FEBRUARY 18-21, 2015
GREENSBORO AQUATIC CENTER
GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

The 2015 American Athletic Conference Swimming & Diving Championships

February 18-21 • Greensboro Aquatic Center • Greensboro, North Carolina

The American Athletic Conference will crown champions in 42 events this week as six member schools send representatives to the second annual American Athletic Conference Swimming and Diving Championships at the Greensboro Aquatic Center in Greensboro, North Carolina.

The American Athletic Conference Championships will feature six women's teams and four men's teams in Greensboro. The women's meet will include teams from Cincinnati, UConn, East Carolina, Houston, SMU and Tulane. The men's field includes Cincinnati, UConn, East Carolina and SMU.

The American Digital Network coverage will include live and on-demand finals coverage of all 42 events of the four-day men's and women's championships, beginning with relay and diving finals Feb. 18 and ending with the evening finals of Feb. 21. The ADN coverage will also include interviews with student-athletes and coaches, award ceremonies and senior recognition festivities prior to the Feb. 21 finals as well as instant highlight clips published to the @American_Swim Twitter handle.

For complete coverage of the American Athletic Conference Swimming and Diving Championships, visit The American's Championship Central at www.theamerican.org/swimdive.

2014 Natasha Burgess, Houston.....289.25

2015 Preview

Natasha Burgess of Houston was the Most Outstanding Diver at last year's American Athletic Conference Championships and returns to defend her title on the one-meter board. The Cougars' Danielle Shedd was the runner-up in this event last year, while UConn's Taryn Urbanus took third. Tulane's Lauren Arnold took sixth at last year's Conference-USA Championships and could push for a podium spot.

2014 Devin Burnett, SMU389.45

2015 Preview

SMU's Devin Burnett swept the diving events at last year's American Athletic Conference Championships and was the runaway choice as the Most Outstanding Diver in 2014. Burnett has picked up where he left off in the 2014-15 season and is the clear favorite across the board once again. He could be challenged by his Mustang teammate, Hayden Hodges, who took third on the three-meter springboard at last year's conference championship, or by UConn's John Brice, who was fourth last year on the three-meter board and enjoyed an outstanding dual meet season.

2015 Preview

SMU's depth in the freestyle events makes the Mustangs the favorite in the 800 freestyle relay. The Mustangs were six seconds faster than any other American Athletic Conference quartet during the regular season, but the next four teams were separated by slightly more than three seconds. Cincinnati, East Carolina, UConn and Tulane all turned in sub-7:27 times during the season and could be ready to take the top spot should the Mustangs falter.

Similar to her ledger in the 100 backstroke, Isabella Arcila is the favorite to take the 200 after she was the runner-up in The American last season. Arcila touched the wall in 1:55.72 in the regular season to hit the NCAA provisional mark. Arcila should expect to face competition from UConn's Christine Pedersen, who was seventh at last year's American Championships and swam a 1:58.76 seed time in the regular season. Cincinnati's Jackie Piper and SMU's Ursa Bezan are both returning championship finalists from last season.

The American Athletic Conference Championships conclude with what should be one of the more thrilling races of the week. East Carolina enters the 400 freestyle relay as the only team to break three minutes in the regular season, but Cincinnati, SMU and UConn can put together quartets that should make for a competitive finish. UConn and Cincinnati return two swimmers from last year's groups that competed for the American title, while SMU has just one competitor back from last season's entrant.

Greensboro Aquatic Center

Having opened in August of 2011, the 78,323-square-foot indoor Greensboro Aquatic Center is a state-of-the-art facility featuring leading edge concepts in aquatic design.

The GAC is located on the campus of the Greensboro Coliseum Complex, the premier sports and entertainment facility in the Southeast. The placement of the GAC at the Coliseum Complex creates numerous advantages including the adjacent Coliseum Complex's Special Events Center that provides accommodations for meet registration, coaches' meetings and hospitality and vendor displays. In addition, the GAC will be located in close proximity to the Greensboro Visitors Center and area hotels and restaurants.

