GAME DAY AT DAVIDSON

WELCOME TO SMITH FIELD AT RICHARDSON STADIUM

- ◆ Originally built in 1924 and recently expanded to accommodate 4,500 fans, Richardson Stadium is home to Davidson football.
- ◆ On Sept. 10, 2005, Davidson dedicated the most recent renovations and additions to Richardson Stadium. With the addition of the Wilson Terrace, Ernie Doe Weight Room, Hubbard Family Locker Room and Don Bryant Press Box, Richardson Stadium offers a terrific venue to watch college football in its finest and purest form.
- ◆ The weight room, located beneath the newly-constructed stands, has 5,000 square feet of space, and the press box gives a terrific vantage point for the media to watch and report on the game.
- ◆ Richardson Athletic Field debuted in the fall of 1923, and it contained two football fields, a baseball diamond and a quarter-mile cinder track. Vines were planted on a wire fence that surrounded the field, and bushes were set both inside and outside the fence.
- ◆ Henry Smith Richardson '06 and Lunsford Richardson, Jr. '14 donated the facility, which was named in honor of their father, Lunsford Richardson, Sr., Davidson class of 1875.
- ◆ In 1924, the stadium portion of the facility was built of brick and concrete construction, which had room for 8,000 fans. Temporary bleachers were added in the end zones through the years to inflate the capacity from 10,000 to 11,000.
- ◆ In 1965, renovations to the stadium included a dressing room for the visiting team, fiber glass seats and a glass-enclosed press box where it remains to this day.
- ◆ A major overhaul to the facility occurred during the summer of 1991. The field was renovated and expanded so soccer could be played in the stadium, the permanent seating capacity was reduced to 6,000 and lights were installed.
- ◆ The NCAA Men's Soccer Championship was hosted by Davidson at Richardson Stadium for three consecutive years (1992-94), launching the College Cup to national attention. In 1994, the tourney drew a then-record crowd of 23,818 people in two days.
- ◆ In the summer of 1999, the Irwin Belk Track, featuring an eight-lane, 400 meter, polyurethane track, replaced the old cinder track, which had been reduced to four lanes with the expansion for soccer. A year and a half later, the Wildcat track team hosted the Davidson Relays, the first track meet in Richardson Stadium in years.
- ◆ The field itself was overhauled as well in 1999 and was renamed the Stephen B. Smith Field in honor of the trustee and former Wildcat football standout.

Facilities

Baker Sports Complex

The Baker Sports Complex, completed in 1989, houses all of Davidson's indoor athletic facilities, including the John M. Belk Arena, Knobloch Tennis Center and Cannon Natatorium, as well as the athletic department offices and team locker rooms and the athletic training room.

John M. Belk Arena

Named in honor of John M. Belk '43 — a former Wildcat team captain, Davidson College trustee for more than 15 years and former mayor of Charlotte, Belk Arena is the home of men's and women's basketball and volleyball.

Alumni Stadium

Completed in 2004, the $2-million soccer facility includes a new playing surface with a first-class irrigation system, lighting for night games, grandstands, a press box and a new scoreboard. The home of the men's and women's soccer teams also boasts its own clubhouse.

Knobloch Tennis Center

With four indoor courts, allows for year-round training.

Covington Courts

Features 14 outdoor courts, both hard and clay surfaces.

Smith Field at Richardson Stadium & Irwin Belk Track

Built in 1924, Richardson Stadium is the 4,500-seat home of Davidson football as well as Doe Weight Room, the Don Bryant press box and several radio booths. Smith Field is ringed by Irwin Belk Track, the top-flight home of Wildcat track and field.

Belk Turf Field

Completed in the fall of 2002, Belk Turf Field is the home of Wildcat field hockey.

Wilson Field

Wildcat baseball opened the 2005 season at Wilson Field, the renovated and renamed facility featuring permanent bleachers, a press box, concession stands and clubhouse.

Cannon Natatorium

The home of the men's and women's swimming teams features an eight-lane, 40-meter stretch pool and diving well with a moveable bulk head and seating for 750 spectators.

Head Strength & Con
Coach Craig Swieton

Strength & Conditioning

The Wildcats' head strength and conditioning coach, Craig Swieton, carries out the goal of Davidson's strength and conditioning program — to increase the strength, power, speed, conditioning levels and flexibility of all student-athletes, helping reduce the risk of injury.

Each team's program, specifically designed by Swieton, aims to improve the sport energy utilization system and to increase the strength and power to the primary muscle groups used in that specific sport.

In the fall of 2005, Davidson opened the Ernie Doe Weight Room, a state-of-the-art 5,000-square-foot facility dedicated to the needs of the college's 21 varsity athletic teams. The weight room includes 16 power racks and eight lifting platforms, as well as other cutting-edge lifting and conditioning equipment to train the whole body.

Prior to his arrival at Davidson, Swieton served most recently as an assistant strength and conditioning coach at Central Michigan, where he was a graduate assistant as well from 2003-05. During his career, he also helped coordinate the strength and conditioning program at Duquesne. Swieton started his career as an intern at Syracuse in the summer of 2003 working with the football team.

The Frankfort, N.Y., native earned a bachelor's degree in applied exercise science from Springfield College in Springfield, Mass., in 2003. He was a member of both the football and track and field teams.

Swieton is a member of both the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA) and the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association (CSCCA). Additionally, he is a level one certified club coach through USA Weightlifting. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in sport administration.

Academic Success

Academic Excellence

Davidson students explore the liberal arts curriculum in depth and enjoy close faculty collaboration. With 1,800 students, the college is large enough for a diverse and invigorating intellectual engagement, but small enough to foster individual experience and opportunity.

Davidson offers over 850 courses and supports 21 majors and 12 academic concentrations. Students may participate in pre-law, pre-medicine, pre-dentistry or dual-degree engineering programs or may design their own independent study classes or interdisciplinary majors.

Students may also apply for funds to support research and travel, and many opportunities exist for summer research positions with Davidson faculty.

Personal relationships with professors and classes limited to 20 students allow for the development of creative, collaborative relationships resulting in a unique academic experience.

"The 450-acre campus has an Ivy League air, or perhaps a whiff of the '50s, from its location on Main Street to The Soda Shop across the road. Davidson is where the basketball coach lives next-door to the English professor and both are down the street from the athletics director. Stories are told of money found on the ground tacked to a tree or a bulletin board for the owner to retrieve."

The New Ivy?

Davidson College was recently named one of 25 "New Ivies" by Newsweek magazine, along with New York University, the University of North Carolina, Vanderbilt, the University of Virginia and UCLA.

The magazine selected the schools based on admissions statistics as well as interviews with administrators, faculty, students and alumni.

