Based in Cleveland since July 1999 following a 15-year stay in Toledo, Ohio, the Mid-American Conference has established historic measurements in both football and men's and women's basketball since moving to Northeast Ohio. The MAC was founded as a five-school league on Feb. 24, 1946 in Columbus, Ohio with Ohio, Butler, Cincinnati, Wayne State and Western Reserve admitted as charter members. The current Mid-American Conference membership consists of 12 universities across five states (Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, New York and Ohio).

In baseball, Ohio won last year’s MAC Tournament championship for the first time since 1997. Ohio’s Connor Sitz threw a no-hitter to lead Ohio to a 6-0 win over Bowling Green in the MAC Tournament, while his no-hitter was the first no-hitter in the history of the tournament. The Bobcats went on to defeat Ball State in the championship game, 6-2. The Cardinals have advanced to the championship game twice in the last three years. Ball State outfielder Alex Call, Eastern Michigan infielder John Rubino and Kent State pitcher Jared Skolnicki earned Capital One Academic All-America third team honors. Ten MAC students were selected in the 2015 MLB Draft – including Akron pitcher J.T. Brubaker, selected by the Pittsburgh Pirates in the sixth round, and Bowling Green catcher Trey Keegan, selected by the Atlanta Braves also in the sixth round.

Ball State's Ball Diamond is the home of the Ball State Cardinals and located on the campus of Ball State University. Ball State is a member of the Mid-American Conference and competes at the NCAA Division I level of collegiate baseball. The field has a capacity of 1,500 and has recently added a FieldTurf surface to the infield and outfield that allows the Cardinals to compete in nearly any weather condition. Other recent additions to the First Merchants Bank Ballpark Complex include new dugouts, back stop, hitters background, public address system, fencing and scoreboard. The field plays to the dimensions of 330 feet down the right and left field lines, 365 in the gaps and 400 feet to center field. Ball State's baseball locker room has been recently upgraded and features individual wood lockers for each player plus a team area with large screen television and computer work station.

New for the 2016 season at Ball Diamond will be a completely updated grandstand structure which features new bleachers, chair-back seating, press box and fan amenities.
Rich Maloney returned as head coach of the Ball State baseball team for the 2013 season, having spent a previous stint coaching the Cardinals from 1996-2002.

In 2014, Maloney led Ball State to the Mid-American Conference regular season championship, a MAC West Division title and the No. 1 seed in the MAC Tournament. The Cardinals ranked as high as 26th in the nation in the Collegiate Baseball Poll and won their first conference regular season title since Maloney led them to the title in 2001. For his efforts, Maloney was named the MAC Coach of the Year for a third time in his career (1998, 2001, 2014).

A year later, the Cardinals made a late season surge and reached the 2015 MAC Tournament championship game. The 2015 Ball State squad finished 33-25 overall.
In 2013, Maloney led Ball State to a 31-24 overall record, a 15-12 MAC mark and an appearance in the MAC Tournament championship game. The 31-24 record marked the eighth best turnaround in the NCAA from 2012 to 2013 and helped Ball State to a second-place finish in the MAC West Division. Maloney helped pitcher Scott Baker win the 2013 Gregg Olson Award as the nation’s comeback player of the year and coached six members of the 2013 team to Academic All-MAC recognition.

In his second stint with the Cardinals, Maloney set the school’s all-time record for wins when he won his 324th game at Ball State. Maloney’s record-setting win came in a 4-1 victory at Northern Illinois in a game where his son Alex Maloney recorded his first career save for the Cardinals.

In his first stint at Ball State, Maloney amassed a 256-144-1 (.640) overall record in seven years, including a 141-60 (.701) ledger in MAC games. Maloney guided the Cardinals to four MAC West Division titles (1998, 1999, 2000, 2001) and three MAC regular season championships (1998, 1999, 2001). Maloney also led the Ball State baseball program to the only two 40-win seasons in program history -- 42 in 1999 and 40 in 1997 -- and was named the 1998 and 2001 MAC Coach of the Year.

Prior to returning to Ball State, Maloney served as the head baseball coach at Michigan for 10 seasons, guiding the Wolverines to a 341-244 overall record. He led Michigan to three Big Ten Conference titles, two Big Ten Tournament titles and the 2007 NCAA Regional title. He was also named the 2007 and 2008 Big Ten and ABCA Mideast Regional Coach of the Year. Maloney also guided the Wolverines to Big Ten Tournament berths in seven of his 10 seasons, including a streak of six straight from 2003-08. His teams also made four consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances (2005, 2006, 2007, 2008).

