Dear Friends of Brown Athletics,

Welcome to the 2017-18 Brown Athletics Annual Report. We are excited to share with you the many achievements of our student-athletes from this past year and thank you for your support that makes these successes possible. Our student-athletes embody all that is great about Brown University through their dedication in competition, in the classroom and in the community.

During the past academic year, Brown student-athletes earned All-America honors, won Rookie of the Year awards and signed professional contracts with the National Football League, National Hockey League and Major League Baseball. They took part in various community service initiatives throughout the city of Providence and neighboring areas and gained numerous academic accolades.

Facilities remain a top priority for Brown Athletics in order to give our student-athletes the best opportunities to practice, compete and succeed. Phase II of the Berylson Family Football Complex in the Olney-Margolies Athletic Center was completed this past summer, and work is ongoing as part of a long-term plan to renovate the Marston Boathouse among several other projects.

We would like to thank President Christina Paxson for her continued support of Brown Athletics and for the outstanding leadership that she provides for our entire University. Her support for the replacement of loans with scholarships in financial aid packages and her commitment to creating an inclusive campus climate make Brown an accessible environment for our current and prospective student-athletes.

With the 2018-19 year underway, we are looking forward to another year of excitement that comes with intercollegiate athletics. Our student-athletes provide tremendous examples of what is possible through the balance of academics and athletics. We know that they will make us proud once again this year, and we genuinely appreciate your support of their efforts.

Sincerely,

Jack Hayes

MARJORIE BROWN SMITH AWARD WINNER

Carly tore her ACL her first semester on campus and had a long road back to be able to compete in the heptathlon and pentathlon – very demanding events. She brings a tremendous work ethic and competitiveness with her every day to practice, and she is always incredibly supportive of others in the process. She is one of those individuals who makes others around her better.

MEGAN RATCLIFFE ’18 finished in third place overall out of a field of 90 runners at the 2017 Ivy League Women’s Heptagonal Cross Country Championship, gaining First Team All-Ivy honors in the process.

BROWN MEN’S WATER POLO tallied its eighth straight 20-win season with a 21-12 record in 2017 behind a trio of All-NWPC performers and an All-American in Tyler Kirchberg ’18.

IN 2017, BROWN WOMEN’S SOCCER posted an 11-5-0 overall record - giving the Bears their most wins since 2000 - set a single-season program record with four overtime victories and collected six All-Ivy selections.

BROWN FOOTBALL took part in a once-in-a-lifetime experience when the Bears played at historic Fenway Park in a match-up against Dartmouth on November 10 as part of the Fenway Gridiron Series.

RICHARD JARVIS ’17.5 completed an outstanding career this past fall, concluding his time on College Hill ranked second all-time at Brown in career sacks (17.5). A two-time First Team All-Ivy selection and the winner of Brown’s Fritz Pollard ’19 Award, given to Brown’s most outstanding male athlete, Jarvis earned an invitation to the 2018 Reese’s Senior Bowl before signing a free agent contract with the NFL’s Atlanta Falcons.

If you didn’t know where he played his college football, you would have just assumed he was from a place like Ohio State or Florida State because, talent-wise and physically, he looked every bit as good as them in the Senior Bowl.”

DESMOND CAMBRIDGE ’21

Desmond Cambridge ’14 burst onto the Ivy League basketball scene this past season, winning the 2018 Ivy League Rookie of the Year award as a unanimous selection. The Bears’ Team MVP set the program’s single-season freshman scoring record with 468 points and averaged 18.6 points per game in conference play, ranking second in the league.

Desmond completed arguably the best freshman season in Brown men’s basketball history. He made an impact from the very first game and not only produced incredible statistics but wowed fans with highlight reel dunks, defensive plays and clutch late-game shots.

RUSS FIORE TREATED generations of student-athletes as an athletic trainer at Brown over the course of his 39-year tenure on College Hill. Fiore came to the Bears in 1979 and impacted the lives of thousands of student-athletes over the following four decades. A tireless advocate on behalf of student-athletes, he most recently helped oversee the installation of state-of-the-art training rooms in both the Pizzitola Sports Center and the Olney-Margolies Athletic Center.

“What a facility we have right now at Brown University. We came from a 2,800-square foot training room to a 4,000-square foot training room, which is just state of the art. It’s so well designed. We absolutely love it. Every time I walk into the new training room, I smile. It’s just beautiful. I am very lucky that I ended up at Brown University. Great years. Great place. Great people.”

