American Sports Underwriters, Inc., is a company devoted exclusively to the underwriting and development of insurance for the sports industry.

This publication includes only pertinent information relative to the 21 national championship events conducted for men and women by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA). It serves as a comprehensive guide to the history, records and specific data of each sports championship as well as a thorough review of the 1985-86 event.

Regular-season statistical and background data in the sports of football and basketball appear in the annual NAIA Football and Basketball Media Guides, published annually in July and November, respectively.

Any reprinting, publication or other use of the editorial matter in this book is hereby granted. Use of the NAIA name or official logo is not permissible without advance written approval of the NAIA Executive Director. NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) is a completely autonomous association, currently administering championship programs of intercollegiate athletics to 485 fully -accredited, four year colleges and universities of moderate enrollment. The fundamental tenet of the NAIA is that intercollegiate athletics is an integral part of the total educational program of the institution. This belief is strongly reflected in the governing documents, activities and organizational structure of the Association.

The NAIA was founded in 1940 as the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball (NAIB) and emanated from a "National Small College Basketball Tournament" inaugurated in 1937 in Kansas City, Missouri. The conversion of the NAIB to the NAIA came in 1952 when the organization expanded beyond basketball. The NAIA now sponsors championship opportunities for men in sports of cross country, soccer, football, indoor and outdoor track and field, swimming and diving, wrestling, tennis baseball and golf.

The NAIA takes pride in being the first national organization to offer national intercollegiate competition to both men and women, regardless of race.

In 1948 the NAIA, in recognizing its commitment to democratic principles, became the first national organization to offer intercollegiate post-season opportunities to black athletes. Unprecedented action was taken in 1953 when predominantly black institutions were voted into membership.

The establishment of national intercollegiate athletics for women on August 1, 1980 was a major step in strengthening the Association's commitment of providing the opportunity of competition for men and women on an equal basis. National programs for women include cross country, volleyball, soccer, indoor and outdoor track and field, swimming and diving, gymnastics, basketball, softball and tennis.

From 1937 until 1957, the NAIA was the only national organization to provide students at small-to-moderate institutions with the opportunity to compete at his or her highest level.

The Association believes in the educational value of intercollegiate athletics. The NAIA was founded on an "education model" and thus academic excellence is placed before athletic participation.

The NAIA is committed to the principles of quality athletics through academic achievement in improving society. To this end, the NAIA has adopted the strongest academic requirements of any national organization administering intercollegiate athletics.

The NAIA was the first national governing body to require eligibility certification for all student athletes throughout the regular season as well as post-season play. The NAIA is unique in requiring eligibility certification after each term of attendance to verify students are making progress toward a degree.

More than 80,000 student athletes participate yearly at the varsity level in the NAIA with an additional 35,000 competing in junior varsity/freshman programs. These 115,000 young men and women represent a membership of over 720,000 full time undergraduate students within our membership.

In addition to the administration of 21 national athletic events, the NAIA is strongly committed to recognizing academic achievement in all sports through academic all America and scholarship programs.

Informational services, clinics, educational workshops, in-service training and drug education programs represent other educational services offered by the Association.

The NAIA is directly involved in the United States Olympic Committee which organizes and administers the Olympic Sports Festival, Pan American Games and the Olympics. As a member of the Board of Directors for the United States Collegiate Sports Council, the NAIA is involved in arranging and managing the World University Games. The NAIA maintains active affiliation with the national sports governing bodies that are recognized by the United States Olympic Committee.

The NAIA was incorporated in the State of Missouri in 1961 as a non-profit benevolent organization. The Association's motto of "Athletics-Education for Leadership, Character, Citizenship" stands as an ever present reminder of the Association's commitment to the ideals of higher education in America.

MEMBERSHIP ELIGIBILITY AND OBLIGATION OF MEMBERSHIP

Active Membership shall be accorded to colleges and universities that meet the following requirements:

- a. Four year colleges and universities and upper-level two year institutions in the United States and Canada that award bachelor's (Baccalaureate) degree, or equivalent.
- b. Institution (United States) must be fully accredited by the appropriate regional accrediting agency and/or one of the following commissions of the Council on Post-Secondary Accreditation(COPA): Association of Independent Schools and Colleges, American Association of Bible Colleges and other institutional accrediting agencies that may later be recognized by the NAIA.

Associate Membership shall be accorded institutions which do not meet all of the requirements for ACTIVE membership, or for other reasons, do not qualify for the district and national events program. Such an institution:

- a. Must be committed to the development of a four-year, fully-accredited program.
- b. Must achieve four-year college, fully accredited status within a maximum period of six years after the date acceptance of the institution by NAIA as an associate member.

Institutions may become a member at any time, but schools submitted their membership dues after the membership deadlines of September 1, February 1 and April 1 will not be eligible to participate in the District, Bi-District, Area or National events until the next membership deadline. It is the obligation of member institutions to conduct their intercollegiate athletics programs according to the standards of the institution, the regulatory Association in which they hold memberships, and the NAIA. Institutions must pay annual membership dues and be in support of the policies of the Association. Where institutional rules and standards are stricter than those of the regulatory group or the NAIA, the rules and standards of the institution are recognized and supported by the NAIA.

NAIA COACHES ASSOCIATION

The NAIA Coaches Association (NAIAC) is the largest organization of collegiate coaches in the world. This organization makes it possible for coaches to conduct their business in a professional manner by providing a strong voice in establishing the rules and standards which govern each individual sport.

The NAIAC is made up of 15 different sport associations or sports sections, each with its own elected officers and governing bodies. The NAIAC Executive Board is made up of a President, First Vice-President, Second Vice-President, Secretary and Past-President, each of whom has served as a president of an individual sport association or sport section. The current President of each sport association or sport section is a member of the NAIAC Board of Directors.

Official business of each sport association or sport section is reviewed by the NAIAC Board of Directors each March and action is taken by the NAIAC Executive Board each July. These recommendations are then presented to the NAIA National Executive Committee for review and final approval.

In addition to providing a direct voice in the establishment of rules and standards for each sport, benefits of membership in the NAIAC include various clinics held in conjunction with championship events throughout the country and periodical newsletters sent to each member, presenting the latest information relative to the administration and conduct of each individual sport.

1985-86 NAIA-SIDA ALL-SPORTS CHAMPIONS

Adams State College, Alamosa, Colorado, and Wayland Baptist University, Plainview, Texas, claimed championships in the men's and women's divisions respectively in the final 1985-86 NAIA Sports Information Directors Association (NAIA-SIDA) All-Sports competition.

Established in 1969, the All-Sports program measures the success of an institution's overall athletic program by the accumulation of points in post-season competition on the district, area and national levels.

Adams State, which edged Wisconsin-LaCrosse, 129-114, nailed down its fourth All-Sports title by finishing third at the outdoor track and field championships. The Indians also compiled points by finishing first in cross country, placing second at indoor track and field, and earning points at the wrestling tournament.

This year's title marks the ninth time Adams State has finished among the top four teams in the men's division.

Wayland Baptist, which collected 130 points, claimed first at indoor track and field and finished runners-up in basketball and outdoor track and field. The Flying Queen's title was their first in the women's division, coming one year after Wayland's men captured the first All-Sports title for the university.

A total of 185 men's teams scored in the competition and 142 institutions registered points in the women's division.
