACC Field Hockey Championship.

- The ACC's women's sports programs are regularly featured every day on Packer and Durham and All ACC. Thursday nights throughout conference basketball season is "Ladies Night" featuring halftime and between-game coverage of an ACC women's basketball doubleheader as well as a full recap of the day's action on Nothing But Net following the second game.

- ACCN continues to prioritize increases in linear exposure for women's sports and saw gains specifically in women's basketball and softball. Women's basketball saw a 21 percent increase in events carried on ACCN year over year, while softball had a 26 percent increase, including coverage from the St. Pete/Clearwater Elite Invitational. ACCN also had live studio coverage at the 2022 ACC Softball Championship and Women's College World Series.

ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

- The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, North Carolina, with seven charter members — Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, NC State, South Carolina and Wake Forest — drawing up the conference bylaws. On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when South Carolina tendered its resignation. The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when Georgia Tech was admitted. The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State. The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of Miami and Virginia Tech. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.
- The ACC added its 13th and 14th members on September 18, 2011, when Pittsburgh and Syracuse accepted invitations to join the conference. The two schools officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013. Notre Dame also officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2013, after announcing on September 12, 2012, its intention to enter the league for competition in all sports but football, bringing the membership of the conference to 15. The Fighting Irish play five football games with ACC schools each year. On July 1, 2014, Louisville entered the ACC on the same day Maryland withdrew, keeping the conference's membership at 15 institutions.
- Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 173 national championships, including 87 in women's competition, 82 in men's competition and four in fencing. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 196 times in men's competition and 141 times in women's action.
- The league's unique blend of public and private institutions continues to lead the way among Autonomy 5 conferences in the "Best Colleges" rankings released by US News & World Report. The ACC was the only FBS conference to place six of its members institutions among the top 20 and seven member schools among the top 40. With an average rank of 54.7, the ACC led all FBS conferences for the 13th consecutive year.
- In the NCAA's Graduation Success Rate report released last November, the ACC's graduation rate of 92 percent ranked three points higher than the national average and led all Autonomy 5 conferences. Eighteen ACC teams achieved GSR scores of 100 in the sports of men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball.
- Some of the most influential people in history have been awarded the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship to pursue post-graduate education at the University of Oxford in England. The oldest international fellowships have been earned by a few extraordinary ACC student-athletes. Some of the names on this list include Florida State football student-athlete Myron Rolle, Duke tennis student-athlete Julia Parker Goyer, Florida State track and field student-athlete Garrett Johnson and Notre Dame fencing student-athlete Alex Coccia.
- The ACC Academic Consortium is a special commitment of the 15 university presidents and the conference office to enhance academic excellence. Originally funded by a portion of the revenues from the ACC Football Championship Game, the ACCAC works to advance the quality of education for all undergraduate students by sharing academic and administrative resources and by hosting conferences that bring together experts from all our campuses.
- ACC Postgraduate Scholarships: The Weaver-James-Corrigan-Swofford and Jim and Pat Thacker scholarships are awarded to selected student-athletes who intend to pursue a graduate degree following completion of his or her undergraduate requirements. Each recipient receives $6,000 to contribute to their graduate education. Each recipient has performed with distinction in both the classroom and in his/her respective sport, while also demonstrating exemplary conduct in the community. In addition, three student-athletes who intend to compete at the Olympic or professional level receive Weaver-James-Corrigan-Swofford Honorary Awards in recognition of their outstanding performance in both athletic competition and the classroom throughout their collegiate careers.
- No other conference won more NCAA national championships in 2021-22 than the ACC. The league's seven titles matched the conference's record in an academic year, which was set in 2009-10. The ACC brought home NCAA Championships in women's cross country (NC State), women's soccer (Florida State), men's soccer (Clemson), women's swimming & diving (Virginia), fencing (Notre Dame), men's tennis (Virginia) and women's lacrosse (North Carolina). Additionally, ACC student-athletes won 24 individual national titles in 2021-22.
- Eleven ACC programs finished the 2021-22 season ranked either No. 1 or No. 2 in their respective sports, and 12 of 15 member schools captured either an ACC or NCAA Championship.
- Six ACC schools placed among the top 25 of the final Division I LEARNFIELD College Directors' Cup standings. North Carolina finished sixth and was joined in the top 10 by Notre Dame, which placed eighth. Virginia (11th), Florida State (14th), NC State (17th) and Duke (21st) completed the ACC's top-25 contingent. Virginia Tech (33rd place), Louisville (34th), Wake Forest (45th) and Miami (50th) followed to give the ACC 10 institutions among the top 50. This marks the 20th consecutive year that four or more ACC schools placed among the top 30 in the final rankings.
- The ACC had the most Honda Award winners of any conference in 2021-22 with four – Florida State's Jaelin Howell (soccer), Virginia's Kate Douglass (swimming), North Carolina's Jamie Ortega (lacrosse) and Louisville's Lauren Thibodeau (Inspiration Award).

BOSTON COLLEGE

• Boston College, founded in 1863 by the Society of Jesus, was the first institution of higher education based in the city of Boston. Today it ranks among the nation's foremost private universities with a coeducational enrollment of 14,500 undergraduate and graduate students drawn from all 50 states and more than 100 countries.

• The core of Boston College's Jesuit, Catholic mission is a commitment to integrating intellectual, personal, ethical, and religious formation and uniting high academic achievement with service to others.

• Students at Boston College consistently win prestigious national awards for academic achievement, including Rhodes, Marshall, Churchill, Goldwater, Mellon, Truman, Beinecke, and Beckman scholarships. Boston College is annually among the top schools nationally in producing undergraduate Fulbright winners, with over 150 during the past decade.

• More than 5,000 Boston College students provide some 550,000 hours of community service in the Boston area each year, and approximately 850 participate in service and immersion trips during the academic year.

• Boston College is ranked 36th among national universities by U.S. News and World Report and is home to highly ranked professional schools in Education, Law, Management, Nursing and Social Work.

• The School of Theology & Ministry, created when Weston Jesuit School of Theology re-affiliated with Boston College in 2008, is one of the world's top centers for Catholic theological education.

• Boston College is home to a rich array of academic and cultural resources: the McMullen Museum of Art is renowned for its groundbreaking exhibitions; the Burns Library is internationally recognized for the strength of its collections in several areas, including Irish Studies, Jesuit Studies, and the history and politics of Boston; the Bapst Library has been recognized as one of the most beautiful college libraries in the country.

• The Lynch School of Education is a leader in initiatives that enhance teaching and learning in public and Catholic K-12 schools and conducts two prominent research assessments of student achievement: TIMSS, which surveys math and science, and PIRLS, which surveys reading literacy. In collaboration with the Morrissey College of Arts and Sciences, the Lynch School has been a partner in the Carnegie Corporation's interdisciplinary Teachers for a New Era initiative, preparing, assessing, and supporting the teachers of tomorrow.

• The Center for Retirement Research and the Center on Aging and Work are nationally known for their research on issues facing older Americans.

• Construction was completed this past year on a new science building intended to anchor the recently launched Schiller Institute for Integrated Science and Society. The Institute will expand interdisciplinary collaborations to address global problems in energy, health, and the environment.

• The Boston College athletics program shares the University's commitment to the development of the whole person—body as well as mind and spirit. BC sponsors 31 varsity sports with approximately 700 student-athletes and offers 27 club teams and over 50 intramural teams involving approximately 5,000 students.

• Twelve Boston College varsity teams achieved perfect Graduation Success Rate (GSR) scores of 100 in the NCAA's most recently released public data.

• Construction began in March on the Hoag Basketball Pavilion. The Pavilion will be a comprehensive, self-contained, basketball practice facility with approximately 40,000 square feet of space for the men's and women's programs including strength and conditioning, sports medicine, locker rooms, and a video room.