RUSS FIORE

“Russ is a terrific, very knowledgeable athletic trainer. He always kept ahead of the game and at the forefront of sports medicine. He was never afraid to try something new. Some people don’t like to change. Russ changes. He has kept up with everything and has really made us proud of him.”

WOMEN'S LACROSSE ALWAYS A LEADER

BRI IRONS '18

BRI IRONS, A DEFENDER ON THE WOMEN'S LACROSSE TEAM, served as a leader in every aspect of her time at Brown, including on the field, in the classroom, in extra-curricular activities and in the community.

As a SAAC Co-President, Irons helped spearhead many initiatives, including the planning of the inaugural Tug for a Cure, an event to raise money for breast cancer research on campus. Serving on the executive board for two years as community service chair, Irons helped foster a relationship with Hasbro Children’s Hospital and planned a faculty and student-athlete luncheon to help connect the groups.

On the field, Irons started all of the Bears’ 15 games this past season and tied for second on the team in caused turnovers and ground balls. In her four years, she played in 59 of 60 possible games, starting 50 of them. Irons concluded her career tied for 23rd all-time at Brown in caused turnovers.

Irons served as a Research Assistant at the Diane N. Weiss Center for Orthopedic Trauma Research. She also acted as a student-athlete leader for Athletes in Action, running weekly meetings and discussion groups for female student-athletes.

In the summer before her senior year, she volunteered in South India for a month with a non-profit health organization. There, she helped in a rural health clinic, local hospitals and daycares for disadvantaged children.

A Health and Human Biology concentrator, Irons won Brown’s Bessie H. Rudd Award, given to the female varsity athlete who has done the most to promote women’s sports during the year based on enthusiasm, spirit and leadership.

“AS SAAC PRESIDENT, Bri made a significant and lasting impact on the Brown athletics department and how student-athletes support the Providence community. In addition to her leadership with SAAC, Bri ran weekly meetings for Athletes in Action, wrote a senior thesis, was in the leadership group for our team and was a starter on defense.”

TOSIN OYEWOLE embodied the positivity and passion for Brown over the past four years as a sprinter on the track team, and he will remain on College Hill in the Bears’ athletic department as a full-time staff member with the Ivy League Network.

Often seen behind the camera at multiple athletic events around campus as a member of the ILN crew as an undergraduate student, Oyewole, known by his ILN colleagues as “The Fastest Man on the Ivy League Network,” will continue his career with the ILN as the Bears’ Coordinator, Athletics Multimedia Services.

“Tosin is a great competitor, but he didn’t let his passion and commitment interfere with his love of the sport and his connection to his fellow athletes, whether teammates or competitors. He raised everyone’s level and was relentlessly positive in practice.”

TIM SPRINGFIELD, ALDEN-ROTHENBERG MEN’S & WOMEN’S CROSS COUNTRY/TRACK & FIELD COACHING CHAIR

As a student-athlete, Oyewole personified old-fashioned athletics’ ideals of hard work, sportsmanship and commitment to the team, a set of qualities he carried over on and off the track. As team captain, Oyewole’s leadership and enthusiasm helped the Bears to a third-place team finish at the 2018 Ivy League Indoor Championships with 86 points, the team’s third-highest point total in program history.

Oyewole led by example through his performance on the track. He posted a runner-up finish in the 400 meters at Indoor Hepts to earn Second Team All-Ivy accolades. A true teammate, he was even more valuable as a member of Brown’s acclaimed distance medley relay squad, running the 400-meter leg to help the relay earn Second Team All-American status following a ninth-place national finish at the NCAA Championship.

An Academic All-Ivy selection, Oyewole graduated with a degree in Business, Entrepreneurship and Organizations.
BROWN UNIVERSITY ATHLETICS held its 10th Annual Senior Celebration and Awards Luncheon at the Providence Biltmore on May 21, 2018 with over 275 student-athletes, coaches, staff, and distinguished guests in attendance to celebrate another year of success in competition, in the classroom and in the community. President Christina Paxson and Director of Athletics Jack Hayes each took the opportunity to address the room and acknowledge the accomplishments and contributions of the Class of 2018.

BEARS AT THE WINTER OLYMPICS

A PAIR OF BEARS represented Brown University as athletes at the 2018 Winter Olympic Games in South Korea as Lauren Gibbs ’06 and Even Weinstock ’14 both competed in the sport of bobsled for Team USA while Katie Guay ’05 served as one of four American women at the Olympics as an ice hockey official. A volleyball student-athlete during her time at Brown, Gibbs won a silver medal in women’s bobsled at the Pyeongchang Games, becoming Brown’s first female medalist at the winter Olympics outside of the sport of women’s ice hockey. Weinstock, a track & field standout for the Bears, finished in ninth place in the four-man bobsled and in 14th place in the two-man event.