This GAC brings together all major aquatic sports – competitive swimming and diving, water polo, synchronized swimming and other unique sports all in one venue. The GAC fully meets NCAA and FINA standards and offers Greensboro the opportunity to host high school and collegiate events, USA Swimming meets, Master's swimming and U.S. Water Polo events as well as a myriad of local, regional, national and international competitions.

In light of the intense demand for this type of facility, the GAC operates 15 hours a day. In addition, this multi-purpose facility serves local citizens through its diverse programming, including therapeutic rehabilitation and "Learn to Swim" classes in conjunction with the Guilford County School system and other instructional organizations

Not entirely unlike the nation that provides its namesake, the American Athletic Conference was born from an ideal in which members with ambitious goals are provided with the means to succeed in their quests for excellence.

With roots that extend to three conferences, the American Athletic Conference membership in 2014-15 consists of 11 institutions: the University of Central Florida, the University of Cincinnati, the University of Connecticut, East Carolina University, the University of Houston, the University of Memphis, the University of South Florida, Southern Methodist University, Temple University, Tulane University and the University of Tulsa.

The 2015-16 season sees the U.S. Naval Academy join the ranks in football only.

Under the leadership of commissioner Mike Aresco, The American, which operated as the Big East Conference from 1979 to 2013, has immediately taken a place at the forefront of Division I athletics, with schools that have played in four Bowl Championship Series games, won four NCAA men's basketball titles since 1999, and won nine NCAA women's basketball championships since 1995.

Two American Athletic Conference football teams were ranked in the top 15 of the final 2013 Associated Press poll. Five were selected for bowl games, including UCF, which won the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and finished the season ranked No. 10 nationally. The conference produced 14 players who received All-America recognition by a major outlet.

The American had four players chosen in the first round of the 2014 NFL Draft, trailing only the SEC and the ACC among FBS conferences. UCF quarterback Blake Bortles highlighted a group of 12 American Athletic Conference players chosen when he was taken No. 3 overall by the Jacksonville Jaguars.

The success of The American in Year 1 was not limited to the gridiron. UConn won NCAA titles in both men's and women's basketball. The conference had the best postseason winning percentage of any league in men's basketball, while The American produced top-10 teams in baseball, men's soccer and men's golf and sent half of its participating teams to the NCAA Softball Championship.

The American Athletic Conference holds television partnerships with ESPN and CBS Sports which will give the conference unprecedented national exposure. The football portion of the contract, which begins in the 2014 season, calls for nearly 90 percent of conference-controlled games on national broadcast or national cable platforms. The first American Athletic Conference Football Championship, which will be played in 2015, will be carried either on ABC or ESPN on Championship Saturday.

In men's basketball, the television deal calls for all conference-controlled games to be televised, with more than 63 percent slotted for national broadcast or national cable – a minimum of 107 games. The entire postseason tournament will be televised, including the championship game, which will be either on ABC or ESPN. Sixty percent of the American's women's basketball games will be carried on either national cable, regional sports networks or ESPN3.

American Athletic Conference teams will have access to the pinnacle of college football's postseason structure. An American representative would be chosen for the College Football Playoff semifinals if it is among the top four teams following the regular season. Otherwise, the league would place its champion in either the Cotton Bowl, Fiesta Bowl or Peach Bowl if it is ranked higher than the champions of Conference USA, the Mid-American Conference, the Mountain West Conference and the Sun Belt Conference.

Additionally, The American has announced primary or secondary partnerships with 12 bowls for the next six-year cycle, ensuring multiple annual matchups against the nation's top conferences and providing desirable post-season destinations to member institutions and their fans.

The American Athletic Conference administers to its membership from a state-of-the-art office located in Providence, R.I. The location of the conference headquarters – just steps from the city's Amtrak station and 10 minutes from T.F. Green International Airport – gives the conference easy access to its member schools.

The conference headquarters is equipped with a complete video production studio, serving as the home of the American Digital Network, and small- and large-scale meeting rooms to accommodate the many coaches' and administrators' meetings held on-site each year.