• In April, Hall of Fame head men's hockey coach Jerry York announced his retirement after 28 seasons at the Heights. The winningest college hockey coach of all time, York finished his career with 1,123 wins – including 41 NCAA tournament victories – at Clarkson, Bowling Green, and Boston College. An All-American hockey player who graduated from Boston College in 1967, York became head coach at his alma mater in 1994 and won the national title four times – in 2001, 2008, 2010, and 2012. Greg Brown, who was an All-American defenseman at the Heights and spent 14 years as an assistant under Jerry York, was named the Schiller Family Head Men's Hockey Coach – only the program's fifth head coach since 1932.

• Women's lacrosse made its fifth consecutive trip to the NCAA Women's Lacrosse Championship, falling by one goal to top-ranked North Carolina. Charlotte North won the Tewaaraton Award for the nation's best collegiate lacrosse player for the second straight season and became the NCAA's all-time leader in goals scored, with 358. Women's Sailing captured the 2022 Fleet Race National Championship, outlasting Yale to win the national title for the first time since the 2018 season.

• In June, Blake James was introduced as the new William V. Campbell Director of Athletics. James previously served as AD at fellow ACC institution Miami from 2013-21. He was also the director of athletics at Maine from 2005-10.

CLEMSON

Clemson University is a land-grant institution founded in 1889 and named for Thomas Green Clemson, a champion of formal scientific education and economic development who served as ambassador to Belgium and became the nation's first secretary of agriculture. Thomas Clemson inherited Fort Hill Plantation, and upon his death in 1888, he willed Fort Hill and his personal assets to the state of South Carolina for the establishment of a high seminary of learning dedicated to scientific education. Clemson has a proud history of military excellence and a dedicated Scroll of Honor memorial that recognizes nearly 500 Clemson men and women who have lost their lives in service to their country.

The University is organized into seven colleges: Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences; Architecture, Arts and Humanities; Wilbur O. and Ann Powers College of Business; Science; Engineering, Computing and Applied Sciences; Behavioral, Social and Health Sciences; and Education. Through the research, outreach and entrepreneurial projects led by our faculty and students, Clemson University is driving economic development and improving quality of life in South Carolina and beyond.

- U.S. News & World Report ranks Clemson 30th among the nation's public universities for 2022.
- Among 2021 first-year students, 80 percent graduated in the top 20 percent of their class, and 55 percent graduated in the top 10 percent of their class. The middle 50 percent range of SAT and ACT scores among those who reported for admission review was 1240-1400 and 29-30, respectively.
- Clemson is home to approximately 27,000 students, with a first-year retention rate of 94 percent and a six-year graduation rate of 86 percent. These figures rank among the highest in the country for public universities.
- Clemson is ranked in the highest research university category by the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education, with the R1 designation of doctoral universities.
- In 2022, we were named Best Value Schools by both U.S. News & World Report and The Princeton Review.
- Clemson is student centered, with a 16:1 student-to-faculty ratio. Thirty-eight percent of our classes have fewer than 21 students, and the median undergraduate class size is 24 students.
- In 2022, U.S. News & World Report ranked Clemson among its Most Innovative Schools, Schools With Great Internships/Co-Ops, Best Undergraduate Teaching and Colleges With Great First-Year Experiences.
- The 2022 Princeton Review recognized Clemson as a school with great career services, great town-gown relations and happy students.

- The 2022 Princeton Review named Clemson No. 7 in Top 20 Best Schools for Internships (public schools) and No. 9 in Top 20 Best Alumni Networks (public schools).
- U.S. News & World Report ranks Clemson third among national public universities for percentage of alumni who give back to their alma mater, and The Princeton Review ranks Clemson No. 9 in Top 20 Best Alumni Networks (public schools).
- Clemson University received the 2021 Higher Education Excellence in Diversity (HEED) Award from INSIGHT Into Diversity magazine, the oldest and largest diversity-focused publication in higher education. This was the fifth year in a row Clemson has been named a HEED Award recipient.
- Clemson prides itself in being "Solid Orange" with strong alumni support for both academics and athletics. Clemson's IPTAY program has over 17,000 donors and is a national model for athletic fundraising.
- Approximately 500 student-athletes participate as Clemson Tigers in 19 intercollegiate sports. Beginning in 2022-2023, Clemson will participate in 21 intercollegiate sports, with the addition of women's lacrosse and gymnastics.
- In the latest Academic Progress Rate data released by the NCAA in June 2022, 10 Clemson Athletics programs set or tied multiyear records. Women's golf, men's golf, softball, women's tennis, men's cross country and women's cross country earned perfect 1,000 scores, while football (999), women's track (998), women's basketball (991) and men's track (988) achieved program score records.
- A charter member of the Atlantic Coast Conference, Clemson has won 135 conference championships since the ACC was established in 1953.
- Clemson has claimed team national championships in football (1981, 2016, 2018), men's soccer (1984, 1987, 2021) and men's golf (2003). Clemson is the only school in the country to have three or more national titles in both football and men's soccer.
- Clemson began using its widely recognized Tiger Paw logo for athletics teams in 1970, and today, it's one of the most widely recognized school symbols in the country.
- Clemson has strong athletic traditions, including the football team's unique pre-game entrance in Death Valley, dubbed by a national sports broadcaster as "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football."
- In 2022, The Princeton Review recognized Clemson as one of 25 schools nationwide where Students Pack the Stadium.

• Duke University traces its roots back to 1838, when Brown's Schoolhouse was founded in Randolph County, NC and eventually transformed into Trinity College, which moved to Durham in 1892. In 1924, businessman and philanthropist James B. Duke made a $40 million gift to transform the small liberal arts college into what has become the youngest major private research university in the country.

• Duke is home to 10 schools and colleges – in arts and sciences, engineering, divinity, nursing, medicine, the environment, business, public policy, law and a graduate school. Duke also is active internationally through Duke Kunshan University in China and the Duke-National University of Singapore Medical School. Duke enrolls students from all 50 states and more than 160 countries, and has people, programs and partnerships around the world.

• Duke has more than 6,700 undergraduate students and 9,000 graduate students. More than 50,000 candidates applied for the 1,750 spaces in the undergraduate class of 2026. There are more than 185,000 Duke alumni around the world.

• Duke has been ranked among the top 12 universities in the country by U.S. News and World Report for more than three decades, and among the leading research universities in the world by THES and QS. Duke's graduate and professional schools, and many academic programs and departments are among the top in their fields.

• Duke is committed to affordability and access for all students with more than 50 percent of undergraduate students receiving some form of financial assistance. As one of the few colleges in the U.S. that admits students based solely on their academic performance and not on the applicant's financial status or ability to pay for college -- and commits to providing 100 percent of a student's demonstrated financial need for all four years of the student's undergraduate education -- Duke coordinates about $180 million each year in financial aid.

• Duke students and alumni have been awarded merit scholarships including the Rhodes, Marshall and Truman. There are more than 50 Rhodes Scholars among Duke graduates.

• Duke's athletic programs have earned 17 national championship titles, including seven in women's golf (most recently in 2019), five in men's basketball, three in men's lacrosse, one in women's tennis and one in men's soccer.

• The Blue Devils have finished in the top 30 of Learfield Directors' Cup Standings all but twice in the 28 years since the Directors' Cup was first presented in 1993-94, including a ninth-place finish in 2019.

• Duke celebrated the final season for Hall of Fame men's basketball coach Mike Krzyzewski by winning 32 games, claiming the ACC regulars season title, and reaching for the Final Four for the 17th time in the storied program's history. For Coach K, it marked his 13th Final Four as a head coach to surpass UCLA's John Wooden for most all-time. Krzyzewski retired from coaching following the season with his successor, former Duke player and national champion Jon Scheyer, taking the reins.

