ATLANTIC CITY JITNEYS

Jitneys are an Atlantic City icon that has served the city for over a century. Atlantic City jitneys are 13-passenger mini-buses that travel the entire city, running from the inlet to Jackson Avenue and the marina area to Pacific Avenue. $2.25 frequent riders.

Jitneys are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week and 365 days per year - or even 366 days if it's a leap year. The jitney stops are located on each block corner of Pacific Avenue.

From the touring cars of 1915, to today's state of the art fleet, Atlantic City's jitneys have continued to bring innovation and change to the concept of public transportation, now celebrating over 100 years.

BEACH & BOARDWALK

In 1850, a local physician named Dr. Jonathan Pitney sought to develop a resort in what is now Atlantic City thanks to the island's cool breezes, healthy air and refreshing waters. Now, more than 165 years later, the Atlantic Ocean and its soft, free sandy beaches are still a magnet that draws millions of visitors and residents to this seaside resort during the warm summer months.

The world-famous Atlantic City Boardwalk, the first incarnation of which was built in 1870, was originally constructed in order to help adjacent hotels keep pesky sand out of their lobbies. Over the years, the Boardwalk has grown to its current length of 5.5 miles, 1.5 miles of which stretches into the neighboring town of Ventnor.

The Boardwalk is also home to many novelty shops, eateries, amusement piers, volleyball courts, beach bars and casino hotel properties, and plays host to dozens of seasonal events including concerts, parades, festivals, competitions and more. The official Atlantic City visitor information center is located on the Boardwalk at Mississippi Avenue inside Historic Boardwalk Hall. An additional visitor information center is located on the Atlantic City Expressway at milepost 3.5.

Each summer the Boardwalk welcomes hundreds of thousands of spectators for the annual Atlantic City "Thunder Over the Boardwalk" Airshow, which features an amazing array of stunts and breathtaking aeronautic maneuvers by an exciting list of military, commercial and private acts. The Boardwalk is also home to the world-famous Miss America Pageant's "Show Us Your Shoes" Parade each September.

If you'd prefer to see Atlantic City with pedal power, check out an Atlantic City bike rental and cruise up and down the 4-mile Boardwalk between 6 AM and 12 Noon year-round and 4 PM to 7 PM from October 15 to May 15. From Albany to Jackson Avenues, the hours are 6 AM to 12 Noon on Saturdays and Sundays from July 1 through Labor Day, and 24-hours all other days. 24-hour bicycling is also permitted from Connecticut Avenue to Gardner's Basin year-round. There are shops to browse, sea views to admire and plenty of cafes and restaurants to enjoy. Biking is also a great way to get around town and take in Atlantic City's true atmosphere.

In order to ensure everyone's safety, beach goers are advised to swim only during lifeguard hours from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. during the summer. Designated locations for surfing are located at New Hampshire, Delaware and Raleigh avenues. Several handicapped ramps are also available at various locations along the Boardwalk.

ATTRACTIONS

Jutting out over the Atlantic Ocean, families will love the iconic Steel Pier amusement park, which offers loads of fun with more than 25 child-themed and extreme rides, games, food and family pub and bar overlooking the Atlantic Ocean and a new 227' Observation Wheel with 40 climate-controlled gondolas which opened in 2017. Put the pedal to the metal with exciting go-kart racing at Central Pier. Test your skill with 18 holes of miniature golf at Kennedy Plaza across from Historic Boardwalk Hall. Historic Gardner's Basin features the popular Ocean Life Center and Aquarium, which is a 14,000-square-foot, three-story marine life educational center, as well as restaurants with bay-front views, eclectic antique shops, and boating and fishing excursions.

While on the Boardwalk you can excite your senses and take a helicopter flight high above the Atlantic City shoreline right at the fun-filled Steel Pier. Step into the bizarre and strange world that is Ripley's Believe it or Not, reflect at the Korean War Memorial at Park Place, or if shopping is for you, browse around the three-story Playground Pier that overlooks the waters of the Atlantic. When the sun goes down, be dazzled with the various light and sound shows along the wooden way that entertain visitors as they reflect on Boardwalk facades.

Visit a unique piece of nautical history at the Historic Absecon Lighthouse, which opened in 1857 and helped mariners navigate the tricky shoreline. Located one block off of the Boardwalk at Rhode Island and Pacific avenues, visitors can climb the lighthouse's 228 steps to the summit, the highest in New Jersey at 171 feet, where breathtaking panoramic views of Atlantic City, the ocean and its surroundings await.

