THE MINNESOTA STATE MAVERICKS BECAME THE ONLY SCHOOL IN WCHA HISTORY TO CAPTURE FOUR CONSECUTIVE REGULAR SEASON LEAGUE TITLES IN 2020-21.

WCHA THROUGH THE YEARS

Editor's Note: This article contains information that first appeared in articles written for the WCHA by John Gilbert and Shane Frederick.

Home to 408, All-Americans, 16 Hobey Baker Award winners, 19 Spencer Penrose honorees, 1,044 NHL draft picks, 217 Olympians and 37 NCAA championship teams, the Western Collegiate Hockey Association boasts one of the richest histories in NCAA hockey. Born as the Midwest Collegiate Hockey League in 1951, the original WCHA consisted of Colorado College, Denver, Michigan, Michigan State, Michigan Tech, Minnesota and North Dakota. The circuit was renamed the Western Intercollegiate Hockey League in 1953 and competed under that banner through the 1957-58 season. After a one-season hiatus in 1958-59, the league was reborn as the Western Collegiate Hockey Association in 1959-60 with its Original Seven core programs.

Membership History

The WCHA stands as one of the cornerstone leagues in the history of college hockey. At the conclusion of the 2020-21 season, 34 percent of the active NCAA Division I programs (21 of 61) had played at least one season in the league.

In addition to the Original Seven, the league has included some of the most storied programs in NCAA history and saw spurts of growth and contraction throughout its history as it would provide the foundation for four other college leagues.

The WCHA's Original Seven would remain unchanged until the league grew by one during the 1960s with the addition of Minnesota Duluth for the 1965-66 season. Wisconsin (1969-70) and Notre Dame (1971-72) would push the membership to 10 schools for the duration of the 1970s.

Eastern members Michigan, Michigan State, Michigan Tech and Notre Dame departed for the original Central Collegiate Hockey Association following the 1980-81 season, reducing the WCHA to a six-team circuit for three seasons from 1981-82 through 1983-84. CCHA refugee Michigan Tech would return the fold for the 1984-85 season and brought along its Upper Peninsula rival Northern Michigan from the upstart league. The WCHA then held fast as an eight-team league for the duration of the 1980s.

The league welcomed a ninth member - and third from the State of Hockey - when St. Cloud State joined for the 1990-91 season. The league would briefly grow to 10 teams with the addition of Alaska Anchorage in 1993-94 before dropping back to nine with the departure of Northern Michigan back to the CCHA in 1997-98. Minnesota State became the fourth Minnesota university to ice a WCHA program when the Mavericks were added to the league in time for the 1999-2000 campaign, ushering in an 11-season run as a 10-team league for the WCHA.

That skien ended in 2010-11 when Bemidji State and Nebraska-Omaha were admitted as the league's 11th and 12th members in 2010-11.

The 12-team WCHA was a short-lived creation, lasting just three seasons before the announcement of a new hockey conference sent shockwaves throughout the sport.

WCHA stalwarts Minnesota and Wisconsin joined with Michigan, Michigan State and Ohio State from the CCHA and the newly-formed program at Penn State to bring the sport to the Big Ten for the 2013-14 season.

The move led to a shake-up that eventually led to the dissolution of the CCHA and a radical change to the WCHA. Colorado College, Denver, Minnesota Duluth, North Dakota, Omaha and St. Cloud State departed the league to join with Western Michigan and Miami of the CCHA to form the National Collegiate Hockey Conference.

With the defections, the remaining WCHA programs - Alaska Anchorage, Bemidji State, Michigan Tech and Minnesota State

MINNESOTA'S JOHN MAYASICH WAS AMONG THE EARLY STARS OF THE WCHA WHEN THE LEAGUE WAS FOUNDED AS THE MIDWEST COLLEGIATE HOCKEY LEAGUE IN 1951-52. THE ONLY PLAYER IN WCHA HISTORY TO WIN THREE CONSECUTIVE LEAGUE SCORING TITLES, MAYASICH'S 144 GOALS STILL STANDS AS THE WCHA CAREER RECORD.

- welcomed Alaska Fairbanks, Bowling Green, Ferris State, Lake Superior State and Northern Michigan from the CCHA along with independent Alabama Huntsville to form a new 10-team WCHA in that would last from 2013-14 through 2020-21 when seven teams - Bemidji State, Bowling Green, Ferris State, Lake Superior State, Michigan Tech, Minnesota State and Northern Michigan broke ranks to reform the CCHA.

1950s

No player is more synonymous with the early history of the WCHA than Minnesota's John Mayasich.

The Eveleth, Minn., native debuted with the Golden Gophers during the WCHA's inaugural season in 1951-52 and over the next four years he established himself as one of the greatest players in college hockey history.

Vic Heyliger
Michigan

Mayasich tallied a staggering 144 goals as a Gopher, a total that still stands as a WCHA record seven decades later. His 154 assists still ranks as the 12th-best total in league annals and his 298 career points have only been surpassed by the WCHA's three 300-point career scorers, all of whom played in the 1970s.

The WCHA's first great coach, Michigan's Vic Heyliger was instrumental in the founding of the league as the Midwest Collegiate Hockey League, a name that lasted for two seasons before it was changed to the Western Intercollegiate Hockey League in 1953 and lasted for the duration of the decade.

Heyliger had already led the Wolverines to a pair of national championships before the formation of the MCHL, capturing the inaugural NCAA crown in 1948 and another title in 1951 following back-to-back third place finishes in 1949 and 1950.

The Maize and Blue would go on to capture four of the first five NCAA championships after the formation of the league (1952, 1953, 1955, 1956), defeating fellow league members Colorado College (twice), Minnesota and Michigan Tech to claim the crowns. CC would exact a measure of revenge in 1957, beating the Wolverines in the national championship game. Denver and North Dakota would finish the decade with national championships in 1958 and 1959, respectively, with the Fighting Sioux's title coming during the WCHA's one-year hiatus in 1958-59.

WCHA THROUGH THE YEARS

Despite its postseason dominance, Michigan could only manage one WCHA regular season championship during the decade - 1955-56 - en route to the school's final NCAA victory of the 1950s. Colorado College proved to be the dominant team of the league's first decade, winning three of the first seven championships contested. Minnesota claimed a pair with Michigan and North Dakota each winning one.

The 1950s also saw the debut of legendary Minnesota head coach John Mariucci in 1952. Mariucci would etch his name in WCHA history after establishing the Golden Gophers as a largely Minnesota-only program. Mariucci's squad annually included exclusively Minnesota high school products in an era when teams were icing older, Canadian junior league-heavy squads.