• Mike Elko was named Duke 22nd head football coach in December, arriving in Durham after serving as the defensive coordinator and safeties coach at Texas A&M for the previous four seasons. In his 23 years of coaching, Elko has spent 18 of them as a defensive coordinator and twice has been named a semifinalist for the Frank Broyles Award, which is given annually to the top assistant coach in college football.

• Duke has led the ACC in Academic Honor Roll selections in 34 of the past 35 years, including an ACC record 632 selections in 2021-22. More than 80 percent of Duke's enrolled student-athletes were named to the Honor Roll this season.

• Thirteen Duke varsity athletics programs registered a perfect 1000 score in the most recent multi-year (2016-21) Academic Progress Report (APR) data release by the NCAA in 2021-22. In all, Duke totaled the highest APR score among ACC institutions in 14 of the league's sports – men's cross country (1000), men's golf (1000), men's lacrosse (1000), men's soccer (1000), men's tennis (1000), men's track & field (1000), women's cross country (1000), women's fencing (1000), women's golf (1000), women's soccer (1000), women's swimming & diving (1000), women's track & field (1000), volleyball (1000) and baseball (997).

• Two Nobel Prizes have been awarded to Duke faculty members: in 2012, Professor of Medicine Robert Lefkowitz shared the Nobel Prize in Chemistry for his work on a class of cell receptors that have become the target of prescription drugs, including antihistamines, ulcer drugs and beta blockers to relieve hypertension, angina and coronary disease. And in 2015, Professor of Biochemistry Paul Modrich also shared the Nobel prize in Chemistry for discovering how mistakes in the DNA code are repaired.

• In fiscal year 2020, Duke University spent $1.197 billion on research, ranking it 11th in the country. The rankings place Duke as the ninth largest recipient of federal research support. Duke is the fourth-largest for life sciences research, with $991 million in expenditures, and the fifth-largest private institution on the list.

• The Duke Marine Laboratory, at coastal Beaufort, N.C., is a campus of Duke University and a unit within the Nicholas School of the Environment. Its mission is education and research in basic ocean processes, coastal environment management, marine biotechnology and marine biomedicine. It is also the home of the research centers in biological and physical oceanography, marine biology and conservation, marine environmental health, marine biotechnology, and marine policy and management.

• Duke Health combines research, clinical care and education at sites throughout the region and beyond. Duke University Hospital is the flagship of the Duke University Health System, which includes two community hospitals (Duke Regional Hospital and Duke Raleigh Hospital), affiliations with other hospitals in the region, community-based primary care physician practices, home care, infusion services, specialty practices, and hospice care.

• The medical and nursing schools at Duke University both rank in the top five nationally for research funding received from the National Institutes of Health (NIH), according to the Blue Ridge Institute for Medical Research. Duke University School of Medicine was awarded more than $608 million in federal funding from the NIH in 2021, ranking third nationally among academic medical centers, up from 10th last year. Duke University School of Nursing ranked fifth in the nation, up from 8th in 2020, garnering $8.5 million from the NIH.

• Duke is the second-largest private employer in North Carolina, with more than 40,000 employees.

• With more than 8.5 million volumes, the Duke University Library System is one of the 10 largest private library systems in the U.S.

• Duke is the home of the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival, the only Oscar-qualifying film festival based at a university. Each year, more than 20,000 documentary producers, directors and fans come to Durham for four days of screenings and workshops.

- UofL's most famous landmark is a large original bronze casting of Rodin's "The Thinker," which stands in front of Grawemeyer Hall. The statue, given to the City of Louisville to recognize its namesake, French monarch Louis XVI, has been in place at UofL since 1949.

• The University of Miami (UM) is the youngest institution in the ACC. Although founded in 1925, UM did not start classes until October 1926 in a partially constructed hotel after a hurricane had devastated other opening facilities. This auspicious start not only provided the name for the Miami Hurricanes, but also provided a foundation for a fast-growing citizen-founded university, which has had only six presidents during its entire existence.

• The University of Miami awarded the first athletic scholarship in the nation to a female student-athlete in 1973.

• UM is among the first institutions, if not the first, to adopt an athletics logo as its school-wide symbol, the U.

• The Miller School of Medicine, founded in 1952, was the first medical school in Florida.

• U.S. News & World Report named Bascom Palmer Eye Institute the No. 1 ophthalmology hospital in the nation for the 20th time. The media company also ranked the Miller School of Medicine No. 45 for research and No. 7 for diversity on its 2022 Best Medical Schools list.

• The World Health Organization designated Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center, part of the University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine, as the first WHO Collaborating Centre for Cervical Cancer Elimination. Sylvester also received the prestigious NCI designation from the National Cancer Institute. Sylvester is one of only two NCI-designated cancer centers in Florida and one of just 71 across the nation.

• The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration selected the University's Rosenstiel School to host the Cooperative Institute for Marine and Atmospheric Studies, which includes a renewable award of up to $310 million over five years to advance research in weather and climate observations, ecosystem science, and the restoration of marine resources.

• The University of Miami partnered with Concordia to host the Americas Summit in July 2022. Concordia's longest-standing regional initiative, the summit continued a legacy of gathering leaders from across industries, sectors, and geographies to confront the challenges and opportunities facing the Western Hemisphere and featured several current and former heads of state.

• Selected for its expertise in genetics and genomics and its location, the University of Miami received a $60 million grant from the National Institutes of Health to lead the SouthEast Enrollment Center for All of Us, a program to build the most inclusive and diverse health database in history. The center will enroll 100,000 participants as part of the more than 1 million U.S. participants expected over five years.

• The University of Miami publicly announced Ever Brighter: The Campaign for Our Next Century during its 2021 Homecoming celebration. The $2.5 billion campaign, the largest of any private institution in Florida, will conclude as the University celebrates its centennial in 2025.

• The University of Miami implemented a comprehensive plan to support racial equality, inclusion, and justice. Initiatives of the plan included creating an Office for Faculty Inclusion and Diversity, appointing a special advisor to University of Miami President Julio Frenk on racial justice, and establishing the University of Miami Center for Global Black Studies.

• The University of Miami's College of Engineering-Johnson & Johnson 3D Printing Center of Excellence Collaborative Laboratory gives faculty and students access to 3D printing technology to make objects limited only by imagination.

• By replicating real-life hospital, outpatient clinic, and home environments, the School of Nursing and Health Studies' Simulation Hospital enables health care students and professionals, first responders, and corporate partners to design, test, and master skills, technologies, and innovations.

• NASA and the National Space Grant Foundation selected a team led by Victoria Coverstone, professor and chair of the College of Engineering's Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering, as one of just 11 national teams that will design systems and technologies to support deep-space exploration.

• Quinton Lawton and Jimmy Yun Ge, doctoral students at the Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science who research hurricane formation, each received one of only four National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowships awarded nationally in the Physical and Dynamic Meteorology category.

• The Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science's Marine Technology and Life Sciences Seawater Complex includes the Alfred C. Glassell, Jr. SUSTAIN Building, a wind-wave-storm surge simulator capable of generating Category 5 hurricane-force winds.

