Graduate School

GEORGE PETRIE, Dean

For forty years it has been the policy of Auburn to encourage graduate work. Many chairs in Southern Colleges are today filled by men who got their first training in advanced work here. Young men have received an inspiration and an impulse toward research that led later on to valuable contributions to human knowledge.

Indirectly the spirit of graduate work has done much to keep undergraduate work fresh and progressive.

A few scholarships are now offered but more and larger ones are greatly needed.

It has been the purpose to keep the graduate work free from red tape. There are a few fundamental regulations laid down by the college. These were adopted after a careful study of methods used in the leading institutions of the South and East.

The graduate work is under the direction of the Dean of Graduate Studies in co-operation with the Deans of the various colleges of the institution.

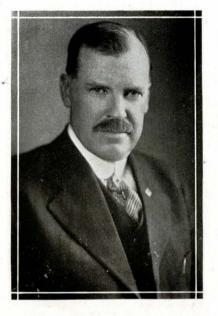

Graduation from the Alabama Polytechnic Institute or from an institution of approved rank is a prerequisite for any graduate degree. For credit in any graduate course a prerequisite is the completion of the undergraduate work in that subject through the senior class, or its equivalent. The applicant for a graduate degree must spend at least nine months at Auburn in earnest pursuit of the required work.

GEORGE PETRIE graduated at the University of Virginia in 1887, where he received the A. M. degree. In 1891 he received the degree of Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins. From 1887 to 1889 he was Professor of Modern Languages and History. In 1891 he was professor of History and Latin. Since 1908 up to the present time he has been Dean of Graduate Studies of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. He is a member of the American Historical Association, Alabama History Teachers' Association, Contributor to Cyclopedia of Southern Literature, Contributor to Educational Journal, Joint Editor of Mace-Petrie "American School History," Lecturer at summer session of George Peabody school for Teachers, 1916-17, and University of Chicago, 1918.

School of Chemistry and Pharmacy

The Chemical Department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute offers courses of instruction leading to degrees in Chemical Engineering and in Chemistry and Metallurgy. Graduates in the courses in Chemistry are occupying important positions throughout the country in connection with college departments of chemistry, experiment station laboratories, State a d Federal laboratories for the inspection and control of fertilizers, feedstuffs, foods and other commodities. In addition to this, numbers of men are sent out by this department in charge of important industrial plants or with laboratories which exercise chemical control over the operation of such plants.

The State Chemical Laboratory is connected with, and is a part of, the Chemical Department of the Institution, and for many years has rendered important and efficient service in protecting the consumers of the State. This Department also renders valuable service to the citizens of the state through the examination or analyis of plants, soils and miscellaneous products.

BENNETT BATTLE ROSS received his B. S. degree from the Alabama Polytechnic Institute in 1881 and his M. S. degree in 1886. He spent one year abroad in the universities of Gottingen and Berlin. Upon his return he held the Chair of Chemistry at L. S. U. for the term of six years. In 1893 he returned to his Alma Mater as head of the Chemistry Department, in which capacity he is still serving. In 1917 the Southern University conferred the degree of LL, D. upon him. During the World War Dr. Ross rendered valuable service to his country. He was a member of the State Board of Industrial Preparedness; Associate Member of the Naval Consulting Board of the United States. He is a member of the Fellow A. A. A. S., Association of Official Agricultural Chemists of the United States, and the American Chemical Society.

College of Veterinary Medicine

CHARLES ALLEN CARY, Dean

THE Veterinary College at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute was opened in 1907, and it was the first of its kind to be established in the South. Prior to 1907, for fifteen years, the Alabama Polytechnic Institute maintained a department of Veterinary Science but during that time it granted no degrees. From 1907 to 1923 this college has graduated one hundred and eighty-two veterinarians. Some of these graduates are practicing throughout the Southland while others are teaching in Southern schools.

During the World War over eighty of these men gave their service to the Government.

The livestock sanitary work is preventing and eradicating animal diseases throughout the country. There is a great field for the services of qualified graduate veterinarians in this line of work. The demand is growing and will continue to grow for veterinary practitioners; for livestock sanitarians to prevent diseases; for veterinary teachers; for Government Inspectors of meat, food and milk.

Veterinary medical graduates of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute are eligible to membership in the American Veterinary Medical Association; for livestock sanitary service in all states and cities. The department offers the regular four-year course in Veterinary Medicine, and a combined six-year course leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine.

CHARLES ALLEN CARY is a graduate of Iowa State College, from which he received his B. S. degree in 1885 and his D. V. M. in 1887. He then attended the South Dakota Agricultural and Mechanical College for three years. In 1890 he came to Auburn as head of the Veterinary Department, in which capacity he has served with untiring efforts for the past thirty-four years. Dean Cary is president of the National Veterinary Association of America.

College of Engineering and Architecture

A UBURN is a pioneer among engineering colleges, not only in the South but in the nation. It was organized as the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Alabama Polytechnic Institute and under this name the engineering college made rapid development.

The department of Electrical Engineering was established in 1891, one of the earliest in the country. This was followed by the departments of Architecture, Chemical, Mechanical, Architectural and Highway Engineering. These courses are well established and are doing work of the highest nature.

There has been a steady growth in the registration in Engineering courses, and at present we have the largest number in the history of the institution.

The graduates from Auburn receive wide recognition from industrial concerns in Alabama and in other states which employ college men. A number of the largest companies in the United States take men from our graduating class. The work of Auburn has been an important factor in the industrial development of Alabama.

JOHN JENKINS WILMORE, Dean

The engineering college at Auburn has been fortunate enough to retain for a long period the same staff of loyal and efficient instructors. They have carried heavy schedules and with unbounded enthusiasm have cheerfully responded to every demand made upon them.

An important step forward has been taken by the Engineering department in the development of research work by the establishment of an Engineering Experiment Station.

JOHN JENKINS WILMORE received the degrees of B. S. and M. E. at Purdue University. He is a member of Tau Beta Pi and Phi Kappa Phi honor societies. He also stands high in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Society for Promotion of Engineering Education, Alabama Educational Association, Fellow American Association for advancement of science. He started teaching in Auburn in 1888. In 1893 he was made professor of Mechanical Engineering and in 1907 Dean of the College of Engineering, in which office he is now serving.

Academic Department

RUPERT TAYLOR, Dean

I N 1872 the State of Alabama took over from the Methodist Church a school at Auburn known as the East Alabama Male College, which opened its doors in 1859. The memorial tablet on the South wall of Langdon Hall is dedicated to the students of this early College who lost their lives in the Confederate Army.

The Classical College thus established became the nucleus around which was built the present Alabama Polytechnic Institute. It gives instructions in the fundamental subjects required for itself and the technical schools with which it is associated. It also maintains its own prescribed work, which is known as the general course, and awards its own degree for the Bachelor of Science. New subjects have been introduced from time to time and emphasis on the old classical curriculum has been abandoned in favor of more liberal programs offered by modern colleges. By a grouping of electives a student is enabled to specialize in Art, Science or Business, in addition to the required work in History, English, Science, Modern Languages and Economics.

After a period of aquiescence, interest in the academic work has re-awakened, perhaps, because of more liberal offering. The enrollment has trebled in two years.

RUPERT TAYLOR received his B. A. degree at the University of Arkansas in 1903 and his M. A. degree in 1906. At Columbia University the Ph. D. degree was conferred upon him. When the United States entered the World War he gave his services to his country. From 1917 to 1919 he was a first lieutenant in the army; Executive and Confidential Assistant to Military Attache, American Embassy, Rome, Italy. On April 3, 1919, the Royal decree was conferred upon him, Knighthood in the Order of the Crown of Italy. In 1921 he was called to the Alabama Polytechnic Institute as Dean of the Academic Faculty, in which capacity he is still serving.

College of Agriculture

THE activities of the College of Agri-L culture of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute are divided among the following departments: Agronomy, Agricultural Engineering, Animal Husbandry, Botany, Farm Management, Horticulture and Entomology. Each of the above departments is engaged in research work and in teaching resident students. The purpose of the research activities is to discover new facts and principles pertaining to all phases of agriculture. The broad scope of the working progress is indicated by the fact that there are eighty-nine experimental projects under way in the several research divisions. While this may appear to be a large number of subjects under test it is really small when compared with the number of unanswered questions yet to be solved by the research workers.

MARION JACOB FUNCHESS, Dean

Some of the more important lines of research work are listed to indicate the broad field covered. Fertilizer problems, such as the determination of the best kind and the right amount for the main crop grown; the best variety of crops for the several soil divisions of the state. Investigations in soil fertility to determine the possibility of economically increasing the crop yield; clearing cutover lands; studies in tractor-wheel construction to the end that tractors may be used more economically in loose soils; nutrition studies with various kinds of animals for the purpose of discovering the best feeds and rations for live stock production; the pre-coloring of satsuma oranges, so that they may be marketed earlier; boll weevil control experiments, using various poisons; variety studies of peaches and apples and experiments to determine the best method of propagating pecans.

MARION JACOB FUNCHESS attended Clemson College, where he was graduated in 1908 with the B. S. degree. He then entered the University of Wisconsin and specialized in soils. In 1911 he received his M. S. degree. From 1911 to 1916 he was Assistant Professor in Agronomy at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. In 1921 he served as Acting Dean of Agriculture and in 1924 as Director of Experiment Station. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Gamma Sigma Delta Honor Fraternities. He is also author of several technical and non-technical books.

School of Education

THOMAS E. BENNER Dean I N June of 1915 the establishment of the Department of Education at Auburn was authorized by the Board of Trustees. Their action was timely, for it was during the same year that the Legislature enacted the Constitutional Amendment, ratified by the people in 1916, which for the first time gave the counties of the State the right to tax themselves for school support. The revenue from these taxes resulted in such improvement in the schools of the State that Auburn's new Department of Education found from the very beginning a greater demand for teachers it trained, than could be met.

During the seven years beginning with 1915 the number of pupils enrolled in the public High Schools of Alabama was more than doubled. Today it is increasing at the rate of twenty per cent per year. The field for teachers is a wide one, and grows daily more attractive in financial as well as social recognition.

Auburn trains teachers of vocational agriculture, teachers of the various high school subjects, high school principals and school superintendents. The College considers its specified field to be the preparation of educational leaders for the rural communities, where seventy-five per cent of the population of the State live.

In the fall of 1923 Dean Benner added extension courses in education to the resident courses already offered. Two hundred teachers in Chambers, Lee and Russell counties enrolled in these courses and received credit towards an Auburn degree.

Wherever in Alabama a school position calls for unusually straight seeing, straight thinking and straight acting, Auburn spirit and Auburn training in education are the best kind of equipment which the candidate can offer. That this is generally recognized is evidenced by the large per cent of these positions which are filled by Auburn graduates.

THOMAS E. BENNER, A. B., A. M., Ed. D., Ed. M., is a graduate of Harvard University. Dean Benner has held many important offices. He was Superintendent of Massachusetts Schools; Statistician and Editor, Alabama State Department of Education; Editor, Alabama School Progress; Editor, Alabama School Journal. When the United States entered the World War he was among the first to join the Air Service of the United States Army.

Department of Home Economics

A UBURN is the oldest co-educational institution in the South, women having been admitted by the Trustees in 1892.

Four graduate and one hundred nine undergraduate women students are registered in 1923-1924. Fifty per cent are registered in the Department of Home Economics, and with the exception of one in the Department of Architecture and two in the School of Pharmacy, the remainder are registered in the general course and in the School of Education.

The Department of Home Economics was established in 1922, and it now includes courses in Food, Clothing, Household Administration, Home Economics, Education and Home Economics Extension Training.

The Extension Service owns the Practical Home which is used by the students in this department as a laboratory for the study of home management and for carrying out research work such as: The use of electrical appliances in home-making process, including refrigeration, heating and lighting the home; the use and care of other equipment such as plumbing and lighting fixtures; dishwashing and laundering of clothes with modern equipment.

Students in this department may be prepared for the following professions: Home Making, Home Economics Research, Teaching Home Economics, Home Demonstration Work, Hospital Dietitian Work, Tea Room and Cafeteria Management, Hotel Housekeeping.

Home demonstration agents are employed in thirty-eight counties. At present there is a great demand on this College for graduate Home Demonstration Agents.

AGNES ELLEN HARRIS is a graduate student of Columbia University. It was there that she received the B. S. degree. She is a member of National Home Economics Association, Chairman Home Economics Section of the Association of Land Grant Colleges, Council of the Southern Region of Research Committee, Chairman of Living Costs Committee of Alabama League of Women Voters, Chairman Department Rural Social Problems, and Alabama State Conference Social Work.

Alabama Extension Service

LUTHER NOBLE DUNCAN, Director

THE extension service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute is a joint enterprise between the United States Department of Agriculture and the College.

Under the terms of the Smith-Lever Act, passed by Congress in 1914, all of the work must be administered by the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Funds for the work are derived mainly from three sources: First, the Federal Government; second, the State of Alabama, and third, Appropriations by County Boards of Revenue, Education and other sources.

The purposes of this work are to give instruction and practical demonstrations in agriculture and home economics to persons not attending college. The extension service organization of the College has four main divisions as follows:

First: The Administrative Force, dealing with general administrative matters, including the securing and the budgeting of funds, the auditing of expenditures, and other general administrative matters.

Second: The Supervisory Force, including four district agencies for men's work and four district agents for the women's work.

Third: A force of highly trained technical men who keep thoroughly informed on all of the latest developments in their respective lines, and who work in co-operation with the County Agents.

Fourth: Men agents are now at work in fifty-six of the sixty-seven counties. Women are employed in thirty-six counties. It is contemplated that, ultimately, the Extension Service will have a highly trained and thoroughly competent man and woman in every county in the State.

LUTHER NOBLE DUNCAN graduated from the Alabama Polytechnic Institute in 1900, with the B. S. degree. Later in 1907 he received the M. S. degree. After this he took special graduate work at University of Tennessee and the University of Illinois. From 1900 to 1905 he taught and directed school farms in District Agricultural Schools in Alabama; 1905 to 1909 he taught agriculture and research work in agronomy; 1909 to 1920 Superintendent Junior and Home Economics Extension Service. From 1920 to the present date he has held the office of Director Alabama Extension Service, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Division of Student Activities

THE division of student activities is one of the four major divisions of the college and is the only official department dealing exclusively with the general business of the student body. It includes the administration of all activities of the students where continuity from year to year is a factor and especially where funds or fees are collected by the college in behalf of the student organization.

It comprehends the business, but not the technical, administration of athletics, the social activities, the religious life, and the various publications of the student body.

This office was formerly administered by numerous faculty chairmen, but due to the increased work the Board of Directors deemed it advisable to bring the many activities of the students together under one department. Hence the organization of the division of Student Activities co-ordinate with the other three divisions: Extension, Experiment Station and Instruction.

This is the first year the Division, as such, has operated, and in time it is hoped to make it the general clearing house for the student organizations and activities of all kinds.