Murray Armstrong's Denver dynasty took command when the WCHA played its first official season under its new name in 1959-60, with the Pioneers winning both the league and NCAA titles behind Bill Masterton's scoring, Marty Howe's defense and George Kirkwood's goaltending. Michigan Tech and North Dakota were the closest challengers, as Tech battled the Pioneers to the national finals before yielding 5-3 at Matthews Arena in Boston. Masterton, who won the league scoring title that season, helped lead Denver to a 27-4-3 overall record.

The victory ushered in a Pioneer decade as DU captured four NCAA titles and four league crowns during the 1960s. Denver would reach two other national championship games during the decade and finished third in its seventh appearance in the NCAA postseason between 1960 and 1969.

The four crowns bookended the decade as Denver followed up the 1960 title with another crown in 1961 in what is considered by many as the most dominant season in NCAA history. The Pioneers skated to a 30-1-1 record en route to the crown with the lone loss coming at the hands of Michigan Tech in December. Denver would score double-digit goals nine times against collegiate competition and once in an exhibition contest that season. The two crowns were the first of seven in a row for the WCHA during the decade as Michigan Tech (1962), North Dakota (1963), Michigan (1964), Michigan Tech (1965) and Michigan State (1966) would keep the streak alive before Cornell ended the run in 1967. The Pioneers then closed the decade with national championships in 1968 and 1969.

Armstrong was the decade's dominant coach, leading Denver to a 229-70-17 mark (.751) in the 1960s.

MINNESOTA DULUTH'S KEITH "HUFFER" CHRISTIANSEN WON THE WCHA SCORING TITLE & MVP HONORS IN 1966-67, UMD'S SECOND SEASON IN THE LEAGUE.

The decade also saw the debut of the WCHA's first expansion team as Minnesota Duluth joined the circuit for the 1965-66. While the Bulldogs would struggle during their early years in the league, UMD did feature one of the WCHA's stars of the era in Keith "Huffer" Christiansen. The Fort Frances, Ont., native captured the league's scoring championship and earned MVP honors in 1966-67, the Bulldogs' second campaign in the league. Christiansen would also equal what is still the WCHA single-game assist mark with six in a contest with Minnesota in 1966.

The 1970s arrived, and the look of college hockey and the WCHA changed as Minnesota, under coach Glen Sonmor, made its move to become a solid annual contender by playing virtually an entire homestate roster, while Bob Johnson turned the new Division I program at Wisconsin into a national power. Those two emerging contenders became the most ferocious rivals of the next two decades.

In addition to Wisconsin in 1969-70, the 1970s saw Notre Dame join the WCHA in 1971-72 as the league grew to 10 teams in what can only be described as a very offensive decade as 12 of the top 25 scorers in league history dotted WCHA rosters during the era, including six of the top-10 and four of the top five. The incomparable John Mayasich, who sits fourth, is the lone WCHA top-five scorer to not play in the 1970s.

All three of the WCHA's career 300-point scorers called the league home during the era with the trio all hailing for Michigan schools.

Michigan State's Tom Ross (324) and Steve Colp (300) teamed together for the Spartans from 1972-76 to rank No. 1 and No. 3, respectively, while Michigan Tech's Mike Zuke tallied 310 points during the same four-year period to sit at No. 2 all-time, followed by Mayasich and Colorado College's Dave Delich, who posted 285 career points from 1975-79.

But perhaps the top scorer of the decade sits at No. 11 on the WCHA career list. Wisconsin's Mark Johnson ended his Badger career with 256 points but reached that total in just three seasons as opposed to the four played by the men in front of him. Johnson averaged 85 points per season in his three years with the Badgers, which would add up to a remarkable 341 points over a four-year career. Johnson of course had good reason to forego his senior season as he was busy winning a gold medal at the 1980 Winter Olympics.

Minnesota secured its place as the team of the decade, winning national titles in 1974, 1976 and 1979 and finishing as the national runner-up to Michigan Tech in 1975 and Boston University in 1971. All but the 1971 NCAA trip came under the leadership of Herb Brooks, who guided the Golden Gophers for the bulk of the decade before leading a U.S. squad that featured Johnson and 13 other WCHA players to one of the greatest upsets in sports history in Lake Placid.

In addition to the trio of Gopher titles and the Tech crown in 1975, Wisconsin would win its first two NCAA crowns under Bob Johnson in 1973 and 1977.

What makes the six WCHA national championships of the decade so remarkable is that all of the winners faced a WCHA opponent with the national title on the line. League teams held 12 of the 14 spots in the seven national championship games held between 1973 and 1979. The 1978 Boston University-Boston College title match-up won by the Terriers was the lone championship without two WCHA squads.

1980s

With Brooks and five Gopher underclassmen busy taking down the mighty Soviets in upstate New York, North Dakota won the WCHA and NCAA titles in 1979-80 to open a new decade Minnesota under former Brooks assistant Brad Buetow was a surprising second in the WCHA. The Gophers still featured Tim Herrer, who set a Gopher record by winning the scoring race with 69 points on 45 goals and 24 assists in WCHA play, plus Don Micheletti, Steve Ulseth and freshman Aaron Broten North Dakota beat Dartmouth 4-1 in the NCAA semifinals and took down Northern Michigan, 5-2, in the title game at Providence, R.I. The Sioux's national championship began a four year run that saw UND and Wisconsin alternate as the national champions to open the decade. The Badgers downed another strong Gopher squad, 6-3, in Duluth to win the 1981 championship at a Frozen Four that also included Michigan Tech.

North Dakota took the top spot in 1982, and denied the Badgers a repeat title, with a 5-2 championship game win over Wisconsin in Providence.

But Wisconsin rebounded in 1983 to down Providence and Harvard in the final four and skated the national championship trophy on the Sioux's home ice in Grand Forks.

The 1983 Badger title ended a remarkable 11-season run that saw WCHA teams win 10 of 11 national championships from 1973 to 1983. Boston University's 1978 squad was the only non-WCHA champion during that run.

The make-up of the WCHA changed radically during the North Dakota-Wisconsin title run as four of the league's eastern members - Michigan, Michigan State, Michigan Tech and Notre Dame - departed for the fledgling Central Collegiate Hockey Association following the 1980-81 season. The WCHA would persevere as a six-team circuit for three seasons until Tech returned to the fold for the 1984-85 season and brought along Northern Michigan from the CCHA as well.

The 1980s also saw the rise of Minnesota Duluth as a WCHA power under head coach Mike Sertich.