NORTH CAROLINA

- The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is the nation's first public university. A member of the prestigious Association of American Universities, Carolina was the first and only public university in the United States to award degrees in the 18th century.
- Today, Carolina offers 77 bachelor's, 112 master's, 66 doctorate and seven professional degree programs through 14 schools, including the College of Arts & Sciences, to prepare students to thrive in a rapidly changing workforce.
- Carolina's over 355,786 alumni live in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, U.S. territories and 147 countries. Over 189,842 live in North Carolina.
- Carolina is passionately public and among the few flagship campuses to practice need-blind admissions and provide low-debt, full-need student aid. This commitment to access and affordability includes providing opportunities such as the Carolina Covenant, a groundbreaking program for academically qualified low-income students that offers a debt-free path to graduation.
- In 2021, U.S. News & World Report listed Carolina 5th among public universities for the 21st consecutive year, as well as the best value among public universities for the 17th time. The Wall Street Journal/Times Higher Education 2022 College Rankings named UNC-Chapel Hill the No. 1 public school in the South, 3rd among all U.S. public universities and 33rd among both public and private universities.
- Numerous graduate programs also were highly ranked – 19 were in the top 10 nationally – by U.S. News & World Report for the 2023 edition of "Best Graduate Schools." For the fifth consecutive time, the Gillings School of Global Public Health ranked second out of all U.S. schools and public health programs while remaining the top public school of public health.
- Three students and alumni were selected for prestigious Rhodes Scholarships for study at Oxford University in 2021. That was the first time in University history that three Tar Heels were chosen as Rhodes Scholars in the same year. UNC-Chapel Hill has produced 54 Rhodes Scholars since the program began in 1902.
- Two Carolina professors have become Nobel laureates and the faculty includes over 150 members of the national academies and other prestigious learned societies.
- In 2021, the University's $1 billion research enterprise ranked as the 13th largest U.S. research university in volume and annual expenditures and 10th for federal funding. Over 900 research projects directly addressed the health, education or well-being of Tar Heel residents in 2021.
- Amid the COVID-19 pandemic, Carolina's researchers, scientists and students have prioritized the discovery of solutions to the global health crisis, building on a decades-long commitment to the study of infectious diseases. That work spans a wide range of areas including fundamental mechanisms of virus function, therapies and vaccines, prediction and forecasting, clinical trials and outcomes, and impact studies.
- The National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases has awarded the UNC Gillings School of Global Public Health a $65 million grant, establishing an Antiviral Drug Discovery Center to develop oral antivirals that can combat pandemic-level viruses like COVID-19. The center builds upon Carolina's Rapidly Emerging Antiviral Drug Development Initiative, a public-private partnership with a renowned interdisciplinary team of experts. They will apply cutting-edge technologies to develop oral therapies that target viral families with high potential to cause a future pandemic.
- Carolina has spun out 272 North Carolina businesses that today provide jobs for over 9,500 state residents and generate annual revenues of $13.9 billion. In addition, research on campus in 2021 supported nearly 11,000 North Carolina employees, $385 million in salaries and $96 million in purchases at thousands of businesses in 89 counties.
- Through a Carolina Across 100 initiative, UNC-Chapel Hill is enhancing its support to communities across the state. The five-year initiative identifies common themes and uses interdisciplinary teams to partner with community leaders in creating solutions to pressing challenges. One statewide program already underway will work with 20 community collaboratives to expand and deepen education and employment pathways for young adults aged 16-24 who are out of school and work.

- NC State is one of the nation's pre-eminent research institutions. Every day, our accomplished, high-performing students, faculty, staff and alumni create economic, societal and intellectual prosperity.

The Pack owned the pool as well, as the men's swimming and diving squad brought home a team trophy by placing fourth and the women's squad took fifth at the NAAs.
- In addition to the women's cross country national championship, NC State had five individuals claim a national championship in their respective sport in 2021-22.
- NC State won four ACC titles during the 2021-22 year. Women's cross country won their sixth straight league crown, wrestling won a fourth straight, and women's basketball won a third straight. The men's swimming and diving team won its seventh ACC title in the last eight years.
- Director of Athletics Boo Corrigan was named a recipient of the prestigious Cushman & Wakefield Athletics Director of the Year Award
- NC State Athletics has posted back-to-back top-25 finishes in the Directors' Cup for the first time in school history, as the Wolfpack recorded its second-highest finish ever by finishing 17th nationally for the 2021-22 academic year.
- NC State's Centennial Campus is the premier public-private university research campus in the country, where more than 70 corporate, government and nonprofit partners work in state-of-the-art facilities alongside more than 70 NC State research and academic units.
- NC State research has yielded more than 1,500 U.S. patents, leading to the commercialization of more than 600 consumer products.
- More than 190 startups and spinoffs have been founded based on NC State research, attracting a total of $1.7 billion in venture capital. NC State is ranked fourth nationwide for startups launched among universities without a medical school, and first in active licenses and options.
- NC State is one of only two universities in the country leading two National Science Foundation Engineering Research Centers, one creating the smart grid of the future and the other pioneering self-powered health monitoring devices.
- Researchers at NC State recently were awarded the National Medal of Technology and Innovation, elected to the National Academy of Engineering, inducted into the National Inventors Hall of Fame and selected for MIT Technology Review's "35 Innovators Under 35" and Popular Science's "Brilliant 10."
- NC State's James B. Hunt Jr. Library, one of the world's most innovative and advanced centers for learning, is a winner of the prestigious Stanford Prize for Innovation in Research Libraries. The library's automated book retrieval and storage system, the bookBot, creates space for technology-rich collaboration spaces by holding more than 1 million volumes in 18,172 bins stacked 50 feet high. The Hunt Library includes a computer gaming lab, an immersive visualization lab and ultra-HD media production facilities.
- NC State's College of Textiles produces more than half of the textile graduates in the country each year. The university's College of Veterinary Medicine is ranked third in the nation, and the College of Engineering is one of the top 20 public engineering schools in the U.S.
- A total of 66 student-athletes earned a term GPA of 4.0 in 2021-22, while 310 posted a GPA of 3.0+ for the 2021-22 academic year. 21 of NC State's 23 teams posted a GPA of 3.0 or better.
- NC State and its students, alumni and associated startups generate nearly $6.5 billion in annual added income for the state. In 2021, NC State had $384 million in new sponsored research.

