Dear Friends of Brown Athletics,

Welcome to the 2014-15 Brown Athletics Annual Report. Throughout this publication, you will find the many accomplishments of our student-athletes, coaches and alumni. It was a successful year for Brown Athletics both in and out of competition.

Highlights include league championships in women’s crew, men’s lacrosse, women’s rugby, and men’s water polo, and NCAA championship appearances by women’s crew, men’s lacrosse, and men’s water polo. Additionally, a Governor’s Cup win in football against the University of Rhode Island, Mayor’s Cup victories over Providence College in men’s and women’s ice hockey, Ocean State Cup titles in men’s lacrosse (Providence and Bryant) and women’s lacrosse (Bryant), and a nationally-televised men’s basketball win over Providence College capped off an exciting year against our in-state competition.

Brown continues to earn national recognition for its commitment to academic excellence. This past year the Bears ranked second nationally in the NCAA Academic Progress Report (APR), with 19 sports earning public recognition awards. Numerous student-athletes were honored for their academic excellence, highlighted by Rachel Gottlieb ’15 (women’s crew), who won Academic All-American accolades.

We were thrilled to participate in the University’s 250th celebration. Athletics played an integral role in the campus festivities as several teams competed in “throwback” uniforms to honor previous eras. Additionally, former student-athletes were recognized at events throughout the year for their outstanding achievements during their playing days at Brown.

I want to thank President Christina Paxson for her enthusiastic support of our student-athletes. Her leadership has enabled us to offer an outstanding experience, both academically and athletically, as we aspire to develop future leaders.

In closing, thank you for your unwavering support of our mission, our student-athletes, and our coaches. It is our hope that the entire Brown University community, including our generous donors, alumni, parents and friends, and University administration, faculty, staff and students, consider the accomplishments of those who wear “Brown” across their jersey a tremendous source of pride.

I look forward to seeing you at our games and events this year!

Sincerely,

Jack Hayes
Director of Athletics
Women’s rugby became Brown University’s 38th varsity sport – and 21st women’s varsity program – in the fall of 2014. The Bears made their mark in their inaugural season, posting an undefeated record during the fall and claiming the Ivy Championship with a 42-5 win over Dartmouth.
YEAR IN REVIEW

Brown men’s water polo (right) won its first Collegiate Water Polo Association title since 1985 and earned its first bid to the NCAA Championship since 1990 when the Bears beat Princeton, 7-6, in the title game of the CWPA tournament in Annapolis, Md.

Brown football (below) claimed the Governor’s Cup for the fourth straight year with a 20-13 win at the home field of its Ocean State rival, the University of Rhode Island.
Brown held a first-of-its-kind event for the athletics department when the Bears' gymnastics and wrestling programs competed simultaneously in front of an enthusiastic crowd at the Pizzitola Sports Center.

Brown men's ice hockey captured the 29th Annual Mayor’s Cup with a 5-3 win at eventual 2015 NCAA Champion Providence College. The Bears celebrated the victory postgame with Mayor of Providence Jorge Elorza (pictured), who took office just five days prior.
Christine Whalen ’15 (right) was one of Brown fencing’s five selections to compete at the 2015 NCAA Championships in Columbus, Ohio, at Ohio State’s French Field House.

An exuberant Rafael Maia ’15 (No. 45) leads Brown men’s basketball’s postgame celebration of the Bears’ 77-67 win against defending Big East champion Providence College inside the Dunkin’ Donuts Center. The Bears defeated the Friars for the second time in three years.

Brown athletics (bottom right) served as the host for the 2015 NCAA Division I Men’s Ice Hockey East Regional at the Dunkin’ Donuts Center in Providence, R.I.

Brown women’s ice hockey (below) took the 20th Annual Mayor’s Cup from Providence College with a 2-1 win at Meehan Auditorium. Lauren Vella ’15 (left) and Kaitlyn Keon ’15 (right) won the cup for the third time in their four years.
Christine Kim ’18 (left) won the Ivy League Women’s Golf Individual Championship, becoming the first Bear in program history to do so, as she sank a birdie putt on the first playoff hole at the Ivy League Women’s Golf Championship at Saucon Valley Country Club Grace Course in Bethlehem, Pa.

Continuing its run of success under head coach John Murphy and associate head coach Phoebe Murphy ’82, Brown women’s crew placed third at the 2015 NCAA Women’s Rowing Championships (pictured) and won the 2015 Ivy League Women’s Rowing Championship.

The sixth-ranked Brown men’s crew (below) placed fourth overall in the varsity eight grand final at the IRA National Championship regatta at Mercer Lake.
Brown men's lacrosse enjoyed a banner year in 2015, taking a share of the Ivy League title, hosting the Ivy League Men's Lacrosse Championship at Stevenson Field for the first time since the tournament began in 2010, and gaining an at-large bid to the NCAA Championship.

Shannon McSweeney '15

Shannon McSweeney, a goalkeeper on the field hockey team, wrapped up a standout four-year career for the Bears. Starting all 68 career games in goal, McSweeney set the standard for stymieing opponents. She ranks first all-time at Brown with 628 career saves and third all-time with 25 wins, including three shutouts as a senior in 2014.

A four-time All-Ivy selection, including First Team recognition in 2014 for posting an Ivy League best .745 save percentage, McSweeney also ranked 11th nationally with 6.53 saves per game. Her tremendous senior campaign culminated with a shutout at the 2014 NFHCA Senior Game held at the University of Maryland, a game featuring the nation’s top senior field hockey players.

