- Matt Crane, Assistant Coach
- Edgardo Rivera, Volunteer Coach
Jose’ Vazquez was named Alabama State head baseball coach on July 13, 2016, and is entering his second season at the helm of the Hornets as the 2018 season gets underway.

In his first season as the head coach of the Hornets, Vazquez led Alabama State to the SWAC championship game and finished second in the East Division of the conference.

He also had seven selections on the SWAC all-conference teams at the end of the season last year, including three major awards. The Hornets had the SWAC Freshman of the Year in Cage Cox, the SWAC Relief Pitcher of the Year in Austin Bizzle and the Pitcher of the Year in Tyler Howe.

The Hornets had one player drafted in Bizzle (Minnesota Twins), and one who signed in Howe (Los Angeles Dodgers) at the conclusion of the season.

After having Cox named to multiple All-America teams last season, the Hornets have seven players who were selected to the Preseason All-SWAC teams this season under the direction of Vazquez.

Vazquez has spent 14 seasons as an assistant baseball coach, the last six as Associate Head Coach, including five seasons at Alabama State. In addition to the day-to-day duties of the Alabama State baseball program, Vazquez has coached Hornet hitters and outfielders and is widely regarded as one of the top recruiters in the nation.

Vazquez, named the 2013 Assistant Coach of the Year by the Alabama Baseball Coaches Association, has helped Alabama State post a Top 60 recruiting class each year, as rated by Perfect Game, the largest amateur baseball scouting service in the nation.

He has played in an integral role in the rise of Alabama State baseball into a championship program. Vazquez helped the Hornets land C Richard Gonzalez and OF Richard Amion in the 2011 signing class, both of whom would go on to earn Freshman All-America accolades in 2012. Those two players, along with another 2011 signee in SS Emmanuel Pantoja, were drafted for signed to pro contracts.

Two seasons ago, RHP Angel Alicea was drafted by the Toronto Blue Jays, and three-time SWAC Pitcher of the Year Joseph Camacho signed to a free agent contract with the Oakland A’s. Alabama State has had nine players earn a chance to play professional baseball, with six players drafted, all in the last three seasons.

In 2015, two other freshmen from the initial signing class, RHPs Armando Ruiz and Michael Estevez, along with 2012 signing class pitcher Jorge Pantoja, were drafted for signed to pro contracts.

In 2016, the Hornets set a school record with 64 home runs as Alabama State baseball won a school record 38 games, including an unprecedented 24-0 record in Southwestern Athletic Conference play, winning the first SWAC Championship in program history and earning ASU first berth to the Division I NCAA Baseball Tournament.

Under Vazquez’ guidance, the Hornets have become a more potent offensive team each season. In 2012, with 18 true freshmen on the roster, the Hornets hit .247 (7th SWAC) with 530 hits and 14 home runs as the team won 20 games for the first time since 2002. ASU improved in 2013 to hit .262 (second in SWAC) with four 300 hitters and 26 home runs (1st in SWAC), and last season hit .292 with four .300 hitters and 35 home runs. The Hornets led the SWAC in all major batting categories in 2014, including batting average, on-base percentage, slugging percentage, runs scored, hits, RBI, triples and home runs. In 2015 the Hornets were first in on-base percentage and slugging percentage, second in batting average, runs scored, home runs and RBI, and third in hits.

Prior to Alabama State, Vazquez spent the previous nine seasons as assistant coach at Bethune-Cookman, with 2011 his first as Associate Head Coach. Vazquez played a prominent role in the programs’ success, bringing in players that posted a staggering 100-4 MEAC record over the final six seasons, all ending in conference titles and NCAA Tournament appearances.

Playing under former ASU head coach Mervyl Melendez at B-CU, Vazquez earned all-conference honors as a catcher in his only season with the Wildcats, transferring there for his senior season in 2002. As a starter, Vazquez helped post the best record in school history (39-22), including the programs’ only NCAA Regional victory over Florida International. Vazquez then joined the coaching ranks, first as a student in 2003 and, upon graduating, a full-time assistant.

A native of Bayamon, Puerto Rico, Vazquez is married to the former Jana Swanson. The couple has two daughters, Liana and Elaisa.

NEWS, NOTES & NUMBERS

ALABAMA STATE IN THE SWAC IN ’18

Alabama State was picked to win the East Division and had seven players chosen all-conference on a vote of the league’s head coaches and sports information directors, announced by the conference office Thursday morning.

A year removed from playing in the Southwestern Athletic Conference (SWAC) championship game, Alabama State picked up 10 first place votes and 67 total votes; 10 votes ahead of Jackson State who picked up one first place vote. Alcorn State was picked to finish third with 38 votes (one first place vote), Alabama A&M and Mississippi Valley State.

