LSC VOLLEYBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The teams are set for the annual Lone Star Conference Volleyball Championship Tournament, which begins Thursday in Canyon, Texas.

West Texas A&M earned the right to host the event with the program's 18th LSC Championship amid a perfect 16-0 record to mark the 15th time that the Lady Buffs have finished the conference season unbeaten since 1986. WT has won 22 straight including taking their last 23 league matches dating back to last season.

The eight-team, single-elimination tournament consists of four first-round matches on Thursday, followed by two semifinal games on Friday evening and the championship match on Saturday afternoon.

The top eight teams in the LSC will compete for the 2013 tournament championship. In addition to winning the title, the LSC tournament winner will receive the league's automatic berth into the NCAA Division II Volleyball Championship.

All the championship games will be aired live via internet video streaming at www.FoxSportsSouthwest.com. The webcasts are available free of charge. Each webcast includes both video and audio, with viewers needing only a computer with a high-speed DSL or cable modem connection to the internet. Veteran broadcaster Chris Needham has the call for all the games.

Action starts on Thursday at 12 p.m. with No. 3 Angelo State against No. 6 Midwestern State followed by No. 2 Texas Woman's versus No. 7 Texas A&M-Kingsville at 2:30 p.m., No. 4 Texas A&M-Commerce against No. 5 Tarleton State at 5 p.m. and No. 1 WT versus No. 8 Eastern New Mexico at 7:30 p.m.

WTAMU won the 2012 LSC volleyball tournament title with a 3-2 victory over ASU in San Angelo, Texas.

LSC VOLLEYBALL

LSC volleyball teams are 154-113 overall this season. The squads are currently 13-8 combined versus Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference teams, and 24-9 against the Heartland Conference, which are the other leagues in the NCAA South Central Region.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

OFFENSIVE

Marcela Alves, Texas Woman's University, SR, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Pinheiro Guimaraes

Alves helped the Pioneers to a second place finish in the Lone Star Conference Standings with 2-1 record last week. She posted 41 kills, .360 hitting percentage and 19 total blocks. Alves had nine kills and four blocks in a non-conference game against Southeastern Oklahoma State, 16 kills and seven blocks against West Texas A&M and 16 kills and eight blocks against Eastern New Mexico. She helped the Pioneers out block the nation's top team West Texas A&M 14.0-8.0. On the season Alves leads the team with 267 kills, .287 hitting percentage and 144 total blocks.

Jazmine Green, Tarleton State University, SR, Houston, Texas, Cypress Falls HS

In her final home game, Green's career-high 20 kills sparked a furious TexAnn comeback to give Tarleton its first win over No. 17 Angelo State since 2006. After falling behind 0-2 in the match, Green's offensive power answered the call to lead the TexAnns to a five-set thrilling victory on senior day in Wisdom Gym. For the week, Green had 27 kills with a team-high .328 hitting percentage and was second on the team with 27.5 points scored. She added four digs and an assisted block.

DEFENSIVE

Michaela Spicer, Texas A&M University - Commerce, JR, Katy, Texas, Katy HS

Spicer continued her good defensive play for the Lions last week, posting a 5.5 digs per set average. The average is two full digs over her season average. The 24 digs versus TSU was the second time in five matches that Spicer had recorded 20 digs in a match.

Kelsey Raglin, Tarleton State University, SO, San Antonio, Texas, Churchill HS

Raglin was a defensive force for the TexAnns, helping Tarleton to its first victory over Angelo State since 2006. Last week, the sophomore posted back-to-back 20-dig performances with 24 against Commerce and 21 Saturday against Angelo State. Raglin went the entire week with no service receiving errors in 49 opportunities. She recorded the second double-double of the season Tuesday against Angelo State with 11 kills and 24 digs.

FIRST SERVE

- Two LSC teams are ranked in AVCA poll (Nov. 18): No. 6 West Texas A&M and No. 20 Angelo State. Texas Woman's is receiving votes as well.

Rivero posted 25 assists and 11 digs against both West Texas A&M and Eastern New Mexico to record her 11th and 12th double-double of the season. She leads the Pioneers with 592 assists on the season and second in digs with 252.

Kameryn Hayes, West Texas A&M University, JR, Cypress, Texas, Cy-Fair

Hayes continued to guide the powerful WT offense this past week as the Cypress, Texas native dished out 98 assists to average 9.80 per set to go along with 13 kills on 44 attempts to hit .205 with 22 digs and 8 total blocks as the #6 Lady Buffs moved to 28-3 overall with a perfect 16-0 mark in the LSC to end the regular season. Hayes had a big match on Friday night as the junior dished out 47 assists while tallying three kills and nine digs in a four set win over Texas Woman's in a huge regional win to keep WT's win streak alive at 22 matches.