NOTRE DAME

- For 180 years, the University of Notre Dame has provided a distinctive voice in higher education that is at once rigorously intellectual, boldly moral in orientation, and firmly embracing of a service ethos. Founded in 1842 by a priest of the Congregation of Holy Cross, Notre Dame is a national Catholic research university located adjacent to the city of South Bend, Indiana, in a metropolitan area of some 325,000, approximately 90 miles east of Chicago.
- Admission to the University is highly competitive, with 38 percent of incoming first-year students ranking in the top 1 percent of their high school graduating classes and 89 percent in the top 10 percent of their classes.
- Notre Dame is ranked 14th in the country by College Consensus, which averages the rating scores from publications such as Forbes, Money, U.S. News & World Report, and others.
- Notre Dame is organized into eight colleges and schools with 75 available undergraduate majors — Arts and Letters, Science, Engineering, and the Mendoza College of Business, the School of Architecture, the Law School, the Graduate School and the Keough School for Global Affairs – 13 major research institutes, three dozen centers and special programs, and the University Library system.
- The Graduate School, established in 1918, embraces 31 doctoral programs, 16 terminal master's degree programs, and nine professional master's degree programs in and among 31 University departments, institutes, and programs.
- Notre Dame is one of a handful of truly international universities, with a student body drawn from all 50 states and more than 1,550 international students from more than 100 countries. About 73 percent of the undergraduates and 10 percent of advanced students live on campus, and more than 80 percent are active in service learning and community volunteer activities.
- Notre Dame is No. 1 in the country for NEH Fellowships since 1999. Notre Dame boasted $244 million in record-breaking research awards in FY21. In addition, 145 grant awards, 61 countries totaling $93 million.
- More than 70 percent of Notre Dame students participate in study abroad programs making it a top-10 leading institution for undergraduate study abroad participation. Today, there are over 60 semester and academic-year programs and over 20 summer programs spread across more than 30 countries.
- More U.S. presidents (6) have delivered commencement addresses at Notre Dame than any other university in the nation outside of the military academies.
- The Basilica of the Sacred Heart, the 14-story Hesburgh Library with its 132-foot-high mural depicting Christ the Teacher, and the university's historic Main Building with its famed Golden Dome are among the most widely recognized university landmarks in the world.
- Notre Dame's graduation rate of 96 percent annually ranks in the top 5 among research universities.
- The University's network of Notre Dame clubs—including more than 40 international clubs—is the most extensive in higher education.
- The 2022-23 academic year marks the 50th anniversary of the admission of women to Notre Dame's undergraduate student body.
- Notre Dame sponsors 26 varsity athletics programs (13 men's, 13 women's) and has won 34 national championships football (1924-29-30-43-46- 47-49-66-73-77-88); fencing — men in 1977-78-86, women in 1987, combined in 1994, 2003-05-11-17-18-21-22; plus NCAA crowns in women's soccer in 1995, 2004 and 2010; women's basketball in 2000-01 and 2017-18; men's tennis in 1944 and 1959; men's golf in 1944, men's cross country in 1957, and men's soccer in 2013.
- Fighting Irish athletics programs have produced the third most Academic All-Americans among Division I-A colleges and universities.
- The 2020 Tokyo Olympic Games featured the most former Notre Dame student-athletes competing at a single Games. All-in-all, 10 Notre Dame alums earned medals including the following who won gold: Jackie Young, Skylar Diggins-Smith, Jewell Loyd, Lee Kiefer, Adriana Leon, Angie Akers and Sam Grewe. Three of our Olympic medalists were also national champions while at Notre Dame.
- Notre Dame consistently leads all Football Bowl Subdivision institutions in athletic graduation rate measurements. In NCAA Graduation Success Rate figures, Notre Dame student-athletes have ranked No. 1 among FBS schools for 15 straight years (2007-2021).
- The extensive RecSports program at Notre Dame features two historic offerings —the Bengal Bouts, the men's boxing club's annual charity tournament that since 1920 has benefited the missions in Bangladesh, and also Bookstore Basketball, the largest five-on-five outdoor basketball tournament in the world, annually featuring more than 700 team entries.

POINTS OF PRIDE PITTSBURGH

• The University of Pittsburgh is a state-related university and a world leader in education, research and innovation. Founded as the Pittsburgh Academy in 1787, the University has a campus in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, as well as four regional campuses located throughout Western Pennsylvania.

• The University's more than 14,200 employees, including more than 5,700 faculty members, served more than 33,800 students from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, three U.S. territories, and more than 100 foreign countries through the programs of its 16 undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools in the 2021-22 academic year.

• In fall term 2021, Pitt had an enrollment of 33,861 undergraduate, graduate and professional students on all campuses. In addition, Pitt has 318,000 alumni worldwide.

• Pitt is ranked 20th among the nation's top public colleges and universities in the 2022 U.S. News & World Report rankings.

• U.S. News & World Report also ranks Pitt 42nd on its 2022 list of Best Global Universities.

• Pitt students consistently win a significant number of prestigious national and international awards for academic achievement and eagerly give back to their communities and city. Pitt undergraduates have claimed one Gates Cambridge Scholarship, three Churchill Scholarships, eight Rhodes Scholarships, 11 Marshall Scholarships, 10 Udall Scholarships, 13 Truman Scholarships, and an astounding 63 Goldwater Scholarships.

• In 2020, 15 Pitt students and alumni received U.S. Fulbright Scholarships, the most ever received in a single year in University history. This was the 10th time in 11 years that Pitt was named among the nation's top producers of Fulbright award winners.

• Senior faculty members have been elected to such prestigious groups as the Health and Medicine Division of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine; American Association for the Advancement of Science; American Society for Clinical Investigation; National Academy of Education; American Academy of Nursing; and National Academy of Sciences. And they have claimed some of the country's most prestigious awards, including the National Medal of Science, Lasker-DeBakey Clinical Medical Research Award, and the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation MacArthur Fellowship.

• Since the beginning of this century, Pitt alumni have received the Nobel Peace Prize, Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine, Pulitzer Prize, National Medal of Science, National Book Award, John Fritz Medal in engineering, Shaw Prize in Life Science and Medicine, Albany Medical Center Prize in Medicine and Biomedical Research, national and Olympic medals, Academy Awards, Super Bowl championships and many other high honors.

• In the 2023 QS World University Rankings, among 1,300 universities, the University of Pittsburgh is ranked 42nd in the United States and 181st in the world.

• Pitt's intercollegiate athletics history dates back to 1869, when the university began to field a baseball team. Today, Pitt sponsors 19 varsity sports with more than 450 student-athletes vying for conference, regional and national honors.

• Pitt football won 11 games—the most in 40 years—and captured its first outright conference title with a 45-21 triumph over Wake Forest in the 2021 ACC Championship Game. The Panthers earned a No. 13 ranking in the final polls, their highest finish since 1982.

• Individually, three Pitt players earned first-team All-America honors from NCAA-recognized selectors in 2021: wide receiver Jordan Addison (consensus), quarterback Kenny Pickett and long snapper Cal Adomitis. Addison won the 2021 Biletnikoff Award (nation's outstanding receiver), Pickett won the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award (nation's top upperclassman quarterback) and Adomitis earned the Patrick Mannelly Award (nation's top long snapper).

• Kenny Pickett placed third in the 2021 Heisman Trophy balloting, the highest finish by a Pitt player since wide receiver Larry Fitzgerald was the 2003 runner-up. Pickett was a first-round selection in the 2022 NFL Draft by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

• The Panthers rank fifth among all schools with nine inductees in the Pro Football Hall of Fame, including 2020 inductee Jimbo Covert. Pitt's gridiron legacy also includes 97 first team All-Americans, 54 consensus All-Americans, 24 College Football Hall of Famers and nine national titles.

• Volleyball continued to entrench itself as a national power under Coach Dan Fisher, advancing to the 2021 NCAA Final Four for the first time ever and posting 30 wins. From 2018-21, the Panthers' 109 wins are the most in the nation.

• The Panthers finished the season ranked No. 4 by the American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA), marking the program's highest final ranking. Pitt has been ranked in the AVCA Top 25 since the beginning of the 2018 season, a 70-week streak.

• Outside hitter Kayla Lund was named a first team AVCA All-American, the first player in program history to earn that recognition. Pitt had three additional AVCA All-America honorees: outside hitter Leketor Member-Meneh (second team), right side Chianza Ndee (third team) and middle blocker Serena Gray (Honorable Mention).

• Men's soccer finished the 2021 season with a 13-5-2 overall record, won the ACC's Coastal Division and made another deep run in the NCAA Tournament. One year after reaching their first College Cup, the Panthers advanced to a second consecutive Elite Eight.

• Jay Vidovich was named the ACC Men's Soccer Coach of the Year for the second consecutive season and seventh time in his career. Jasper Loeffelsend earned ACC Defensive Player of the Year honors for the second consecutive year and was named a first team All-American by College Soccer News.

• Women's soccer tied the program record with 11 victories. The Panthers spent three weeks in the United Soccer Coaches Top 25 poll, reaching as high as No. 19. Amanda West earned All-ACC and All-Atlantic Region, and set program standards for career points (85), goals (33) and game-winning goals (13).

• Wrestling achieved a second consecutive Top 25 national finish, placing No. 24 at the 2022 NCAA Championships. Cole Matthews became the 83rd All-American in program history when he placed fifth at 141 pounds. Matthews, Jake Wentzel (165 pounds) and Nino Bonaccorsi (197) each won individual ACC titles.