Sertich took the reins at UMD at the start of the 1982-83 campaign and over the next three seasons led the Bulldogs to two WCHA regular season titles, two WCHA postseason crowns, three NCAA tournament appearances, two national semifinal trips and a spot in the 1984 national championship game. The title tilt with Bowling Green is still considered one of the greatest national championship games in NCAA history as the Bulldogs and Falcons battled into a fourth overtime before Bowling Green skated off with a 5-4 win in Lake Placid.

Sertich's dazzling array of stars in 1983-84 included the league's top scorer in Bill Watson, the league's best goaltender in freshman Rick Kosti, and the league's best defenseman in Tom Kurvers, who won the Hobey Baker Memorial Award that season.

Watson would follow Kurvers as the Hobey Baker winner a season later to join his Bulldog teammate and Minnesota's Neal Broten (1981) as the third WCHA Hobey winner in the award's first five seasons.

Denver, under coach Ralph Backstrom, performed a remarkable turnaround to win the 1985-86 regular season title at 25-9 (34-13-1 overall). Dallas Gaume led the Pioneers and the conference in scoring, while Gary Emmons led Northern Michigan and Brett Hull blossomed for UMD. Minnesota and Denver advanced to the NCAA Frozen Four, but both lost in the semifinals at Providence, as Michigan State beat Harvard, 6-5, for the title.

The 1986-87 season would see legendary team and individual performances turned in by North Dakota and its high-scoring ringleader Tony Hrkac.

The Sioux rewrote the WCHA record book that season, storming to a league-record 40 victories in a 40-8-0 season and won the WCHA with a 29-6 mark to set a record for wins in a league season. The Sioux also set marks for goals (200), assists (319) and points (519) in WCHA play that still stand today.

Hrkac won the league scoring title with 86 points in 35 WCHA games, part of a 116-point campaign that earned him the Hobey Baker Award at season's end. Both marks along with his WCHA (50) and full-season (70) assist totals stand as league records.

After collecting the WCHA regular season and postseason crowns, North Dakota capped its legendary season with a 5-3 win over Michigan State in the NCAA championship game in Detroit.

Doug Woog brought Minnesota back to the WCHA winner's circle over the next two seasons to end a run of three-straight runner-up campaigns, winning the MacNaughton Cup in 1987-88 and 1988-89 and reaching the national semifinals both years.

In 1987-88, brilliant goaltending by Robb Stauber carried the Gophers to finish 11 points ahead of Wisconsin, and after winning in the league's first try at best-of-three playoffs, the Gophers reached the NCAA final four in Lake Placid. Stauber became the first goalie to win the Hobey Baker, but St. Lawrence dealt the Gophers a 3-2 loss in the semifinals.

The next year, Stauber improved his statistics to win league goaltending honors as the Gophers won the 1988-89 WCHA chase by a league-record 14 points over runner-up Northern Michigan. The Gophers, with Dave Snuggerud and Tom Chorske back from the 1988 U.S. Olympic team, ran up a 27-6-2 league record, and headed to the NCAA tournament in St. Paul. After beating Maine 7-4 in the semifinals, Minnesota lost to Harvard, in a brilliantly played, high-speed 4-3 overtime classic.

By the end of the 1990s, the WCHA was a 10-team league. Between the 1989-90 season until the turn of the century, more than half of the WCHA's teams opened new rinks.

St. Cloud State, which joined the league during the decade, moved into the National Hockey Center during the 1989-90 season. Minnesota moved into the new Mariucci Arena in 1993. Minnesota State, which also joined the WCHA during the decade, opened the Mankato Civic Center in 1995. Denver moved into Magness Arena in 1996. Colorado College's World Arena opened in 1998. And Wisconsin's Kohl Center opened in 1998.

North Dakota also began the planning process for building the new Ralph Engelstad Arena, which opened in 2001.

The decade also launched an era of Olympic-sized rinks taking over the WCHA.

By the end of the century, more than half of the league's teams played on Olympic-sized ice sheets: Minnesota, Alaska Anchorage, Colorado College, St. Cloud State, Minnesota State and Wisconsin. Technically, Wisconsin's Kohl Center was three feet shy of 100, but it was close enough that most considered it an Olympic sheet. The only WCHA arena built in the 1990s to have an NHL-sized sheet was Magness Arena at Denver.

The decade featured a couple of resurgent programs in Colorado College and North Dakota.

In 1992-93, the Tigers finished dead last in the league standings with a 6-26 record. Colorado College then hired Don Lucia that offseason, and he took CC from worst-to-first in his debut season. In 1993-94, Colorado College went 18-9-5, finishing one point ahead of Minnesota to win the MacNaughton Cup. It was Colorado College's first WCHA title since 1957.

The Tigers, however, were left out of the NCAA tournament that year, prompting the short-lived 'CC rule,' where the NCAA began giving automatic bids to both the regular-season and tournament champions of each league.

Colorado College went on to win three consecutive MacNaughton Cups, running away with the league title in 1994-95 (22-9-1, seven points ahead of Denver and Wisconsin) and 1995-96 (26-2-4, 12 points ahead of Minnesota).

It marked the first time in WCHA history that a team won the regular-season title in three-straight years.

But it didn't take long for it to happen again.

North Dakota, which won three NCAA national championships in the 1980s under coach Gino Gasparini, fell on hard times at the start of the 1990s.

In 1994, North Dakota turned to former assistant coach Dean Blais, who played at Minnesota.

Blais recruited to the philosophy of "speed kills," and loaded up on smaller, dynamic players like Jason Blake, David and Kevin Hoogsteen, Curtis Murphy and Jeff and Jay Panzer.

They turned North Dakota into a high-flying offensive team and it immediately returned to prominence.

North Dakota shared the MacNaughton Cup with Minnesota in 1996-97, then won it outright in 1997-98 and 1998-99, despite not having many NHL prospects outside of Blake.

The WCHA also cemented Minnesota as the center of the league by adding St. Cloud State in 1990 and Minnesota State in 1999.

These moves, perhaps, had the most significant impact on the league's postseason tournament.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN CAPTURED THE 1991 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP WITH A TRIPLE-OVERTIME WIN OVER BOSTON UNIVERSITY AT THE ST. PAUL CIVIC CENTER.

In 1993, the league invited Alaska Anchorage to participate in the playoffs one year before it was set to enter the conference as a full-time member. That put the WCHA at 10 teams for the playoffs. All teams played a best-of-three first-round series with the five winners going to an event the WCHA began calling the Final Five.

The first Final Five, held in St. Paul's Civic Center, featured Northern Michigan, Michigan Tech, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Minnesota Duluth. The Gophers beat Northern Michigan 5-3 in the championship with Minnesota's Travis

Richards winning MVP honors.

