Questions and Answers

Question 1: Does participating in this project preclude a vendor from being involved in the eventual construction of the geothermal network?

Answer: No, participation in this financing and operations study would not preclude them from participating in a future solicitation for the design or construction of a networked geothermal project.

Question 2: Has the City had any discussions with Eversource about their potential role or participation in a networked geothermal system?

Answer: Yes, Eversource participated in a previous networked geothermal feasibility study available at www.somervillema.gov/sustainaville and jointly hosted city staff at Framingham's networked geothermal site in fall 2024.