• Lacrosse played its inaugural season to rave reviews and earned votes in the final national coaches' poll. Paige Petty and Paulina DiFatta earned All-ACC and Honorable Mention All-America accolades. The program was the subject of an ESPN-produced documentary, All Access with Pitt Women's Lacrosse: The Inaugural Season.

• Felix Wolter won his second consecutive ACC heptathlon championship, becoming only the second athlete in the conference's long history to win back-to-back titles in that event. Wolter made additional history when he became Pitt's first ACC champion in the decathlon. Wolter earned Academic All-America accolades as well.

• Baseball compiled 29 victories, the program's most since 2018, and notched its third consecutive winning season. Pitchers Matt Gilbertson and Billy Corcoran were named to the All-ACC Team.

SYRACUSE

• For• Syracuse University is a private research university that advances knowledge across disciplines to drive breakthrough discoveries and breakout leadership. Our collection of 13 schools and colleges with more than 200 customizable majors closes the gap between education and action so students can take on the world. In and beyond the classroom, we connect people, perspectives and practices to solve interconnected challenges with interdisciplinary approaches. Together, we're a powerful community that moves ideas, individuals and impact beyond what's possible.

• The depth and breadth of the university's program offerings are a testament to its enduring strength, with more than 200 majors and 100 minors offered through 13 schools and colleges and 22 online degree programs. Notably, the first fully interactive online JD program in the nation, JDinteractive, offers a full law degree experience, with each course blending live classes and self-paced lessons offered on a flexible schedule for part-time students.

• More than 15,000 undergraduates and 7,500 graduate students who come from all 50 states and 123 countries join a global network of nearly 242,000 alumni spanning 160 countries.

• The University has a long legacy of commitment to diversity and inclusion across multiple dimensions, with minority students comprising about 25 percent of current enrollment and international students making up about 15 percent. With seven overseas locations and more than 100 programs within 60 countries, nearly half of Syracuse University students study abroad at some point during their academic careers.

• Syracuse University distinguishes itself among the nation's best research universities as determined by the Carnegie Foundation. As a Carnegie classification Research 1 institution, Syracuse offers students hands-on opportunities through the Office of Undergraduate Research and Creative Engagement.

• Interdisciplinary study opportunities allow students to expand options and enhance preparedness for post-academic success. For example, BioInspired Syracuse supports research into complex biological systems and smart materials to address global needs in health, medicine and materials innovation; the Syracuse University Autonomous Systems Policy Institute combines public policy, law, scientific research, design, aging, disability studies, security, and public communication to the study of artificial intelligence, big data, and data analytics.

• Several schools and colleges — Architecture, Information Studies, Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Newhouse School of Public Communications, and Whitman School of Management — rank among the nation's best in their fields.

• Nationally-recognized programs include creative writing, entrepreneurship and emerging enterprises, industrial design, information systems, drama, and social work.

• Invest Syracuse, a $100 million dollar initiative, was launched to increase access and opportunity to promising students from across the socioeconomic spectrum, and to invest in new faculty positions in bio-enabled science and technology; artificial intelligence, deep learning, autonomous systems and policy; social differences and social justice, among others.

• Forever Orange: The Campaign for Syracuse University reached the $1 billion milestone. The campaign, built on three foundational pillars: ensuring philanthropic support for an unsurpassed student experience; advancing academic excellence; and providing unique learning opportunities, will fuel research, faculty recruitment, world-class teaching and learning, expanded financial aid and immersion programs, a powerhouse athletics program, entrepreneurship, innovation and more for generations to come.

• Syracuse University students have access to one of the most comprehensive and innovative health and wellness complexes in the nation in the Barnes Center at The Arch, which brings together health and recreation services including everything from a climbing wall to Esports to meditation classes in a holistic approach to enhancing the student experience.

• Syracuse University has earned a reputation as the best university for veterans and military-connected students, who make up more than five percent of the student body (nearly double the national average), with such precedent-setting initiatives as the Entrepreneurship Bootcamp for Veterans with Disabilities.

• The National Veterans Resource Center (NVRC), which is housed in the Daniel and Gayle D'Aniello Building, is a class-leading, exemplar of academic, government and community collaboration. Opened in 2020, the NVRC functions as the center of veteran life on campus, in the Syracuse community and across Central New York. It is dedicated to advancing the social and economic well-being of the nation's veterans and their families on the campus of Syracuse University and beyond. This fully-accessible facility houses the Institute for Veterans and Military Families (IVMF), the Office of Veterans and Military Affairs (OVMA) and Syracuse University's ROTC programs.

• Through its innovative Institute for Veterans and Military Families, Syracuse University has provided programs and services to more than 90,000 veterans, service members and their families since 2011.

• Syracuse University Athletics is a source of university and community pride with the largest on-campus basketball arena and the largest domed stadium in the northeast.

• The famous JMA Wireless Dome stadium is a hub of economic activity in Central New York, attracting nearly one million visitors annually from around the country. The university has committed more than $100 million to create a new stadium experience, including a roof replacement and comprehensive series of Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)-related accessibility upgrades.

• Success for Syracuse University Athletics is as prevalent in the classroom as it is in the competitive sports environment. The more than 600 Orange student-athletes recorded a cumulative grade point average of 3.1 with an NCAA Graduation Success Rate (GSR) of 95%, the highest in school history. Six Orange teams achieved a perfect multi-year Academic Progress Rate score, marking the fourth year in a row that at least five teams have posted perfect 1,000 APR multi-year scores. In addition, eight teams registered perfect one-year scores.

• The University boasts eight alumni in the Pro Football Hall of Fame; 18 coaches and players in the College Football Hall of Fame; the 2003 men's basketball national championship; three members in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame; 11 NCAA championships in men's lacrosse; 30 members in the National Lacrosse Hall of Fame; and in 2015 the field hockey and men's cross country teams won national championships within 24 hours of each other.

• On big game days, the campus is flooded by fans covered in Orange. In 1890, Syracuse became the first university to adopt one official color. Orange pride is obvious throughout the region. The university mascot is Otto the Orange, a giant orange ball.

• And then there's the Legend of 44, one of the most fabled numbers ever associated with a college football program. Since 1954, eleven players have worn the number and three earned All-America honors. Those three — Jim Brown, Ernie Davis, and Floyd Little — rank among the finest running backs ever to play the college game. In recognition of the number's significance, the University resides within the 13244 zip code, and all University phone numbers start with "44."

The University of Virginia is one of the nation's top public universities, founded by Thomas Jefferson in 1819. Jefferson's original "Academical Village" remains the heart of the University's Grounds and is the only university in the United States designated as a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Students at UVA have a long tradition of self-governance. The Honor Committee, University Judiciary Committee, Student Council, and other groups are organized and governed by students. The Cavalier Daily newspaper is also researched, written and published entirely by students. Both freedom and responsibility characterize UVA's system of student self-governance.

Graduation rates at UVA are among the highest in the country. As of 2020, the four-year graduation rate for UVA undergraduates was 89 percent, the highest among public universities and tied for fifth among all universities nationwide. In 2022, Money Magazine ranked UVA the No. 3 best value college in the nation.

As of 2022, The Princeton Review has ranked UVA as the No. 1 public school for financial aid in the nation for two consecutive years. The University provides generous financial support to students with demonstrated need.

UVA is committed to making higher education accessible to all students by offering need-blind admission and meeting 100 percent of admitted students' demonstrated financial need. Virginia families earning less than $80,000 per year can send their children to UVA tuition-free. UVA also commits to cover tuition and room and board for students from Virginia families earning less than $30,000 per year.

