2013 NAIA Men's Golf National Championship

For the second straight year, the 2013 NAIA Men's Golf National Championship will be decided in Cascade Conference territory as some of the top collegiate golfers in the country come to Creekside Golf Club in Salem, Ore. on May 14-17, 2013.

Last season, Oklahoma City won the title, its eighth in 11 years, with a come-from-behind win over Oklahoma Christian. The Stars used a 295 on the final day of the tournament to move into first and win the championship with a 24-over 1,176. Carson Kallis of Victoria (BC) took individual medalist honors, posting a 283 (five-under).

The NAIA Men's Golf National Championship is a four-round tournament consisting of a maximum of 156 golfers. Each team competes with five golfers (minimum of four) and the top four scores posted each day are counted toward the team standings. Following the third round, the field will be reduced to the top 17 teams (plus ties) and forty individuals (plus ties).