The following year, the Final Five was held at Milwaukee's Bradley Center for the first time. It set an attendance record of 61,367.

The Final Five alternated between those two locations until 1999, when it was held at the Target Center in Minneapolis.

The WCHA had three NCAA national championship-winning teams in the 1990s. All three won the MacNaughton Cup as regular-season champions and the Broadmoor Trophy as playoff champions before winning the Frozen Four.

It started with Wisconsin winning its third championship in 10 years in 1990.

Led by WCHA MVP Gary Shuchuk, NCAA Most Outstanding Player Chris Tancill, forward John Byce, defenseman Sean Hill and goaltender Duane Derksen, the Badgers took out Maine in a quarterfinal series, topped Boston College 2-1 in the semifinals and hammered Colgate 7-3 in the championship game in Detroit's Joe Louis Arena.

The following year produced one of the NCAA's wildest national championship games.

Northern Michigan beat Boston University 8-7 in triple overtime – the second-longest national title game of all time – at the St. Paul Civic Center.

The Wildcats led Boston University by three goals with eight minutes to go in the third period, but the Terriers rallied with goals by three future NHLers – Tony Amonte, Shawn McEachern and Joe Sacco.

Darryl Plandowski finished off a feed from Mark Beaufait at 1:57 of the third overtime to win the game for the Wildcats.

Northern Michigan, coached by Rick Comley, finished the season on a 26-game unbeaten streak.

Although Michigan was the heavy favorite to win the 1997 NCAA national championship, North Dakota came away from Milwaukee's Bradley Center with the prize.

North Dakota beat Cornell 6-2 in the regional final and knocked out Colorado College by that exact score before taking out Boston University, which stunned Michigan in the semis.

The Terriers led North Dakota 2-0 after the first period, but North Dakota blew the game open in the second period with five goals.

In the span of just over five minutes, Murphy, David Hoogsteen and Matt Henderson scored to put North Dakota ahead. Hoogsteen and Henderson scored again later in the period as goalie Aaron

Schweitzer backstopped North Dakota to its first national title in 10 years.

The WCHA had two Hobey Baker Award winners in the 1990s after having five in the 1980s – Minnesota Duluth's Chris Marinucci and Minnesota's Brian Bonin, who also won the league's player of the year award twice.

The league had an arsenal of new buildings, a growing fan base and a big stage set for a league where top recruits wanted to play as a new century dawned.

2000s

The Frozen Four is supposed to be a coast-to-coast celebration, with all of college hockey coming together to see a champion crowned.

In 2005, though, the WCHA had its own private party in Columbus, Ohio – perhaps to the dismay of the rest of the country.

The midway point of the first decade of the 2000s was a pinnacle for the WCHA, as the final four teams still alive at season's end all hailed from the storied conference. It was the first time in NCAA history – in any sport – that all of the national-tournament semifinalists came from the same conference.

Denver won the championship, defeating North Dakota 4-1 in the final. Colorado College and Minnesota were the other two teams in Columbus.

The WCHA was the king of college hockey.

The decade lasting from 2000 to 2010 was indeed a heyday for the WCHA in terms of growth, talent and popularity. Denver's 2005 championship was the second in a row for the Pioneers. That followed two straight national titles by Minnesota. Wisconsin won the 2006 crown to make it five in a row for the WCHA.

Besides the five championships, WCHA teams took second in the nation three times (North Dakota in 2001 and '05 and Wisconsin in '10) and, in all, 14 teams made it to the Frozen Four. Only once in those 10 years did a Frozen Four take place without a WCHA representative.

Minnesota started the run of national titles right in its backyard with a 4-3 overtime victory over Maine in St. Paul, Minn., with future WCHA head coach Grant Potulny scoring the game-winner. A year later, the Gophers beat New Hampshire, 5-1, in Buffalo, N.Y. There were still overtime heroics, as Thomas Vanek scored to knock off Michigan in the Frozen Four semifinals.

Denver edged Maine 1-0 in Boston the following year, as goalie Adam Berkhoel got the shutout and Gabe Gauthier scored the lone goal. The Pioneers had to beat WCHA foe Minnesota Duluth in the semis.

Denver pulled off the trifecta in 2005, winning the MacNaughton Cup as WCHA regular-season champion (sharing it with Colorado College), the Broadmoor Trophy as the conference's postseason winner and the national title.

The Pioneers defeated North Dakota, 2-1, in the Final Five semifinals on a Gauthier overtime goal and then goaltender Peter Mannino shut out Colorado College, 1-0, in the championship game. Three weeks later in the Frozen Four, Denver played its two biggest rivals again but got to breathe a little easier in the process, beating CC, 6-2, in the Frozen Four semifinals and North Dakota, 4-1, for the national championship.

North Dakota knocked off one of its main rivals to get to the final, defeating Minnesota, 4-2.

Wisconsin, led by coach Mike Eaves and goaltender Brian Elliott, carried the mantle for the WCHA, in 2006, defeating Boston College 2-1 just down the road with the Frozen Four in Milwaukee. Denver won three MacNaughton Cups during the decade ('02, '05, '10) and three Broadmoor Trophies ('02, '05 '08) before big crowds at Final Five in St. Paul. North Dakota also won three MacNaughton Cups ('01, '04, '00) and two Broadmoors. Minnesota captured two MacNaughtons ('06, '07) and three Broadmoors ('03, '04, '07), while Colorado College won three regular-season titles ('03, '05, '08). St. Cloud State ('01) and Minnesota Duluth ('09) also won playoff titles. Six winners of the Hobey Baker Award, which goes to college hockey's top player, came from the WCHA in that decade: Minnesota defenseman Jordan Leopold, Colorado College forward Peter Sejna, Minnesota Duluth forward Junior Lessard, CC forward Marty Sertich, Denver defenseman Matt Carle and North Dakota forward Ryan Duncan.

There were also players who would go on to become household names in the NHL: North Dakota's Jonathan Toews, Zach Parsie and T.J. Oshie; Wisconsin's Joe Pavelski, Ryan Suter and Ryan McDonagh; Minnesota's Thomas Vanek, Blake Wheeler and Phil Kessel; Denver's Paul Stastny; Minnesota Duluth's Matt Niskanen; and Minnesota State's David Backes – just to name a few.

For anyone who followed the WCHA, 2000-1 to 2009-10 was a special time to be a college hockey fan.

Over the course of its history, the WCHA has featured plenty of fierce, fun rivalries that made the sport a major passion among its fans. Minnesota and Wisconsin. Denver and Colorado College. North Dakota and, well, just about everybody.