ROY DIMMITT was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1901 with the B. S. degree. He then moved to Birmingham, where he was supervisor of industrial education until 1911. He then occupied the chair of industrial education for the summer sessions at the University of Alabama. From 1915 to 1916 he was inspector of the State High Schools of Alabama. He was next employed by the United States Government as Director of Industrial Education. From there he was called to Maryland as the State Director of Vocational Education. It was from this state that he came to the Alabama Polytechnic Institute to accept the position as Director of Student Activities.

"Peblo"

"Peblo" hails from the village of Dothan and he isn't ashamed to admit it. He craves his "Ah, whoa T. C." in horseback riding and also in summer camp. He is a shark at figuring lumber and his future plans are to build up Dothan to be the South's leading metropolis.

JOE WILSON STEPHENSON Notasulga, Ala. Electrical Engineering

A. I. E. E.; Wirt Literary Society; Founders Club; R. O. T. C.; Sergeant (2); Lieutenant (1); Distinction (2).

"Steve"

"Steve" has the unique distinction of being one of the few men in the Elec. who does all of his own work. Maybe the reason of all of this is that he lives in Notasulga and can run down home every day or two to get renewed fires of ambition from the future Mrs.

PAULINE STEWART

Varsity Track (3, 2, 1); Manager (1); Cross-Country (3, 2, 1); Captain (1); Glee Club; R. O. T. C.; Sergeant (2); Captain (1); Founders Club; Cotillion Club.

"Stock"

"Stock" is one of our stellar track men and he has won many laurels for his Alma Mater. He hails from Panama, but has been away so long that the home folks will hardly know him.

JOHN GERALD STOCKELBERG Panama Canal Zone Civil Engineering

A. S. C. E.; Trash Can Editor Plainsman (1); R. O. T. C.; Corporal (3); Lieutenant (1); Crack Company (4); Class Basketball (2, 1); Auburn Hobo; Charter Member of Coffee Club.

"Jack"

"Jack" is extremely well liked in the class. He has a characteristic fondness for attempting to "make" every one on the campus in the Plainsman. We do not know where he is going to begin the practice of his profession, but we advise that town not to let him get into the newspaper game, or the politicians will be seeking cover from his barrage of sarcasm.

ELIZABETH STRIPLIN

J. L. REESE Class Poet When we came up to Auburn Four short years ago. The "old men" met us gladly— To them we were a show.

Under that spell of something new, Our Freshman year was spent. We took our share of the paddle, And as "Rats" we did not resent.

Among us were many athletes, And our scholars led the field. In football that year we lost to the Seniors, We fought but we had to yield.

Then came the days we were slimy; It was our Sophomore year. We thought we ought to be noisy To make the Freshmen fear.

That year we showed signs of learning, And we carried off honors galore. If you remember, we won and were Champions In class football. All hail! '24.

Then under the spell of boredom Juniors were we with a will. We rode "Doc" with more than abandon By acting as though we were ill.

Though we were Juniors and hard to please, Our class was still the best. Again we were football champions— The team can tell you the rest.

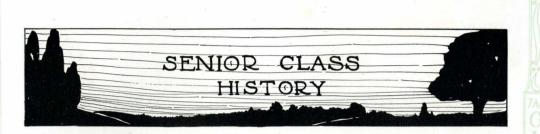

Just recently we became Seniors With a "Dip" well nigh in sight. We're after that thing, and we'll get it. If we do, we'll have fought a good fight.

It's true (though I know I'm repeating), We were class champions again. The "Rats" and "Sophs" each took a beating From a perfect team of men.

We'll soon be leaving the village, We'll soon leave the Orange and Blue. But, wherever we go, whatever we do, Old Auburn, we'll always love you.

Here let us toast our Professors, Who lectured us day by day. They made a noble sacrifice To show the rest the way.

It seems our days here are so short, Time flies so quickly by. But we'll ne'er forget the days that were spent In dear old A. P. I.

F. M. ORR Class Historian

L IFE is but a succession of seemingly ordinary events which are daily cast into the discard of memory, only to be dragged forth tomorrow to form important history. Memory thus prodded into retrospection yields a pleasant reminiscence of the aims, the ideals, the joys and the sorrows of our college lives. Such a backward glance cannot be unwelcome, for at this time, when our college careers are drawing to a close, many of us are wont to say: "Turn back the universe, and give me Yesterday!" Then let us pause for a moment, in our work of the present, and our plans for the future, and consider the days that have been.

Our life, as a class, dates from a day early in September, 1920, when we were summoned into Langdon Hall by "Mike"

Donohue and first organized into a class. None of us will ever forget that first class meeting, for on that day the bonds which have held us together for four years were tied, and the spirit of co-operation that has been reflected in every-thing that we have attempted was born.

The remaining days of our Freshman year were pleasant and eventful enough. We bore with fortitude the occasional and painful lessons in discipline from our older brothers, and we made daily trips to Drake Field to cheer the Tiger football team which boasted of the heaviest line in the world. Five of our classmates won the varsity "A" that year, while our class teams won the basketball and track championships.

Our Sophomore year was different from that of no other class. The same sudden change from the meek and humble attitude of a rat to the chestiness that is universally characteristic of a Sophomore, was plainly evident. However, this soon wore away and we settled down to work with a firm resolution to surpass our record of the previous year. We were then, as we are now, the smallest class in college, but, in spite of the thinness of our ranks, we kept alive the old class spirit. The Greater Auburn drive, which was launched at this time, found us contributing both with money and effort, while practically every member of the class was gaining prominence in some form of student activity. In class athletics we retained the supremacy in basketball and won the football championship. By the latter victory we obtained the right to place our numeral on the further water tank.

That year, our second in Auburn, was one of adjustment. Many changes in the college curricula made of us an experiment class, since we bore the brunt of most of the changes, but we are happy in the knowledge that Auburn is at last getting upon an equal footing with the larger colleges and universities of the country. The reconstruction of Comer Hall, which had burned the year before, and the erection of a new veterinary group marked the beginning of a building Page 87 campaign which we hope will some day result in the realization of a Greater Auburn.

We have now reached the critical period in the history of our class; a period of transition, of changes and readjustment, in which, within the short period of a three months' vacation, we made the important step from the grade of lower classmen to that of upper classmen. As Juniors, we discarded the care-free ideas of our Sophomore year and settled down to a serious contemplation of the future. The world seemed bigger and brighter to all of us, for we were entering upon the last half of our educational journey.

Our activities, individually and as a class, surpassed the records of previous years. We again won the class football and basketball championships, and we were able to boast of having more "A" men than any other class in college. Fifteen of the members of our class had, at this time, won their letters fighting for their Alma Mater, and we are justly proud of them.

Our Senior year began with a rush of work and responsibility for the entire class. Under the leadership of "Soapy" Phillips, our president, we have made several moves toward what we consider the betterment of Auburn. The Freshman rules, which were installed early in the year, are principally our work, and the class as a body, with the president as the outstanding figure, has been the leading factor in the establishment of student government. These institutions, while still young and untried, are certain to become stronger with each succeeding year, and it would be hard to conceive of anything that could do more toward building up the old Auburn Spirit and binding the students closer together.

Who can say that ours has not been a record class? For three consecutive years we have won the championship in class football, and we hold the distinction of being the first class to have our numeral on both of the water tanks at the same time. Fifteen of our men are wearing the "A," which is still the record for representatives from one class.

Such is the chronicle of our life. Having reached the point at which we are preparing to cast off the raiment of college students and pass on to the realm of the Alumni, we feel that it is quite fitting that such an account of our achievements be written. Perhaps the tenor of this history may sound a bit boastful, but we are inclined to feel with Shakespeare, that:

"The evil that men do lives after them;

The good is oft interred with their bones."

So let it be with the class of '24!

And now that we are nearing the goal toward which we have been laboring for four long years, let us not be sad at the thought of severing friendship's ties, nor harbor any regrets for things left undone, but face the future with the determination to keep forever, within our hearts, the love for our Alma Mater.

R. L. SIMPSON Class Orator FELLOW classmates, members of the Facu'ty, friends of Auburn and mothers and fathers of the students of the c'ass of nineteen hundred and twenty-four, this is an epoch in the lives of two hundred men and women, as we now are, who as graduates of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute are about to enter a world so strange and hazy in its entirety that we feel it befitting to pause a moment and contemplate, rot of the future, but of the past, with its years of careful preparation and painstaking toil, the result of which is this enthusiastic body with which you are now assembled.

To the last man we are enthusiastic at the thought of on the morrow receiving a degree which in concrete terms places us on a par with any college man in the country, still

"—there's a sadness in the hearts of us that is akin to pain, And somehow resembles sorrow as mist resembles rain."

Auburn is dear to the heart of every Auburn man for around its name are entwined some of the sweetest memories that dwell in the storehouse of our recollection. It is true that we have had hard times as well as good times, but as we look back on college life the hardships and sorrows we have undergone sink into oblivion and the pleasures we have enjoyed shine forth in all their radiance, illuminating our path to future duties. May the path that we tread, with the light of understanding to guide us, be always directed to the goal of our ambition. Into the heart of every true son of Auburn is instilled the principles of good citizenship. He is true to his state, to his nation and to his Alma Mater.

The Auburn spirit which has guided and directed us, from our first Freshmen days to the present moment, where we now stand at the threshold of a new and mysterious world, is a spirit which, if in the souls of us, will cause our steps never to swerve from the path of duty or self-sacrifice.

The Auburn spirit is one of service It is one which causes men to go out on Drake Field day after day to play with the scrubs in order to develop our varsity football squad. It is the spirit which caused a great number of Auburn men to leave their books and serve in the World War and finally lay down their lives unflinchingly, willingly, in the service of their country—in the defense of the rights of humanity. They were real Tigers.

The Auburn spirit is one of industry. It is one of steadfast devotions to daily tasks. It is this spirit which is responsible for Auburn's high scholastic standing and the reputation which her graduates are building up.

The Auburn spirit is one of democracy. There is no snobbishness at the Alabama Poly., for the Tiger spirit will not countenance the snob. There are no class distinctions. Everyone has an equal opportunity in the classroom, in school activities and socially. The student who is working his way through school has the sincere admiration and respect of his fellow students. The spirit of democracy is one of good fellowship, of comradeship, of friendliness.

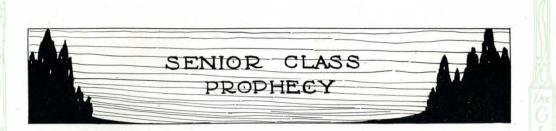

The Auburn spirit is one of enthusiasm. It presses forward through untold discouragements. It is a "never-say-die" spirit. We are proud to have it said, "You can defeat but never beat Auburn." The same is true of the student body. That is Auburn spirit.

The Auburn spirit is one of loyalty. It holds fast in good or ill. It brings old grads and former students hundreds of miles to see the Tiger claw and tear the enemy to pieces. It has caused us to stand with heads high and sing, "Glory, Glory, dear old Auburn," even when the score has been against us.

That is the Auburn spirit.

We have dwelt at length among ourselves and our College, but there is a still more important factor in the lives of us which we should not overlook. It was this force that moulded our lives and characters. It was this force that taught us the right from the wrong, that inspired us to believe in the Almighty, and lastly, it was this force that made it possible for us to be here tonight as members of the graduating class of 1924.

To our fathers and mothers, who brought us into the world, who guided our childish footsteps in pathways of right, who guarded and cared for us in early youth and gave us standards and ideals for which to strive and whose sacrifice made it possible for us to face the world well equipped through the sound training of four years at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, this oration of the graduating class is solemnly dedicated.

W. E. CHAPMAN Class Prophet

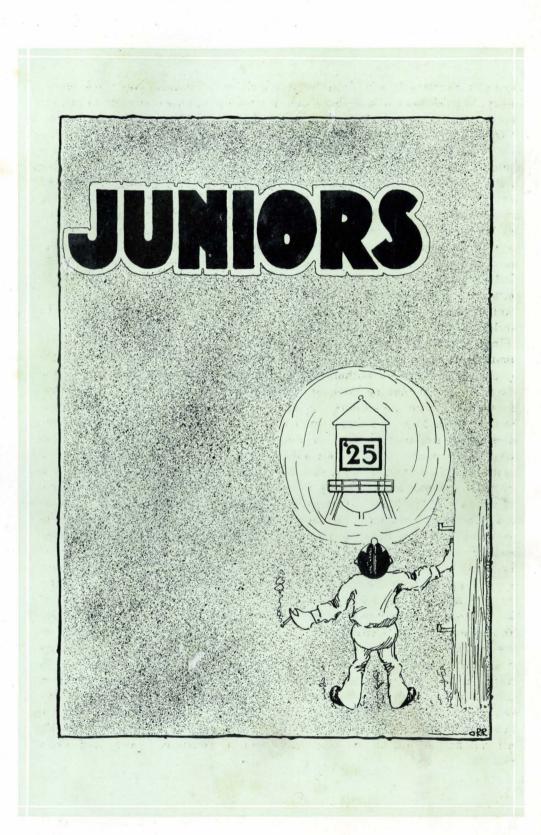

S INCE the days of hop-smoking and the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment there have been no supernatural revelations of the future.

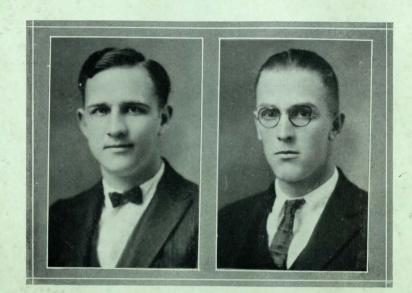

Therefore I shall have to revert to the time-honored custom of prophesying the harvest of the future by the sowing of the past.

As I have been a Campus grazer and have associated with the common species of the herd of '24 I have picked up various and sundry facts regarding the aspirations, dreams and the contacts with the deadlier sex of my classmates. From this knowledge I shall try to point out to you the probable destination of all, of the glories found by some and the heights of success by others.