Davidson Wildcats

“Davidson cultivates an adventurous spirit, a determination to tackle life’s problems, and an appreciation and understanding of those who have not had the benefit of either education or opportunity.”

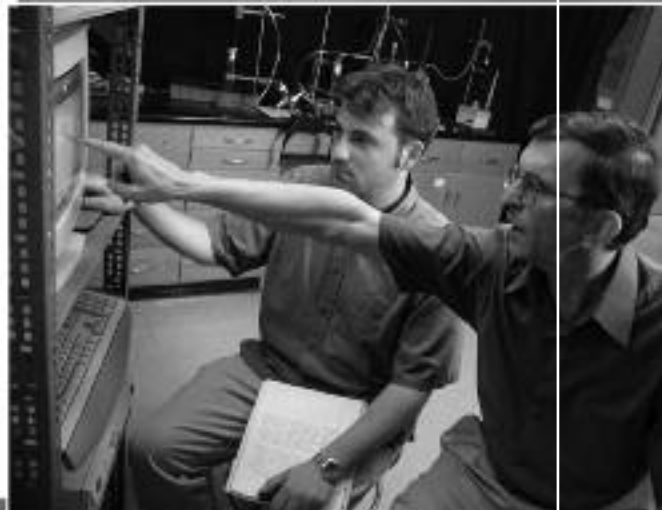

Wyche Fowler '62, Former US Ambassador to Saudi Arabia

Distinctly Davidson

A variety of options and opportunities set Davidson apart, including its strong Honor Code, commitment to community service and Division I athletics:

- ◆ Davidson’s historic and student-administered Honor Code offers both the freedom and responsibility of self-scheduled and unproctored exams.
- ◆ With the Dean Rusk International Studies Program, 12 Davidson-directed study abroad programs, and off-campus study programs in 17 locations worldwide, more than 70 percent of students graduate with experience abroad.
- ◆ Davidson fields 21 NCAA Division I varsity teams, with athletes’ graduation rate at over 90 percent, just a few points higher than the rest of the student body. Davidson’s scholar athletes are well known for having the heaviest luggage of any team on the road—bags full of books and notes.

Affordability

Davidson is a national leader on affordability initiatives, with need-blind admission and meeting 100 percent of demonstrated financial need with a combination of grants and student employment. In a ground-breaking initiative known as the Davidson Trust, Davidson was the first liberal arts college to eliminate the loan component in financial aid packages.

Davidson believes that its educational offerings should be affordable for every admitted student, regardless of a family’s financial means. Thanks to Davidson’s commitment to need-blind admission, a student’s character, accomplishments and academic potential are the only factors in the decision—not ability to pay.

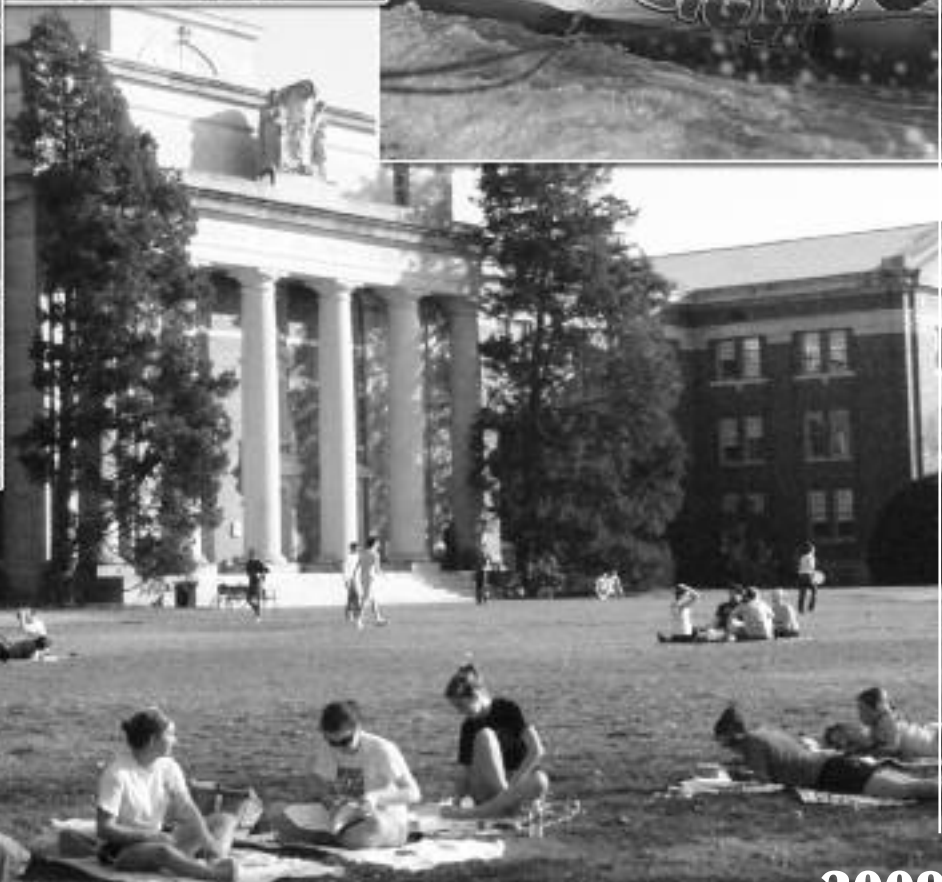

23 Rhodes Scholars

Davidson counts 23 Rhodes Scholars amongst its alumni. Established by the late Cecil Rhodes in 1902, the prestigious scholarship provides support for study at England’s Oxford University for students from around the world who are outstanding intellectually, and show qualities of moral leadership and social purpose.

“Unless you are a fan of Gonzaga, Georgetown, Wisconsin or Kansas, you fell stone-cold in love with Davidson this March. Real scholar-athletes representing a tiny school from a low-profile league. A self-effacing star whose shooting was nothing short of thrilling. A coach who personifies class. Trustees willing to dig into their own pockets to pay for students to come from North Carolina to Detroit to witness this.”

SEASON PREVIEW

Tripp Merritt and his Davidson football team want to get back to the standards they established with back-to-back winning campaigns in 2006 and 2007. The Wildcats – with the sour taste of last year’s 4-7 record still fresh – have multiple goals, and players and coaches are determined to reach them.

“We are a hungry football team and eager to earn back some respect,” Merritt said.

Goal 1: If Davidson takes care of business and plays to its potential, which includes avoiding key injuries that crippled last year’s defense, this could wrap up a 10-year stretch that would produce more victories than in any decade in the school’s storied 113-year history of playing college football. The previous nine seasons have seen the Red and Black raise the victory flag 47 times, including the superb 2000 team that went 10-0. The Wildcats need three wins to break the record set in the decade of the 1990s. Of course, the goal is not just to break the record, but to obliterate it, build on it, set the bar high. It’s a golden opportunity that Merritt and his staff look forward to with a high level of enthusiasm.