In the fall of 2021, UVA again received a historic number of applicants with 50,962 total applications, a roughly 6 percent increase since 2020. Over 17,200 undergraduate students were enrolled, and more than 8,700 graduate students were enrolled.

UVA Health is an academic health system with five hospitals across Charlottesville, Culpeper and Northern Virginia – UVA Medical Center, the region's only level 1 trauma center, along with the UVA Transitional Care Hospital, UVA Culpeper Medical Center, UVA Haymarket Medical Center and UVA Prince William Medical Center. Together with the UVA School of Medicine, UVA School of Nursing, UVA Physicians Group, UVA Community Health Medical Group and the Claude Moore Health Sciences Library, UVA Health advances medicine through outstanding patient care, teaching and research. With more than 1,000 inpatient beds, approximately 40,000 inpatient stays annually and more than 1 million outpatient encounters annually at UVA Health, more than 1,000 employed and independent physicians provide high-quality, comprehensive and specialized care to patients across the Commonwealth and beyond. Founded in 1819 as just the 10th medical school in America, the UVA School of Medicine – with 21 clinical departments, eight basic science departments and six research centers – consistently attracts some of the nation's most prominent researchers to develop breakthrough treatments to benefit patients around the world. Those research efforts are backed by more than $200 million in grant funding. UVA Medical Center is recognized as the No. 1 hospital in Virginia for children by U.S. News & World Report and the No. 1 hospital in Virginia by Newsweek. UVA Cancer Center is one of 52 National Cancer Institute (NCI) designated comprehensive cancer centers in the U.S. – and the only comprehensive cancer center in Virginia – for its work in cancer research, prevention, detection and treatment.

UVA students have access to a state-of-the-art Student Health and Wellness Center, which provides preventive care, mental health services, lounge areas, a teaching kitchen, research space, and other resources to support the overall well-being of students.

UVA works hard to make its academic and residential community welcoming and inclusive to people from all backgrounds. In the upcoming class of first-year students, 41 percent are students of color and over 600 first-generation students are starting their college path at UVA this fall. In 2021, UVA dedicated the Memorial to Enslaved Laborers to acknowledge and honor the 4,000 or more individuals who built and maintained the early University.

In 2019, UVA launched the School of Data Science—its 12th school and the first established since 2007—making the University a global leader in efforts to improve society through teaching and researching the emerging field of data science.

Community and public service are part of the University's mission and spirit. Students, faculty and staff devote thousands of hours each year to serving the Charlottesville community as well as other areas of the state, nation and world. Representative of recent graduates' commitment to service, a large number sign up each year for the Peace Corps.

UVA is one of only two universities in Virginia with its own dedicated Peace Corps campus recruiter, who is hired to work directly with students during the exploration and application process for the Peace Corps.

The University is committed to investing in research and research infrastructure. As of 2021, $437 million in sponsored research has been committed to finding solutions to global problems within the University's five strategic research themes: democracy, environmental resilience & sustainability, precision medicine, the brain & neuroscience, and digital technology & society. For example, with generous philanthropic support, UVA established the Karsh Institute of Democracy in 2021. The nonpartisan Institute will build upon UVA's existing expertise in the study of democracy and leadership and help prepare citizen-leaders to participate in the nation's system of democratic government. In conjunction with its research efforts, the University's newest school, the School of Data Science, is propelling the University's efforts to improve society through the teaching and researching of the emerging field of data science. Additionally, the 2021 launch of the UVA | NOVA campus in Northern Virginia will be a "Grounds away from Grounds" to expand online, in-person and hybrid opportunities for more students in the Commonwealth.

UVA's leadership role in environmental stewardship and sustainability issues has evolved and expanded throughout the last decade. The University has ambitious sustainability goals and pledges to be carbon neutral by 2030 and fossil-fuel-free by 2050. Its robust, interconnected approach to sustainability touches on curriculum, research, operations, and community engagement and has earned recognition from the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education. UVA is one of only 50 institutions worldwide with Gold certification from AASHE under the most recent version of its Sustainability Tracking, Assessment, & Rating System.

- The women's swimming & diving program won its second consecutive NCAA team championships.
- The men's tennis team won the NCAA team championship, the fifth in program history.
- Virginia placed in the top 25 for the 15th consecutive time and is one of 10 schools to rank in the top 30 of the final Directors' Cup standings in the 29-year existence of the program (not awarded in 2020 due to the pandemic).
- UVA captured four Atlantic Coast Conference championships during the year and its 90 conference titles since the spring of 2002 are the most of any ACC school during that time.
- In 2021-22, UVA claimed ACC championships in women's swimming and diving (18th championship in program history and 13th title since 2008), men's tennis (14th championship in program history), men's lacrosse (19th overall) and rowing (12th consecutive and 21 of 22 overall).

- Virginia broke ground on its new Football Performance Center on June 2.

VIRGINIA TECH

• Virginia Tech celebrated its sesquicentennial anniversary during the 2021-22 scholastic year, reflecting on its 150 years of impact and engagement since the university's founding in 1872.

• As the Commonwealth's most comprehensive university and a leading research institution, Virginia Tech offers about 280 undergraduate and graduate degree programs to more than 37,000 undergraduate, graduate, and professional students across the commonwealth and manages a research portfolio of more than $556 million. The university fulfills its role as a land-grant institution by fostering a collaborative environment that integrates technology into all disciplines, so that the Virginia Tech community can serve as a force for positive change around the commonwealth, the country, and the world.

• During the fall of 2021, Tech broke ground on its $1 billion, 1 million-square-foot Innovation Campus (Alexandria, Virginia), aspiring to develop a pipeline of technology talent in the greater Washington, D.C., metro area.

• Virginia Tech ranked 48th nationally in research portfolio during FY19 by the National Science Foundation, allocating $556 million during FY20. Research areas in transportation, biomedical, cybersecurity and defense, agriculture and energy continue to excel.

• Virginia Tech's Class of 2025 is one of its largest and most diverse to date across the institution's history. Undergraduate enrollment stood at 29,760 while total enrollment exceeded 37,000 students. Tech posted a historic high for African American enrollment (8.7 percent) while Hispanic/Latinos students represented 10.5 percent of the class. Underrepresented and underserved students (including low-income, first-generation and veteran students) comprised 39.3 percent of entering undergraduates, almost reaching the university's 2022 goal of 40 percent.

• Considering co-curricular activities, Virginia Tech students ranked 13 percentage points higher than college students nationally and double the rate of students at large institutions.

• In its 2023 graduate school rankings, U.S. News & World Report ranked Virginia Tech's College of Engineering at No. 30 out of 200 schools nationwide. Three specialty engineering programs landed inside the top 10.

• Virginia Tech ranked 46th in the 2022 U.S. News & World Report's Most Innovative Schools listing with the College of Engineering ranking No. 13 overall. U.S. News' rankings of undergraduate programs placed Virginia Tech at No. 30 overall among public universities and No. 75 overall among national universities. Forbes ranked the university No. 26 among its top 30 U.S. public institutions.

• Virginia Tech is one of two universities to have a Corps of Cadets embedded in a large civilian student body. At 85 percent, the Corps boasts the highest commissioning rate of all the senior military and service academies in the nation with enrollment exceeding 1,200 cadets.

• Virginia Tech Athletics is committed to excellence, both academically and athletically, and to the personal development of our student-athletes. In the spirit of Ut Prosim, we stand together to serve and represent our university and community with integrity and respect.

• Tech sponsors 22 varsity sports with approximately 600 student-athletes.

• For the 2021-22 academic year, 397 student-athletes maintained a cumulative 3.0 or greater GPA. Nine Tech sport programs finished with a 990 multi-year score or better out of 1,000 in the latest NCAA Academic Progress Rate report.