First, I see our noble and far-spreading Senior President, Soapy Phillips, and three of his associates in the bay window producing venture, Alexander, Holman and Johnson, demonstrating their new process of building retaining walls, in which they simply fall in the creek, which immediately causes the creek to mournfully whisper, "I be damned." Then I see the immortal trio of dormitory hounds and drummers in the seventh heaven of delight. They, Dickinson, Goleman and Horne, are running a dorm of their own. They have with them as counselors the far-famed Opelika kings, and missionaries Semmes and Howell, and also the culvert builder, Dizzy Dean Beasley. This calls to mind those charming, magnetic men who are the toast of the ladies-I mean Monsieurs Bohunk Bates, Hanlin, Foreman, Railroad Simpson and Bill Wood, who are the Shrieks of W. C. A. and are now teaching there. But living up to their life in college I see Tapscott, Sweet, Collins, Timberlake, Duke Chambers and Naftel still using the funnel and members of Sleepy Winter's Chicago Gold Coast Gang. Their main rivals in the underworld life and loves are Bruiser Grimley, Hagerman, Keller, Kling and Heath, all led in number of gallons and wild amorous affairs by Chief Mosley. Morris, McLean, McCutcheon and McCarley are attorneys and are defending the notorious military firm of Mosley, Reese and Orr against a suit by the equally famed firm of Boot Shelley, Mellen, Kelly and Lutz, dispensers of all kinds of watered stock. Edwards, Fleming, Ford and Holt are campaigning for the highest office of their native city, viz., Steeplemen, whose chief duties are to fan away the odors in kitchens and to wipe off the face of the town clock before breakfast each morning. But they with all their ability are only "also rans" compared with Auburn Jack Wiatt, who won the hearts of the voters by his famous words, "My trousers may be torn and ragged, but they cover an honest heart." The haven of rest for all weary and sleepy college boys is run by J. W. Bates, Harvey, Campbell, Hahn and Mason, who remember Page 91 their own sleepless days in Tommy Fullan's classes. Howard, Naff, Jack Stockelberg, Warfeld and Minnie Brice are all working on an ear-stopper to protect the future students from the Professors' time-worn jokes. Almgren, Basore, Patrick, Cox and Creel have just finished their constructive essay on "Why is a cow? If not, where?" Mary Wooley is enjoying the sweetest moments of a young girl's life, namely, her frst divorce. Helen Wise looks on in envy because she Ain't. Big Boy Roberts, Curtis, Chink Chambers and J. M. Brown are still in Auburn trying to get their dip. Dorothy Anderson is still loving homesick rats and doing hers up. Allen, Duke Apperson, Cammack and Guy are doing the best they can. But Red Griffin, Fulton, Jones, LeBron and Knight have them all beat, they do nothing. Livingston is president of Teachers' Research Bureau. Munn, Hawkins and Levie are singing instructors in New York. Galbreath and Miller are A No. 1 hands in the stockyards. Morgan and Matthews are ministers of the gospel. Snapp and Hicks are nationally known football coaches. Taylor and Smith are recognized authorities in the scientific world. Warner and the Lambert brothers are starring in the musical comedy, "Find 'Em, Fool 'Em, and Forget 'Em." Swango and Bostick are musical composers. Their latest hit is the song, "When you know you're not forgotten by the girl you got for nothing." Barry and Boyd are demonstrators for the above named publishing company. Berlin is running a shoe-shine parlor. Brown and Brown are authors. Fowler is a famous auto racer. Scott, Orum, Newman and Meek, working together, have invented a new method of flying kites in the bathroom. The Creel duo are as ever, athletes; both are "high" in the pugilistic realm. Durr, Dowe and Cook are seeking the formula for perpetual youth. Cobb is making cobbs plentiful in Kansas. Davis, Leath and Scalco are newspaper men now. Dowdy and Walding are propounding their Astronomical theory of "The higher, the fewer." Turner is a far-famed orator. Stewart and Winston are running a matrimonial bureau. Dowdell and Douglas are inspectors in the ladies' department. Powe and Owens are next in line for the place because of their previous experience in gazing through the window shades of Smith Hall. Pate and Whittaker are the heads of families; that's all. Stripling is in the movies with the Price & Spann Co., with Pippin and Manley as directors. Reagin and Rayfield are physicians. Frank Stockelberg, Swanson, E. T. Wood, Sewell and Champion are in a dead-heat race for the honor of being Dog Robber for the War Department. Strother is a salesman in the shoe firm of Porter and Wilson. Reynolds, Allison and LeGrand are druggists. Yeager Horn has become so broad-minded that he takes up two seats. DeYampert, Harper and Dillard are patent medicine manufacturers. Williamson and Haynes are Analytical Chemists. Thaggard and Thomas are followers of the horses. Wilber is a jockey. Phenie Crane, Biil Goodwyn and Levy went before old Salt Peter for admission through the Pearly Gates, but old Salt said, enter thou on the left side and sit among the other goats such as Harrison, House! and Soapy Phillips.

N A bright day in September, 1921, over three hundred and fifty youths got their first glimpse "he "Loveliest Village of the Plains."

We soon beca acquinte and especially the ways of the up Peterson was elected President.

son was elected i resident.

JUNIOR

and Tech. We ended our first year after we had made many mistakes, menus and classes. We then scattered to every part of the globe for summer vacation, but every one of us, large and small, had imbibed to the utmost the dearest thing our college gives—The Auburn Spirit.

tion drew to a close we again turned our formers to the As summer place that was foremost in our minds. It was a great thing to get back, to make new acquaintances, to greet old f, and to feast upon the blood-tingling cries of "War Eagle," "E-e-e-at 'emup Ti-i-ger." This time we were soon in our places and ready for work. Dean Petr son was again chosen as our pilot. Many eve tful things occurred in this year that made history for the college. The Auburn Drive was launched and was supported unanimously by our whole class, both financially and morally. Coach Donahue, for nineteen years the fountain-head of the Tiger Spirit and the man who has placed Auburn so high in athletic circles, resigned during the fall. The "barracks," remnants from the days of the S. A. T. C., lived up to expectations and burned completely to the ground during the early hours of an October morning, when most of the occupants were A. W. O. L. at a football game. Many other things that will always remain fresh in our memories occurred this year, and then summer vacation rolled around again.

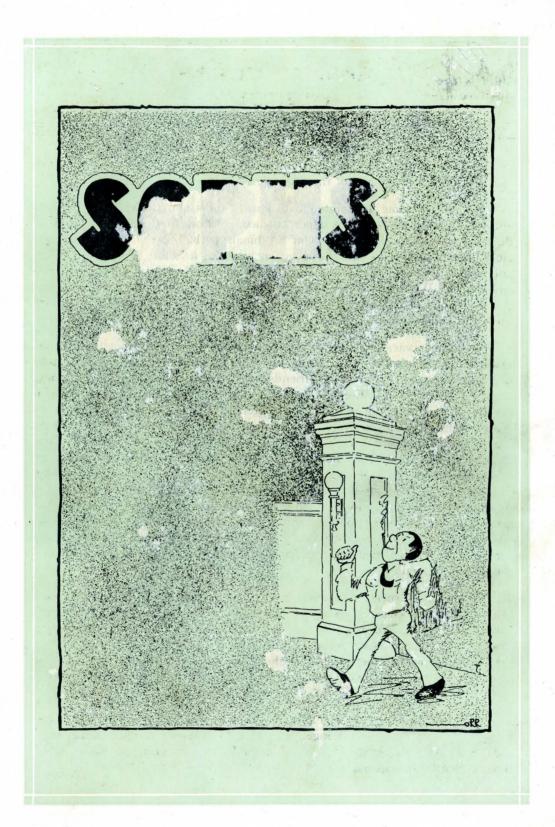

We next returned as Juniors, proud of the title of "Upperclassmen." For the third time Dean Peterson was our choice for President. We were "behind" the football team more than ever this year and did out part to show the Fight'n Tigers that Auburn was always behind them whether they won or lost. At present things are drifting pleasantly cong and we are now visualizing the time when we will become Seniors and start on the last lap of the race.

We feel proud of our class and our record. We have not had much to blow about in class football, but we have ten men who wear the orange "A." These men are: Allen, Harkins, Ollinger, Peterson, McKinney, Martin, Locke, Marquis, Rush and Sheridan. Best of all, we still have the spirit of '25 which, as near as words can express it, is "All together, all for Auburn."

-W. E. GLENN, '25.

A MOST peculiar sketch blew into the Glomerata office one windy day in February. It seemed to be a portrait, but still it was not one. Even the Editor was stumped and finally gave up in despair and turned it over to an expert scientist for interpretation.

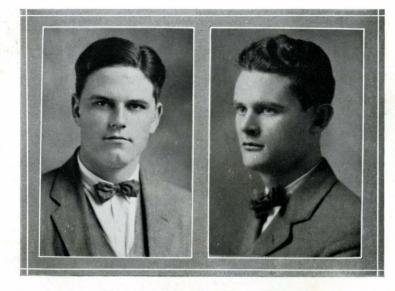

It is so vague an outline and has such strange features that only this expert has been able to tell what it is, and he was only successful after the most minute examination. It gives one the idea of a great embryonic something, very much alive, partially developed, and with great promise of future development. Some of the parts seem perfectly formed, but most of them require close scrutiny before the beholder can get any meaning from them.

The verdict of the expert was: "This is not a portrait of a single person, but of a type. It would evidently be classified as belonging to the Genus, Homo, species, alumnus. In the undeveloped state it is known by the name of Sophomores. It is not an uncommon creature, being especially abundant in the United States, where it seemed to thrive better and more individually than in any other part of the world. As would be expected, different specimens vary with location and environment, but the general characteristics are always the same. The brain of our subject, which is the color of brass, has the decided tendencies common to the class, which indicates a great amount of self-confidence and self-satisfaction and an abundance of that quality called "nerve." It also shows marks of profound learning, dignity, and earnestness, all in very elementary conditions, but supposedly developing rapidly.

"That peculiar formation on the back of the head indicates a fondness for constitution, red tape, offices, etc. Such a combination indicates athletic ability. This specimen is certainly well developed. Data shows that "P" Green, "Buck" Spinks, "Clabor" Williams, "Bo" Self and "Bull" McFadden are wearers of the "A." Furthermore, smaller members of this species have given the other classes a hard fight in all class football contests. Other peculiarities may be noticed, on close observation, which tell much about this unique specimen. But the most prominent feature is the one common to all members of the species at this stage of its existence, namely, its indefinite capacity for improvement.

IN THE eventful fall of '23 over five hundred high school lads and lassies satisfied their desire to be college "studes" and selected Auburn as their Alma Mater. This decision made and executed, the opening days of school were ripe with curious and exciting "freshies" fully aware of the fact that they were no longer mere "high schoolers" and evidencing this fact by an assumed collegiate air. Said air being very distasteful to proud Sophs.

The class soon got down to business, and at a meeting held in the Engineering Building elected officers. Pat Moulton was elected president of the class, and other Rats of noteworthy ability were elected for the remaining officers.

By this time football season had gotten well under way, and the Rats reported over one hundred strong to battle for births on the squad. Seeing the throng of ex-high school stars that assembled for practice on the drill field, one would think that a high school conference was in session, and that each delegate had to wear his home town uniform. It is certain that practically every high school was represented in this collection of shin guards, shoes, faded jerseys, and ragged pants. Games were lost and won, but there was always that indomitable Auburn Spirit present, and some of these hardy youngsters will brighten Auburn's football hopes for the coming year.

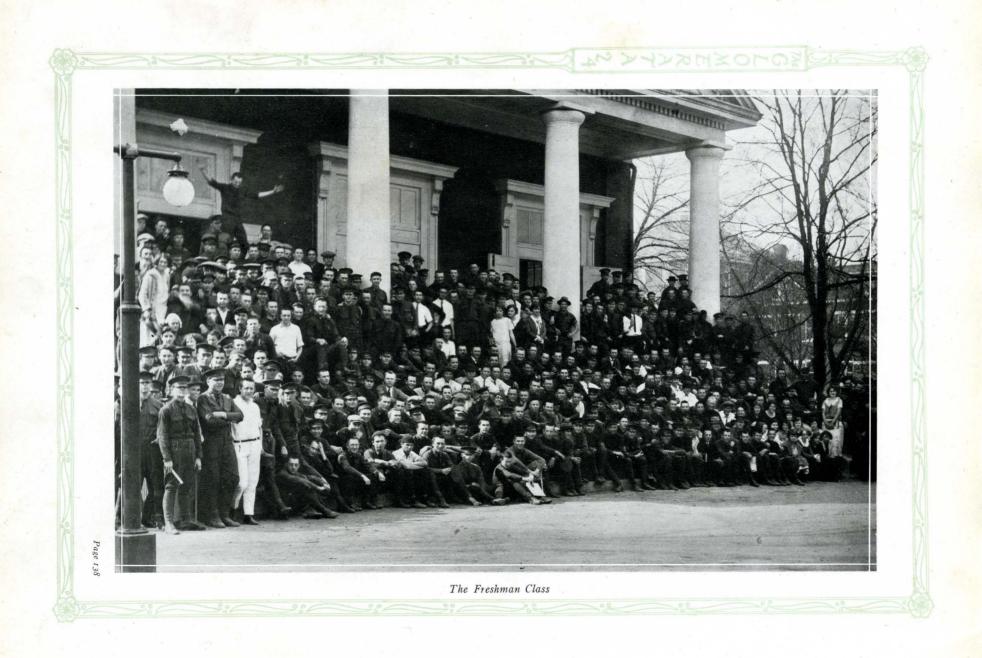

In the meantime, the "Froshies" had learned the art of "bull slinging," and during the holidays this art was exercised to the uttermost.

Upon our return to the Village of the Plains after the holidays, it was decided by the upperclassmen that the wild and care-free freshmen should be reduced to a further state of subjugation, and a set of rules and laws were made and enforced. These laws absolutely govern the actions of the "new students." A Rat holds his life in his hands when he dared enter the main gate or strayed up town after nine o'clock at night or smoked other than a cob pipe, and woe be unto the unlucky "Frosh" that faced the Vigilance Committee, for they had a way of taking strong action.

As spring came on the days of "Ratdom" grew fewer, a realization of what Auburn meant to them became more potent to the freshmen.

Thus the Auburn Spirit and the undying love of old Auburn was installed in the heart of each freshman.

The Tiger Spirit

"BILL" WOOD Cheer Leader MANY, many years ago a famous coach said, "An Auburn team may be defeated, but it never can be 'licked.'" This has become an adage of the whole South. No matter how big are the odds of adversity; no matter how poor the prospects; no matter how the score stands—there is one thing never lacking in the team or in the student body, and that one thing is—FIGHT.

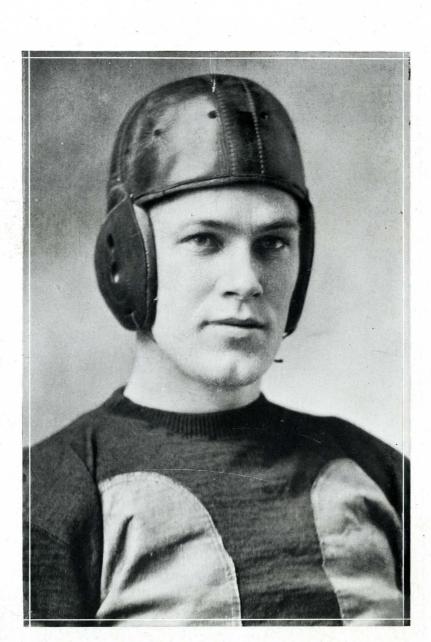

Year in and year out—years of championships and years of defeat—the spirit remains the same. Auburn is noted for the clean sportsmanship of her teams; for her dignity in victory; for her manliness in defeat, and for the democracy among her student body.

This is the spirit that permeates the campus. This is the spirit a Freshman imbibes when he dons his first Rat cap and raises his shrill voice in the battle cry of "War Eagle—Eat 'em up, Tiger!" This is the spirit that binds the old grads to their Alma Mater. This is the spirit of Auburn.

FRANK "RIP" REAGAN Captain of Football

One of the best guards that ever wore cleats in the south. An inspiring leader and a man who will always live in Tiger traditions.

Review of Season

"GOB" WILSON Line Coach

THE season of 1923 served as a crucial test for football and its traditions for Auburn. She was faced with the handicap of starting a season without the services of "Mike" Donahue, who after nineteen years of faithful service had departed to other sections to begin again the moulding of character and the making of men as he had so successfully done while at Auburn.

