The Ivy League Women's Cross Country Record Book was last updated August 15, 2017. Please forward edits and/or additions to info@ivyleaguesports.com.

*Note that throughout the Ivy League record books there are references to Barnard College. Prior to 1983 and the establishment of the Columbia/Barnard Athletic Consortium Barnard students competed as the "Barnard Bears." From 1983 through the present, female teams are referred to as "Columbia Lions."

The first women's Heptagonal Cross Country Championship was held in 1977 with seven of the Ivy League institutions competing. Cornell joined the championship meet in 1978, and, in 1984, Army and Navy joined the fold. Army departed in 1993 to join the Patriot League. Navy followed suit in 2003, leaving the eight Ivy League institutions.

ALL-IVY NOTATIONS

Due to incomplete records, it is unclear what year the Ivy League began awarding second team All-Ivy honors. A second team is first notated in 1983, therefore, only a first team All-Ivy is listed from through 1982.

From 1983-1997, the first five finishers (1-5) were named first-team All-Ivy and the second five finishers (6-10) were named second-team All-Ivy.

Beginning in 1998, the top seven finishers (1-7) were named first-team All-Ivy and the second seven finishers (8-14) were named second-team All-Ivy.

^Each year the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) select Academic All-America® teams in the sports of football, men's and women's soccer, women's volleyball, men's and women's basketball, baseball, softball and men's and women's track/cross country. Also, men's and women's at-large teams – comprised of athletes from all sports not listed above – are chosen. To be eligible as an Academic All-American, an athlete must maintain a 3.30 grade point average and be a starter or key reserve on his or her team.