Goal 2: Davidson kicked off last season coming off two consecutive winning campaigns. The Wildcats expected to make it three in a row. Not getting the job done left coaches and players frustrated and unfulfilled and eager to make amends. Injuries to key players contributed to the lack of wins, but this program plays the cards dealt and doesn’t deal in excuses or what-ifs.

Goal 3: This is Merritt’s fifth season as Davidson’s head coach. He believes he has the program on a solid foundation, and now he wants his team to challenge for league championships. It’s certainly not an easy assignment, but he thinks it can be done. It’s close to reality, he believes. For sure, Davidson football doesn’t appear to be far away from attaining some lofty goals, but the proof comes on the field, not on a written page that previews the season. The Wildcats understand.

Before we look ahead to 2009, let’s look back for just a moment. Davidson was as close as paint to a wall to a winning season. It was the only Pioneer League team to defeat conference champion Jacksonville. Its last three losses were by a cumulative 12 points. Agonizing losses, all of them. Had it not been for two or three misplayed snaps here or there, the season could have produced at least two more wins.

“We had more than our fair share of chances,” Merritt said.

Key injuries forced the defense to play seven freshmen in crucial situations. Instead of learning and making their mistakes in practice, circumstances put them in situations where those mistakes of inexperience came in games. Fate dealt those cards, and while it caused growing pains last year, those seven forced into early duty should be valuable contributors this season.

Davidson lost two defenders last season – one in the preseason and another in the first game – that it couldn’t afford to be without. Free safety Matt Guerrieri, who was counted on to direct the defense the way a New York traffic cop moves cars from lane to lane, went down in the first game with a season-ending knee injury. And outside linebacker Kwame Som-Pimpong, who was the team’s director of creating havoc for opposing offenses, didn’t play a snap because of an injury to his Achilles tendon.

Meanwhile, Davidson’s offense moved the ball spectacularly at times but shot itself in the foot too often with 19 pass interceptions. “We all take responsibility for those interceptions,” Merritt is quick to point out. “It wasn’t just on the quarterback.”

The quarterback was veteran Ryan Alexander, a record-setter who despite the interceptions, had a sizzling passing efficiency rating of 123. Unfortunately, the 19 interceptions killed drives, often put the defense in tough spots and frustrated an offense that otherwise averaged a very respectable 350 yards a game.

But that’s college football. Every team has a story, plays here or there that were costly. The line between winning and losing in this sport is often as thin as a razor’s edge. Instead of whining about it, making excuses, or pointing fingers, Merritt, his coaches and players went back to work in the offseason. The players dedicated themselves to conditioning and getting faster and stronger. The coaches hit the recruiting trail and brought back 36 freshmen that are among the 100 players who reported to summer camp. That was up from 83 players that reported in the preseason last year and a stunning increase over the 69 that greeted Merritt’s first Davidson team.

“We had an excellent spring practice,” Merritt said, “We had the numbers to get some valuable work done, and we took 121 snaps in our spring scrimmage. I was very encouraged about the work we got in and the attitude that we displayed.”

So that’s where we are as the Wildcats embark on a new season. The table is set. It will be a different Davidson team, completely so. Two quarterbacks will compete for the starting job, neither of whom has thrown a pass in a college game. The defense has a stout front seven and some good talent in the secondary, but secondary players are mostly inexperienced. They will learn quickly how it feels to be on an island against some explosive offenses.

The 10-game schedule features eight games against Pioneer League opponents and out-of-conference games against powerful Elon, one of the strongest teams in the mighty Southern Conference, and ancient rival Lenoir-Rhyne.

The Wildcats have five games at home, five on the road. Fall is in the air; enthusiasm in the village is high. The Red and Black is ready. Let’s examine where this season might take them. And let’s begin with...

Senior Mark Iafrafe

The offense

Are there serious question marks? You bet. But there is also plenty of good news, exciting possibilities as offensive coordinator Ryan Heasley begins his second season directing Davidson's offense after coming here from coaching at Washington University in St. Louis.

Heasley knows his players and what makes them tick as well as the Davidson culture. Meanwhile, his players know him, too, as well as what to expect.

"Our players and I know each other well now, and we've cultivated trust in each other," Heasley says. "The positive attitude of our players has been awesome."

Experience is invaluable, for coaches and players. The potential of Davidson's offensive line brings a smile to Heasley's face.

"We're looking at six or seven guys with the ability to start," Heasley said, "and they are good football players, all of them. We're figuring out how they will all fit in, what their best positions are. Most of them can play multiple positions, which gives us more flexibility."

The chief loss from last year's line was Will Nolte, a giant of a left tackle with many skills. Jason Perillo (6-4, 290, Sr.) played right tackle last season and has been moved to the all-important left tackle. He'll line up next to left guard Joe Tabler (6-3, 325, Sr.) while Shane Purvis (6-1, 290, Sr.) will be the center. That's a lot of size and strength on the left side of the line, which should help improve Davidson's running game and make the offense more multiple.

Mark Iafrate (6-1, 280, Sr.), an All-PFL Honorable Mention selection in 2008, will be the right guard. He is talented and experienced. The right tackle heading into summer camp is Marshall Ellis (6-3, 280, Jr.). Also very much in the picture at various line positions is Zenus Wilson (6-3, 295, Jr.), who had a great spring and has exceptional talent, strength and toughness. He will play a lot of snaps.

"We are happy to have quality of depth which will lead to competitive battles for playing time," Heasley said. "We also think we have some excellent freshman prospects."

"With this experienced offensive line, we expect to be able to run the ball more effectively and take pressure off our quarterbacks," says head coach Merritt. "We have to be able to run the ball to be as good as we want to be."

Tight ends and fullbacks in the Davidson scheme are expected to block efficiently and catch the ball in passing situations. Those positions require dedication and tough athletes who work mostly in the shadows, far away from the glory of newspaper headlines and television highlight shows.

"They are very important to us," Heasley said. "With our philosophy of changing personnel groupings and moving our offensive guys around, our tight end and fullback have to be our smartest guys on the field."

Davidson could look a long time and not find a better fullback candidate than Kirk Benedict (6-0, 235, Sr.), who played the last game of the season last year with a separated shoulder and never mentioned it to a soul until after the game was over. He is a throwback: tough, thick, a good blocker, catches the ball out of the backfield and then looks for a defender to punish. He's in the ROTC program and spent the summer training with the Army. "He loves football," Heasley says.

The tight end position is expected to be filled by either Preston Eldridge (6-1, 220, Sr.) or Aaron Curley (6-3, 230, Sr.), who was moved from the defensive line.