John E. Pitts, who had served as Assistant Coach for several years under Coach Donahue, was chosen

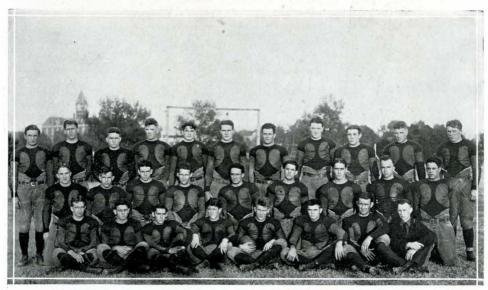

"Вооку" SNAPP Manager

as his successor. The work he has accomplished during the past season proves that the men making this selection exercised exceedingly good judgment and forethought.

Coach Pitts was confronted with the problem of replacing fourteen letter men who would not return for the 1923 season. Of the letter men returning only four, Capt. Reagan, Lawrence, Pruitt and Ford were regulars. Other letter men returning were Howe, Sitz, Peterson and Allen, while the men left from last year's squad were Ollinger, Harrison, Crane, Harkins and Brice. The scrub team contributed two valuable men in Reese and Lutz while the Freshman team sent up a number of good men in Green, Williams, Spinks, McFaden, Self, Nabors, Huckeba, Rox, Market and Reeder.

A familiar scene—any day

From this material Coach Pitts welded together a team that was noted as being the lightest in the history of the college and also the "fightenist" team turned out in years.

Regular practice was called on the afternoon of September the tenth and the preliminary work of limbering up and getting the men into condition was the first task of the coaches. All of the candidates realized the enormous task that confronted the team and from the first the spirit of the entire squad was "all together, let's get down to business." The linemen were soon sent over to Coach Wilson for individual instruction and the backfield men to Coach Cole. When time was called for the first game Coach Pitts and his associates had built a team out of a "shoestring" that was saturated with fighting spirit and a will to give their all for their Alma Mater.

The Tigers were now ready to "push off" on one of the hardest schedules, if not the hardest, ever faced by an Auburn team.

Early season scrimmage with the Scrubs

Clemson fails to gain around Batch's End

AUBURN 0, CLEMSON 0

The Tigers encountered a surprise in the first game of the season when they were held to a scoreless tie by Clemson. It was Clemson's Homecoming Day and they had been groomed and "pointed" for a victory over the Tigers as a fitting climax for such an occasion. The Clemson team that day was in many ways superior to several October and November opponents.

In the first stages of the game it was all Clemson, as their superior condition, occasioned by a two weeks' start in training, enabled them to make a series of first downs before the Auburn team could check their offense. After that, however, the Tiger threatened constantly but always lacked the punch to take the ball across.

The punting duel between Howe and Robinson was the outstanding feature of the whole game.

AUBURN 20, BIRMINGHAM SOUTHERN 0

The second game of the Tiger schedule was played with Birmingham Southern at Crampton Bowl. The Panthers were taken in tow to the tune of 20 to 0 after putting up a game fight and holding the Tigers scoreless the first half.

The Tigers showed the effect of the hard grind they had gone through at Clemson and during the first half were exceedingly off form. It was in this game however that the team "found" itself and demonstrated that they were dangerous when aroused and were capable of playing brainy football as well.

The work of the line in this game was a source of much worry to Tiger supporters. Individually they were superb but they did not seem able to function as a unit until the latter stages of the game.

AUBURN 30, HOWARD 0

In the first campus game the Howard Bulldogs furnished thirty pounds of raw meat to feed the ravishing Tiger. The Bulldogs, although outweighing the Tigers, were unable to withstand the fierce attack of the Auburn line and backs.

The line in particular began to function properly and opened gaping holes in the opposition for the backs to plow through. In this game the line clearly showed that light, as they were, they would bow their heads to none.

The Bulldogs put up a good defense but were unable to make any headway on offense, making only one first down during the whole game.

A short pass, Harrison to Peterson, proved very effective and paved the way for several touchdowns.

AUBURN 6, ARMY 28

The Army team, rated as one of the best in the East this year, was the intersectional opponent for the Tigers. After the initial kick-off the Tigers started with a rush and took the Kaydets completely by surprise. Auburn, on receiving the kick-off, made first down and then punted. The Army was unable to make any headway and their attempted kick was blocked by Ollinger and recovered by Brice. The Tigers made another first down on off-tackle smashes, and then a delayed pass, Harrison to Pruitt, resulted in a touchdown.

In the second half the Army's superior weight and reserve strength began to tell and the tide of battle turned back to the Cadets. Two of the touchdowns in this half were the result of long runs by Smythe, one of them for ninety yards through the entire field. Much valuable experience was gained by the Tigers in this game that was to prove of great value in the later battles.

The Soldiers fail to pierce the Tiger line

AUBURN 34, FORT BENNING 0

After the strenuous game with the Army the Tigers experienced somewhat of a let up in their next game with the Fort Benning soldiers. The team showed marked improvement in their play after the experience they had gained from the Eastern game.

Williams had a great day, scoring three touchdowns and playing a jam up defensive game. Crane made several nice runs when he came into the game and Captain Reagan and Lawrence dealt misery in large doses to the ambitious soldier linemen.

The day was exceptionally hot and frequent "time outs" slowed up the game considerably.

Peterson breaks loose for a touchdown

AUBURN 0, GEORGIA 7

In one of the hardest fought contests that the ancient rivals, Tiger and Bulldog, ever engaged in, the Bulldog emerged victorious. It was Georgia's game but Auburn's day. The light Tiger team forced the fighting all the way and were able to gain at will until some unforeseen bobble, caused by the slippery field, robbed them of a score.

The Tiger line completely outcharged the heavy Georgia forwards and stopped their offense cold. The Tigers earned thirteen first downs and received two more from penalties. The Bulldogs were not able to earn but two first downs while they received two more from penalties.

The only score came when the Tigers seemed to be on an unheaded march for a touchdown. Day, the Georgia center, intercepted a forward pass in an open field and ran sixty-five yards for a touchdown.

Lawrence proved in this game that he was one of the outstanding centers in the South, while Sitz came through with probably the greatest line play an Auburn guard ever turned in.

Auburn's Ball!

AUBURN 6, TULANE 6

The Tigers made their second appearance at Crampton Bowl with the Green Wave of Tulane. Too much over-confidence after their brilliant game with Georgia robbed the Tigers of a victory. Auburn started with a rush once they received the ball but a fumble and Tulane's stubborn defense held them at bay for the first period. They were not to be denied, however, and early in the second period Ford, who was playing one of his greatest games, crashed over for a touchdown.

Tulane staged a comeback at the beginning of the second half and Brown, on a delayed run, crossed the Tiger goal line. The Tigers then began to settle down to serious business and with the line ripping the Wave forwards to shreds the ball was bucked to the ten-yard line. Here a forward pass on fourth down fell two inches short of the line and Tulane punted out of danger.

Centre tries a skin tackle play

AUBURN 0, CENTRE 17

The Centre College Colonels triumphed over the Tigers at Rickwood Field, before a capacity crowd, in one of the most colorful games of the season. The Colonels were anxious to get revenge for their 6 to 0 defeat the season before and were playing at the top of their form.

The game was clearly Centre's from the start, and it was due only to the wonderful fighting spirit of the Tigers that the score was held as low as the records show. The Colonels showed two wonderful backs in Covington and Rabenstein and a well balanced and brainy line. Auburn found it difficult to get her offense working, but Crane made several spectacular runs and handled the punts in praiseworthy manner.

Centre was expected to use an open-field attack, but both touchdowns came from straight football. In the third period Lemon kicked a goal from placement from the forty-yard line.

AUBURN 0, GEORGIA TECH 0

Thanksgiving day dawned cold and rainy, but this did not phaze 27,000 eager spectators. Tech, doped to win, was considered a greater favorite on a wet field.

The Tigers elected to play a punting game. Howe, one of the greatest punters that ever wore a Tiger uniform, was kicking as never before. His first punt of 82 yards placed Tech on the defensive.

The ball see-sawed up and down the middle of the field in the first half with neither side able to get within scoring distance. In the third quarter the "break" came. Williams recovered a partially blocked punt for a 40-yard gain. Green then broke loose for a 28-yard run that carried the ball to Tech's eight-yard line. A pass, Green to Peterson, across the goal line was juggled a moment and then fumbled, the slippery ball probably saving Tech from defeat. The remainder of the game was played in Tech's territory.

CAPTAIN "RIP" REAGAN

Senior Weight 178 Delta, Ala. 4 years Varsity

Guard "Rip" made the Tigers a great leader and his fighting spirit was evident at all times. He received many mentions for All-Southern and he will go down in Auburn football history as one of the greatest of our long list of fighting captains.

CAPTAIN-ELECT "FATTY" LAWRENCE Senior Plantersville, Ala. Weight 185 3 years Varsity. Center

"Fatty" is one of the best centers in football today, and there is no question that he deserved All-Southern honors. It was always a hard job for the opposing team to stop his deadly defensive work. He will captain our team for next year and with this hard fighter as their leader, the Tigers have every reason to swing into a march of triumph.

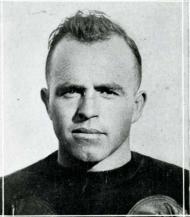

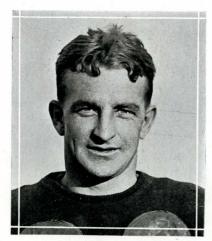

ALTERNATE CAPTAIN-ELECT "HARD BOY" PRUITT

End

Junior Weight 180 Pine Hill, Ala. 3 years Varsity

"Hard Boy" is one of the best ends that ever played on an Auburn team. He made the Army mule feel pretty bad, this fall, when he marched across their goal line for a touchdown. His defensive work in the Tech game could not have been beaten and we are expecting greater things of him next fall.

"FLIVVER" FORD

Fullback

"Filvver" was the backbone of the hard driving in the Tiger backfield this past season. He is a hard fighter every minute of the game, and his vacancy will be keenly felt next fall.

Fullback

"Little Tiger" with his educated toe has been one of the most valuable assets an Auburn team ever had. He was classed among the best punters in Dixie and his work in the Tech game was marvelous. He was a hard fighter every minute of the game and his place will be a hard one to fill next fall.

"Rough Ed" Allen

Junior Weight 145 Selma, Ala. 2 years Varsity Halfback

"Rough Ed" is one of the fastest of the Tiger backfield. He was kept out of several games this year due to injuries and he was greatly missed in every case. He is classed as one of the best defensive backs in Southern football.

"SWEDE" SITZ

Senior	Gadsden, Ala.
Weight 187	2 years Varsity
	Guard

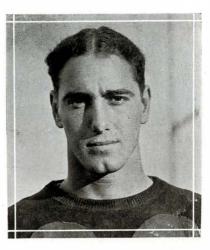

"Swede" was severely handicapped during the past season, due to an injured shoulder. He is a tower of strength and by far the most versatile man on the team. His work in the Georgia game stands as one of the greatest exhibitions of football a Tiger guard ever turned in.

"BATCH" OLLINGER

End

Junior Weight 170 Mobile, Ala. 1 year Varsity

"Batch" came to Auburn under a great handicap, and that was to live up to the Ollinger reputation on the gridiron. Although this was a big task, he has done it and done it well. Anyone who saw him in action at the Tech game will vouch for that, and we will welcome him back to his wing position next fall.

"MINNIE" BRICE

Senior Weight 180 Charlotte, N. C. 1 year Varsity

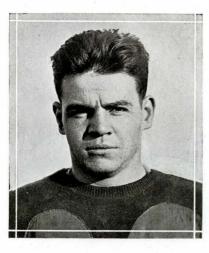

"Minnie," in playing his first year varsity, proved himself to be an important cog in the Tiger machine. He is in the game at all times and a harder fighter never donned a uniform. We are looking for him back next fall to hold down his old position in the Tiger line.

Tackle

"DEAN" PETERSON Junior Chattanooga, Tenn. Weight 170 2 years Varsity

Quarterback

"Dean" proved himself to be a field general far above the average and as level-headed as a quarterback could be. He ran the team like a veteran and always kept the opponents guessing. He should be a strong contender for All-Southern honors next season.

"Jo Jo" HARRISON Senior Montgomery, Ala. Weight 175 2 years Varsity Halfback

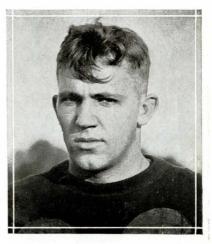

"Jo Jo" is one of our triple-threat men. He is an accurate passer, and a good punter, besides being a fine backfield runner. He graduates this year, but he has one more year on the team, and he will be called upon for great things next fall.

"BUCK" WILLIAMS

Sophomore Weight 170 Chattanooga, Tenn. 1 year Varsity

Halfback

"Buckshot" or "Clabber," as he is sometimes called, is one of the hardest driving backs that has worn a Tiger uniform in many years. Although this is his first year on the team, he has showed great form, and if his good work keeps up we expect to find him on an All-Southern before his career is ended.

"Jelly" Self

1 year Varsity

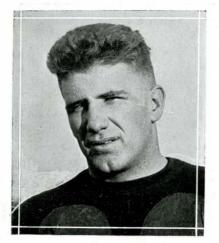

"Jelly" proved himself to be one of the hardest fighters on the Tiger squad. He is ideally built for his position and he always gives his opponents more than they can handle. He is just beginning a career that will surely go down in football history.

Guard

"Виск" SPINKS Sophomore Thomasville, Ala. Weight 170 1 year Varsity End

"Buck" made his first appearance in a Tiger uniform this fall, and he has proved himself to be a valuable asset to the team. He is a hard fighter and a constant player. He has two more years to play and no doubt will do his part to make a name for his Alma Mater.

"Bull" McFaden

SophomoreMontgomery, Ala.Weight 1801 year Varsity

Tackle

"Bull" played a great game throughout the entire season even though it was his first year on the team. He is a hard fighter and follows the ball at all times. His defensive work in the Tech game was excellent and we predict a great career for him.

"Feny" Crane

Senior Birmingham, Ala. Weight 150

Quarterback

1 year Varsity

"Feny" made his first appearance on the team this year and proved himself to be a great asset. He is one of the best broken-field runners in the South and his excellent playing in the Centre game proved him to be worthy of his place. We are counting on having him "step out" next year with even greater glory.

"PEA" GREEN

Weight 170		1 year Varsity
	Half back

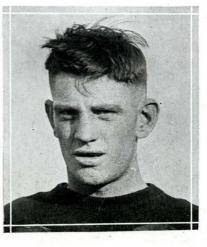

"Pea" is best known for his beautiful 40-yard run in the Tech game, when he got lime from the goal line in his eyes as he fell. His rangy build and his deerlike speed proved a constant threat to opponents' open formations.

"Red" HARKINS

Junior Bessemer, Ala. Weight 178 2 years Varsity.

Tackle

"Red" proved to be one of the hardest fighters on the squad of '23. This tall giant never slackens in his fighting and we are glad that he will be on hand next year when the season opens.