BROWN ATHLETICS CONTINUES TO enhance its facilities in an effort to support the student-athlete experience. Recent completed projects include updated office and team meeting space for the football program, renovations to the Pizzitola Sports Center’s lobby and Joukowsky Room and a new sailing center.

As part of the second phase of the Berylson Family Football Complex in the Olney-Margolies Athletic Center, the new Paul K. Sloan ’97 Football Team Room (pictured) provides seating for over 125 student-athletes and has the ability to split in two, allowing for offensive and defensive units to watch separate film clips.

Ted Turner ’60 addresses a full house at the dedication event for the new Ted Turner ’60 Sailing Pavilion – the home training facility for the club sailing program – at the Edgewood Yacht Club in Cranston, Rhode Island in May 2018.

The men’s club rugby program won the 2018 Ivy 7s Championship for the first time since 2011, finishing the tournament with a 4-0 record and outscoring its opponents, 117-10.

WITH A QUALIFIED STAFF committed to excellence and the developmental needs of the entire Brown community, Brown recreation prides itself in providing something for everyone. The department works to promote and advance healthy lifestyle choices through participation opportunities, educational experiences and supportive services. All programs are designed to maximize participation and accommodate a wide range of interests and abilities.

The department offers over 95 group fitness classes per week in the areas of aerobics, fitness and mind/body. The group fitness program averages over 1,500 participants per year while the 33 club sports teams service hundreds of students athletes. The intramural sports program consists of 25 offerings in a variety of team, dual, individual and special event programs to over 3,600 registered participants within the Brown community.
IN ITS FIFTH YEAR of operation, Brown’s channel on the Ivy League Network has maintained its position as an innovative and expanding branch of the Bears’ athletic department and is set to make a highly anticipated move to ESPN in the 2018-19 academic year. This past year, the channel continued to produce hundreds of events and dozens of features, while simulcasting content across a variety of platforms, including ESPN3 and NESN.

This past April, the Ivy League and ESPN reached a 10-year agreement to showcase Ivy League events through a myriad of ESPN platforms, including at least 24 events annually on ESPN’s linear networks and more than 1,100 contests annually on ESPN+. Benefits of the relationship include every conference football, men’s basketball and women’s basketball game presented each season, hundreds of games from additional sports and at least 12 conference postseason events. Fans will receive increased Ivy League content and coverage from ESPN, including exclusive live events, amplified access to highlights and special league content in an increasingly customizable and personalized fashion.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Serving the Community

COMMUNITY OUTREACH stands as an integral part of the student-athlete experience at Brown, and each year hundreds of student-athletes and dozens of coaches spend time working towards this central part of the mission of the University. From involvement with Team IMPACT to events that support research for cancer and ALS to decades of connection with the Vartan Gregorian Elementary School, Brown student-athletes are working to make the Providence community – and beyond – a better one.

Brown Athletics hosted its annual Vartan Gregorian Elementary School celebration and banquet on April 25 at the Nelson Fitness Center with members of the Brown and Vartan communities coming together to recognize select Vartan students with achievement awards.

Brown Men’s Hockey introduced Team IMPACT teammate Harry Borodemos to the program with a special “Draft Day” held at the Pizzitola Sports Center on February 19.

Brown Athletics

Women’s Basketball welcomed its Team IMPACT teammate Ellie Leo in style for a pre-game recognition prior to the Bears’ contest against Harvard on February 16.

Members of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee – Katie Hammaker ’19, Jeanine Noordam ’18, Bri Irons ’18, Emma Dahle ’18, Alex O’Donnell ’19, Hafsa Moinuddin ’19 and Erika Steeves ’19 (from left to right) – helped host the third annual “Tug for a Cure” as Brown teams competed in a tug-of-war competition to raise money for the Brown University Oncology Research Group.
Dear Alumni, Parents and Friends,

As members of the Brown Athletics community, we all strive to leave a legacy larger than any one of us and show how, together, we can achieve our goals. A record-breaking 6,687 donors to Brown Athletics this past fiscal year, with gifts totaling $18.2 million, are a demonstration of that aspiration. So, it is with the utmost gratitude that I present to you the “donor impact” section of the Athletics Annual Report.

This section is designed to illustrate the scope of the philanthropic impact made on Brown Athletics. I value my Brown experience every day, as I’m sure my fellow alumni student-athletes do. Current and former parents of athletes can also relate to the influence that competing on College Hill has had on their children. It is a result of the generosity of the Brown Bear family that the student-athlete experience is consistently strengthened.