Those rivalries defined the conference, even as it underwent a few membership changes over its first six decades.

But a conference shake-up that rocked nearly all of college hockey in 2013 and created a dramatically different-looking WCHA out of the ashes left many wondering if any of the new rivalries could compare to what the league had seen in previous years.

Any fears about conference realignment's impact on those rivalries were quelled on the weekend of Jan. 17-18, 2014 in Mankato, Minn., when Ferris State rolled into town to play Minnesota State.

A year earlier, the teams were in separate leagues – Minnesota State in the WCHA and Ferris State in the CCHA – and they hadn't played each other in 15 seasons. But the visiting Bulldogs were the No. 2 team in the country, and Mavericks fans filled the arena to see a battle for the top of the conference standings.

And a battle they saw. The rough-and-tumble series included a crowd-pleasing, old-time hockey fight and ended with an MSU sweep and a tight championship chase that would last until the final week of the regular season.

Ferris State went on to win the MacNaughton Cup that season as the WCHA's regular-season champion, holding off the Mavericks by a point, but Minnesota State won the Broadmoor Trophy as the playoff champ and defeated the Bulldogs in the final (Ferris State would avenge that loss to MSU two years later).

With Ferris State and Minnesota State holding that prestigious hardware for the next year, it was clear that the WCHA was in a new, unfamiliar era.

GEORGE GWOZDECKY LED DENVER TO A PAIR OF NCAA TITLES IN 2005 AND 2006. THE CROWNS WERE TWO OF SIX WON BY WCHA TEAMS IN THE 2000s.

WCHA THROUGH THE YEARS

The 2010s were indeed an era of change for the WCHA, and that change actually started well before major realignment. The decade began with the conference expanding to 12 teams, as it brought in Bemidji State and Omaha to join a powerhouse lineup for the 2010-11 season.

The 2010-11 season saw a mighty North Dakota team, led by All-Americans Matt Frattin and Chay Genoway, win both the MacNaughton Cup and the Broadmoor Trophy. The latter was won in dramatic fashion when Frattin scored in double-overtime of the Final Five championship game against rival Denver at the Xcel Energy Center.

North Dakota returned to St. Paul three weeks later for the NCAA Frozen Four and a shot at a national championship. But it was another WCHA team that had the overtime magic that weekend. Inspired, perhaps, by an upset overtime loss to 10th-place Bemidji State in the Final Five quarterfinals, Minnesota Duluth went on an impressive run that ended with Kyle Schmidt's goal in overtime against Michigan. It was the first national championship for the Bulldogs and the 37th for the WCHA.

The following season, Minnesota won the first of back-to-back MacNaughton Cups (the Gophers shared the trophy with St. Cloud State in 2013), and North Dakota captured its third straight Final Five title. Meanwhile, the WCHA picked up two more Hobey Baker Awards to up its total to 16 in 33 years, with Wisconsin's Blake Geoffrion receiving the award in 2010, Minnesota Duluth's Jack Connelly lifting the Hobey in 2012 and St. Cloud State's Drew LeBlanc taking the honor in 2013. It looked like the WCHA was well on its way to another historic decade.

However, after Wisconsin defeated Colorado College in the championship game of the 2013 Final Five, the conference would never be the same.

In the summer of 2013, Minnesota and Wisconsin departed the WCHA as the Big Ten added hockey as a conference sport. Colorado College, Denver, Minnesota Duluth, Omaha, Minnesota Duluth and St. Cloud State followed them out the door for another new conference.

The remaining WCHA teams —Alaska Anchorage, Bemidji State, Michigan Tech and Minnesota State — took on the leftovers from the CCHA, which was going belly-up after losing most of its membership in the shakeup. Alaska Fairbanks, Bowling Green, Ferris State and Lake Superior State joined the WCHA, and Northern Michigan returned to the conference after 16 years away. The league restarted as a 10-team conference when it admitted previously independent Alabama Huntsville to the group.

But the so-called "new" WCHA turned out to be as competitive as the old one, not only with the new rivalries but with some new commitments from programs that had been wallowing a bit in their old conferences.

Coaching changes at Minnesota State, Bowling Green and Michigan Tech, a beautiful new arena in Bemidji and plans for fixes at several other rinks all seemed to give a boost to the WCHA's teams.

Minnesota State became the conference's new power, winning six MacNaughton Cups (2015, '16, '18, '19, '20, '21) and three playoff championships (2014, '15, '19) as the 2021 postseason moves into its final weekend, with a fine collection of All-Americans, including high-scoring forwards Matt Leitner, C.J. Suess and Marc Michaelis; do-it-all defensemen Zach Palmquist, Daniel Brickley and Connor Mackey and record-setting goaltender Dryden McKay. Hastings was named WCHA Coach of the Year four times, including his first season in the "old" WCHA and was national coach of the year in 2015 after taking the Mavericks into the NCAA tournament as the No. 1 overall seed and again in 2021 as MSU reached its first Frozen Four.

Michigan Tech, one of the great programs of the 1960s and '70s, experienced a renaissance in the post-realignment era. In 2015, led by All-American forward Tanner Kero, the Huskies qualified for the NCAA tournament for the first time since 1981, and in 2016, with another All-American, Alex Petan, leading the way, they shared the league's regular-season championship with MSU, bringing the fabled MacNaughton Cup back to Houghton for the first time in 40 years. Tech then went on to win back-to-back WCHA playoff titles in 2017 and 2018. All-American goalie Michael Bitzer all but carried Bemidji State to its first WCHA regular-season championship in 2017, leading the Beavers on a 13-game unbeaten streak (12-0-1) to start their conference schedule.

Bowling Green had a bit of tough luck, finishing no lower than fourth place in the WCHA's final regular-season standings but never winning a championship and losing two playoff title games — both in heartbreaking fashion in overtime, once to Michigan Tech (in double OT on a Shane Hanna goal) and once to Minnesota State (on a Nick Rivera goal after a late third-period comeback by the Mavericks).

All-American defenseman Alec Rauhauser was a big part of the Falcons' resurgence, while Northern Michigan also started to make a splash, hiring former Minnesota Gophers hero Grant Potulny as head coach in 2017 and getting great performances from the likes of forward Troy Loggins, defenseman Philip Beaulieu and goalie Atte Tolvanen, the latter of whom, in 2017, strung together five consecutive shutouts — a WCHA-record 339 minutes, five seconds.