Texas Southern, the defending conference champion, was picked to finish first in the West with 64 total votes (seven first place votes).

The Hornets had six players chosen to the two Preseason All-Conference team, including three named First Team that included a pair of players – Gustavo Rios and Cage Cox – who were named All-Conference last season. The other players selected all-conference include Joseph Estrada (first team outfield), Hunter Allen (second team catcher), Ray Hernandez (second team third base), Yamil Pagan (second team outfield) and Chase Laney (second team relief pitcher).

Rios - first team first base - finished third on the team in hitting with a .332 batting average in 54 games. He collected 67 hits, 28 of which were for extra bases; including 17 doubles, one triple and 10 home runs. He also scored 44 runs and drove in another 50, while recording a .576 slugging percentage. He finished the year a .405 on-base percentage after being walked 21 times and finished with a .984 fielding percentage.

Cox was named first team designated hitter after leading Alabama State with a .350 batting average in 214 official at-bats. He finished the year with 75 hits, including 26 extra base hits – 17 doubles, two triples and seven home runs. He also scored 53 runs and drove in another 45, while slugging .547. He also finished with a .409 on-base percentage after being walked 20 times last season.

Estrada was named first team after hitting .276 last season in 48 games (44 starts). He collected 42 hits, with 20 of those being for extra bases – nine doubles and 11 home runs – while driving 33 and scoring 45 more runs. He finished the season slugging .533 and had an on-base percentage of .421, while hitting .322 in conference action. Last season, Estrada recorded 11 multi-hit games, which included a three-hit game against Grambling State (April 21).

Allen started 34 games last season and finished the year hitting .246 in 122 official at-bats and 146 plate appearances. He collected 30 hits, with 12 of those being for extra bases – nine doubles and three home runs – while scoring 21 runs and knocking in another 23. Hernandez played and started 56 games last season, hitting .275 in 229 official at-bats. He finished the season with a .428 slugging percentage, and hit .301 in conference play (nine extra base hits).

Meanwhile, Pagan returns to the Hornets this season after collecting 70 hits in 2018 in 209 official at-bats. He finished with 60 runs scored and drove in another 48. He finished with 21 extra base hits, which included 11 doubles, five triples and five home runs. He was walked 25 times and finished with a .408 on-base percentage. Laney, one of the few pitchers returning for Alabama State, made 21 appearances out of the bullpen last season and had the second-lowest earned run average on the team at 3.40. He finished 2-2 with a pair of saves in 39.2 innings pitched, allowing just 18 runs (15 earned) and striking out 24.

ALABAMA STATE AND PUERTO RICO

Alabama State has five players listed on the 2018 roster officially from Puerto Rico. Those players include senior outfielder Joseph Estrada, senior utility player Yamil Pagan, senior lefthanded pitcher Ivaniel Vazquez, freshman infielder Christopher DeGuzman and freshman righthanded pitcher Alexander Castro.

That is not the only tie between Alabama State and Puerto Rico as the Hornets got together for a drive to help the citizens of Puerto Rico after the devastating of Hurricane Maria. The team accepted donations throughout the weekend of October 5 through October 8, including during the nationally-televised football game on ESPNU on October 5. The program helped with water, first aid supplies, canned food, baby items, and personal care products among most things collected.
The Hornets were represented by catcher Hunter Allen (.246/3/23) who according to Perfect Game is a physical, polished defender. He was joined on the team by third baseman Ray Hernandez (.275/7/48) who has a strong frame with a big arm across the infield. The two were joined by Cage Cox (.332/10/50) who named as a utility player and is a raw hitter and is a power threat. They are joined by Joseph Estrada (.275/11/33) in the outfield who is a leadd off hitter with pop and a good arm according to Perfect Game. The last player on the team is Gustavo Rios (.332/10/50) who named as a utility player and is a raw hitter and is a power threat.

Alabama State had five players named to the preseaon team, which tied them with last season's conference champion Texas Southern with the most players on the team.

Cox was chosen as the Player of the Year by the publication heading into the 2018 season, while Darrien Williams of Prairie View A&M (likely the opening day starter against Alabama State) was named the Preseason Pitcher of the Year.

The Hornets were picked to finish atop the East Division of the conference standings, just above Jackson State and ahead of Alabama A&M, Alcorn State and Mississippi Valley State.

ALABAMA STATE IN MLB 2018

Alabama State must replace a lot of arms from last season, but none more important than reliever Austin Bizzle and starter Tyler Howe - both of whom were signed to minor league contracts after the season. Bizzle was signed by the Minnesota Twins, while Howe was signed by the Detroit Tigers.