Davidson likes what it has at wide receiver. "It's the deepest receiving corps that we've had in a while," Merritt said.

The two atop the depth chart in summer camp are Andrew Aldrich (5-11, 190, Sr.) and Mark Hanabury (5-11, 180, Jr.). "They have good hands," Heasley said, "they're tough, run good routes and are deceptively fast. They can make plays down the field." Aldrich had 52 catches last season and Hanabury 35.

Jonathan Adams (6-0, 180, So.) is a speed guy who can stretch the field. Josh Yost (6-2, 210, So.) was slowed in the spring by a hip injury but has the ability to become an excellent possession receiver. Ben Sarver (6-0, 175, Jr.) backs up Aldrich and is a solid, consistent player. There are some excellent wide receiver prospects in the freshman class that will also get a chance to show their skills.

Davidson appears to have good reasons to be excited about its chances of running the ball effectively. The offensive line is big, strong and experienced. The fullback has an attacking mentality that runners love to have in front of them. The tight ends are good blockers. And the tailbacks are talented.

Heasley doesn't even attempt to temper his enthusiasm when talking about his tailbacks. "They are really good football players," he said. "They have a chance to be special."

They are Kenny Mantuo (5-10, 185, Jr.) and Justin Williams (5-9, 180, Jr.). They complement each other like peanut butter and jelly. Mantuo is a tough, zone type runner with good balance who runs hard while having good field vision. Once a defense finds a rhythm in defending Mantuo, Williams could change the entire pace of play. He is quick and fast, has the give and take to make defenders miss, and has big-play potential. Each catches the ball well.

"Justin is our Reggie Bush, a very versatile player. We have to find ways to get him the ball," Merritt said. "We plan to have situations where both of our tailbacks are on the field at the same time."

Playing behind the graduated Chad Barnes last season, Mantuo rushed 99 times for 418 yards and Williams 52 times for 291 yards.

"We have to get them more touches this season," Heasley says of his tailback tandem. "We're going to hand it to them and throw it to them."

Here's where it gets interesting, real interesting. The quarterbacks that will be handing off and throwing have never thrown a pass in a college game. Not a single pass. Last year's quarterback, Ryan Alexander, graduated. He owns the Davidson record book when it comes to passes completed, passing yardage, passing touchdowns.

Davidson's offense was somewhat predictable last season in that defenses knew with Alexander at quarterback the Wildcats were going to try to make crucial plays through the air. It was their strength. The running game was secondary and defenses treated it as such.

The quarterbacks this year are as different as they could possibly be. Like hands on the clock at 6 o'clock, they go their separate ways. Michael Blanchard (6-2, 220, Jr.) is strong, combative, hard to bring down and one of the most competitive players on the Davidson roster.

"Michael has Tim Tebow-like qualities to his game," said Merritt, referring to Florida's Heisman Trophy winner.

Matt Heavner (6-3, 190, So.) on the other hand, is a more traditional quarterback. Strong arm, runs well, should be a good passer with a good feel for the game.

Merritt makes no bones about it in discussing his offense. "Quarterback is the key," he surmises. "I think we have some pretty good ones. Blanchard is an excellent all-around athlete while Heavner throws the ball well. Matt Mann and Tyler Hammet are in the mix. Somebody is going to emerge."

The two young men do have one thing in common: scant experience in college football. They've taken very few snaps in college competition.

Heasley still likes them and appreciates the way they competed and approached their assignments in the spring practices. "They both had great springs and showed excellent knowledge of the game," Heasley said. "Both are good leaders who bring different skills to the table."

Heasley said the two quarterbacks went into summer camp pretty equal. "For our offense to excel, we need to play both of them," he said.

Heasley hopes that the combination of a two-headed monster at quarterback and different personnel groupings will produce a lot of sleepless nights for opposing defensive coordinators.

Because of its personnel, Davidson was pretty one dimensional on offense last season. For instance, when Alexander lined up in the shotgun it was fairly evident that the Wildcats were going to throw the ball. "We should be able to run the ball in any situation this year," Heasley said. "We should be more multiple, which would take pressure off our passing game."

Davidson did a lot of things well on offense last year. Make no mistake about that. Now the goal is to clean up the mistakes and become more consistent.

Heasley has his list of offensive goals for each game: He calls one of them the "Cat 60," which means producing 60 good offensive plays a game. Number two, he wants Davidson to be plus two in the turnover category at game's end. The 19 interceptions were a killer last year, but on the plus side, the Davidson running backs fumbled only once all season. Heasley's final talking point is that he wants his team to come away with points once it reaches what he calls the "green zone." Most coaches refer to the area inside the opponent's 20 yard line as the "red zone," but red means stop and Heasley wants his offense playing downhill from whistle to whistle. Green means go. That's Heasley's goal for the offense.

The defense

It is not betraying trade secrets to say that Davidson's defense will move around, line up in all kind of different looks and bring pressure from all over the field out of its 3-4 alignment. It's what defensive coordinator Meade Clendaniel and associate head coach Brett Hayford believe in.

As noted, Davidson's defense was put in a bind early on last season due to injuries to defensive leaders Kwame Som-Pimpong and Matt Guerrieri. Seven freshmen played. Had to. When the roll was called at some positions, freshmen were the only ones available for duty. There was a lot of on-the-field learning, which is never what a defensive coordinator wants. Clendaniel and Hayford prefer to correct freshman mistakes on the practice field and then turn the Saturday afternoon chores over to defenders who have been in the fray.

If they can avoid injuries to key players, they believe this year's defense has a realistic chance to be good. Clendaniel has been on the Davidson football staff for 10 seasons and Hayford for 17, so they've seen enough to know when to be excited and when to be cautious. They're feeling pretty optimistic. But they're keeping their fingers crossed, because you never know what's around the corner in this game.

Clendaniel and Hayford study tapes together, scheme game plans together and view this year's defense through the same lens. Hayford coaches the defensive line and Clendaniel the secondary. How do they see it?

The defensive front three: The expected starters at defensive tackle are Daniel Hauffe (6-3, 240, Sr.) and Alex Griswold (6-2, 235, Sr.). The nose guard is Ellis Martin (6-1, 255, So.), who is the strongest player on the team. Those three guys should occupy the full attention of any offensive line and free up some linebackers and secondary defenders to come open on blitzes.

There's experienced depth up there, too, according to Hayford. Aaron Saltzman (6-3, 240, Sr.) backs up Hauffe and is an excellent player in his own right. So is Morgan Popham (6-2, 235, So.) who plays behind Griswold. Brandon Wright (5-11, 250, Sr.) will push Martin for playing time at nose guard.