The end of the 2010s saw more changes, as the league coped with a global pandemic. COVID-19 shut down the 2019-20 season prior to the conference tournament semifinals and not only delayed the start of the following season but caused the two Alaska teams to opt out of the 2020-21 campaign.

Minnesota State would make history that season, becoming the first program in WCHA history to win four consecutive outright regular season titles. The Mavericks also made their first Frozen Four appearance, downing former league rival Minnesota in the West Region championship game to advance. Lake Superior State also achieved a program first as the Lakers captured the WCHA postseason crown with wins over Bemidji State and Northern Michigan on championship weekend in Mankato.

Individually, Minnesota State netminder Dryden McKay established himself as one of the top goaltenders in league history, setting league records for career shutouts (24), goals against average (1.53) and save percentage (.932).

The 2020-21 season saw the curtain lowered on the WCHA with Minnesota State's loss in the Frozen Four at the hands of former league member St. Cloud State, ending the longest-running and most successful league in NCAA ice hockey history.

WCHA COMMISSIONERS

BURT SMITH

The first man to hold the title of WCHA Commissioner, Burt Smith served in that role from 1977-81, one of the most successful eras in WCHA history.

During Smith's tenure, league programs captured national titles in 1977 (Wisconsin), 1979 (Minnesota), 1980 (North Dakota) and 1981 (Wisconsin) and Minnesota's Neal Broten captured the first of the WCHA's 16 Hobey Baker Memorial Awards in the first year of the honor's existence in 1981.

In all, nine WCHA teams reached the Frozen Four in Smith's time as commissioner, with the 1977, 1979 and 1981 national championship games feature a pair of league teams vying for the NCAA crown.

OTTO BREITENBACH
1983-94

One of the true giants in the annals of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association, Otto Breitenbach served as WCHA Commissioner for 10 seasons from 1983-84 through 1993-94.

Under his leadership, the league continually improved upon its high caliber of competition and integrity as well as its stature as one of the nation's premier collegiate conferences. WCHA teams won three NCAA championships during his tenure (North Dakota in 1987, Wisconsin in 1990, Northern Michigan in 1991). The league produced five Hobey Baker Memorial Award winners, nearly 70 players earned All-American honors, and the conference unveiled new awards for a Student-Athlete of the Year and a Defensive Player of the Year.

Ever a proponent of growing the game, Breitenbach oversaw the return of Michigan Tech and the addition of Northern Michigan to the league family in 1984, developed a new postseason playoff format and an annual playoff championship held at one site for the 1987-88 season, forged a unique inter-locking scheduling agreement with Hockey East, added St. Cloud State as the league's ninth member in 1990 and Alaska Anchorage as the 10th member in 1993-94.

Breitenbach fashioned numerous playing tours of the WCHA by international teams, and he was a key figure in the expansion of the NCAA tournament to a 12-team, two-regional tournament format in 1992.

During his tenure, league revenues also grew significantly, there was a marked increase in national exposure, and attendance soared to more than 1,000,000 home fans per season. His tenure as the WCHA's guiding force culminated in the league naming its most prestigious honor – the WCHA Distinguished Service Award – in his honor.

In 1993, Breitenbach was honored for his longtime devotion to the sport of college hockey with the prestigious Jim Fullerton Award, presented by the AHCA.

WCHA COMMISSIONERS

BRUCE McLEOD
1994-2014

The longest-serving commissioner in WCHA history, Bruce McLeod served a highly-successful 20-year tenure as WCHA Commissioner from 1994-2014.

McLeod led league to unprecedented successes as WCHA teams won eight NCAA titles during his tenure (1997- North Dakota, 2000- North Dakota, 2002- Minnesota, 2003- Minnesota, 2004- Denver, 2005- Denver, 2006- Wisconsin, 2011- Minnesota Duluth).

Off the ice, McLeod built WCHA Final Five into the premier conference tournament championship in NCAA ice hockey, as the event played to packed houses at the St. Paul Civic Center, the Target Center in Minneapolis, Milwaukee's Bradley Center and the Xcel Energy Center in St. Paul.

McLeod oversaw development the league's digital presence, and expansion of its media footprint with the launch of the WCHA's first website and the development of This Week in the WCHA, the league's weekly radio show.

McLeod also directed the Association's successful 50th Anniversary Season celebration and spearheaded the first league-wide video streaming partnership with America ONE Sports.

BILL ROBERTSON
2014-21

Longtime and popular sports executive Bill Robertson served as the WCHA commissioner for seven seasons from 2014-2021.

During his tenure, the noted developer and longtime champion of college hockey fostered a culture that enhanced the student-athlete and fan experience.

Robertson's initiative to bring playoff hockey back to campus in 2017 was a rousing success over the league's final five seasons, with epic tournament contests and title games being played in front of standing-room-only crowds prior to the COVID-19-impacted 2019-20 and 2020-21 seasons.

Robertson also championed safety provisions for the WCHA and was a major proponent of overtime in college hockey. Robertson's tenure took on special meaning in 2018, as he introduced the Jeff Sauer WCHA Championship Trophy as a tangible reminder of the late coaching icon's enduring impact on the league and sport. The league also – for the first time in its history – introduced the popular 3-on-3 overtime and shootout format to its regular season games for the 2016-17 campaign.

Under Robertson's stewardship, the Men's League executed a fan-friendly overhaul of its digital platforms – including an unprecedented partnership with FloSports that provided extensive live streaming coverage of the WCHA and college hockey on FloHockey.tv over the league's final three seasons.

Robertson and his staff successfully expanded existing partnerships and brought new collaborations, overseen successful returns of the WCHA Final Five to both the Xcel Energy Center (St. Paul, Minn.) in 2015 and the Van Andel Arena (Grand Rapids, Mich.) in 2016 prior to the beginning of the on-campus playoff format.

THE MACNAUGHTON CUP

The Western Collegiate Hockey Association men's regular season championship, as has proven time and time again over the past 68 seasons, has traditionally been one of the toughest titles to win in collegiate sports.

Since the Association's founding in 1951-52, the number of games that have made up the league's regular season championship race have fluctuated as well as the methods of determining the champions. The number of league games have ranged from a low of 12 in the founding season of 1951-52 to a high of 35 that ran from 1986-87 through 1988-89. Since 1997-98, the conference schedule has consisted of 28 games per team.

Methods of determining the annual regular season team champion have included points accumulated (1951-58, 1973-79 and 1980-present) and winning percentage (1959-73, 1979-80).

The conference regular season title includes the awarding of the fabled MacNaughton Cup to the team champion.

Minnesota State is the lone school to win four consecutive MacNaughton Cups. The Mavericks turned the trick with titles in 2017-18, 2018-19, 2019-20 and 2020-21.