JOHN LEWIS REESE

Senior Pensacola, Fla. Weight 165 1 year Varsity

Fullback

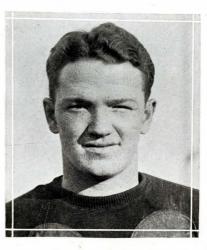

"John Lewis" is one of those persistent and determined warriors who scrubbed three years before landing a place on the Varsity. He is a hard driver and was called upon many times to gain the necessary yardage. He graduates this year, but we are in hopes that he will return next fall.

EARLE LUTZ

Senior

Montgomery, Ala. Weight 185 1 year Varsity Center

"Have-No-Fear" has been a good example of the true Auburn fighting spirit. He scrubbed for three years before he reached the varsity ranks. He was a hard fighter every minute of the game and you could always depend upon him to give a good account of himself.

HENRY SWEET

Senior Weight 170 Guard

Bessemer, Ala. 4 years Scrubs

Henry has had more tough breaks during his career than any man on Drake field. Many injuries during the early part of the last four seasons have kept him from the fight in the first-line trenches, but his valuable services to the squad won him the award of the coveted "A."

The Scrubs

ED SHIRLING Coach

WITHOUT the scrub team there would be no Varsity; for it is the practice that the big team obtains from the scrubs that moulds them into a smooth working machine. The scrub team is a vital cog in the college football system and should come in for their share of the praise.

These men are out on the field every day taking the hard knocks and bumps and always coming back for more. They have no weekly game to look forward to, for theirs is all grind and hard work, with no words of praise to cheer them to greater efforts. Probably they are never thought of by the general public, but every college man knows and appreciates their true worth.

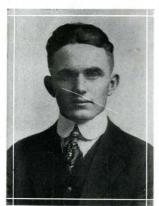

Coach Before the Freshman rule went into effect, several games were arranged for the Scrubs each season and this did much to break the monotony. It is the Freshman team that now enjoys the privilege of these games.

The Scrub team of 1923, under the able coaching of Ed Shirling, on many occasions furnished the Varsity plenty of opposition and proved to be one of the best scrub teams in years. Many of these men who have proven their ability will probably be called on to fill a Varsity berth next season and there are quite a number of them who will be able to fill the job in faultless style.

Freshman Football

KIRK NEWELL Coach

O NE hundred and fifty freshmen reported to Coach Newell when practice officially began in September. From this army of material a threeteam squad was developed that played some wonderful football during the season.

A seven-game schedule was arranged and the Freshmen came through with wins over Mercer Freshmen, Troy Normal, Hamilton Aggies, and Georgia Tech Freshmen. They lost to the Georgia and the Florida Freshmen and played a tie game against Sidney Lanier of Montgomery.

Quite a number of promising recruits were developed by Coach Newell during the season and the following men are expected to give a good account of themselves next year with the Varsity:

Capt. Moulton, Robinson, Blackledge, English, Long, Dunning and Baskin, in the line; and Haygood, Turner, Andress, Gregg, Hassler, Thrash and Thigpen as backfield men.

Freshman competition is just coming into its own with the teams in the Southern Conference, but judging from the wonderful strides made in the past two years there is no doubt that it will furnish a much needed medium for developing Varsity material of high calibre.

Senior Class Team

CLASS football in Auburn is regarded as one of the best methods of obtaining new material for the Varsity. It is one of the many cogs in the great machine that goes to build a Tiger Varsity that will bow its head to none.

Interest is high in all of the games and the brand of football displayed is in many respects on a par with the smaller college elevens. The present Senior Class team has had the unique distinction of winning the class title for three consecutive years. In that time they have had to practically rebuild their team from year to year because of the many drafts the Varsity squad has made upon it.

The team this year was coached by two Tiger stars, "Rip" Reagan and "Feny" Crane. "Chink" Captain Chambers, playing his fourth year on the team, was elected captain. There were no individual stars and the success of the team resulted in the precision-like teamwork that each game improved.

The first game with the Freshman resulted in a tie and necessitated a play-off which the Seniors won by two points. This gave them the privilege of playing the Sophomores for the class title. In a thrilling game the Sophs were downed 9 to 0.

The team was composed of the following men: Ends, Horn, N. Y.; Snapp; tackles, Lambert, R. E., Mosley; guards, Lambert, J. E., Medlock; center, Horne, J.; quarter, Knight; halves, Wiatt, Bostick; and fullback, Chambers.

THE Juniors put a heavy, aggressive team on the field this year, but, due to the rush in the preliminary practices, they lacked the proper conditioning to place them in the running. Although they lost their only game to the Sophomores, it was only after a bitter struggle the whole way.

Freshman Class Team

A<sup>S</sup> is usually the case, the Freshman class team this year found it hard to develop the teamwork and confidence that was necessary to humble the mighty Seniors. However, in the first game they held the Seniors to a tie, which necessitated a play-off game for the first time in history of class football. The game was unusual in the fact that the score was not only a tie, but the number of yards gained and lost by both teams was exactly equal.

Review of Basketball Season

I SEEMED that the early season predictions of a great year for the Tigers on the court would be lived up to, for the team, with quite an array of veterans back, began passing and shooting in great style. The only handicap apparent was the lack of height on the team. Harrison, easily two inches taller than any of the other candidates, was only able to smooth his hair six feet from the floor.

The opening games started with a bang and a victorious season seemed to be on tap when a disastrous road trip chalked up two defeats. The next games, on the home court, showed the Tigers playing some of the best ball of the season and the opponents were literally snowed under. In the next few games something of the precision and confidence seemed lacking, and the team, although in many cases completely outplaying their opponents, lost frequently.

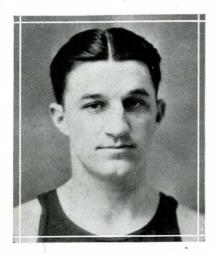

JESSE DUKE Manager

Then came the Southern Conference tournament in Atlanta. The Tigers furnished the biggest surprise of the meet when they eliminated Tech on the opening night, after having previously lost two games to them. This victory brought together Auburn and Alabama in an athletic contest for the first time in sixteen years. Alabama returned victorious 40 to 19. The score would indicate that the game was a walk-away, but this was not the case, as every point was bitterly contested; Alabama being able to score principally through their superior height. The guarding was so close in the early stages that eight minutes of the first half elapsed before either team was able to score. The game was characterized by good sportsmanship and good feeling, and although the play was fast and furious there was never a semblance of roughness.

"Fritz" has made one of the hardest fighting Captains a cage team ever had. He has been one of the outstanding players on the team for three years. He is always in the game and his absence will be keenly felt when Coach Hutsell sounds his call next year.

CAPTAIN-ELECT "WALLACE" MCKINNEY Junior Mobile

Guard

"Big Mac" has been an important cog in the team of '23, and he has been one of the brainiest men a quintette ever had. He possesses a thorough knowledge of the game and he should be a great leader for our team next year.

"Jo Jo" HARRISON

Montgomery

Center

Senior

"Jo Jo" has starred on our cage team, just as he has done in football and baseball. He has made an unusual center and it is very seldom that his opponent gets the jump on him. It is probable that he will return next year, and this will affect the strength of the team to a great extent.

"JESSE" DUKE

Guard

"Sparky" has played a great game at guard for the past three years. He is in the game at all times and never fails to give a good account of himself. He, like several others of the team, will graduate this year. It will be a hard matter to find a man of his calibre for next year.

Co-ed Basketball

E ARLY in the fall the co-eds began their basketball training. Three of the stars from last year reported for the first workout. They were Margaret Brown, Mary Tamplin and Elizabeth Young. In addition, Margaret Lane, Olive Gibbons, Ethel Price and Ruby Powell were available.

The team was coached by Lieutenant Ingalls, one of the R. O. T. C. instructors stationed here. Much apprehension was felt at first as to the success of the season, as both of the high scorers from last year had left college through graduation.

Regardless of this, however, the team held its undefeated record of last year. One trip was made, and this proved a complete success, as both games that were played resulted in victories. This made a total of five victorious games for the Tigerettes without a single defeat.

Not a single Varsity player will be lost by graduation this year, and with added experience combined with their speed and good passwork, the Co-ed team will be among the undefeated next year.

The team was composed of: Forwards, Lane, Tamplin and Gibbons; Center, Brown; Guards, Young, Price and Powell.

the squad was cut to twenty men. Coach Cole in charge of the Freshies brought them along at a fast clip and in their many encounters with the Varsity they furnished some lively competition.

The following men composed the squad: Hall, Long, McKinney, Thigpen, Arnold, Allison, Slaughter, Pruitt, Cummins, Caley and Austin.

The Freshman team of this year, although it failed to make a very impressive showing in the games played, has probably the best material for future development of any Freshman team in the past several years. With four men from this year's Varsity leaving through graduation, a number of places will be open to the likely looking candidates and several of them will probably be seen in a Varsity uniform next year.

DAVIS "RED" GRIFFIN Captain of Baseball

For three years a star at the Keystone sack and a consistent hitter in every game. Fast, wiry and full of pep; a man at all times dependable.

Prospects for 1924

A LTHOUGH quite a number of letter men were lost from last year's team, prospects are far from gloomy for a winning baseball team this year. A number of good men from the scrub and freshmen team are out to fill the vacant places left by those graduating and otherwise.

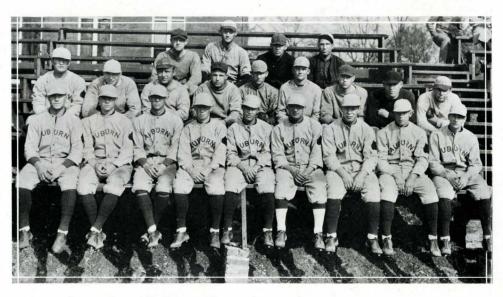

The letter men returned from last year's team are: Capt. Griffin, Sheridan, Allen, Sitz and Harrison. Other likely-looking candidates who have been showing up well to date are: Fancher, Stewart, Davis, Ansley, Argo, Market, Knight, Hines, Whigham, Maury, Self, Williams, Dunn, Willingham, Robinson and Phillips.

There are a number of other candidates out who may prove themselves later on and win a regular position, but at present the aforementioned men seem to have the edge.

"RICKY" MELLEN Manager

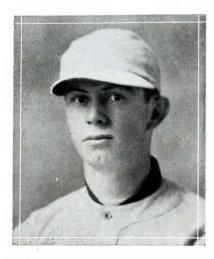

With this material to pick from, Auburn should turn out a team that will rank well up in the standing of the Southern Conference. Coach Cole is driving the team hard and they are learning a lot of inside baseball. The team is sure to prove a hustler.

Pitcher

Gadsden

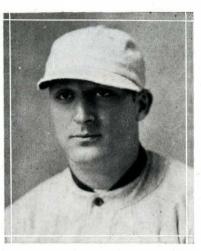

"Swede" is the most versatile member of the diamond squad. He has served as catcher, fielder and pitcher. During former years he has been rather wild for a hurler, but has now settled down and overcome this handicap. His change of pace is from fast to faster.

"Dogface" Sheridan Bessemer Junior Pitcher

"Dogface" might be termed our pitching "Ace." He has played varsity ball three years, making the team the year before the S. I. C. Freshman rule became effective. He has plenty of smoke and more hooks than a trout fisherman.

"ED" ALLEN

Shortstop

"Ed" handles his position in great style. Besides being an excellent fielder he wields a mean willow. He "whips" the apple across the diamond and is always full of pep.

Junior "PEEDEE" FANCHER First Base Montevallo

"Fancher" came to Auburn during the S. A. T. C. and played scrub baseball. After an absence of several years he returned to fill a needed position. He fields his position in great style and is one of the heaviest hitters on the team.

Sophomore "DICK" MAURY Sophomore Spring Hill

"Dick" played his position well throughout the entire season. He is a good hitter and a consistent player. He is an especially valuable asset because he hits when hits mean runs.

"STEVE" STEWART

Sophomore

Third Base Munford

"Stewart" is holding down his position to perfection, although this is his first year on the varsity. He is a good hitter and a steady player. He bids fair to become one of the greatest hot-corner artists the Tigers have ever boasted.

"Doug" Knight

Pitcher

"Doug" is one of Auburn's mighty twirlers. He has plenty of speed and curves that fool the best of them. This is his last year on the team as he graduates this spring. He will leave a place that will be hard to fill.

Senior

"JOE" MARKET Sophomore Gabbettville, Ga.

Pitcher

"Joe" is a new man on the varsity but he is showing up like a veteran. He has plenty of speed and everything else that goes to make a good pitcher. We are looking to him for great results.

"BUCK" WILLIAMS Sophomore Chattanooga, Tenn. Outfield

"Buck" was not content to play varsity football but also had to go out for baseball. He fields his position well and can account for himself when he takes his turn at the plate.

Freshman Baseball

COACH NEWELL, who looks after the destinies of the Freshmen in baseball as well as in football, has over seventy-five promising candidates fighting for a regular berth on the first nine.

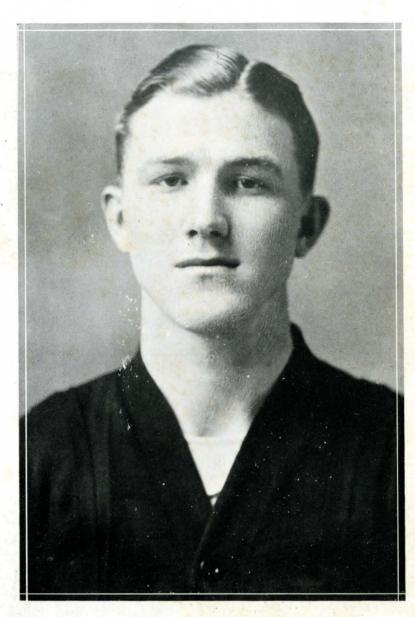

A very attractive schedule has been arranged, which includes games with Marion Institute, Tech Freshmen, Troy Normal and a number of games with the leading high schools and teams of the state. As we go to press a two-game series with Marion has been played, one game being won and one lost. The Tech Freshmen have also been met and vanquished. New games are being scheduled almost daily and there will be no week-end that will find the Freshmen idle.

Practice games between the Varsity and the Freshmen teams are staged several times a week and on no occasion have the Freshmen failed to give a good account of themselves.

The men composing the squad at present are: Walsh, Hamilton, O'Brien, Wallis, Hughes, Austin, Thrash, Price, Moulton, Grant, Booth, Stein, Bradley, Edwards, Ray, Hendrix, Robinson and Bonner.

JAMES "JIMMIE" PIPPIN Captain of Track

The most consistent winner of the thinly-clad squad. Holder of the Auburn record for the broad jump and an untiring worker for his team and college.

Prospects for 1924

THE track prospects for this year are brighter than they have been in several years. Although only seven letter men are back from last year, the wealth of new material that has reported to Coach Hutsell is of first-class calibre. Pippin, Stockelberg, Locke, Marquis, Martin, Goodwyn, and Boyd are the letter men returning, while White, Goleman, Reaves, Young, Greene, Nelson, Scott and Crane bid fair to win their coveted insignias during the present season.

