FIVE TALENTED STUDENT-ATHLETES HEADLINE 2025 AT-LARGE ACADEMIC ALL-AMERICA® TEAMS

GREENWOOD, Ind. | Five standouts headline a group of outstanding student-athletes named to the 2025 Academic All-America® at-large teams selected by College Sports Communicators.

Gymnast Mark Berlaga from Stanford University, wrestler Ty McGeary from West Liberty University, outside hitter Christian Sheaffer from Southern Virginia University, opposite hitter/setter Matt Pennala from Saint Xavier University and thrower Kaden Banks from Indian Hills Community College-Ottumwa were named as the Academic All-America® Team Members of the Year for NCAA Divisions I, II and III, NAIA and college division, respectively.

Division I

Now a back-to-back CSC Men's Division I At-Large Team Member of the Year, Berlaga ended his career as a three-time NCAA All-American as a still rings specialist, finishing as the national runner-up in the event in both 2022 and 2024. He is also an MPSF Champion in the event, scoring a 14.600 to win the conference title in 2023. Berlaga, who had a 4.00 cumulative grade-point average as a human biology major, helped guide Stanford to three national championships and three MPSF team titles. The Palo Alto, California, native is a two-time Pac-12 Academic Honor Roll selection, a three-time MPSF All-Academic Team honoree and recently earned an NCAA postgraduate scholarship.

Seven members of the Academic All-America® Division I at-large teams have a perfect 4.0 grade-point average in their undergraduate or graduate work. The 15 members on the first team have an average GPA of 3.88, with all three teams holding a collective average GPA of 3.81.