MacNAUGHTON CUP

Dating back 106 years to its original purchase in 1913, handcrafted of pure silver, standing three-feet high, and weighing more than 40 pounds, the MacNaughton Cup is the shining symbol of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association and its distinguished tradition as a premier collegiate hockey conference since the league's founding in 1951.

The MacNaughton Cup is awarded annually to the winner of the league's regular season championship and, as a traveling trophy, is on display each season at the home of the reigning champion. Beginning in 2005-06, the WCHA also began awarding a replica MacNaughton Cup to the regular season champion each season.

The MacNaughton Cup has traveled a long and winding road since its initial purchase in 1913 by the Calumet (Mich.) and Hecla Mining Company, but it officially settled into a home with the original WCHA (MCHL/WIHL) in 1951.

In 1913, James MacNaughton, then president of Calumet and Hecla, Inc., and an avid supporter of amateur ice hockey, authorized the president of the American Amateur Hockey Association to purchase a cup (he said the price didn't matter) and present it to the Association's championship team at the end of the season. The first winner was a team from the Cleveland (Ohio) Athletic Club. The MacNaughton Cup remained with the AAHA until it ceased operations in 1920.

From 1921 to 1950, the Cup was fought for by semi-pro and intermediate hockey aggregations in Michigan's Copper Country.

DENVER WAS A REGULAR RECIPIENT OF THE MACNAUGHTON CUP IN THE 1960S.

In 1951, the cup was donated by Calumet and Hecla, Inc., through the generosity of Mr. & Mrs. Endicott R. Lovell, to the newly-founded Midwest Collegiate Hockey League, forerunner of the WCHA. Lovell, president of the company at that time and the son-in-law of James MacNaughton, was also a ardent supporter of amateur hockey.

The MCHL chose – in the original spirit – to award the trophy to its regular season champion. The MacNaughton Cup remained a part of the MCHL/WIHL until the league disbanded in March 1958 for one year. In 1959-60, the seven original teams resumed formal competition under the name Western Collegiate Hockey Association.

The MacNaughton Cup has gone to the league's regular season winner on all but seven occasions since 1951. From 1962-65, the MacNaughton Cup was presented to the league playoff winner.

With seven WCHA regular season titles, Michigan Tech (1962, 1966, 1969, 1971, 1974, 1976, 2016) has won or shared the most MacNaughton Cups among current league members. Minnesota State (2015, 2016, 2018, 2019, 2020) is second with five. Northern Michigan (1991), Ferris State (2014) and Bemidji State (2017) have each won one title.

In 1981-82, 1982-83 and 1983-84, the trophy left with Cup custodian Michigan Tech and was presented to the champion of the Central Collegiate Hockey Association for those three seasons.

THE BROADMOOR TROPHY

The Broadmoor Trophy symbolized both regular season and postseason excellence in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association from 1982-2017.

The trophy is named after The Broadmoor Resort in Colorado Springs, Colorado, which has a long history of supporting college hockey.

The Broadmoor Trophy was commissioned as a replacement for the MacNaughton Cup, held in trust by Michigan Tech. In 1981, Michigan Tech left the WCHA for the Central Collegiate Hockey Association, taking the Cup with them.

To fill the void, The Broadmoor Resort presented a new trophy to the WCHA to award to their regular season champion.

North Dakota (1982), Minnesota (1983) and Minnesota Duluth (1984) were the three recipients of the Broadmoor as WCHA regular season titlists.

ORIGINAL BROADMOOR TROPHY
1982-2010

*- From 1982-84, the WCHA regular season champion received the Broadmoor Trophy

THE REDESIGNED BROADMOOR TROPHY WAS PRESENTED TO THE WCHA POSTSEASON CHAMPION FROM 2011-17.

Upon the return of Tech and the MacNaughton Cup to the WCHA in 1984, the MacNaughton again became the league's regular season award and the Broadmoor came to serve as the WCHA postseason trophy.

The trophy was redesigned in 2010. The new bronze cast trophy, created by Blue Ribbon Trophies & Awards of Colorado Springs, Colo., was a recreation of the Broadmoor Resort.

North Dakota became the lone WCHA program to win the Broadmoor in three consecutive seasons when the Fighting Sioux took home the Final Five championship in 2010, 2011 and 2012.

NORTH DAKOTA CAPTURED THREE CONSECUTIVE BROADMOOR TROPHIES FROM 2010-2012 AS THE FINAL FIVE CHAMPION.

THE JEFF SAUER CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY

The beginning of each season brings with it the hope and promise that the late Jeff Sauer gave to all. Each day carries the love of hockey that shone through with his ever-present smile. At season's end, a championship – the ultimate symbol of teamwork and unity that Coach Sauer exemplified – is decided.

JEFF SAUER

The WCHA is truly honored to award the Jeff Sauer WCHA Championship Trophy to the WCHA Postseason Tournament Champion as a tangible reminder of the man who meant so much to our league and to the sport of hockey.

JEFF SAUER WON TWO WCHA REGULAR SEASON TITLES AND SIX WCHA PLAYOFF CHAMPIONSHIPS IN 31 SEASONS AT COLORADO COLLEGE AND WISCONSIN.

JEFF SAUER WCHA CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY

Sauer's association with the WCHA spanned six decades, beginning with his playing career at Colorado College in the 1960s, continuing through 31 years as head coach at Colorado College and Wisconsin, and for 14 seasons in various consulting capacities to the WCHA Commissioner and the WCHA office. The only WCHA head coach with 30 years behind the bench, he is the league's all-time winningest coach with 665 victories – the 10th most in NCAA men's hockey history.

A two-time WCHA Coach of the Year, Sauer guided his CC and UW teams to a pair of league regular season titles and six WCHA playoff championships.

Jeff Sauer was a legendary coach, a tremendous ambassador for the game of hockey and, above all, a wonderful person who brought great joy to all. From the WCHA to his extensive involvement with the U.S. National Sled Team and the American Hearing Impaired Hockey Association, Jeff embodied the kindness, generosity and heart that makes our sport truly special.

All who knew Coach Sauer, on and off the ice, are better for the experience. We are blessed that he was – and always will be – part of the WCHA family.

MICHIGAN TECH WAS THE FIRST WCHA SCHOOL TO SKATE THE JEFF SAUER CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY AFTER THE HUSKIES DOWNED NORTHERN MICHIGAN, 2-0, IN THE 2018 WCHA CHAMPIONSHIP GAME.