OTHER TOP PERFORMERS

Arielle Bond, Angelo State University, continued her strong play this season with 32 kills last week. The sophomore had 22 kills against Tarleton State in a five-set loss to end the regular season after supplying 10 kills against Incarnate Word in the regular-season finale. Bond finished the regular season with 307 kills.

Kelsey Washington, Texas A&M University - Kingsville, with 20 kills and 20 digs on Saturday at Cameron, posted her 17th double-double of the season. The 20 kills are a season high for the junior while 20 digs marked the fifth time this season she had 20-or-more. With 20 kills, the junior now has 1,001 kills in her career. She is the seventh Javelina all-time to reach 1,000 kills. Washington averaged 3.86 digs a set on the week and added four blocks in the contest with Cameron. She added two aces

Kayla Bond, Texas A&M University - Commerce, continues to raise her hitting percentage in the final weeks of the regular season. Bond is now hitting .320 on the season after her .373 clip last week. In the loss to West Texas Bond hit .409, which is the third time in three weeks she has hit over .400 in a match. The 2.90 kills per set is higher than her 2.76 season average heading into the postseason.

Lauren Frye, Eastern New Mexico University, averaged 2.82 kills/set, 31 total, with a team-best .190 attack percentage in three matches for Eastern New Mexico. She also added eight blocks, one being solo, as well. In the home finale versus New Mexico Highlands, Frye had 18 kills with a .286 attack percentage and three blocks in the four-set victory. At Texas A&M-Commerce, her .375 attack percentage and eight kills were the best on the team as she added three blocks. Frye finished the regular season with five kills, two blocks and an assist at Texas Woman's.

Lauren Bevan, West Texas A&M University, continued to lead the offensive charge for the #6 Lady Buffs this past week as they finished their regular season with wins against Lubbock Christian, Texas Woman's and Texas A&M-Commerce to move to 28-3 with a perfect 16-0 mark in the LSC. Bevan registered 28 kills on the week to hit .264 to go along with four digs and 6.0 total blocks in the three wins for the Lady Buffs. Bevan had a standout match against A&M-Commerce in the regular season finale as they tallied 13 kills on 25 swings to hit .520 in the sweep.

Morgan Wilson, Texas Woman's University, was the leader on defense and helped the Pioneers to a second place finish in the Lone Star Conference Standings with 2-1 record last week. She led the team with 59 digs including 5.36 digs per set. Wilson posted 17 or more digs in all three games and has team-best 519 digs (4.63 per set) on the season.

Kaelen Valdez, Angelo State University, recorded a 5.25 digs per set average in the final week of the regular season, including 28 in the final match which came in a five-set loss at Tarleton State. Valdez had 42 digs during the week and finished the regular season with 380 digs (3.73 per set).

Caitlin Wallace, Midwestern State University, play at the net spurred Midwestern State to a pair of regular season ending wins over Texas A&M-Kingsville and Southwestern Oklahoma State. The senior middle blocker averaged 1.10 blocks per set as the Mustangs limited the opposition to a .122 team attack percentage for the week. Wallace put down a match-high 13 kills to go along with four blocks in a loss Tuesday at Dallas Baptist before turning in a pair of sterling efforts over the weekend. The Amarillo High product had nine kills, three digs and a block in a sweep of Texas A&M-Kingsville Thursday then put down six kills without a miscue to go along with five blocks in another Mustangs' sweep Saturday at Southwestern Oklahoma. Wallace ranks third in MSU history with 298 total blocks.

Bree Anna Lucero, Eastern New Mexico University, had 15 blocks, a 1.36 b/s average, in three matches to lead Eastern New Mexico. She also totaled 17 kills, three digs and a service ace. Against New Mexico Highlands, Lucero had nine kills on a .286 attack percentage and six blocks. She had six more blocks at Texas A&M-Commerce along with two kills. Lucero ended the week with three blocks and six kills at Texas Woman's in the Zias' regular season finale.

Laura Iwuchukwu, West Texas A&M University, and the dominant WT defense gave the Lady Buffs their perfect 16-0 LSC record this past week with wins over Lubbock Christian, Texas Woman's and Texas A&M-Commerce to move to 28-3 overall on the season. Iwuchukwu tallied 30 kills on 64 attempts to hit an impressive .422 to go along with 11 total blocks (1 solo, 10 assisted) as the #6 Lady Buffs carry a 22 match win streak into the LSC Tournament this weekend in Canyon.

Maggi Jo Keffury, Angelo State University, finished the regular season with 1,159 assists (11.14 per set) after supplying 87 during the final week of the season. She had 40 assists in a three-set win before having 47 in a five-set loss to Tarleton State.

Jordan Neal, Texas A&M University - Commerce, raised her assist per set average to 11.66 after posting 12.3 per set this past week. With her 123 assists last week Neal pasted the 1200 assist plateau in 2013. She is one of just four setter's in DII to get to that mark this season. The Joshua native was also fourth on Lions in digs with 34 last week.

Danielle Barker, Tarleton State University, led the team once again with 84 assists over the last two games,