"Hauffe, Griswold and Saltzman have played a lot of snaps and they're athletic, quick kids who can run and are physical," Hayford said. "Popham is a sophomore who is going to be a good player. Wright is coming off a knee injury and could push for a starting role. Martin is our strongest player, a real workhorse in the weight room."

Davidson must have good depth up front because Hayford likes to play six or seven down linemen during a game. He wants fresh athletes in the game to battle the huge offensive linemen.

Clendaniel knows that for Davidson to be effective on defense, the Wildcats must be able to offer a lot of different looks that make it hard for the offense to know where the pressure is coming from. And Clendaniel is going to bring pressure.

The linebackers: Behind the horses on the defensive line are four linebackers who are good, solid football players. Every football team needs a defensive player who will stir things up, who plays fast and maybe even a tad recklessly. Inside linebacker Tyler Lemons (5-10, 210, Sr.), who was a second-team All-PFL selection last season, is that guy for Davidson. He had a team-leading 91 tackles last season. "He is an excellent athlete who took on a leadership role in the spring," Clendaniel said. "Though he may not be one of the biggest linebackers in the conference, he plays fast and brings a lot of enthusiasm with him to the field. He will hit you."

The other starting inside linebacker is Daniel Astrop (6-1, 210, Jr.). He played inside linebacker as a freshman before being moved to the outside last year because of the injury to Som-Pimpong. He played in 10 games, starting six, and was in on 39 tackles. Clendaniel says Astrop seems more at home on the inside. He and free safety Guerrieri make sure the defense is lined up properly. They're both excellent leaders. Astrop studies the game like few players. He takes notes when he's talking to Clendaniel just as he does in classrooms across campus. He is a student of the game plus a whole lot more. He watches film in Clendaniel's office and becomes so engrossed in what he sees that the coach sometimes has to run him out.

The starting backers on the outside are Patrick Hunt (6-1, 205, So.) and Will Pickens (6-0, 225, Sr.). "Hunt started six games as a freshman last season and is a good football player who is only going to get better in time," Clendaniel said. "This is the second year starting for Pickens, who is a strong, physical player." Pickens was involved in 31 tackles last year and Hunt in 20.

Brandon Yeargan (6-1, 225, Jr.) "had a great sophomore season," according to Clendaniel and will see considerable playing time at outside linebacker.

"I think we have the potential to be as good as we've been since I've been here with our down linemen and linebackers," Clendaniel said.

Said head coach Merritt: "I think our veteran defensive line has the ability to be among the best in the Pioneer League. Our philosophy is to put speed on the field before size, and our linebackers can run."

Which brings us to ...

The secondary: If you want the short version, here it is: Good talent, excellent potential, very little game experience. Faster and more athletic than last season. Still, the place that inexperience scares a defensive coordinator to death is the secondary. No one in the secondary has played more than two games as a starter at their current position.

The starting cornerbacks are expected to be Brandon Sykes (6-1, 195, Jr.) and Harvey Kee (5-8, 185, Jr.). "Sykes has started but has played more strong safety than cornerback," Clendaniel said. "Kee has never started a game for us." Adding depth on the corners will be Rodney Lasher (6-1, 205, Jr.) and Clem Butler (5-10, 185, So.).

The free safety is Guerrieri (5-11, 195, Jr.). He comes back from the knee injury that made him miss just about the entire season a year ago. He's anxious to get back on the field, and he's a leader, a cerebral player who knows how to make plays. Behind him at free safety is Peter Kidwell (6-0, 205, So.). "Kidwell is a good football player who we need to get on the field in different situations," Clendaniel said.

The strong safety is John Behm (6-1, 205, So.), one of the seven freshmen to play on the defense last year. He played in all 11 games, was in on 28 tackles, broke up four passes and recovered a fumble. "He came here as a wide receiver," Clendaniel said. "We moved him to the secondary last year, and he played a lot in nickel situations. He's a very good athlete."

Backing up Behm is Malcolm Moses-Hampton (5-10, 190, So.). Clendaniel says he's similar to Behm and might well be the fifth defensive back in nickel situations this season. Also in the mix is Logan Cannon (5-10, 190, Jr.), who played in 10 games in 2008.

"In addition to quarterback, a key for us this season will be our secondary," Merritt said. "We have talent back there, but they haven't seen many reps. As a whole, they have the potential to be really good."

The key losses from the defense of 2008 were inside linebacker Peter Bakke, who was in on 88 tackles, and nose guard Will Funderburg who often had two offensive linemen assigned to him. The defense last year gave up 342 yards a game. It had 10 interceptions and recovered 13 fumbles. Clendaniel and Hayford are looking for more.

Especially more consistency.

"If we can stay healthy, I believe our front seven are good enough to give our secondary a chance to be successful," Clendaniel said. "Each man in our starting front seven has started at least six college games."

Everything else being equal, Clendaniel comes down hard on the side of experienced players. The fact that Davidson has 19 seniors on this year's team gives him some comfort. Playing seven freshmen, as he was forced to do last season, is an anomaly for him. If his secondary grows up in a hurry, the Wildcats could be formidable defensively.

Special teams

One would be hard pressed to find a football coach who puts more emphasis on special teams play than Merritt, who heads up coaching the special units. He believes in using his special teams to put pressure on opponents and wants them to spend time having to prepare for Davidson's special teams.

Merritt's philosophy on special teams is, "Offense sells tickets, defense wins games and special teams win championships." Each year, he looks to establish a group of players, which he calls "The Unit," who play on all the special teams. They are a group of go-getters, who love being out there, take pride in it, and are expected to be the nucleus of the special teams. Returning members of the "The Unit" are Yeargan, Seyi Ayorinde (6-1, 215, Sr.), Moses-Hampton, Kidwell, Lasher, Butler and Elliott Campbell (5-11, 205, Jr.).

"We want our special teams to win some games for us," Merritt said. "We expect it. Last season was up and down for us. We'd do something great and turn around and do something poorly. For instance, we returned the opening kickoff against San Diego for a touchdown but later had a punt blocked. We shanked some punts, had some kickoffs go out of bounds and dropped some balls. We did some nice things but we need to be much more consistent this season."

Two players top the depth chart at punter. They are Brenton Goodman (5-11, 185, So.) and Andrew Wohler (6-3, 200, Jr.). Wohler punted 11 times last season and averaged 40.2 yards a kick, so his potential is outstanding. He had four kicks inside the 20 and had one punt blocked. Wohler was a linebacker, a very good one, in fact, until a shoulder injury forced him to give it up. He took on the punting job to stay with the football team.

Coach Merritt says Goodman has excellent potential as a punter but needs more consistency.

The place-kickers are Ben Behrendt (5-9, 175, Jr.) and Bo Swanson (6-3, 195, So.).

