ABOUT THE MIAA

The Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association, a 15-member conference of NCAA Division II institutions in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska, was first organized in 1912 as the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletics Association.

Over the past 25 years, the league has undergone several changes, highlighted by increased participation in national championships.

The MIAA has gained the reputation of being one of the top NCAA Division II conferences in the nation. MIAA student-athletes have won 26 national team championships and, since 1964, more than 180 individual national titles.

The MIAA will conduct conference championships in 13 men's and nine women's sports in 2013-14. Men's championships include football, cross country, basketball, indoor and outdoor track & field, baseball, soccer, tennis, wrestling and golf. Women's champions are determined in volleyball, soccer, cross country, basketball, indoor and outdoor track and field, softball, golf and tennis.

MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM

Kansas City's historic Municipal Auditorium, an art deco wonder, occupies the square block bounded by 13th, 14th, Wyandotte and Central streets in downtown Kansas City.

The auditorium opened in 1936 and cost $6.5 million. It was the largest of a group of public improvements constructed under a "10-year plan" for which Kansas City voters approved a $52 million bond issue in 1931. The bonds were supplemented by a federal Public Works Administration grant.

The auditorium was designed to accommodate the broadest possible range of events – conventions, athletic events, exhibitions, industrial shows, concerts, plays or lectures, big or small. It has been the scene of everything from political conventions and NCAA basketball championships to philharmonic performances and circuses.

Literature from the time of its opening, the ceremony of which U.S. President Franklin Delano Roosevelt spoke, noted that no expense was spared on the interior decor and accommodations. Color schemes, lighting, furniture, artwork and a wealth of art deco design elements were carefully chosen to give it a finished, even lavish appearance.

The building includes three large spaces: a multipurpose arena, the Music Hall, and the Exhibition Hall below the arena. An elegant little ballroom, known as the Little Theater, adds to the amenities. Each space is easily accessible through its own lobby, complete with coat-check room, box office and marquee. Events can be held in each of these large facilities simultaneously, without conflict.

The arena has seating for 9,827 people. It has a 92-foot ceiling – high enough for a trapeze artist – and a 24,000-square-foot floor built of oak two-by-fours strong enough to support an elephant (which it has).

Although the arena remains nearly the same structurally as it was in 1936, improvements have been made in recent years.

An electronic message center was installed in January 1988 as part of a $2 million scoreboard package with Kemper Arena; all permanent seats have been replaced; and new lighting was installed in 1990. Prior to the 1998-99 season video boards at either end of the arena were added. New matrix scoreboards were placed in the 2001-02 season.

In 2004-05, all of the lower level chairs were replaced, the loge and balcony seats were reupholstered, and the upper wall was refurbished. A new basketball floor was purchased for the 2006-07 season.

All the changes have made Municipal one of the finest basketball venues in the Midwest.

Besides the MIAA Championships, Municipal is the home for the NAIA Division I Men's Basketball Championship (which returned in 2002 after an absence from the building since 1975).

It is the former home of UMKC basketball, and the NAIA also used Municipal for its indoor track national championships for several years.

The Big 12 Conference conducted its women's basketball championship from its inception through the 2002 season, and returned in 2008. Its predecessor, the Big Eight Conference, held an annual holiday men's basketball tournament at Municipal for many years, as well as the loop's annual indoor track championships.

Municipal also holds the record for most NCAA Division I men's basketball championships hosted by one venue (nine). The NCAA conducted a Division I women's basketball regional at Municipal in 2005.

Besides hosting many college events, Municipal was the home for several professional sports franchises which came to Kansas City – starting in 1947 with the Kansas City Blues of the short-lived National Professional Basketball League.

The Kansas City Steers of the American Basketball League used the facility from 1961-1963. The Steers were ABL runner-up in 1961-62, losing to the Cleveland Pipers (owned by a young George Steinbrenner) in the finals, and declared champions in 1962-63 when the league folded, finishing 22-9.

The Auditorium was one of the homes (along with the Omaha Civic Auditorium) of the National Basketball Association's Kansas City-Omaha Kings, when the Cincinnati Royals moved west in 1972. As the Kansas City Kings, the franchise moved temporarily from its new Kemper Arena digs back to Municipal in 1979, while Kemper was being repaired following a collapse of the roof during a June rain and wind storm.

