#TheValleyRunsDeep

The Missouri Valley Conference offers a wide array of media services, including weekly releases and preseason publications for each of the league's 19 sports programs. During the season, a panel will select a Player of the Week, Newcomer of the Week, and Freshman of the Week.

MVC on the Web

Information on the Missouri Valley Conference has been available on the web since 1995, and the league's official web site – mvc-sports.com – continues to stand out as one of the nation's top collegiate athletic sites. The league began a partnership with SIDEARM Sports on July 1, 2017. Archmadness.com is tournament-specific site, which debuted in 2003.

Current news and information about MVC athletics teams, live statistics, official team merchandise, live events, highlights, press conferences and other exclusive features are available on the league's web site.

MVC on the Web – Social Media

The league began an aggressive approach in its social media presence in 2009, with goals to expand its social media initiative in order to reach the most fans possible.

Fans can find The Valley on Twitter ("X") and Instagram at @MVCsports and on Facebook by searching "Missouri Valley Conference." For direct links to the league's social media accounts, visit mvc-sports.com and click the icons on the main banner.

In August 2020, the league launched a social justice/racial equality initiative titled "Mobilizing Voices for Change" and promotes it using the hashtag #OneValley. In addition, The Missouri Valley Conference has another hashtag initiative – #TheValleyRunsDeep – which speaks to the league's deep history and to success stories that continue today.

Featured segments with national analyst Andy Katz and MVC basketball on-air talent Adam Emmenecker will feature coaches, student-athletes and "hot topics" throughout the season.

Media Days

The league's head coaches will be featured in a live Media Day with interviews conducted by Rob Dauster and Jeff Goodman of "The Field of 68." For more information on air times, please contact the league office. And the league will conduct a Zoom "media day" preseason special with our head coaches and media.