"Behrendt is accurate on short and medium range kicks," Merritt said. "We need to see him improve from long range. His leg strength needs to improve so he can hit the field goal from 40 yards and a little longer."

Behrendt made five of nine field goal attempts last season with his longest being from 47 yards. Swanson handled most of the kickoff duties last season. Lasher also demonstrated a strong leg in kicking off five times last season.

Freshmen punters and place-kickers always get a look, which will be the case this year.

Wide receiver Andrew Aldrich will be the holder on field goals and extra points and defensive back John Behm will be the long snapper.

The main return man on punts and kickoffs will be Williams. "Justin needs to improve on catching the ball in certain situations," Merritt said. "If he gets that corrected, he could be the best returner in the league. He can be scary."

Dave Fagg (right) led the Wildcats in two decades, the beginning of the 1970s and the 1990s. He is the associate director of the Davidson Athletic Foundation.

Tim Landis, who was 35-36-1 from 1993-99, is in his sixth season as the head coach at Bucknell.

Joe Susan led Davidson to its only undefeated record in school history. He is in his eighth season as an assistant coach at Rutgers, where he helped the Scarlet Knights to an 11-2 record in 2006.

COACHING STAFF

BRETT HAYFORD

Associate Head Coach
Defensive Line
17th Year
Davidson '93

Brett Hayford returns for his 17th season as a Wildcat coach and 20th on the Davidson campus. This is also his fifth campaign as the associate head coach, a title he earned when colleague Tripp Merritt was hired as the head coach in 2005. Along with the associate head coaching duties, he is responsible for the defensive line.

Hayford coached the Wildcats to the PFL lead in sacks in 2005 with 24, and the 2006 squad tied for second with 22. He coached the conference's individual sack leader in 2002 and 2003 in Ryan Tennis '03 and Darryl Childers '04, respectively. Davidson led the league in sacks as a team in 2002 as well, averaging 3.3 per game, while no other squad had more than 2.5 an outing.

Hayford was instrumental in the emergence of All-PFL South performers Kyle Kinsell and Will Funderburg in 2005. Kinsell, a two-time Academic All-American, had all of 12 tackles in his first two seasons, while Funderburg was just a rookie. An honorable mention All-PFL selection in 2007, Funderburg was named second-team all-conference in 2008.

"Brett knows how to get the most out of the defensive line," said head coach Tripp Merritt.

"He has an excellent understanding of blocking schemes and how to attack them. Having spent his playing days on the defensive side of the ball, he is well suited to work with the linemen."

Hayford graduated in 1993 from Davidson, where he played two seasons as a defensive lineman and as an outfielder for the baseball team. At Shorecrest Prep in St. Petersburg, Fla., his father, Phil, coached his high school football team.

He is married to the former Beth Snowden, who is the head athletic trainer at Davidson. They live in Huntersville with their 10-year-old son Thad.

MEADE CLENDANIEL

Defensive Coordinator
Defensive Backs
10th Year
West Chester '97

As the Wildcats' defensive coordinator for the past nine seasons, Meade Clendaniel has led Davidson to numerous top national statistical rankings. Three times in Davidson's eight years as a member of the Pioneer Football League, the Wildcats have ranked among the top three in the league in total defense.

In 2000, his first season, Clendaniel oversaw a defense that ranked third in FCS in scoring defense, fifth in pass efficiency defense and eighth in rush defense. The Wildcats finished the 2005 season with the fifth-most interceptions in FCS and was ranked in the top-15 nationally in turnovers gained and turnover margin that season. The 2006 Wildcat defense ranked fourth in the PFL in total defense and tied for second with 22 sacks.

"Meade really knows his stuff when it comes to a defensive game plan," said head coach Tripp Merritt. "He preaches an opportunistic approach and does a tremendous job of putting the players in position to succeed."

Clendaniel graduated from West Chester University in 1997 with a degree in biology and spent his senior year as a student assistant coach for the football squad. He also was a fullback for West Chester for three seasons.

In August of 1998, he joined the staff at Princeton, working with former head coach Joe Susan and former assistant coach Mike Clark. Among his duties as an assistant at both schools were recruiting, developing the defensive game plan, scouting reports and all phases of special teams. He joined the Davidson staff in 2000.

Clendaniel is married to the former Meredith Tarpley, and the couple lives in Cornelius with their daughter, Marin, who will celebrate her second birthday Oct. 17.

RYAN HEASLEY

Offensive Coordinator
Offensive Line
2nd Year
Bethany College '99

Ryan Heasley begins his second season on the Davidson coaching staff. He serves as the Wildcats' offensive coordinator and offensive line coach.

The Wildcats ranked second in the Pioneer Football League in passing offense and fourth in the league in total offense under Heasley last season.

The 34-year-old came to Davidson from Washington University in St. Louis, where he spent the last five seasons. He started there as the offensive line coach in 2003 and earned the offensive coordinator title in 2005.

The Bears won the University Athletic Association championship in 2003 and 2004, and the Washington coaching staff was named the league's Staff of the Year both seasons.

The Bears posted a 31-19 during Heasley's tenure, including a 7-3 mark in 2007, and 12 offensive linemen were named all-conference during that time frame. At the time, Washington was one of 15 schools at any NCAA level to post 15 consecutive winning seasons.

"Ryan is a young, enthusiastic coach with a wealth of knowledge and experience," said head coach Tripp Merritt. "He is a great fit for Davidson College and our football program."

Prior to joining the staff at Washington, Heasley was the offensive line coach at Marietta College in Ohio from 2001-03. After graduating from Bethany College with a degree in physical education in 1999, he taught at Penn Hills High School in Pittsburgh from 1999-2001. He served as a graduate assistant football coach at his alma mater from 1999-2000 and was an assistant coach at Penn Hill from 2000-01.

Heasley starred on the offensive line for Bethany from 1995-97, earning all-conference honors as a junior and senior.

A co-captain, he won the Bison Award, given by the coaches to the senior who displays the most enthusiasm, loyalty and effort to the program.

Heasley is currently working towards a master's degree in education. He and his wife, Nicole, reside in Davidson with their 3-year-old daughter, Emma.

AMISH PATEL

Assistant Coach
Running Backs
4th Year
Michigan State '03

Amish Patel is in his fourth campaign on the Davidson coaching staff and his first as the running backs coach.

He brings extensive first-hand experience from his playing days at Ranger Community College and Michigan State University.

As a quarterback at Michigan State, Patel played with All-Big Ten performers Jeff Smoker and Drew Stanton, who both rank in the school's top 10 in career passing. Prior to joining the Spartans, Patel received All-American honors from PrepStar magazine at Ranger in 2000.