Take time to see the works of local artisans and explore the rich history on display at the African American Heritage Museum of Southern New Jersey at The Noyes Arts Garage of Stockton University.

The fun and excitement doesn't stop at Atlantic City's borders, as many nearby attractions are sure to please. Lucy the Elephant is just a short trip to Margate, the charming Historic Towne of Smithville takes you back in time and is famous for its unique shops, eateries and children's activities. Storybook Land keeps the spirit of childhood alive with 20 acres of entertainment and educational fun. Popular seaside resorts, such as Ocean City, Wildwood, Cape May, and more are just short drives along the Garden State Parkway. The Forsythe National Wildlife Refuge and state parks, such as Estell Manor and Batsto, offer nature enthusiasts the chance to hike, camp, picnic, canoe and enjoy the majesty of the Pine Barrens in all its glory.

The greater Atlantic City region is also the place to be for golf. With 20 championship-caliber courses within a short, 30-minute commute, our courses offer the tranquil beauty of wetlands, stunning bay views, challenging topography with deep ravines, rolling fairways, stretches of sand bunkers, tall pine trees and majestic vineyards. Visit www.doatlanticcity.com for a large selection of golf packages that will fit any budget and vacation length.

THE NATURE OF ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City is much more than just a cosmopolitan escape. Venture into the surrounding area and you'll find unique natural treasures that don't get the recognition they deserve. If you're looking to add a bit of the outdoors to your AC trip, check out these awesome spots for great views and recreation.

Parks

For true outdoor experiences near Atlantic City, parks throughout the area offer something for everyone. Whether you love to hike, bike, paddle, fish or just observe some of the region's wonderful wildlife, you'll find plenty to do here.

Lake Lenape Park in Mays Landing has a two-mile paved hiking and biking trail with plenty of opportunities for wildlife sightings and gorgeous lake views. The park sometimes offers guided hikes, which provide an overview of the park's local flora and fauna.

Atlantic County Park at Estell Manor spans roughly 1,700 acres and includes facilities for just about every type of outdoor recreation. Roll or stroll along the 20 miles of hiking trails, paved exercise trails or the unique Swamp Trail Boardwalk--when it snows, these trails become cross-country skiing routes. Show off your athleticism on the soccer field, softball field or sand volleyball courts. Take to the water with canoeing and kayaking on Stephen's Creek or the South River. Try your hand at fishing (licenses are only required for the freshwater ponds). Or you can simply relax all day with a picnic and spend the night at a campground.

Cape May National Wildlife Refuge is a stunning natural retreat that's ideal for wildlife watching, fishing and walking. The 11,000-acre area is particularly suited to birdwatching and many interesting species are found here, including the peregrine falcon, American woodcock and piping plover.

Corson's Inlet State Park packs a lot into its 340 acres--a stretch of pristine untouched oceanfront, diverse wildlife, sand dunes, estuaries and more. Boating is a popular activity at Corson's Inlet--watercraft of all types are permitted, but all users are subject to New Jersey Boating Regulations. The sand dunes harbor nests for piping plovers, least terns, black skimmers and other shorebird and waterfowl, making for an excellent birding destination. Other outdoor activities include fishing and hiking.

Forests

The Southern New Jersey Pinelands are forested treasures that are ripe for exploration.

Wharton State Forest is the largest state forest in New Jersey, with more than 115,000 acres of woodlands, bogs, hiking trails and unpaved roads perfect for horseback riding, mountain biking or just cruising. Just 30 minutes from Atlantic City, this gem features cozy cabins as well as campsites that range from well-appointed to primitive. Hikers should ascend to Apple Pie Hill for sublime views. Boaters will find Mullica River enjoyable, especially by canoe or kayak.

Belleplaine State Forest is a gorgeous 21,000 acres of pine, oak and cedar woodlands and swamps. A former Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) site in the 1930s, Belleplaine also features some interesting architecture. Outdoorsy folks will find more than 40 miles of hiking and biking trails to enjoy within the forest, as well as hunting, fishing, boating and swimming opportunities. Visitors can spend the night in a cozy cabin or yurt, or choose from more than 150 tent camping and RV sites complete with flush toilets, showers and laundry facilities.

For a more structured experience, check out Leaming's Run Gardens at the Cape May Courthouse. Shaded paths wind through vibrant flowers and lush greenery, and the various ponds and nooks offer complete relaxation.

No matter how you want to enjoy the outdoors, Atlantic City's surroundings have a nature experience you'll love.