At the time we are going to press the Tigers have already won two dual meets, one with Georgia and one with Tech. In the Tech Relays held recently, in which all Southern colleges were entered, the track squad placed third in team score. The S. I. C. meet will be held in Montgomery during the middle of May and the Tigers are expected to give a strong bid for first honors.

Captain "Jimmie" Pippin Senior Ozark

Broad Jump

"Jimmie" holds the Auburn record for the broad jump. He has taken a winning place in practically every meet since he donned the spikes three years ago. He graduates this year and his loss will be keenly felt next fall.

Senior

FRANK STOCKELBERG Panama, C. Z. Distance

"Stock" has about the pretiest stride that a cinder path artist could acquire. He runs with grace and ease and can usually be found in the lead or very close to it. He will leave us this season and his absence next year will hurt.

"Bill" Goodwyn

Senior

for Auburn.

Montgomery

Dashes "Bill" has always been able to hold his own in track meets. In all the dashes he can be counted upon to carry off his share of the honors. He and Martin have taken care of the sprinting department for the past three years and have won many honors

"Clary" Boyd

Senior

Distances

Auburn

"Clary" is one of the best long-distance runners that has trotted on an Auburn cinder path. He has the distinction of having made his "A" in his freshman year and has been a big asset to the team ever since.

"BOB" LOCKE

Montgomery

Pole Vault

"Bob" is one of the best vaulters in the South and holds the Auburn record for crossing the bar. He is also an excellent high jumper and his dual role in track meets have been of untold help to the Tiger team.

"DUKE" MARQUIS

Selma

Junior

Hurdles-High Jump

"Duke" is one of the best all-round track men that Auburn ever turned out. He is especially good in the hurdles and high jump. He always gives a good account of himself in a meet and each year he gets better. He has one more year at Auburn and he will be a big help to the team of next season.

"BILL" MARTIN

Junior

Dashes

Enterprise

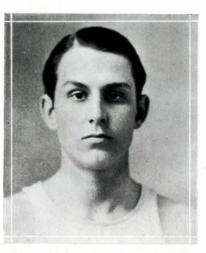

"Bill" is one of the fastest men that has appeared in an Auburn track suit in many moons. He is especially good on getting his start and unless his opponent keeps digging super-humanly he is never headed.

Senior

"Emma" Goleman Whistler

Dashes

"Goleman" is one of Auburn's leading track men. He runs in the 440 and has often brought home the bacon from a track meet. He graduates this spring and will leave a vacancy on the track team that will be hard to fill.

Sophomore

Demopolis

Weights

"White" is a new man on the team this year but is working out like a veteran. Under the training of Coach Hutsell he should make the Auburn track team a splendid man.

Cross-Country

THE Cross-Country team of this year did not make as impressive a record as in former years, losing to Georgia at Athens and placing fifth in the Inter-Collegiate races at Birmingham. Their showing under the circumstances, however, was very good, as only two men, Boyd and Stockelberg, were returned from last year. The other four men were running their first season.

Of these Reeves and Belcher look to be sure of a berth on the track squad in the spring, while Whigham and Armstrong should extend all comers over the distances. Viewed from this angle, the season may be regarded as a success, as a wealth of new material was uncovered. Many of the candidates for places on the team should furnish a strong squad of middle-distance men to the track squad this spring.

Captain Boyd, running his last race, again finished in the medalists in the Inter-collegiates, making the third time out of four starts.

The prospects for a strong Cross-Country team next year are very bright. The only men lost from the squad will be Captain Boyd and Stockelberg, who will be graduated in June. With such men as Reeves, Belcher and the tireless Whigham to build around, the team should literally come into its own.

The squad this year was composed of the following men: Boyd (captain), Stockelberg, Reeves, Belcher, Whigham, Armstrong.

Freshman Track

"THE best Freshman track squad in years, if not in the history of the College." That is the way in which Coach Wilson sums up the prospects of his yearling cinder-path aspirants for places on the 1925 Tiger Varsity.

Contrary to the general run of conditions in Auburn, the Freshman class this year has a number of previously coached track men. Most of the men have had good prep school training, and several of them have wonderful records to boast of.

The following men are predicted to be promising candidates for Varsity honors next year: Baskin, Edwards, Arnold, Cannon, Hassler, Starkey, Morrow, Phipps and Robinson. Baskin and Edwards are by far the most versatile men on the squad in track events, but practically every candidate is also a good man in some other sport.

A number of meets have been arranged for the Freshmen this Spring. With this added experience and coaching they will receive they will be able to bolster the Varsity stock considerably in 1925.

MAJOR JOHN E. HATCH, Commandant

Major Hatch was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1911. He was commissioned a Second Lieutenant of Cavalry; transferred to Field Artillery, September, 1911; served with 5th F. A. at Fort Sill, Okla., until 1915; with 1st F. A. at Schofield Barracks, H. T., until 1916; commissioned First Lieutenant July 1, 1916; instructor at United States Military Academy to 1920; commissioned Captain May 15, 1917; Major July 1, 1920; Lieutenant Colonel 1920-1921. Served at Fort Bragg, N. C., with 20th F. A., 21st F. A. and 5th F. A. until June, 1922. On June 2, 1922, Major Hatch was detailed as Professor of Military Science and Tactics, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

R. O. T. C. Instructors

FOUNDED in 1872 as a Land Grant College, Auburn was, from that time until 1917, strictly a military institute. However, when the United States entered the World War, and the shortage of officers was so keenly felt, the War Department placed in every important college and university in the country a unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. This necessitated the stationing of officers from the regular army in each school to act as instructors, and our four years' rating as a Distinguished College has been largely due to the efforts of the men whom we have been fortunate enough to have with us.

The Band

Bandmaster Instructor

Drum Major

A LTHOUGH an essential and ever-functioning part of the R. O. T. C. unit, the band finds time to serve practically every activity in college during the school year. Always willing and ready to give their services, the members by dint of hard work and ability have built up a musical unit that every Auburn man is proud to claim.

The Pistol Team

THE pistol team of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute was organized in the spring of 1921. Starting with raw material, this team, by faithful practice and steady training, has finally attained the HIGHEST DISTINC-TION OF ANY COLLEGE PISTOL TEAM IN THE UNITED STATES. Last year the team entered the National Rifle Association Match for all College Pistol Teams. Auburn fired against some of the best pistol teams in the United States, including Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Purdue and United States Military Academy. We are very proud to say that in every case Auburn's pistol team was victorious. To the winner of this contest, a beautiful 4.7 shell loving cup was presented.

A picture of this cup is shown above. Auburn was not satisfied with the honor of having the best team in the U.S., but also claims the honor of having a man on the team who fired the HIGHEST individual score of all men in the various colleges. This man is Mr. J. W. McIntosh, who fired 429 out of a possible 448 points.

The team gives the entire credit of their achievement to Sergeant Geo. Moxham, former instructor in pistol firing for the New York City Police. Sergeant Moxham has worked for the team with untiring efforts and he truly deserves every praise and honor that can be paid him. We are looking forward to Sgt. Moxham and Captain "Root" Swanson landing us another National Victory. Officer in Charge, Captain L. J. Compton, Inst., Geo. Moxham, Capt. Swanson.

The Rifle Team

THE Auburn Rifle Team this year has made an enviable record in that it has lost but one individual match and has been placed high in the Fourth Corps Area matches. Among the individual teams defeated by Auburn's Rifle Team are: Northwestern, University of Cincinnati, Tulane University, Mississippi Mechanical and Agricultural College, and Iowa State College. The University of Tennessee won the opening match of the season by a margin of five points.

Members of the team were active in rifle shooting at Fort Bragg and Camp McClellen during the Reserve Officers' Training Corps camps in 1923. At Camp McClellan the Auburn Boys were awarded a cup for the best unit team. At Fort Bragg no cup was awarded, but an Auburn man won the medal offered to the highest individual scorer.

INITIATIONS—Adding part of the zest and spice to campus life, the initiations of all activities are events looked forward to by the student body. These are views taken during the Thendara, "A" Club and Spade initiations.

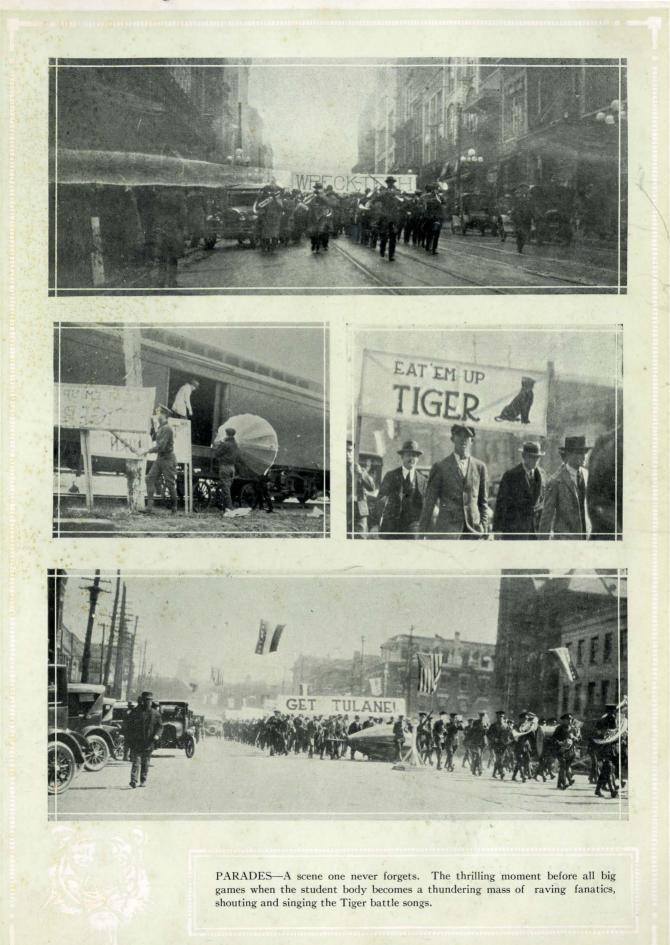

DANCES—Thrice during the year all college work is temporarily halted and the town and school turned over to the visiting bevies of fair maidens. The photographer was rather bashful and trained his camera on the stag line rather than the dance floor.

GET GEORGIA!

SIGNS OF THE TIMES—During football season the campus is covered with signs bearing constant reminders of the weekly conflicts. They serve their part in keeping the Tiger Spirit at fever heat.

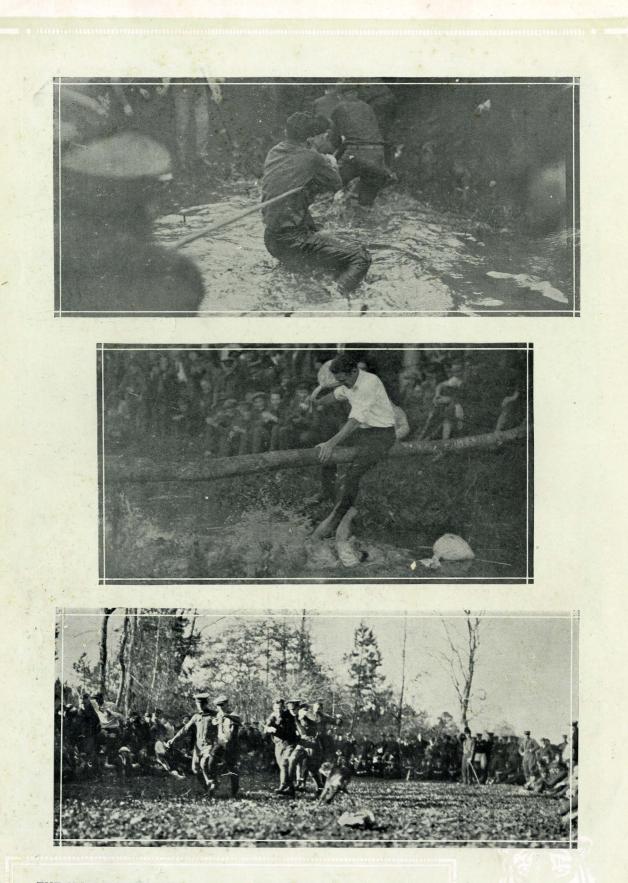

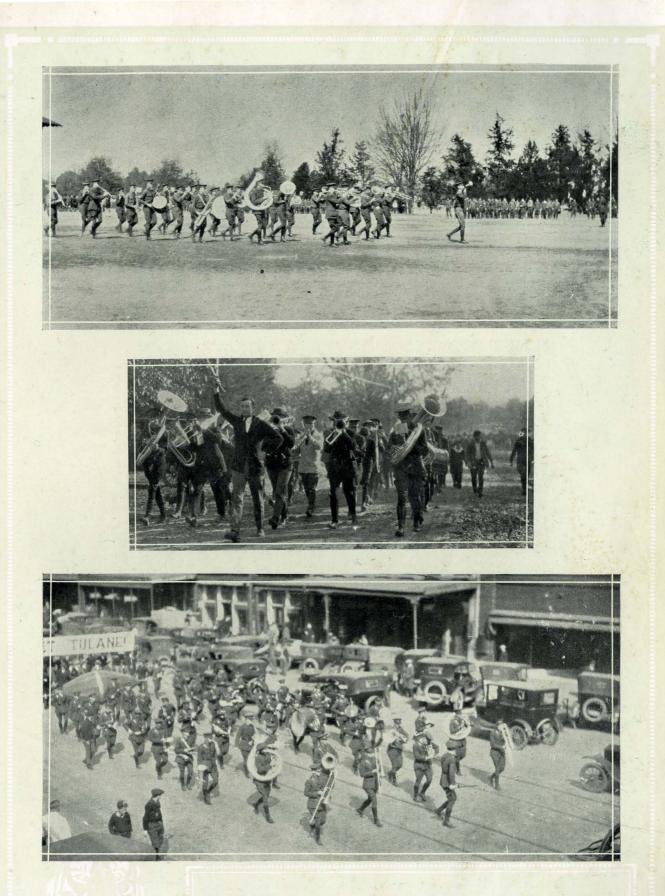

GIVE 'EM HELL, AUBURN!—When the team departs for battle on foreign soil they are accompanied to the station by the students en masse. Their sendoff is only exceeded by the unceasing support from the bleachers during the game itself.

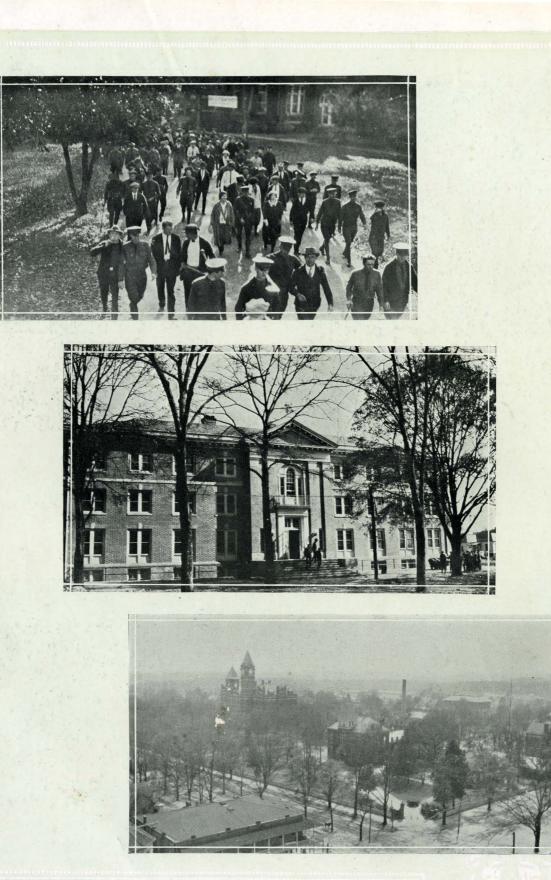

FOOTBALL CROWDS—Scenes taken during thrilling moments of the Centre and Tech games when the fighting Tigers covered themselves with glory.

