

2012 America East Men's and Women's Basketball Championship presented by Newman's Own

Sunday, March 4: West Hartford, Conn.: Women's Semifinal #2
Final Score: #2 Albany 58, #6 Binghamton 50

Albany head coach Katie Abrahamson-Henderson, opening remarks:

"These are amazing young women. If the players have that will power in them, anything is possible. I keep that in mind all the time about these young ladies. Anyone is going to step up at any time. Ebone stepped up great today. Last game she wasn't hitting her shot and I said that's fine you got all those shots out of you. And Lindsey stepped up today. They didn't care about what's happening tomorrow, or yesterday, and only cared about today and the 40 minutes."

Abrahamson-Henderson on the finals:

"Phil is a great coach and he's going to chess-match this game and come prepared, so am I and so are we. And they've got some great seniors and players on his team that don't want to go home just yet. We're not going to think about that right now. We're going to enjoy this, go to the men's game and cheer them on like crazy, and then take a nice day off. We are going to enjoy this journey and then we'll get back to business

Albany junior guard Ebone Henry, on the balance:

"It helps us definitely helps. It makes us harder to guard, you can't just shut down just one player. I think that's actually the reason we are going to the championship because it's not about one person on our team. Everybody steps up at different times. I'm happy I stepped up today."

Albany sophomore guard Lindsey Lowrie, on her 3s:

"We knew they were going to make their run it was just how were we going to stop it. I hit some threes but it's a team sport and we played good defense, stopped the run, got the win so I'm happy."

Binghamton head coach Nicole Scholl, opening remarks:

"First of all congratulations to Albany. They played a great game, they played great all year and they got a nice win tonight. For us, I'm proud of our players and our comeback there, just a little bit too late. Overall I thought we played hard, left everything out on the court and as a coach what more can you ask of your players."

Binghamton senior guard Andrea Holmes, on the near comeback:

"The coaches told us that we needed to be more of a unit instead of just individual players. I think we did a good job coming together and making plays and getting some stops."