MEMBERSHIP HISTORY

MICHIGAN TECH'S 66 YEARS OF MEMBERSHIP IN THE WESTERN COLLEGIATE HOCKEY ASSOCIATION STANDS AS THE LONGEST TENURE OF ANY SCHOOL IN WCHA HISTORY.

OTTO BREITENBACH DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD

The Western Collegiate Hockey Association's Distinguished Service Award was renamed the Otto Breitenbach WCHA Distinguished Service Award in honor of the successful commissioner and in conjunction with the 50th anniversary season of 2001-02.

The Otto Breitenbach WCHA Distinguished Service Award is presented to individuals who have rendered extraordinary service to the Association. There are no restrictions concerning persons eligible for the award or the number of awards that may be presented, however, a person shall not be eligible for nomination until after completion of their service to the Association. The award has been presented to coaches, administrators, officials, and members of the media.

OTTO BREITENBACH

One of the true giants in the annals of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association – longtime Commissioner and distinguished collegiate and high school athletic administrator Otto Breitenbach – passed away in January of 2007 at the age of 82.

Breitenbach served as WCHA Commissioner for 10 seasons from 1983-84 through 1993-94. Under his leadership, the league continually improved upon its high caliber of competition and integrity as well as its stature as one of the nation's premier collegiate conferences. WCHA teams won three NCAA championships during his tenure (North Dakota in 1987, Wisconsin in 1990, Northern Michigan in 1991). The league produced five Hobey Baker Memorial Award winners, nearly 70 players earned All-American honors, and the conference unveiled new awards for a Student-Athlete of the Year and a Defensive Player of the Year.

Ever a proponent of growing the game, Breitenbach oversaw the return of Michigan Tech and the addition of Northern Michigan to the league family in 1984, developed a new post-season playoff format and an annual playoff championship held at one site (that would become the WCHA Final Five) for the 1987-88 season, forged a unique inter-locking scheduling agreement with the new Hockey East Association, added St. Cloud State as the league's ninth member in 1990 and Alaska Anchorage as the 10th member in 1993-94. In addition, Breitenbach fashioned numerous playing tours of the WCHA by international teams, and he was a key figure in the expansion of the NCAA tournament to a 12-team, two-regional tournament format in 1992. During his tenure, league revenues also grew significantly, there was a marked increase in national exposure, and attendance soared to more than 1,000,000 home fans per season. His tenure as the WCHA's guiding force culminated in the league naming its most prestigious honor – the WCHA Distinguished Service Award – in his honor.

In 1993, Breitenbach was honored for his longtime devotion to the sport of college hockey with the prestigious Jim Fullerton Award, presented by the AHCA.

Born June 27, 1924 and a native of Madison, Wis., Breitenbach enjoyed a distinguished career in athletics as a player, coach and administrator. He was a three-sport standout at Madison's Edgewood High School and went on to play college football as a halfback for the University of Wisconsin. In 1942, World War II interrupted his schooling as he served as an instructor-pilot for the United States Army Air Force until 1946.

Breitenbach received his Bachelor's degree in Physical Education from Wisconsin in 1948 and his Master's in 1955, then moved on to a successful tenure as football and track coach and athletic director at Madison LaFollette HS. He then joined the UW Athletic Department in 1973 and eventually served that institution for 15 distinguished years as associate athletic director in charge of sports that included football, hockey and basketball.

In 1987 (until 1997), Breitenbach took on yet another career challenge as Executive Director of the Badger State Games, an Olympic-style sports festival for amateur athletes in Wisconsin. Breitenbach was inducted into the Wisconsin Football Coaches' Hall of Fame and the Madison Sports Hall of Fame in 1980 and then into the University of Wisconsin Athletic Hall of Fame in 2008.

A proud and devoted husband, father, grandfather and great grandfather, Otto was an inspiration to all who knew him, dedicated to promoting and growing amateur athletics at all levels.

70 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE

The Men's League of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association celebrated seven decades of history during the 2020-21 season.

The league is announcing an All-Decade Team and a Coach and Player of the Decade for the 1950s, 1960s, 1970s, 1980s, 1990s, 2000s and 2010s. All current and former WCHA member institutions were asked to submit nominees for consideration and nearly 200 current and former players and coaches were nominated. The honorees will be selected by a panel of current and former WCHA staff and media members who covered the league.

Home to a record 37 national championships, 16 Hobey Baker Award winners, 408 All-Americans, more than 450 National Hockey League players and 217 Olympians through 2018, the WCHA has been one of the most successful and decorated leagues in intercollegiate hockey.

WCHA SEASON REVIEWS - 1951-2021

Founded in 1951, today's Western Collegiate Hockey Association was originally known as the MCHL (Midwest Collegiate Hockey League) for two seasons in 1951-52 to 1952-53. It was then renamed the WIHL (Western Intercollegiate Hockey League) for the 1953-54, 1954-55, 1955-56, 1956-57 and 1957-58 seasons. There was no league play in 1958-59, after which the league was renamed the WCHA for the 1959-60 season.

1958-59

The Western Intercollegiate Hockey League (WCHA) disbanded in March of 1958 for one year, and thus there was no formal league play. However, most of the original WIHL teams still played home-and-home schedules. North Dakota and Michigan State earned trips to the NCAA championship, with UND prevailing as national champions and the Spartans finishing as runners-up. The overall records for the teams that were in the WIHL were: Denver [22-5-1], Michigan State [17-6-1], North Dakota [20-10-1], Michigan Tech [16-10-1], Minnesota [12-10-2], Michigan [8-13-1], and Colorado College [6-14-3]. NCAA Champion: North Dakota. NCAA 2nd Place: Michigan State. All-Americans: G - Joe Selinger, Michigan State; D - Bill Steenson, UND; D - Bob Watt, Michigan; F - John Kosiancic, MTU; F - Bob White, Michigan; F - Murray Williamson, UM.

The seven original WIHL teams then resumed formal league competition in 1959-60 as the Western Collegiate Hockey Association.

TEAM APPEARANCES IN WCHA CHAMPIONSHIP

Following, by member team, are appearances in the on-campus WCHA Championship.

From 2016-17 through 2019-20, the WCHA Playoffs consisted of four best-of-three, quarterfinal round series hosted by the league's top four regular-season finishers, followed by two best-of-three semifinal round series hosted by the highest remaining seeds.

The WCHA Championship was a single game, hosted by the highest remaining seed during that period.

Due to a modified season schedule in 2020-21, the WCHA Playoffs consisted of four best-of-three quarterfinal round series followed by a single-elimination WCHA Championship at the highest-remaining seed. The championship game participants from that season are included here.