• The Hokies boasted four ACC Coach of the Year honorees in 2021-22: Dave Cianelli (indoor track and field), Tony Robie (wrestling), Pete D'Amour (softball) and John Szefc (baseball).

• Tech claimed the Commonwealth Clash, which is an annual all-sports competition between Virginia Tech and Virginia, for the 2021-22 year. The Hokies posted a final tally of 12.5-8.5 in the challenge, clinching the clash title on April 30, 2022 with baseball's 7-5 comeback win to lock-up the series at UVA.

• Softball and baseball both hosted regionals and super regionals in 2022 after winning the ACC regular season and ACC coastal division title, respectively. Softball claimed the No. 3 national seed and hosted a regional and super regional for the first time in program history. Baseball earned the No. 4 national seed and hosted a regional for the second time in program history, while advancing to the super regional round for the first time ever.

• Virginia Tech was the only school in the country in 2021-22 to make the NCAA tournament in women's soccer, men's soccer, women's basketball, men's basketball, women's golf, softball, baseball and earn a bowl bid in football.

• Men's basketball captured the program's first-ever ACC tournament title in 2022, winning four games in four days - just the second team in ACC history to do so.

• Four Hokies earned ACC honors for their postseason performances; Hunter Cattoor (MVP of ACC Tournament in men's basketball), Youssef Ramadan (ACC Men's Swimming MVP), Cole Beck (ACC Men's Track MVP in Indoor and Outdoor), Mekhi Lewis (ACC Championships Most Outstanding Wrestler).

• Virginia Tech has won 20 national championships during its athletics history - 11 in outdoor track & field, eight in indoor track & field and one in wrestling. Considering the 2021-22 scholastic year, Lindsey Butler (800m) and Rachel Baxter (pole vault) each won their discipline and captured individual national titles during the indoor track season.

- In 1956, Wake Forest successfully moved the approximately 120 miles from Wake Forest, North Carolina, to Winston-Salem, North Carolina, while retaining its name, heritage, traditions, and uniqueness as an institution.
- In 1962, Wake Forest became the first major southern private college university to integrate.

• In 2009, Wake Forest was the first top-30 university to adopt a test-optional policy and stop requiring standardized tests for undergraduate admission.

• Wake Forest was one of eight teams to play in the first NCAA basketball tournament in 1939.

• In 1953, Wake Forest was one of the seven institutions that founded the Atlantic Coast Conference and provided the new Conference with its first Commissioner. Persons closely associated with Wake Forest have stated the moving of the University from Wake Forest to Winston-Salem and the joining with six other institutions to form the ACC have been the two most important historical events in Wake Forest's growth to a perennial Top-30 National University.

• Wake Forest's 1955 College World Series championship marked the first national championship by an Atlantic Coast Conference member institution.

• Jim Caldwell was the first African American head football coach in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The first African American quarterback and the first African American to earn All-ACC honors in three straight years in the ACC were Wake Forest student-athletes.

• Wake Forest has had 17 Rhodes Scholars.

• Wake Forest has had 126 Fulbright Scholars in the past 20 years.

• Students in Wake Forest's accountancy program have achieved the highest passage rate in the nation on the Certified Public Accountant (CPA) examination more than any other school in the past 20 years. Since the program began offering a master's degree in accounting in 1997, the graduates have achieved the top national ranking in passage rate of the CPA exam 13 times.

• Located at Wake Downtown in the city's Innovation Quarter, Wake Forest's undergraduate engineering program pioneered a new path for engineering education with a curriculum grounded in the liberal arts tradition at a research university. The first class of engineers graduated in 2021. Sixty percent of full-time, tenure track faculty are women; that's three times the national average. In the first two classes, 45% of graduates are women; that's twice the national average.

• The James W. Denmark Loan Fund, originally named the North Carolina Baptist Students' Aid Association, is the oldest student loan fund in the United States, having been established at Wake Forest on Nov. 30, 1875.

• Wake Forest's Magnolia Scholars program for first-generation students goes beyond a traditional scholarship — inviting the students into a specialized program with community, accountability and targeted mentoring. In 2019, the Magnolia Scholars program celebrated 10 years of providing scholarships, academic support, study-abroad opportunities and counseling for 120 first-generation students. In recent years, Magnolia Scholars have posted a four-year graduation rate of more than 90%.

• As a national leader in the college-to-career experience, Wake Forest continues to transform the traditional, outdated concept of "career services" into a holistic, four-year approach to personal and career development. Wake Forest prepares students for a lifelong career journey, not just the first job after college. The Office of Personal and Career Development's innovative and effective initiatives support career development from a student's first days on campus. The National Association of Colleges and Employers awarded the Wake Forest President the 2018 Career Services Excellence Award in recognition of the University's career development program. In 2020, Wake Forest University was awarded the National Career Development Association's (NCDA) Exemplary Career Center Program Award.

• "Suited Up," a program for Wake Forest Division I student-athletes, tailors personal and career development to student-athletes' demanding schedules. Student-athletes complete a career-readiness program and participate in tailored internships created through the partnership between Student-Athlete Development and local organizations.

• With Pro Humanitate as its motto, Wake Forest has a tradition of service and community engagement. The Office of Civic and Community Engagement facilitates meaningful opportunities for students, faculty and staff to volunteer in the local community. Wake Forest students established the Brian Piccolo Cancer Fund in 1980 in memory of the alumnus and Chicago Bear football star who died of cancer in 1970 at age 26. Students have raised more than $5 million to support innovative cancer research at the Comprehensive Cancer Center of Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center.

• Wake Forest has a long and distinguished history in debate dating to the old campus in Wake Forest, North Carolina. Having had final four finishes at the National Debate Tournament in 1993, 1994, 1995, 1997, 2006, 2008, and 2009 and with championships in 1997 and 2008, Wake Forest is among a small number of schools that has qualified most often for the national debate finals. Wake Forest has hosted two Presidential Debates, George H.W. Bush and Governor Michael Dukakis in 1988 and Al Gore and George W. Bush in 2000.

• Wake Forest has been a pioneer in study abroad beginning in the 1970s. Wake Forest faculty and students gather for semester-long and summer study at each of the University-owned houses in London, Venice and Vienna, and visit more than 70 countries worldwide. Wake Forest has earned the Institute of International Education Seal of Excellence for increasing the number of U.S. students studying abroad. For 18 consecutive years, Wake Forest has been ranked among the nation's Top 10 doctoral institutions in study-abroad participation by The Institute of International Education.

• The Wake Washington Center - centrally located at One Dupont Circle - is the home of the Wake Washington program, a semester-long study away program combining internship and academic experience in the nation's capital. The center is also a home base for the approximately 5,000 Wake Forest alumni who live in the Washington area.

• The Wake Forest Institute for Regenerative Medicine is recognized as an international leader in its field. Physicians and scientists were the first in the world to engineer laboratory-grown organs that were successfully implanted into humans. The Center for Nanotechnology and Molecular Materials is known internationally for leading research efforts in their fields.

• On Arnold Palmer Day (April 13), Wake Forest celebrates the birthday of the legendary Demon Deacon golfer with his signature drink, a mixture of lemonade and iced tea.

• Maya Angelou, the poet, actress, author and civil rights activist, taught at Wake Forest from 1982 until her death in 2014. She once said, "I'm not a writer who teaches. I'm a teacher who writes. But I had to work at Wake Forest to know that." A University residence hall is named in her honor and the Z. Smith Reynolds Library is home to a collection of her movie scripts and drafts of plays and other materials related to her work in film and theater.

• Wake Forest is one of four U.S. News Top-30 universities to receive the Carnegie Community Engagement Classification in 2020 from the Carnegie Foundation in recognition of institutional commitment to community engagement.
