

Inner Belt-Brickbottom Crossing Open House Thursday, May 7

What's Happening?

The City of Somerville is studying a new crossing near the East Somerville Green Line Station to better connect Brickbottom and Inner Belt.

Today, traveling between these neighborhoods requires a long route along New Washington Street and Washington Street. A temporary crossing at East Somerville Station is currently in place while a permanent crossing is developed.

With support from the State, the City is exploring safer, more accessible routes that could improve access to community resources, arts spaces, and future development.
