LSC GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS

The 2015 Lone Star Conference Men's and Women's Golf Championships are set for next Monday and Tuesday at Frisco Lakes Golf Club in Frisco, Texas.

The league championships will be determined by a 54-hole tournament for men and a 36-hole tournament for women.

The four men's squads will utilize medal match play with stroke play in Monday's first round to determine team seeding, semifinal medal match play in Monday's second round, and championship medal match play in Tuesday's final round. The seven women's teams will play 18 holes each day.

Cameron is the reigning men's champion after claiming its ninth title last year, while Midwestern State's Derek Oland looks to defend the individual crown. On the women's side, Tarleton State will be looking for its eighth straight and ninth overall championship, with the TexAnns Isabell Jimenez Perea returning after claiming the individual title in 2014.

GOLFERS OF THE WEEK

MEN'S

No nominees

WOMEN'S

Casey Wild, Tarleton State University, FR, Wodonga, Australia, Wodonga Senior Secondary College

Wild won the individual championship at the Doc Housewright Invitational hosted by Tarleton State with a score of 146 (+2). Despite the wind and rain, Wild, a freshman from Australia, won the event by two strokes and shot a 1-under-par 71 in the first round, the only player to shoot under par that day. Wild helped Tarleton State finish second in the tournament, falling one stroke short of first place.

OTHER TOP PERFORMERS

Celeste Emeott, Texas A&M University - Commerce, had a great day April 14 with a career-best 70. She had the lowest round of the entire Doc Housewright Invitational, and finished with an overall score of 150 to tie for 8th place. Emeott finished the invite with 7 birdies, and launched A&M-Commerce into fifth place overall.