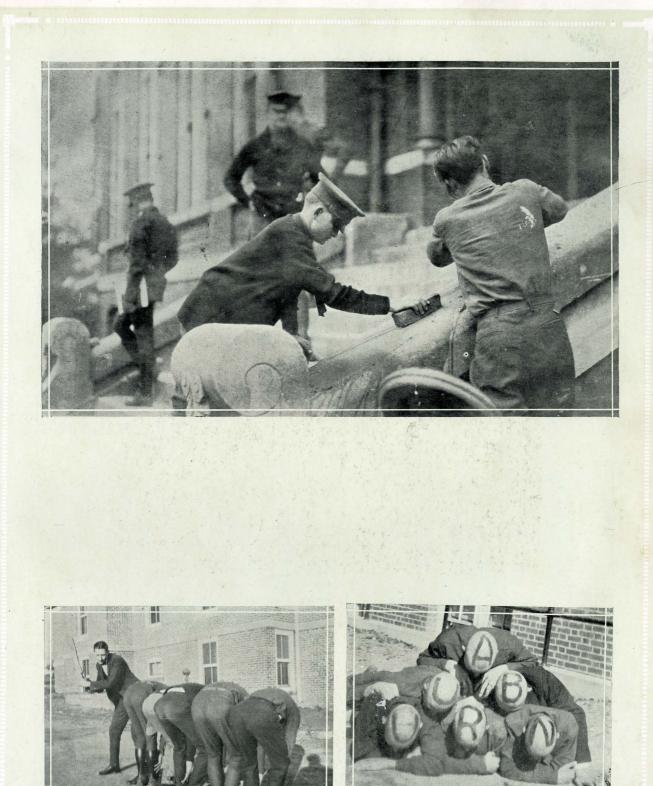

THE ALL-COLLEGE HIKE—Once a year the Y. M. C. A. sponsors a mammoth picnic where students and "profs" meet on common ground. Tugs-of-War, pillow fights and races of all sorts feature the day's programme.

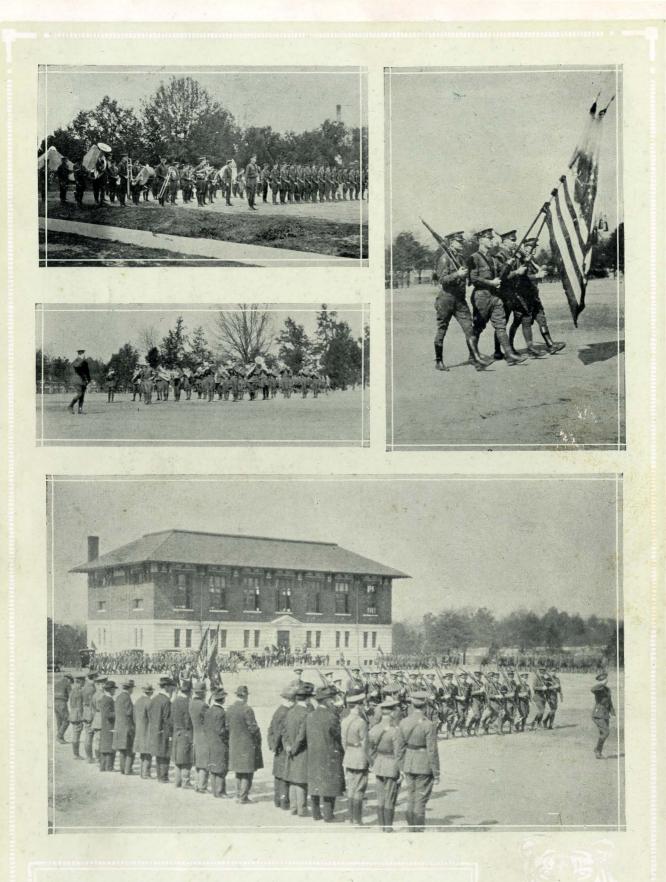

THE BAND—An important cog at all mass meetings, football games, hikes, reviews, etc., the band has proven itself an indispensable unit in our student life.

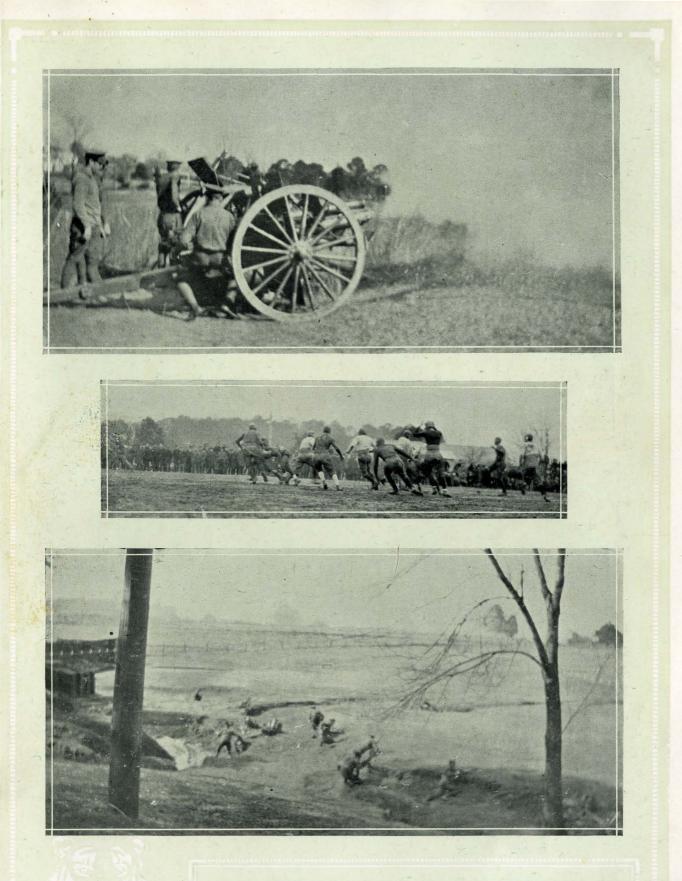

VIEWS—Typical scenes of everyday life. The walk between classes, the new dormitory and a view of the northern end of the campus from the tank.

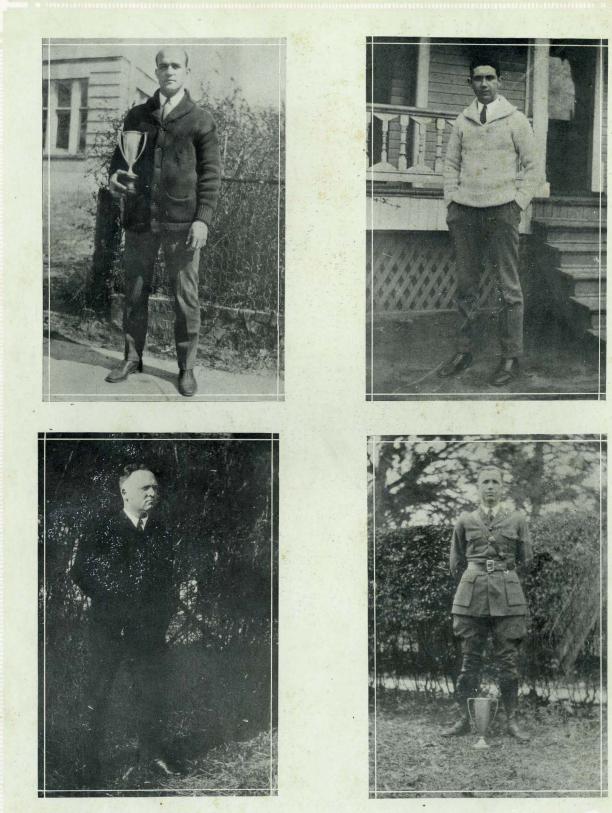

FRESHMAN JOYS—Life for a Freshman is very serene until too much paint or "freshness" appears. One is erased with brick and sand, the other with hickory boards. The annual shearing of their curly locks adds much to their education.

THE TWENTY-SECOND OF FEBRUARY—Auburn's traditional celebration of this day is of a military nature. Reviews and drills play an important part in the morning's entertainment.

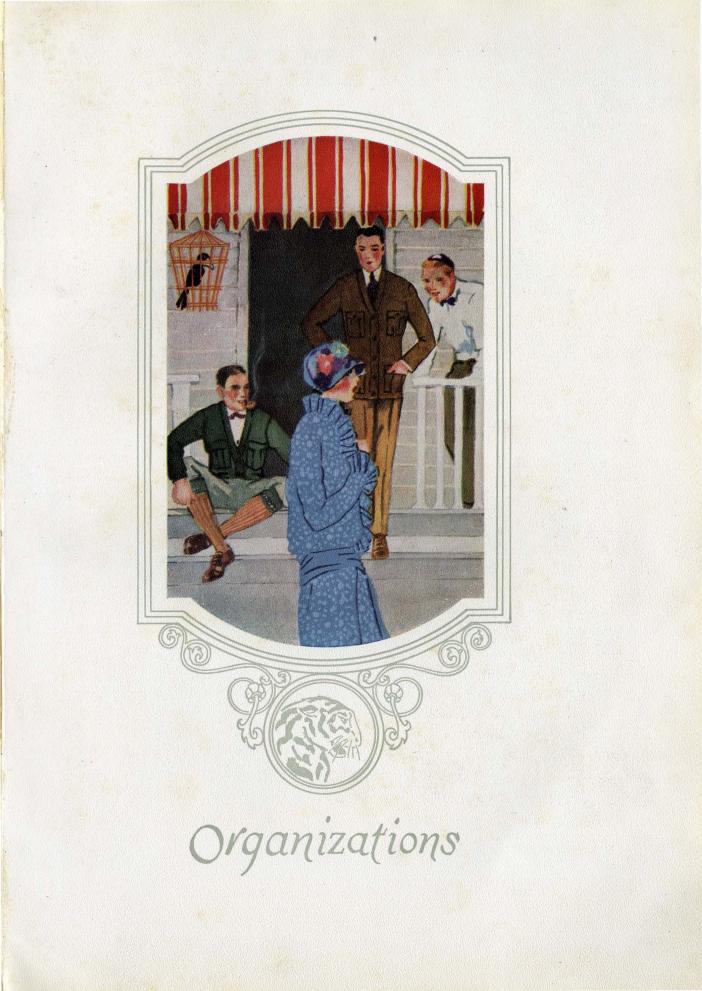

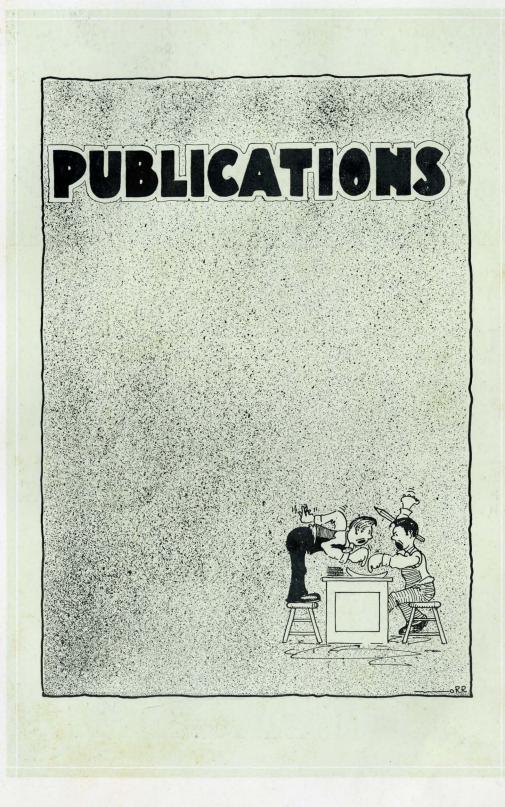

THE TWENTY-SECOND OF FEBRUARY—The afternoon program on this momentous day is composed of battles—both sham and real. For 'tis on this day that the class football championship is decided.

The Glomerata

IN PRODUCING the 1924 Glomerata it has been the aim of the Board to break away from many old-established forms and portray the life of the Student Body in a manner somewhat different from that of former years. Many changes and additions have been made, and the choice of approval or disapproval rests with the reader.

We have tried to plan the book so that it will present in a unified, well-balanced way the life of old Auburn as it is lived, and in every case we have attempted to assume an unbiased viewpoint; giving proper recognition where we felt that it was deserved.

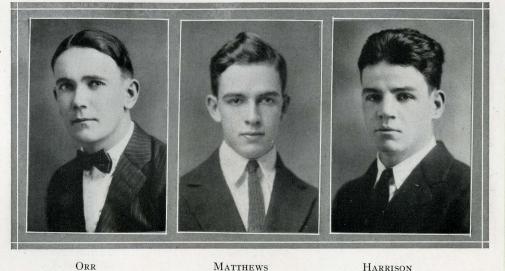

That we have put out the largest annual, by over seventy-five pages, ever printed in Auburn is a fact of which we are proud, and we have spared no effort in trying to make the book as interesting, artistic, and remindful as possible. If we have succeeded in this we will feel amply rewarded for our efforts.

The Plainsman

THE PLAINSMAN this year has broken all former records, both in number of issues published and in the size of the issues. This year's board faced the problem of again placing the publication on the plane it should be, after the dismal failure of last year when very few issues were published. Regularity has been the outstanding aims of the board and on no occasion has the paper failed to be distributed on time.

Handicapped by the meagre amount of current news in a college town, the policy has been more to serve as a mirror to student life and this has met with great success. Publication is made weekly and by the end of this year thirtyone issues will have been published. This is six more than ever published any year heretofore.

The Alubama Farmer

HE Alabama Farmer is a monthly magazine published by the Agricultural L Club of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. It is under the supervision of a Board of Control, which is elected by the club. Every person connected in any official capacity with this publication is a student of Agriculture, and these students have complete charge of publishing this paper, which includes circulation, advertising and editing. It maintains a close contact with practically every phase of student life, especially with those activities connected with Agriculture.