Over his 20-year career as a collegiate head coach, Maloney has mentored 57 different players who have been drafted, including five first round draft picks, with all five playing at Ball State. In 2002, he helped Bryan Bullington become the only No.1 overall draft pick in both Ball State and MAC history in any sport when he was selected by the Pittsburgh Pirates. Later the same day, Luke Hagerty was chosen with the 32nd overall pick by the Chicago Cubs in the supplemental first round, giving Maloney two first round draft picks in the same season.

Maloney, and his wife, the former Kelle Lynn Seitz, have two sons -- Alex and Nicholas -- and one daughter, Natalie. Alex is a junior on the 2015-16 Ball State baseball team.

“From day one, Coach began to change not only me, but the entire culture of the Ball State baseball program. With him, he brought a new mindset and passion to the program. As a player, every moment became an opportunity to not only grow as a player but as a man too. I consider Coach to be my mentor and I attribute much of my success to his teachings. Whether you needed some help with your swing, some motivation, or just someone to talk to, Coach was there for me whenever I needed it. I am very fortunate to have played for Coach Maloney for two years and value our friendship today.”

SEAN GOFREY, 2013 MAC Player of the Year, All-American, Atlanta Braves Draft Pick

Michigan. A two-time captain and two-time All-MAC first-team selection, Maloney was twice named to the all-district squad. A 13th-round draft pick of the Atlanta Braves in 1986, Maloney spent six seasons in the Atlanta Braves organization, earning all-star status in the Appalachian League for the Pulaski Braves and in the South Atlantic League for the Sumter Braves. He played for former Los Angeles Dodgers and Boston Red Sox manager Grady Little before retiring from pro baseball following the 1991 season at Greenville (AA). He served as an assistant coach for legendary Fred Decker at Western Michigan from 1992-95 before accepting the head coaching position at Ball State in May 1995.

COACH MALONEY

Chris Fetter joined the Ball State coaching staff as the team’s pitching coach this January. Fetter spent the previous two years as a Major League Baseball scout for the Los Angeles Angels.

Fetter, hailing from nearby Carmel, Indiana played his collegiate baseball under Maloney at Michigan where he helped the Wolverines win three Big Ten championships and advance to four NCAA regionals. The right-handed pitcher was a 2006 Baseball America Freshman All-American, 2008 All-American, three-time All-Big Ten selection (2006, 2008, 2009) and 2009 team captain.

Fetter left Michigan as the program’s career leader in innings pitched (332.1) while ranking third all-time in both wins (28) and strikeouts (281). He graduated from Michigan in 2009 with a bachelor’s degree in psychology and proceeded to be drafted by the San Diego Padres in the ninth round of the 2009 MLB Draft.

After spending four years as a minor league pitcher in the Padres farm system, Fetter turned to the coaching ranks where he served on the 2013 San Antonio Missions (Double-A) staff.

In November 2013, Fetter took on a new challenge as a scout for the Los Angeles Angels. Fetter’s main duties focused on analyzing professional players for potential trades and free-agent acquisitions.
Scott French

Assistant Coach

Scott French, a former four-year letterwinner at Ball State, played for the Cardinals under head coach Rich Maloney’s guidance from 1999-2002 and earned his bachelor’s degree in 2003. He has helped the Cardinals to a 103-67 overall record, a 51-29 Mid-American Conference mark, one MAC West Division title and the 2014 MAC regular season championship since his return to the friendly confines of Ball Diamond. He played on two regular season MAC Championship teams in 1999 and 2001. After his playing days at Ball State, French was a volunteer assistant coach at Ball State from 2003-07. He helped guide the Cardinals to the 2006 MAC Tournament championship, which earned Ball State a bid to the NCAA

Rhett Goodmiller

Volunteer Assistant Coach

Rhett Goodmiller is in his second season as a volunteer assistant coach for the Ball State baseball team. He earned a bachelor’s degree from Taylor in 2012 and his master’s from Western Kentucky in 2014. Goodmiller played baseball at Taylor from 2010-12 and was a 2012 NAIA All-American. A three-time all-conference catcher, Goodmiller was a two-time CoSIDA Academic All-District selection. He played for the Battle Creek Bombers in the summer of 2011 and spent the 2009 campaign at Central Michigan. Goodmiller was named the 2011 Gates-Howard Top Male Student-Athlete at Taylor.
Thomas Howard spent 11 years in the Major Leagues from 1990 through 2000. He started his career with the San Diego Padres before going on to play for the Cleveland Indians, the Cincinnati Reds, the Houston Astros, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals. Howard hit .264 for his career with 44 home runs and 264 RBIs.