Ongoing donor commitment throughout the University’s BrownTogether campaign, which ends in 2022, also ensures that we have the funds needed in order to rise to the top of the Ivy League each year, and increase Brown’s national reputation. Thanks to the remarkable collective effort this past fiscal year and to dedicated support in the future, Brown will continue to compete at the highest level.

Ever True,

Kim Insalaco ’03

SPORTS FOUNDATION
AS PART OF the University’s $3 billion BrownTogether campaign, Brown Athletics has seen record-breaking levels of support while striving to fulfill the goals of three strategic priorities—facilities, endowments and the annual fund. The Brown Bear family of donors reached record numbers in 2017-18, with a 10 percent donor increase from the prior fiscal year. Thanks to the growing and impressive generosity of the athletics community, Brown Athletics had big wins this year with enhanced facilities, new endowed coaching positions, and other resources that will further strengthen the student-athlete experience.

STRENGTHENING BROWN’S COMPETITIVE EDGE

IN MAY 2018, Brown announced a $5 million gift from former swimming & diving student-athlete Tom McMullen ’62, which established the Excellence in Athletics Fund. The gift represents the largest single current-use gift Brown Athletics has ever received.

Through this fund, Brown Athletics will be strengthened in two ways: $4 million is allocated to athletics priorities, including a combination of support for strength and conditioning training, coaching salary enhancements and recruiting and team travel. The remaining $1 million endows a new coaching position in Strength & Conditioning, providing Brown teams a more individualized and sport-specific training approach.

“IT TOLD President Paxson and Jack to do anything they want to help us build exceptionally good teams. Our alumni athletes follow their teams from graduation and into their 70s and 80s. If these teams do well, they might give more to athletics and/or the general fund.”

INVESTING TODAY makes it possible to sustain excellence into the future. Athletics endowments are one of the most powerful and lasting gifts a donor can make, and come in two forms:

- COACHING ENDOWMENTS, supporting head and assistant coaching positions
- PROGRAMMATIC ENDOWMENTS, supporting the highest team priorities, including travel

Since the start of the BrownTogether campaign in 2015, 11 coaching chairs (including six head coaching chairs) and four travel endowments have been funded. Through these philanthropic investments, Brown Athletics aims to establish lasting financial security and competitive excellence.

BEARS ON THE MOVE

PALO ALTO, CALIFORNIA; CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA; ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND; TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA - Brown’s teams travel across the United States to compete each academic year, and the cost of travel is the most rapidly growing expense for the athletic department.

Establishing endowments that support travel ensures that teams can consistently compete out-of-region and provides coaching staffs with the necessary funds to scout and recruit top talent. These endowments expand opportunities for student-athletes and help to increase Brown’s visibility and exposure on a national scale.

EXPANDING BROWN’S FOOTPRINT

We tell all our recruits that Brown University is a place where student-athletes have the opportunity to win an NCAA title, become an All-American and also graduate with one of the most valuable degrees in the world. The additional opportunities from our travel endowment enable us to recruit and compete nationally, as well as allow our student-athletes to leave a legacy at Brown, on and off the mat!”

SETTING THE STANDARD

THE INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS landscape is constantly evolving, and the cost of salaries and benefits, recruiting, team travel and other expenses is escalating. The long-term solution to keep pace with these expenses is establishing endowments to sustain programs on an annual basis. The strategy for endowing men’s lacrosse will be a blueprint for building lifetime financial stability for programs in the future. Endowment funding lays the foundation vital to maintaining program success for the long term.

MARSTON BOATHOUSE: RENOVATION BEGINS

THE MARSTON BOATHOUSE renovation project is a top priority within the University’s BrownTogether campaign. The project will provide a modernized facility so that student-athletes can train in an enhanced environment suited for the elite level at which the Brown crew teams compete. Phase I of the renovation, which included fortifying and expanding the dock and pier, was completed in summer 2018. This transformation is a major step in shoring up the Marston Boathouse for decades to come.

“...It’s inspiring to see the Brown crews continue to compete at an elite level year after year. Under head coaches Paul Cooke and John Murphy, Brown has consistently been one of the top six programs at the national championships, while competing with limited resources. Now with Marston’s renovation underway, current and future Brown Bears will have the opportunity to train in a modernized facility. Although there are still funds to be raised, I’m optimistic the Brown rowing community can come together for the greater good of two programs we all care so deeply about!”