Spades

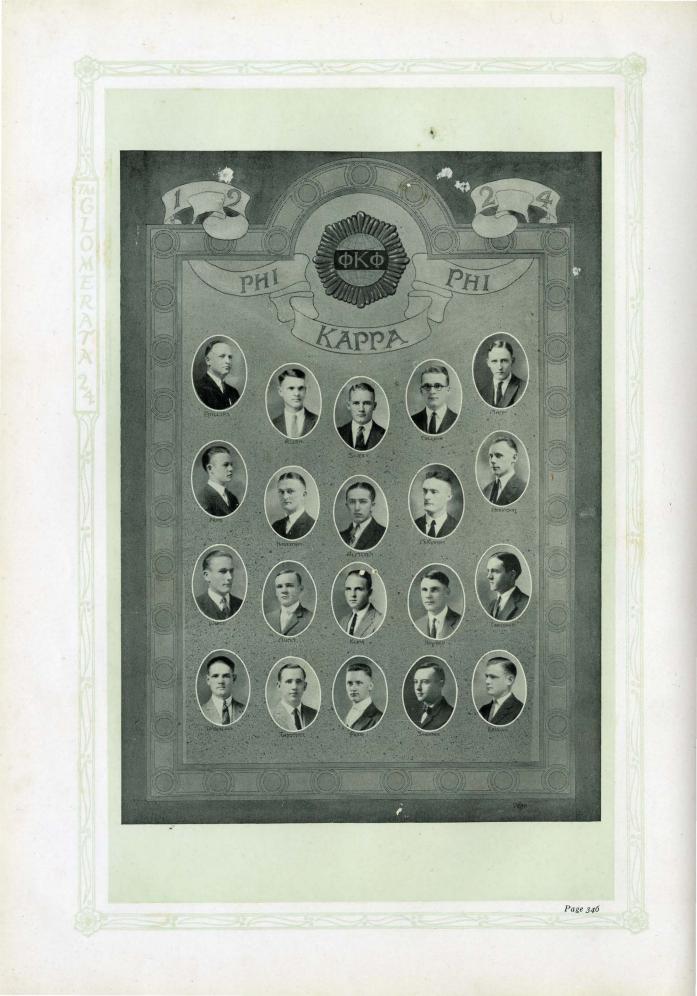

THE purpose of this society is twofold. One is set forth in the following preamble of the Constitution:

WHEREAS: Feeling the need of some organization in the Senior Class of this institution, which, wholly independent of social or other relations, shall seek to gather together the most prominent and influential men of the class and thus perfect an organization of much value to the class this society is organized.

The other purpose is to establish a goal for underclassmen which may only be attained through concentration on those things which make men of the highest caliber.

The Student Council

STUDENT Government was installed in the Spring of 1924 for the purpose of placing in the hands of the students the problems of student control. Although still in its infancy, this institution has already done much for the good of the college, and we hope to see it grow with each succeeding year until the actual government of the students by the students has been attained.

THE MILLENIUM.

A holiday will be given when— "Steel Arm" stops pitching. A class beats on John B. Clark. Dean Petrie gets a hair cut. Hagerman is on probation. The water stays on all day. A convocation speaker pulls a new joke. The bording house "bull" gets tender. "Fatty" McCulley becomes a perfect 36. This—book comes out.

Can you imagine— Ed Sherling with long bobbed hair? Irving Patrick refraining from bull? A sorority love feast? Auburn with a white way? Seeing "Soapy" without a pipe? Kelley Mosley being barred from LaGrange College? Jesse Duke in a rush? Joe Harrison stringing the co-eds? Alexander resigning as Lieutenant-Colonel? "Red" Harkins posing for Arrow collars? Emily Hare as the village vampire? Rubye Russell running from a boy? The Civils of '25 away from John's? Anything?

Aesop's Modern Fables

THE FABLE OF BEVO THE INNOCENT

Once up-on a time there was a lit-tle boy named Be-vo. He was ve-ry pret-ty and had the sweet-est ba-by stare of any man in the realm. He could play on the man-do-lin and had a bee-yoo-ti-ful voice like a frog-gie. His trust-ing eyes were in-no-cent and he had the skin you loved to scratch. There was no one in the whole king-dom who could vamp fair maid-ens like lit-tle Be-vo. A day nev-er passed when he failed to drag a sweet mis-sive of a-dor-a-tion. Scores and scores of hearts would he hold at one time. But soon the lit-tle maid-ens would grow up and they would for-get trust-ing lit-tle Be-vo. They would for-get their lit-tle play-mate and turn to the rough bad men who treat-ed them bru-tal-ly. Lit-tle Be-vo would be heart bro-ken but af-ter a while he would find oth-er sweet maid-ens and go se-rene-ly on. So now my child-ren we come to this mor-al: If they won't do what you want them to-swat them on the jaw.

THE FABLE OF RICKY THE WISE

There once lived a ve-ry learn-ed and wise man named Ric-ky. Noth-ing ev-er hap-pened that he did not know a-bout and he was fond of tel-ling his tales to the whole coun-try-side. Ve-ry late one night he was with a fair dam-sel of a neigh-bor-ing king-dom and his vast know-ledge a-larmed her great-ly. Stead-ily her eyes grew lar-ger and her fear in-creased un-til soon her hys-ter-i-cal screams could be heard for miles a-round. But for the no-ble knight Pat-til-lo, who soothed the fright-ened maid-en, a trad-ge-dy of war and terror might have oc-curred. Moral: A rat-tling wagon gath-ers no moss.

THE FABLE OF STORKEY THE CHIVALROUS

Once there was a great and chival-rous knight named Stor-key. Re-turn-ing to his cas-tle late one night he heard the screams of a maid-en in dis-tress. He im-me-diate-ly went to the res-cue and found that a cart had fal-len over a cliff and the maid-en's hus-band was bad-ly in-jured and be-reft of his senses. What a-larmed the bold knight more than any-thing else was that the maid-en was wail-ing for her child and no-where could the good knight see a babe. He im-me-diate-ly started a search and ev-ery cran-ny and crev-ice was in-ves-ti-ga-ted. No stone was left unturned and no bush es-caped his scru-ti-ny. Hours later, foot-sore and weary he re-turned to the dis-traught maid-en to re-port his fu-tile search when he dis-covered the child at his side. This piqued the great knight ve-ry much but be-ing chival-rous beyond re-proach, he put them all up-on his char-ger and took them home. Moral: A babe in the arms is worth two in the bush.

Minutes of Fraternity Meetings

PHI DELTA THETA

Meeting opened by an accident. The door was closed and no more outsiders admitted. Brother Feagin was then ordered to put the cat out. Brother "Jinx" Mellen urged more brothers to come out for baseball stating that as he was manager he would see that they got on the team. Brothers Argo and DeGraffenreid then volunteered their services. Brother Mellen recalled his suggestion and apologized. Brother "Crosstie" Simpson urged the chapter to strengthen itself as much as possible as he was leaving this year. One of the Brother Woodruffs announced that he had loaned a shirt to one of the Brothers McKinnons and he could not tell which of the two had borrowed it. Brother McKinnon emphatically declared that he had returned the shirt to one of the Brother Woodruffs but as to which one, he did not know. A motion was made to have a five-minute break, and the chapter made a break for the door. Meeting adjourned when no one came back.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Meeting opened by singing the chapter song "How Dry We Ain't." The first sergeant called the roll and some were found present. The minutes for the preceding year were read and failed to pass. Brother Ausley was chosen as errand boy to go to George's Cafe and inform Brother Shelley that a meeting was in progress. Brother Kelley then gave a report on scholar-ship. Order restored. Brother Reynolds announces there will be some girls over for dinner Wednesday and urged that all brothers wear shirts to that meal. Lost for want of a second. Brother Marbury, reporting for the financial committee stated that the chapter was only $10,000 in debt, and that at the rapid rate that this debt has been decreased in the last ten years, we should be entirely out of debt by 1983. Meeting adjourned when Brother Shelley arrived with his fiddle.

KAPPA ALPHA

Meeting opened very formally, in fact not quite that formal. Brother Wiatt then made his report on conditions at the Zoo. Discussion ended in a deadlock. Brother Allen proposed Hodge for membership, but when the votes were counted it was found that he received two black balls. Brother Semmes then entered amid cheers. He showed the chapter the latest thing in Pensacola knickers and urged the adoption of this costume. Brother Crymes suggested that he wear them up town first and see how they would take. Brother Pippin announced that some brother by mistake had paid his bill and he wanted to know who the careless brother was. Brother Alexander then made a short talk on "In numbers there is strength." Weak applause. Brother Hinton suggested that we quit. His suggestion was adopted without a struggle.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Meeting opened with the roaring of lions. Brother Goodwin was then awarded the attendance prize, having already attended two meetings this year. Brother Ashcraft then gave a short talk on scholarship which was followed by a few words from Brothers Collins and Hoffman. It was decided to send Brothers Dudley, Moulton, Wynn and Gibson a letter explaining the close defeat for the scholarship cup, for fear they could not understand how losing it was possible. Brother LeBron-urged the Freshmen to be more careful in selecting the cats for their initiation, as one of the rats, by mistake, had brought in the wrong kind of a kitty. Brother Hawkins then congratulated the chapter on getting such men as him. This was followed by a short talk of Brother Sherling's on promiscuous pledging. Brother Maury then commends Brother Reese for "getting up there with the wimmen." Brother Warfield announced that the Lambda Chis had two more men than we did and urged the pledging committee to get busy at once. Meeting adjourns when the Opelika Buick drives up.

SIGMA NU

Meeting opened by surprise. Brother Smith announced that the ritual had been left at either Monteith's or Uncle Bill's and a motion was made to send a rat for it. Failed to pass. Brother Wood then stated that the chapter had had a most prosperous year, and that we had now accumulated almost five dollars in the treasury. He was immediately voted to be placed under bond. Brother Matthews stated that the chapter would have desert to-morrow, maybe. Order restored. Brother "Halfman" Spann then pleaded for a whole vote during the coming election of officers. Motion tabled. Brother Foy then stated that after the meeting he would buy somebody a drink. He was accused of being delirious, and ordered to his room for safekeeping. Brother Savage then called for the floor, and the meeting adjourned simultaneously.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Meeting opened with a struggle. Brother Warner then gave a report of his trip to Montgomery, emphasizing his exciting ride in Mr. Pat Rol's new car. When asked how he liked it he replied that he was simply "carried away" with it. Brother Lambert reported on our standing with the gals, and he seemed very optimistic over the outcome. Brother Nesbit then announced a special meeting of the Phi Kappa Phis and urged that Brothers Knight and Hill be there as they had already missed several meetings this year. Brother Crane suggested that Brother Manly's room rent be reduced to half price, since he spends most of his time at the Zoo. Brother Ollinger surprised the chapter by remaining silent on the question. Brother Hill was then ordered to draw in his feet as the room was getting crowded. Meeting adjourned in time to let the brothers out for prayer meeting.

KAPPA SIGMA

Meeting opened when Brother Swango returned from Opelika. Brother Hahn suggests that we plant the ritual under the K. S. on the lawn so that it will keep green during the winter months. Brother Gilmer heartily endorses this suggestion. It was then unanimously decided to run Brother "Zoe" Swango, Dean of Women, for May Queen, as he had assured the chapter that all the girls really wanted him for this place. Applause from the Sigma Nu and K. A. porches. Brother De Ramus reminds the chapter that it is getting near election time and that we should assume an air of life-long friendship. Brothers Duke and Ware then entertained the chapter with their presence. Meeting adjourned when Frank Russey's guitar was heard at a distance.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Meeting was opened with a rush. Brother Hanlin announced that he had lost the minutes somewhere between the Woman's College and the Owl Drug Store. Brother Drake then gave a report on our standing with the ladies. A smile of contentment swept over the whole chapter. At this point Brother Cathcart broke down and admitted that his good looks were the cause of it all. Brother Brice then stated that "things ain't what they used to be." Brother Graham replied that he couldn't help it. Brother Perryman made a talk at length on things in general. Vote could not be taken as he did not say what he was talking about. Brother Ford, speaking for the house committee, congratulated the chapter on their wonderful showing in the recent clean-up gradings. He stated that as a fitting reward for their untiring efforts, the city council had insisted on them accepting the prize of one gross of brooms. Comments stricken from minutes. Meeting adjourned to let Brother Abbott out in time for his date.

THE HUGH STEPHENS PRESS JEFFERSON CITY, MISSOURI

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Meeting opened with applause from the gallery. Brother Lutz then suggested that from now on the meetings be held in Langdon Hall, as the Brothers were tired of sitting in each others laps. Brother Foreman then said a few words regarding the brothers catching each other at roll call in the meetings. He was ruled out of order. A short intermission was held to introduce the brothers around. Brother Jackson almost had a thought but could not express it. Brother Winters was then fined for snoring. The evening offering was then taken up and it was voted to be used to send Brother Belser to the Atlantic City Beauty Contest. The collection indicated that he would at least reach Opelika. Brother Sitz, in behalf of Brother Russey, requested that none of the members bring any visiting girls to the house for the coming week because his guitar was broken. Loud cheering. Brother Williams asked that he be furnished a body-guard during the coming dances. Meeting adjourned to Nick's.

THETA CHI

Meeting opened with as much form as could be expected. The hours of the last meeting were then read and tabled. This was followed by a Victrola concert, which the chapter enjoyed immensely. Brother Davis stated that since he had become a member of the baseball team that our stock with the garr ulous sex was steadily rising. Brother Harmon suggested that Brother McKinney match the Kappa Sigmas to see who will run the basketball team next year. Passed. Brother "Cueball" Carmaechael then entered with his tie at half-mast because Monteith had closed for the night. Brother Orum announced that he would be unable to pay his assessments until after the Phis come over for their weekly bridge game. Brother Sizemore then stated that the Fraternity Row would be a reality in at least ten years and suggested that plans for a new house be drawn and used in rushing next year. Motion failed to pass when Brother Sowell stated that he knew where he could borrow some plans that would serve the purpose better than those the chapter could pay for. Meeting adjourned in time to get the nightly mail and coffee.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO

Meeting opened in the Ag auditorium by singing their national anthem "Down on the Farm." Moved and seconded that Brother Seller's name be stricken from the minutes. Carried. Brother Sweet announces that the poultry contest is progressing fine, and that his hen is laying over all the rest. Brother Godwin announces that there will be a special sale of beans and tennis balls this week and moves the chapter lay in a supply of each. Lost for want of a second. Brother Bostic, reporting for the schedule committee, made the following announcements: Ag Club meeting, Monday night; Stock Judging, Tuesday; Dairying Team, Wednesday; Egg Judging Team, Thursday; Ag Fair Committee, Friday; Poultry Judging Team, Saturday. Cheers. Brother Young suggests that since being admitted to the Inter-Fraternity Council the brothers should not wear overalls any more. Carried. The meeting adjourned when Brothers Lawrence and Pruitt began running signals.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

Meeting opened by singing the National Boarding House anthem. Brother Hines then told an "Uncle Remus" story which he enjoyed very much. The Chapter was awakened when Bro. Johnson rendered a bass solo entitled, "You can't drive a nail with a sponge, no matter how long you soak it." Those that remained after this song began telling each other's fortunes. Helmets and shinguards were then issued for an exciting game of Mah Jong, which ended in a deadlock. Brother Collins then read a letter from his girl and all was going nicely until Brother McCutcheon pulled out the carbon copy of the same letter. Brother Stacy announced that his oboe had been fixed and he would now—meeting over.