The Continental Basketball Association's Kansas City Sizzlers played the 1985-86 season at Municipal before moving to Topeka, and the Kansas City Mustangs of the Women's Basketball Association were home at the Auditorium for the 1995 season.

Soccer also has been played at the facility, as the Kansas City Attack moved from Atlanta to Municipal for the 1991-92 National Professional Soccer League season.

Major improvements were made prior to the 2014 tournament with the addition of new video boards, a video scorers table and others cosmetic improvements to the building.

Central Missouri Wins Men's Tournament Title

By Josh Slaughter

Kansas City, Mo. -- In the one of the most exciting games in recent championship history Central Missouri needed overtime to overcome Northwest Missouri for a 79-76 victory. The Mules were outshot in the game, but hit shots late in overtime to win their first MIAA Tournament Championship since 2009 which also came on an overtime win.

Northwest Missouri jumped on top early in the first half rocketing out to the first seven points of the game. NWMSU would hold the lead until the 7:37 mark in the first half when UCM fought back and took their first lead of the game. In the final seven minutes of the first half their were five ties as the game was knotted at 33-33 going into the break. The second half would start off with more back and fourth before UCM emerged with an eight point lead with 3:50 to play. Northwest Missouri would outscore the UCM 9-1 in the final 3:30 of the game to force free basketball.

In the overtime period both teams held at leads of at least three points but UCM broke the tide with three free throws by Dominique Long. NWMSU would cut the lead back to two twice, but missed a shot at the buzzer after a UCM free throw.

Tournament MVP Widgett Washington led the way for the Mules scoring 20 points and picking up four steals. Dominique Long finished with 16 points and four total rebounds dishing three assists on the afternoon. All-Tournament performer Charles Hammork added 10 points and pulled down six rebounds. For the Bearcats Bryston Williams was just shy of a double-double with 27 points and nine rebounds. Grant Cozad had 14 points and seven rebounds on the afternoon. All-Tournament performer Dillon Starzl added 13 points and pulled down six rebounds before fouling out. Alex Sullivan had 12 points and seven rebounds hitting four fro beyond the arc.

2013 WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Emporia State wins MIAA Women's Championship

By Josh Slaughter

Kansas City, Mo. -- Emporia State broke a two-game losing streak in the MIAA Championship with a 67-51 victory over Central Missouri. The Lady Hornets are the first team to earn an MIAA Tournament Championship other than Northwest Missouri and Washburn since the tournament moved to Kansas City in 2003.

Central Missouri jumped out to the early lead, going up by as much as five points early leading through two media timeouts. Emporia State would rebound going on a 13-2 run to give themselves a seven point advantage. A three pointer by Rheanna Egli with 21 seconds to play gave ESU the 31-23 lead going into halftime. Emporia State would push that lead to double-digits early in the second and half and would not let UCM get any closer than five points as they won their first Tournament title since 2001 which broke a streak of four straight titles.

The Most Outstanding Player of the Tournament Merissa Quick scored 22 points to lead not only Emporia State, but all scorers. Rachel Hanf scored 17 points and pulled down eight rebounds for ESU. Rheanna Egli scored 10 points but also dished out a game high seven assists. Jocelyn Cummings had 11 rebounds and Sarah Wood added ten as two Hornets finished with double-digit rebounds. For the Jennies All-Tournament performer Keuna Flax had a double-double with 21 points and added 11 rebounds. Nicole Caddell had her third double-double of the tournament with 10 points and 15 rebounds.

Notes: ESU won the National title in 2010, but did not win the conference regular season or tournament title that season. The Lady Hornets last MIAA Tournament Championship came in 2001 on their home floor defeating Missouri Western 78-52 on that night. The Lady Hornets were 1-1 as a number four seed coming into the tournament, but now sport the tournaments best four seed record at 4-1. The Lady Hornets are the first team since the tournament began (1983) to win the MIAA Tournament as a four seed. They are only the third team to earn a seed lower than #3 to win the tournament since it began.