Last season, Bizzle finished 7-1 out of the bullpen for Alabama State. He recorded a 1.95 earned run average in 26 appearances (two starts). He threw 74.0 innings and recorded four saves, while allowing 23 runs (16 earned) off of 53 hits. He also struck out 78 and walked just 20, while opponents hit just .202 last season.

Meanwhile, Howe finished 8-4 as a starter for the Hornets - getting the nod on Friday night. He recorded a 3.41 earned run average - second on the team in 95.0 innings pitched. He allowed 43 runs (36 earned) off of 97 hits, while all striking out 103 and walking just 35.

Alabama State will turn to Chase Laney to fill the role of Bizzle from last season, as Laney was named to the second team all-conference team this season in the preseason. He finished with a 2-2 record out of the bullpen last season. The senior appeared in 21 games and recorded a pair of saves in 39.2 innings pitched. He also allowed 18 runs (15 earned) on 44 hits, while striking out 24 and walking just 11.

The Hornets also return Terrrell McClall (1-6/7.31 ERA) who will move to the bullpen after being used as a starter, Ivanriel Vazquez (0-1/7.43 ERA) and Darren Kelly (0-1/7.84 ERA) who will become the Friday night starter and is slated to start the season opener against Prairie View A&M on Friday night (February 16) in New Orleans.

BASEBALL AMERICA PREVIEW

The Hornets have developed into one of the SWAC's powers in recent seasons, first under Mervyl Melendez and now under Jose' Vazquez, who was promoted to head coach last year after Melendez left to become head coach at Florida International.

Alabama State made its first ever NCAA Tournament appearance in 2016 in Melendez’s final season and nearly returned in Vazquez's first year, but were edged by Texas Southern in extra innings in the SWAC Tournament championship game.

The Hornets will be eager this season to bounce back from that loss and have the returning talent to do so. Outfielder Gage Cox (.350/.409/.547, 7 HR) is back after leading the Hornets in hitting as a freshman. First baseman Gustavo Rios (.332/.405/.574, 10 HR) and outfielder Joseph Estrada (.276/.421/.553, 11 HR) return for their senior years and bring power to the lineup.

Alabama State has more holes to fill on the mound, as closer Austin Bizzle (7-1, 1.95) and ace Tyler Howe (8-4, 3.41), who both earned all-conference honors last season must now be replaced. Alabama State will look for righthander Darrius Wright, a junior college transfer, and senior righthander Darren Kelly to step up on the staff. Wright was one of the prizes of an exciting 2017 recruiting class and throws in the low 90s with a good slider. Senior righthander Chase Laney (2-2, 3.40) provides an experienced hand in the bullpen.

Alabama State’s veteran offense should help its pitching staff settle into place over the course of the spring and give it a good chance to capture its second SWAC title in three years.

ALABAMA STATE IN NEW ORLEANS

Since 2014, Alabama State has made New Orleans like their second home as they have compiled a 14-4 record in the city under a pair of head coaches, including winning the conference championship in 2016 and finishing as runner-up last season.

The Hornets went 6-1 last season in New Orleans with their only loss coming against Texas Southern in the conference championship game. In those seven games last season, Alabama State averaged 11.1 runs per game and gave up just an average 3.4 runs per game. Over the course of last season, Alabama State scored 10 or more runs four times in New Orleans which included a season-high 25 in the conference tournament semifinals.

In 2014 the Hornets went 3-1 in the city with their only loss coming to Jackson State by a single run (9-8), while going 1-2 in 2015 in New Orleans.

Alabama State went 4-0 in 2016 in New Orleans, meaning the team has compiled a 10-1 record over the last two seasons in New Orleans.

Since 2014, Alabama State has scored 10 or more runs nine times in the 18 games; while scoring six or more runs five other times. The Hornets have scored 15 or more runs five different times and 20 or more runs two different times - including 27 in 2016 against Southern.

During the span of the last four years, Alabama State has averaged 10.63 runs per game as an offense and are allowing just 5.3 runs per game. Although they have not recorded a shutout, they have held opponents to fewer than three runs five times in their trips.

SEVERAL PICKED BY PERFECT GAME

Alabama State had several players picked by Perfect Game USA as all-conference picks, almost mirroring that of the Southwestern Athletic Conference (SWAC) picks from earlier in the offseason.

The Hornets are replacing a lot of arms from last season, but none more important than reliever Austin Bizzle and starter Tyler Howe - both of whom were signed to minor league contract after the season. Bizzle was signed by the Minnesota Twins, while Howe was signed by the Detroit Tigers.