Jeff Urban was selected with the 41st pick of the 1998 Major League Baseball Draft by the San Francisco Giants. He spent eight years in professional baseball and pitched in 214 games, including starts in 105 contests. From 1998 through 2004, Urban played in the San Francisco Giants system.

Larry Bigbie became Ball State's third Major League Baseball first round draft pick when he was selected 21st overall in the 1999 MLB Draft by the Baltimore Orioles. Bigbie made his MLB debut in 2001 with Baltimore and also played at the big league level with the Colorado Rockies and the St. Louis Cardinals. He also played professional baseball in Japan for the Yokohama BayStars.

Luke Hagerty spent six seasons in professional baseball after being selected as the 32nd pick in the first round of the 2002 Major League Baseball Draft by the Chicago Cubs. He pitched in 45 games at the professional level and struck out 86 batters in 95 innings pitched. Hagerty was listed as the seventh best prospect in the Chicago Cubs organization in 2003.

Brad Snyder was selected 18th overall by the Cleveland Indians in the 2003 Major League Baseball Draft. He made his first trip to the major leagues in 2006 when he was called up to the Indians late in the season. He made MLB appearances in 2010 and 2011 with the Chicago Cubs, and 2014 with the Texas Rangers. He played for the Nexen Heroes of the Korean Baseball Organization in 2015.

Kolbrin Vitek, one of three finalists for the College Baseball Foundation’s inaugural John Olerud Two-Way Player of the Year Award in 2010, was the 20th pick in the first round of the 2010 Major League Baseball Draft. Vitek was named the Mid-American Conference Player of the Year as a junior before being drafted by the Boston Red Sox. He spent four years in the Red Sox organization before retiring.
BRYAN BULLINGTON

1st OVERALL DRAFT PICK

2002 • PITTSBURGH PIRATES

THE HIGHEST DRAFT PICK IN BALL STATE AND MID-AMERICAN CONFERENCE HISTORY.

Bryan Bullington, who was coached at Ball State by current Cardinals’ head coach Rich Maloney, was the No. 1 selection in the 2002 Major League Baseball Draft. He was selected by the Pittsburgh Pirates and is the highest draft pick in Ball State and Mid-American Conference history. Bullington made his major league debut in 2005 for the Pirates. After sitting out the 2006 season with an injury, Bullington worked his way back up to the Triple-A All-Star Game in 2007 and was called up to the Pirates later that season, appearing in five games with three starts. Bullington pitched for the Cleveland Indians and Toronto Blue Jays in 2008. He stayed in the Blue Jays system in 2009 and in 2010 reported to the Kansas City Royals Spring Training. On Aug. 15, 2010, Bullington pitched eight shutout innings, while only giving up two hits against the New York Yankees in Kansas City for his first major league win. After the 2010 season, Bullington signed with the Hiroshima Toyo Carp of Japan’s Central League. Bullington played for Hiroshima for four seasons before moving to the Orix Buffaloes of Japan’s Pacific League in 2015.

Since 1986, Major League Baseball teams have selected Ball State position players 26 times in the annual draft. Here is a complete listing of the Ball State draft history for position players since 1986.

Ball State began as a private normal school in 1899. Eventually the campus and buildings were purchased by the Ball brothers, a group of Muncie industrialists, and given to the state of Indiana in 1918.

The institution was named Ball Teachers College in 1922 and Ball State Teachers College in 1929. The school became a university in 1965 and its 660-acre residential campus now includes more than 60 buildings and 300 additional acres of research property.

Ball State has seven academic colleges and a graduate school with over 150 majors offered, including business, education, sport administration, telecommunications, exercise science, criminal justice, communication studies, journalism, political science and construction management.
“Among our more than 152,000 living alumni are renowned entertainers, top corporate executives, leading educators, and members of the Indiana General Assembly.”
