

Given enough time, the unknown becomes the known.

Acquaintances become friends and friends become family.

I made replacements, stitched together a new family of Egyptian students who studied, ate, and prayed together.