His expertise paid huge dividends for the Davidson signal callers in 2006 as the Wildcats ranked seventh in the NCAA FCS in passing offense, 13th in total offense and 15th in scoring offense. In addition, starting quarterback Ryan Alexander ranked fifth in the nation in passing, sixth in total offense and 35th in pass efficiency en route to earning second-team All-PFL honors. He set school records for single-season passing (2,581) and total yards (2,766).

The 'Cats continued that success in 2007, ranking 10th in FCS in passing offense (279.75 ypg), eighth in completions per game (21.88) and 25th in both total offense (290.3 ypg) and scoring offense (31.2 ppg). Alexander became Davidson's career leader in passing yards, total yards and touchdown passes and set single-game records for completion percentage and touchdown passes.

In 2008, Davidson ranked fourth in the Pioneer Football League in passing and passing efficiency.

Patel began his coaching career as an intern at the Philadelphia Eagles' training camp in 2005 before joining the Davidson staff in 2006.

"Amish has great experience with a terrific football program at Michigan State, which gives him instant credibility with our players," said head coach Tripp Merritt. "He has been instrumental in the development of our quarterbacks, and I'm sure that will transfer to the development of our running backs."

Patel earned an associate degree from Ranger before graduating from Michigan State in 2003 with a degree in psychology. The native of Austin, Texas, is single and lives in Davidson.

JOSH LUSTIG

Assistant Coach
Wide Receivers
1st Year
William & Mary '05

Josh Lustig is in his first season on the Davidson staff and will coach the wide receivers.

"Josh has both a playing and coaching background that will make him a great fit for the Davidson environment," said Merritt. "He is a hard-working, enthusiastic, innovative young coach, and we are looking forward to bringing him into our program."

Lustig comes to Davidson from Georgetown University, where he served as the slot receivers coach last season. In 2007, he was the tight ends coach at the University of Richmond. The Spiders won the Colonial Athletic Association, advanced to the NCAA FCS national semifinals and finished No. 4 in the country in the final poll. Richmond set team records in total points, scoring average, touchdowns, total offense and passes completed.

Lustig was a four-year letterman and two-year starter at William and Mary, where he served as the team captain in 2005. In 2004, the Tribe won the Atlantic 10, finished third in the country in the final poll and recorded the most wins in school history. He won the President's Award, given to the student-athlete who exemplifies leadership on and off the field.

He began his coaching career as the wide receivers coach at Christopher Newport University, where he also served as the offensive coordinator for the junior varsity team. The Captains' varsity team won the USA South Conference championship and an automatic bid to the national playoffs in 2006.

Lustig played high school football at Cathedral Prep in Erie, Pa., where he led his 2000 team to the Pennsylvania AAAA state championship, a No. 2 ranking in the ESPN National Poll and a No. 4 ranking in the USA Today national poll.

Lustig earned his bachelor's degree in kinesiology from William and Mary in 2005 and his master's degree in sports industry management from Georgetown in 2009.

COACHING/SUPPORT STAFF

JIMMY MEANS

Assistant Coach
Outside Linebackers
4th Year
Union College '91

Jimmy Means returns to the Davidson coaching staff for his fourth season and will coach the outside linebackers.

His expertise helped Niel Andrews and Bud Crawford emerge as defensive forces in the Pioneer Football League in 2006 and 2007. Andrews was named first-team All-PFL in 2006, while Crawford earned second-team all-conference accolades in 2007.

The Wildcats ranked fourth in the Pioneer Football League in tackles for loss in 2008.

Means has a wealth of experience coaching at the high school level. He has served as an assistant coach at North Mecklenburg since 2000, most recently as the defensive coordinator.

"Jimmy is a good defensive mind and a very hard worker with a lot of enthusiasm," said head coach Tripp Merritt.

The 1991 graduate of Union College also spent two years as an assistant at Mooresville High School (1999-2000). From 1996-98, Means was the head coach at Trimble County High School in Bedford, Ky.

Means lives in Charlotte with his wife Diane, daughter, Makayla (10), and son Holden (2).

JAY POAG

Assistant Coach
Quarterbacks
6th Year
Davidson '87

Jay Poag rejoins the Davidson coaching staff and will work with the quarterbacks in 2009.

From 2002-03, Poag coached the running backs and wide receivers, tutoring Mid-Major All-American Barrett Johnson who amassed 980 yards receiving as a senior. He also mentored Brett Dioguardi, who led the PFL in receptions in 2006 and ranked second in receiving yards per game on his way to earning first-team All-PFL accolades.

A 1987 graduate of the college, Poag served as a student assistant coach for the 1986 season after completing his football eligibility the previous fall. He played quarterback, running back and wide receiver at Davidson and as a senior, led Davidson with 37 receptions for 406 yards.

Poag has more than 12 years of coaching experience, including six years as the offensive coordinator for Presbyterian. He also spent two years at Lenoir-Rhyne and another two at NC State while earning his master's degree in sports administration.

"Having Jay back on the staff is a boost to the program," said Merritt. "He knows the offense well and has a great rapport with the players."

Poag lives in Huntersville with his wife, Amy, and they have three children, a daughter Jamie (20), and two sons, Brandon (11) and Jacob (3).

KRISTEN FOSS

Staff Assistant
2nd Year

Kristen Foss joined the staff as an assistant in the spring of 2008 and is in her second full season as a member of the Wildcat football program.

In her role as staff assistant, Foss handles a variety of logistics behind the scenes and is invaluable to the coaching staff, allowing them to focus more on evaluating opponents and recruits rather than administrative details.

"Kristen's daily presence helps keep things running smoothly," said head coach Tripp Merritt. "She's very motivated to make us the best we can be."

Foss lives in Mooresville with her sons, Stephen (14) and Michael (11).

ROBERT WILK

Student Assistant
1st Year

Robert Wilk joins the coaching staff as a student assistant following two years on the Wildcats' roster.

Wilk lettered in football for coach Tony Korcich at St. Joseph Regional, where his team won the state New Jersey state championship in 2005.

He was named second-team all-league and also lettered in baseball and lacrosse.

The son of Robert and Mary Beth, Wilk has two siblings, Sean and Tara.

SPORTS MEDICINE

Beth Hayford
Head Athletic Trainer

Head athletic trainer Beth Hayford, a 1993 graduate of Wingate, oversees Davidson's five other full-time, fully-certified licensed athletic trainers as well student athletic trainers from UNC Charlotte, who cover the school's 21 intercollegiate sports.

Hayford came to Davidson as an intern in August of 1994 and was promoted to assistant athletic trainer in 1996, working with the football, lacrosse, soccer and volleyball teams.

In 2002, Hayford was named the head athletic trainer.

In addition to her responsibilities overseeing all medical aspects of the athletic program, she supervises the strength and conditioning department and the equipment room.