In the classroom, McSweeney was no stranger to success as she was a four-year member of the NFHCA Division I Academic Squad, a two-time Academic All-Ivy selection, and was instrumental in helping the Bears post the nation’s top GPA (3.59) in 2014. She was a recipient of Brown’s Director’s Award, which is presented to a male and female senior student-athlete who have best represented Brown over his or her career by embodying excellence in scholarship, athletic performance, integrity, leadership and community outreach.

A graduate in Engineering, McSweeney will start her career as a Mechanical Engineer in Product Development at Euro-Pro in Newton, Mass.

As part of Brown University’s Royce Fellowship Program, Charles Royce ’61, P’92, P’94, P’08 and Brown President Christina Paxson inducted 10 Brown student-athletes into the Society of Royce Fellows. The Bears’ inductees included two student-athletes who earned Royce Fellowships in Jamelle Watson-Daniels ’16 (Rugby) and Tess Carter ’16 (Equestrian) and eight student-athletes who earned Royce Fellowships for Sport and Society in Emily Arciero ’16 (Field Hockey), Natalie Ball ’16 (Women’s Basketball), Josephine Darpolor ’16 (Rugby, Track & Field), Lauren Hanna ’17 (Softball), Lauren Levy ’16 (Swimming & Diving), the duo of Uzoamaka Okoro ’16 (Track & Field) and O'Sha Williams ’16 (Track & Field), and Ellise Sharpe ’16 (Women’s Basketball). The Royce Fellowship Program allows undergraduate students to execute independent projects of their own design in locations nationwide and throughout the world.
Corbin Booker, a midfielder on the men’s lacrosse team, was one of Brown’s most visible and altruistic student-athletes over the past four years.

On the field, Booker was willing to step into the crease as a goalie early in his career, before ultimately becoming a key contributor of the Bears’ midfield for the last three years. This year, defending some of the top opposing midfielders with a short stick, Booker and the Bears earned a share of the Ivy League title and a berth in the NCAA Tournament after posting a 12-5 overall record.

Always looking to step up and volunteer, whether serving two years as the Co-President of Brown’s Student-Athlete Advisory Committee or spearheading the Vartan Gregorian kickoff, Booker was willing to do it all. Described by his coaches as a man of action and one who relishes the opportunities to help others, Booker is the epitome of the Brown student-athlete.

As a junior, Booker was recognized with Brown’s Cliff Stevenson Award for boundless enthusiasm, indomitable spirit and devotion to the quality of life at Brown and the community. Most recently he served as a Senior Speaker at the 2015 Senior Celebration. Booker graduated with a degree in American Studies and is set to start his career in Media Planning at Digitas in New York City.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Serving the community stands as an integral part of the student-athlete experience at Brown, and each year hundreds of student-athletes and dozens of coaches spend time working towards this central part of the mission of the University. From wrestling’s Beat the Streets program to gymnastics’ Walk for Wendy to football’s Literacy Day and several programs’ involvement with Team IMPACT, Brown student-athletes are working to make the Providence community a better one.

Brown men’s soccer (right) continued its longstanding partnership with Project GOAL to host a free youth clinic prior to the Bears’ game against Cornell, providing free tickets to the match to all participants.

Brown Athletics took a major step in reaching out to Brown alumni, parents and supporters on a worldwide basis with the production of several video features broadcast on the Ivy League Digital Network and scoreboards. Feature content was produced on the School of Engineering, President Christina Paxson, the Brown University Oncology Research Group, the School of Medicine and Kevin Goldberger. Overall, Brown Athletics produced over 160 live events, including 35 multi-camera productions, along with an additional 50 sport-specific features and 100 highlight packages throughout the academic year.

Former Brown Director of Athletics Michael Goldberger and his son Kevin Goldberger – one of Brown’s most ardent supporters – sat down for an interview with BrownBears.TV for a feature on Kevin’s loyalty to the Bears.
PHYSICAL EDUCATION, RECREATION AND CLUB SPORTS

Under the direction of the Department of Athletics and Physical Education, Brown Recreation offers something for people of all interests and abilities. A qualified staff that is committed to the development and participation of the Brown community highlights the spirit of the Recreation Department.

Brown Recreation offers over 75 group fitness classes per week in the areas of aerobics, fitness and mind/body. The Group Fitness Program averages over 2,700 participants per year, while the intramural sports program consists of 26 offerings in a variety of team, dual, individual and special event programs to over 4,100 registered participants within the Brown community. The 31 Club Sports teams service over 750 student athletes, striving to provide an organized, structured and competitive environment for students interested in club sports at Brown University.

Brown men’s rugby enjoyed another successful season under the direction of 2015 Brown Athletics Hall of Fame inductee Jay Fluck ’65, reaching the finals of the Ivy playoffs in the spring.
Along with the New York Yacht Club and Salve Regina University, Brown sailing hosted the 2015 ICSA National Championships in Newport, R.I.
A new women’s lacrosse locker room (right) was constructed prior to the 2014-15 academic year, providing the Bears with ample space and technology to prepare for competition.

Brown’s athletic training room (below) in the Pizzitola Sports Center received a major renovation and upgrade in 2014-15, giving the Bears a refurbished facility with the latest sports medicine resources.
As part of a revamped men's lacrosse locker room, many of the Bears' former greats stand on display to inspire the program's current student-athletes.