Beth and her husband, Brett, who is the assistant head coach of the Davidson football team, live in Huntersville with their 10-year-old son, Thad.

Gerry Waddle
Assistant Athletic Trainer

Assisting Hayford on the football field is assistant athletic trainer Gerry Waddle, who is in his second season working with the Davidson football team.

The Davidson College Sports Medicine facilities are among the best in the region. In the training room, there are many of the modern, technological machines that aid in the recovery from injuries, including ultrasound and electric stimulation.

There are also three whirlpool tubs, a hydroculator and a paraffin bath.

OrthoCarolina in Charlotte serves as Davidson's primary orthopedic consultant, and Dr. Don D'Alessandro is the Wildcats' team physician. Dr. Skip Barkley, a general practitioner at University Family Physicians, also acts as one of the department's primary physicians.

EQUIPMENT

Brian Barmes
Equipment Manager

When it comes right down to it, the equipment room keeps all the athletic teams prepared to play.

Brian Barmes begins his fourth year as the head equipment manager. Prior to coming to Davidson, Barmes was a sales representative for Riddell as well as served a pair of one-year stints with the Florida Bobcats and Georgia Force of the AFL, respectively.

Joining Barmes in the equipment room is faithful assistant Will DuBose, who attended Fayetteville Tech for two years prior to joining the Davidson staff in the fall of 1983. Now in his 27th year, only one coach has been with the department longer.

Also back helping out on the football sidelines is Shaw Smith, an art history professor at Davidson with an affinity for Wildcat football.

Barnes and Smith work every practice and home game and travel with the team on the road.

Shaw Smith
Assistant Equipment Manager

RADIO NETWORK

Mark Plemmons
Play-By-Play Voice

For a fourth straight season, Mark Plemmons is the voice of Davidson Wildcats football on the radio.

"I hope folks enjoy listening to the games as much as I enjoy calling them," Plemmons said.

"Since I was four or five years old, I've wanted to call college football on the radio so I'm living the dream."

The 1981 graduate of the University of North Carolina holds a bachelor's degree in radio, television and motion pictures. He brings many years experience as a newspaper reporter and editor and won several state press awards for both news and sports stories.

Since 2001, he has been the news and sports director for WEGO-AM 1410 in Concord, co-hosting the Bob and Mark Morning Show and calling hundreds of high school football and basketball games, including four state championship contests, and American Legion baseball.

A native of Asheville, N.C., Plemmons is married to Kimberly Banks Plemmons, who is a registered nurse and an assistant professor of nursing at the Cabarrus College of Health Sciences in Concord. They have two children, Jordan, a recent graduate of UNC-Wilmington, and Dayne, a sophomore at NC State University.

SPORTS INFORMATION

Marc Gignac
Sports Information Director

Marc Gignac begins his third season as the Davidson sports information director and oversees the day-to-day operation of the sports information office, including all publications and the Web site, Davidson Wildcats.com.

He serves as the primary sports information contact for football and men's basketball.

Gignac came to Davidson from Canisius College in Buffalo, N.Y., where he spent six years as the director of athletic communications. While at Canisius, he served as the assistant media director for the 2004 and 2007 NCAA Men's Basketball Tournaments and the 2003 Frozen Four at HSBC Arena in Buffalo, N.Y.

Gignac began his career as a graduate assistant at Canisius in 1997 before becoming the assistant sports information director at Fairfield University in 1998. He served as an assistant sports information director at George Mason University in 2000 before moving back to Canisius in 2001.

The Charlotte, N.C., native earned in his bachelor's degree in journalism and mass communication from the University of North Carolina in 1997 and his master's degree in sport administration from Canisius in 1999.

THE HISTORY OF THE WILDCAT

On November 10, 1917, a small cohort of 22 football players traveled to Atlanta to represent Davidson College against Auburn, one of the most formidable teams in the South. The Plainsmen had massacred their first four opponents, outscoring teams, 141-6.

According to one account, they were "big, quick, and undefeated" and heavily favored in the day's matchup. Davidson was 2-4 and started a line averaging 20 pounds less.

Not surprisingly, Auburn dominated the game, outgaining the "Red and Black" 240 yards to Davidson's 91 yards. Astoundingly, Davidson pulled together an offensive attack through the efforts of running back A.R. "Buck" Flowers and quarterback Henry Spann, delivering a "bewildering array of forward passes."

Davidson defeated one of the most powerful teams in the South that day, 21-7, with scrappiness that captured the awe and respect of Atlanta sportswriters. They wrote of the "Wildcats" from Davidson College, whose small stature and ferocious style proved overwhelming. One account notes that Morgan Blake of the Atlanta Journal remarked of the Davidson team, "No other team ever put together in these United States of the same weight as Coach Fetzer's team could ever get the verdict over the flock of wild men from North Carolina."

The Davidsonian picked up on the nickname, and it has been used ever since, replacing former, milder references such as "Red and Black," "Presbyterians" and "Preachers."

COVERING THE 'CATS

Press Box

The Richardson Stadium press box is adequate for most legitimate requests. Space for the photo deck atop the left press box is limited.

Press/Photography Credentials

All requests for media credentials should be directed to the SID Office. Credentials should be picked up in person at the will-call table located at the main entrance to Richardson Stadium. A print credential will give the holder access to the press box and the designated media interview area after the game, but not the sidelines. Photography credentials will enable the holder access to the press box and the designated photo areas marked on the sidelines. Credentials are limited to daily newspapers, national magazines, student newspapers, wire services, television stations and team photographers.

Radio Broadcasts

Stations originating broadcasts of Davidson football games receive press box locations at Richardson Stadium. Permission to broadcast must be secured at least two weeks in advance from the SID Office. Stations wishing to order phone lines should contact the SID Office to make arrangements.

Player Interviews

Except for postgame, interviews with Davidson players must be arranged through the SID Office.

Postgame

After a 10-minute cooling off period, interviews will be conducted on the field. Statistics and play-by-play will be provided.

Video Streaming

All home football games will be video streamed through the Wildcats' Web site at www.DavidsonWildcats.com. Visit the All-Access page to sign up for this service.

Live Stats

Live stats will be available for all home games at www.DavidsonWildcats.com

RADIO NETWORK

In his fourth season providing play-by-play of the Wildcat football games is Mark Plemmons. Plemmons is a veteran of local high school football and lives in Concord, N.C.

All of the Davidson football games will be broadcast live on WHIP (1350 AM) out of Mooresville, N.C. For those outside the radio signal, the games are aired on TEAMLINE at 800-846-4700, ext. 1143. Wildcat fans also can hear the games via the internet. Just log on at www.DavidsonWildcats.com to find the link on the Davidson Web site. Every broadcast will begin one-half hour prior to kickoff.
